Queen Alexandria, Lady Foresters intend running an excursion to Idyl Wyld on Dominion Day, per steamer "Otonabee." Arrangements are now being made to make it a most enjoyable event and the committee in charge will leave nothing undone to make it a success.

CLEVER MARKSMANSHIP

A young lad called at the police station last evening and said that a white bull terrier was running on his premises and was a great nuisance. No one seemed to claim the canine and P. C. Newhall considered it well to get rid of it. The animal was brought to the rear of the police station and with one shot the constable sent it to dog land.

CANOES FOR NEW ONTARIO.

The Wm. English Canoe Co. are very busy at the present time and are turning out a large number of canoes. Some of them are sold in this city, but the greater part of them go to New Ontario or to Quebec. Yesterday morning four fine canoes were expressed to S. Jacobson at Latchford, Ont., and again today eight more were sent to the same man. They are all sent through the Dominion Express Co. It is stated that a larger number was being shipped this spring, than in former years. This city is advertised more by its canoes than in any other way. Peterborough is the home of the canoe, and a large number are sent from here each year. The Wm. English Co. are working overtime to keep up with all the orders they have in.

Much Interest in To-night's Game

Quakers Meet Fall River Tourists at Riverside Park at Seven O'clock—A Great Contest

Everything is in readiness for the big football match at Riverside Park tonight between the Pan-American team of Fall River, Mass., champions of the New England States, and the Peterborough Quakers, champions of the Midland League. The visitors had a work out at the park last evening, and, while they only indulged in light practice, it was plainly evident to the railbirds that the "Pans" are a great team. They showed splendid form and pulled off some plays that caused the spectators to sit up and look. Carrying the pigskin from the centre of the field right in on goal by bunting it with their heads, and not allowing it to touch the ground, was one of the stunts that attracted attention. Two or three of the players did this several times, and it certainly looks pretty in practice, but whether it can be worked to advantage when the opposing team is checking closely, remains to be seen. The tourists had another light practice this morning, and Manager Murphy states that the team is in the best of shape. Mr. J. E. Sullivan has been agreed upon as referee, and will call the game at seven o'clock sharp. The members of the Quakers are requested to be on hand at 6.45.

There have been a few changes decided upon in the line-up of the Quakers from that which appeared yesterday, and as a result the teams will face each other like this:—

QUAKERS
Goal
McFadden

Doris Evans
Half Backs
R. Best, Fitzgerald, Archibald.

Baker.

L. Gauthier, Adams, G. Gauthier,
Hamilton, Ford.

Indications point towards a big crowd as the weather is fine, and much interest centres in the game. Can the Quakers defeat the tourists? The local boys will try hard to win and it is to be hoped there will be a large number on hand to cheer on the boys as well as to give an enthusiastic reception to the visitors from over the line.

Give Fair Play to

A really reliable remedy for headache—Zutoo.

If you have got it into your head that Zutoo Tablets will hurt you, you are mistaken.

It isn't fair to us for you to judge Zutoo by the drug cures.

It isn't fair to yourself to suffer from headache, when this really harmless vegetable headache cure is within your reach.

The fair thing for both of us is—to judge Zutoo on its merits—to test it.

If you find it does not cure your headache, sick, nervous or otherwise, in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time—no bad after effects, then discard it.

But do not condemn it unfairly without a trial, and keep on suffering from headaches. You really do not have to, and one trial of Zutoo will prove it.

All we ask for Zutoo is fair play—that you give it a trial before concluding as to its merits or demerits.

Wont you do this? You'll be glad ever after if you do.

We'll send trial tablets for nothing, or you can buy them at dealers in 10c. and 25c. packages.

LAWN BOWLING

A meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club will be held this evening at the Dominion Bank Chambers. A large attendance is requested, as the different rinks for the season will be chosen. The green will be ready for use in a day or two.

BASEBALL

Tonight at Nicholls Oval the Karenots and Lillies will finish the game they commenced on Monday. The score now stands 6—1 in favor of the Karonots, but the Lillies will do their best to catch up to their opponents and also tally a few more.

Mr. Jos. Picard will officiate as umpire.

The other game between the Lakeviews and West Ends will be continued at the Driving Park. The score now is two all, and both have equally as good a chance to win. It will no doubt be an interesting finish.

Mr. Fred Craig will act as umpire.

The meeting of the Intermediate Baseball Executive, called for last evening at the Y.M.C.A., did not materialize. Only four teams were represented, neither Lillies nor Lakeviews sending a representative. The consideration of the protested game between the Excelsiors and Strathconas on Saturday had to be left over till Thursday evening, when it is expected that all teams in the league will be represented.

It is expected that the Strathconas, of Toronto, will play a ball game here with Peterborough on Saturday afternoon next. Definite word is expected by Manager Johnston this evening.

The Peterborough baseball team will practice in uniform at Riverside Park tomorrow evening. Every man is asked to turn out as it is necessary to get into shape, as there are some fast games in view.

CRICKET

The Cricket Club will practice at Nicholls Oval tonight at 6.30. Every member is asked to be on hand. The team's next game is at Port Hope on Saturday, June 8th.

Mrs Margaret McDairmid, mother of Finlay MacDairmid, M.P.P., is dead at Rodney, aged 76.

St. George's Baking Powder

There, Madam! That's the name of the new Baking-Powder I have been telling you about — and it's a pure Cream of Tartar Baking-Powder.

You may call me a pure-food reformer if you like—but I don't like to ask anybody else to eat what I would not eat myself—and I don't want to eat the adulterations that are put in some Baking-Powders.

St. George's Baking-Powder is manufactured here in Canada, by The National Drug & Chemical Co., Limited—the largest wholesale and manufacturing chemical house in Canada.

There's no duty to pay, and so the makers dont need to adulterate it to reduce the cost. Then, the fact that the makers are right here, where we can reach them, insures their keeping the goods up to the mark.

You know, I keep the best of everything, and St. George's Baking-Powder is what I recommend every time.

Thank you! That one can will make you a permanent customer for St. George's!

Most Modern Waggon Will Be Purchased for New Fire Hall

Same Style as New Ones in New York's Department—Formal Opening of the Hall—Board of Works Will Buy its Own Hose.

Peterborough will have, in its new hose and chemical waggon, one of the most modern in Canada, or on the American continent for that matter. It will be made by Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald at his carriage works, and will be built upon exactly the same lines as those now being put in for the New York city fire brigade, except that the New York waggons have rubber tires, and they are not suitable for Peterborough roads. The fire, water and light committee got tenders on two styles of waggons. One was similar to that now used and Mr. Fitzgerald put in a tender on the new one also.

OPENING THE HALL

It has been definitely decided by the fire, water and light committee to have a formal opening of the new fire hall. Just what form it will take, or the date, has not yet been decided. The chief, deputy chief and captain of the fire brigade waited upon the committee last night and talked over the matter, and the committee decided to leave the arrangement of the programme with the brigade and the committee will stand the expense.

The brigade will meet next Tuesday night and ascertain what would be most acceptable to the boys and then report to the committee. Whatever form of entertainment is decided upon will be of a public nature.

The day for the Board of Works or anyone else, borrowing hose from the fire department, has passed. The Board of Works will have to buy its own hose and look after it. The fire, water and light committee put its foot down on the old practice last night. The hose in the fire hall is for fighting fires and not for flushing sewers. It is therefore likely that the engineering department will purchase several hundred feet of old hose from the fire department.

Street Commissioner Harry Evans appeared before the fire, water and light committee and asked permission for the use of the fire hose for the purpose of flushing out a couple of sewers in the morning. The aldermen at once raised a kick and refused to give the permission. It was advocated that the committee sell the Board of Works 600 feet of the old hose at 75 cents per foot and that the committee purchase new hose for the fire brigade.

Foot Guards and Rangers Will Have Chance to Meet

Ottawa Regiment Goes to Buffalo on July 1st and Will Visit Niagara Falls—Local Corps Will Also Go to See the Big Waterfall.

The members of the 57th Regiment will have an opportunity of renewing acquaintances with the Governor-General's Foot Guards of Ottawa, when they go to St. Catharines on their annual outing on July 1st. The crack Ottawa redcoats are going to Buffalo for their annual trip on Dominion Day this year, and the programme for their visit there, includes a trip to Niagara Falls and as the Peterborough regiment will also visit the famous waterfall, the officers and men of the two corps will have an opportunity of meeting. An electric car line runs from St. Catharines to the Falls and from the Falls into Buffalo.

The 57th Regiment and the Foot Gaurds are old chums and many of the officers and men are acquainted with each other. The local soldiers were the guests of the Guards at Ottawa, on July 1st, 1905, and the Ottawa redcoats visited this city the year previous. Many pleasant acquaintances were formed on these two occasions and it will be pleasing news to members of the local regiment to know that these friendships may be renewed in the near future.

The 43rd Regiment, Duke of Cornwall's Own Rifles, of Ottawa, will spend Dominion Day in Hamilton, so that the Niagara Peninsula will be well guarded on the Dominion's National holiday.

WHERE ARE YOU GOING TO SPEND THE SUMMER?

Many overworked, tired business and professional men would "take to the woods" for their vacation if they knew definitely where to go, the localities which furnish the best hunting, fishing and touring; how to go, and what to take, and the cost of the trip. This all takes time and the busy man of today has none too much time to devote to his vacation. To those yet undecided we might suggest Muskoka, Huntsville, Lake of Bays, Temagami, or Algonquin Park. Call at Grand Trunk Ticket Office and ask for illustrated literature to help you to decide.

Private Herman Leroy, a prisoner at Fort Sheridan, in attempting to escape, was shot and killed.

ONE OF THE SECRETS

How Much Does a Man Pay the Clerk Who Sells Him.

"Yes, you pay more, but you can depend on it—it's worth more." One of the forty inside secrets of the Semi-ready tailoring business is the fact that every applicant for an agency complains about the small commission there is in handling the garments. "Indeed, the cost of finishing would eat up the profit," wrote one merchant.

Semi-ready tailoring is sold from coast to coast at the prices marked on each suit by the makers. The fact that a man knows "Semi-ready" and does not have to be skillfully talked to be smooth salesman, counts for better value. The Semi-ready Company puts the value into the garment and does not pay huge middlemen's profits.

Splendid Recital Given by Pupils

Enjoyable Programme Rendered by Prof. and Miss Davies' Classes

There was a large and appreciative audience at the studio of Mr. Alfred Davies and Miss Helen Davies, 106 McDonnel street, last evening, when their pupils gave an attractive and highly enjoyable recital. In the Y.M.C.A. Hall recently the more advanced pupils of Mr. and Miss Davies delighted a large gathering by their skill and ability, and the recital given last night by those who have never appeared in public demonstrated that they are making rapid strides and are attaining a degree of proficiency which is highly creditable to their teachers and most gratifying to the young artists, parents and friends. The applause which greeted each number was hearty, and in every case was merited. The piano selections and vocal contributions were all charmingly and capably presented, and the evening was one of rare pleasure and satisfaction to all concerned. The teachers and pupils are all certainly worthy of congratulation. Every one whose name appeared on the programme was present, except Miss Amy Wise, who was prevented from attending owing to illness. To particularize would be invidious. Every student did remarkably well and no one went away disappointed, the results achieved at last night's recital being of the most commendable character. The following was the programme:—

In the Association at Culloden, Ont., the average of 200 cows is 759 lbs. milk, and 25.7 lbs. fat for the period ending 7th May. There are several individual yields here of over 1000 lbs milk, the highest being 1,385 lbs, testing 3.2.

At Hatley, Que., the average test is the same as at Spring Creek, Que., namely 3.4 for the same period, but the average yield is only 543 lbs. milk and 19.0 lbs. fat. The highest production of any one cow is 840 lbs. milk testing 3.1.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ROBBERY THE MOTIVE?

Victim of Trunk Murder Was Carrying Large Sum.

Father Vartarian Too Cautious to Belong to Secret Society—Believed to Have Been Murdered In Hoboken—Would Not Entrust His Hoard to the Bank—Police Suspect Three Men.

New York, May 29.—With the police of a score of cities searching the Armenian colonies in their jurisdiction and every available man on Captain McCafferty's staff working in New York City, it is expected that the three men suspected of the murder of Father Kaspar Vartarian, whose body was found in a trunk on Sunday, will soon be in custody.

It is believed now that Father Kaspar was murdered in Hoboken. The last time he was seen alive in Manhattan he was walking towards the West 42nd street ferry with a man answering Ermoylan's description and a woman.

Robbery is now considered the sole motive for the crime. Deliberate, atrocious murder for the sake of two thousand or more dollars the miserly, itinerant, begging priest carried is the sole theory on which the police are now working or have been working from the start, as a matter of fact. Vartarian was too cautious to involve himself with any of the Armenian revolutionary societies who carry on continuous intrigue against the Turkish Government.

Friends said Monday that he must have had about $2,000 in his possession when he was killed, for he could not be induced to entrust his hoardings to any bank. When he got too much money to safely carry he would send it home.

HAD GAMBLED IN STOCKS.

Reason For Double Tragedy At Bright Found.

Woodstock, May 29.—It is now almost an established fact that the tragedy at Bright Village, in which William McKie, the druggist of Kalamazoo, Mich., who returned unexpectedly and killed his aged mother, and then suicided, was the result of financial difficulties.

McKie only bought a single-fare ticket, was in a very non-communicative frame of mind when he arrived, and burned all the late letters which he had written to his mother, and which might have told of his uneasiness over the growing seriousness of his position relative to the mine speculations.

He had lost all his mother's money as well as his own, had mortgaged the home, and was in the hole with his business for nearly two thousand dollars, and had contracted large loans from friends in Kalamazoo, which he never hoped to recover from.

It was the Pearl Mining Company of Boise, Idaho, that McKie was connected with, he having been a director and vice-president. He had gotten friends to invest in the stock also.

KILLED BY WIFE AND SON.

Took Their Revenge For Years of Torture.

Parkersburg, W. Va., May 29.—Word was received here Monday night of a murder in Ritchie County, near McFarlan, in which a mother and son killed the husband and father while he lay asleep in his bed. The victim was Harvey Yohe, a farmer. According to the reports Yohe, after a quarrel in which his wife and son John participated, went to bed. It is alleged that they stole to his bedroom and fired two shots from a revolver, one entering his head and the other his body. Mrs. Yohe and the son gave themselves up to the authorities, and are now in jail at Parrisville. They acknowledge the murder, and say they are ready to pay the penalty. They say they had been subjected to torture for years.

ASSAULT AND MURDER.

The Shocking Confession of Lawrence Gowland of Killarney, Man.

Killarney, Man., May 29.—Lawrence Gowland yesterday confessed to the horrible crime of assaulting and murdering Georgina Brown, near here, last week. He is nearly recovered from the effects of his own wounds, and will receive a preliminary hearing to-day.

Lunatic Fires House.

Brockville, May 29.—An insane man named J. Deschamps, attempted to burn his wife and family, near Raymondville.

Getting up in the night he sprinkled coal oil about the house and barn, then touched the match. Fortunately the inmates awoke in time to escape. Nothing was saved in the house or barn except one horse.

Judge Accused of Murder.

Covington, Ky., May 29.—Judge W. G. Loving was yesterday indicted for the murder of Theodore Iesta, whom he charged with wronging his daughter. Judge Loving pleaded not guilty and was bailed in $7,000, the surety being Judge John D. Horsley of Lynchburg.

Shoots Mother, Then Suicides.

Chicago, May 29.—Miss Philander Swinnen, 30 years old, believed to be demented, shot and killed her mother, attempted to kill her father, and then set fire to her garments and was burned to death early yesterday.

French Battleship Launched.

Bordeaux, France, May 29.—The new French battleship Verite, of 14,635 tons and 18,000 indicated horsepower, was successfully launched here yesterday.

A Million Dollar Plant.

Belleville, May 29.—The Lehigh Cement Co., whose works will be situated at Point Ann, about four miles from here, have begun active operations.

REGIMENT HAD WEEKLY DRILL

Good Turnout Despite the Cold Weather

The cold weather again interfered with the weekly drill of the 57th Regiment last night, but, under the circumstances, there was a good turn out and everything passed off satisfactorily. Owing to the raw wind that was blowing it was impossible to take the men out of the shed, but inside the building they put in some valuable arm drill and other exercises. The total strength was 203. Companies No. 8 and 6 drilled in the park for a short time.

It is hard to get the men to turn out when weather is as cold as it was last night. They do not seem to realize that there are only four or five drill nights between now and inspection and the trip to St. Catharines. The Peterborough regiment has always made a good showing when on an out-of-town jaunt, and it is hoped to keep up the record this year. But to do so every man should be present at every drill.

Col. Young, of Kingston, D.A.A.G., who was in the city inspecting the equipment of the 3rd Dragoons, stayed over and was an interested visitor at the drill hall last night, and was the guest of the officers after the night's work was over.

From injuries received in falling down the companionway of the steamer Empress of India, which arrived at Vancouver yesterday, Mrs. Richard Cadbury died and was buried at sea.

BLUNDERS AGAIN

The Examiner has blundered again in its history of Canadian political parties. The Review is quite willing to be charitable and say 'blundred.' The mistake to which we refer is that of asserting that Sir John A. Macdonald named the Conservative party the Liberal - Conservative party in order to give it an air of breadth and liberality which it did not otherwise possess. Such, however was not the case. Sir John approved of neither the Family Compact or Tory party, nor of the Liberal or disloyal party, at the time rampant throughout Canada. Wishing to fuse the good elements of both parties into a new and harmonious whole, he devised the word "Liberal-Conservative," as equal to the case. In his heart he thought the Radical—which the Examiner expressly condemns—who then ruled the Liberal party, to be an anarchist, and as such he is considered even at this day. The Tory, he considered, an egotist, and a place-hunter, in spite of his undoubted loyalty. He took, therefore, the statesman's view and founded a new party, which has combined the loyalty of the Tory with the national aspirations of the Radical, in a form that has been of the greatest possible benefit to confederated Canada. Able as a man, Hon. George Brown was no statesman. He was too bitter. To the ablest and best men of the French race he was as uncompromisingly hostile as a religious fanatic. The great spirit of toleration and self-control, which is the especial characteristic of the Liberal-Conservative party, absorbed the progressiveness of the fanatical theorists, but no more. Wm. Lyon Mackenzie, Papineau, "Coon" Cameron, Dr. Rolph—all were "radicals" as they termed themselves—rebels and intolerants, as they were termed by others.

The attempt of the Examiner to coax the Englishman into its party net is amusing, for of all parties the least enticing to the imperialist is the Liberal party, which for so many years flirted with the United States in the fond and foolish hope of rescue from the shades of opposition.

BRITAIN'S PERIL

Although it has been of late admitted that when the trouble arose in the Transvaal, five years ago, Great Britain was totally unprepared for hostilities, especially so far as her army was concerned, it was thought any defects, lapses or oversights had been largely remedied. Frequently in the Old Country journals, some plain facts are stated—facts which tend to open wide the eyes of the outlying portions of the Empire.

A most startling state of affairs is brought to light, if what a writer, Mr. J. M. Heath, in the London Morning Post states in a recent issue of that paper is true. Mr. Heath thus sums up the present situation but he is probably unduly alarmed, and his observations exaggerated in many instances,—

1.—Remember, we are essentially a peaceful and unsuspicious people, engrossed in business or pleasure, and our rulers, with exceptions, a selfish class of political dillettantes, who loathe all things naval or military, and are content to pander to the predatory instincts of ignorant and impecunious followers.

2.—Unfortunately our wealth and colonies are a source of constant envy to a neighbor who by necessity is warrior first and politician afterwards.

3.—The practice of stratagem in war is his study, as it was with us in the middle ages—Sterling and Berwick, Calais and Sark, recalls such incidents.

4.—The next war will be one of stratagem, and the severity and suddenness of the first blows will be such as to make Britain reel.

5.—At the present moment there are at least ninety thousand German Reservists in these islands, and German intelligence officers in every county.

6.—Two hundred and nine thousand (209,000) rounds of Mauser ammunition were seized during three weeks of April. (Russian Revolutionists do not use Mauser rifles).

7.—Where are the uniforms, arms and accoutrements? Doubtless, stored in London and other great cities, in warehouses and bank vaults! Does Scotland Yard know where, and if not why not?

8.—Is this an imaginary danger, trained foreigners and arms in the heart of the Empire? Fully corroborated by "Dum," "Spiro Spero," "C. J. J." and other writers in the past week's Globe.

9.—Some morning, perhaps before long, England will awake and find that terrible blows have been showered upon her during the night. Her fleet in the North Sea, suddenly attacked—her metropolitan garrison and volunteers deprived of their reserve ammunition — her railways and telegraphs cut, and communication destroyed throughout the land and possibly invaders actually landed in two or three directions.

10.—Think you our foes will play at invasion, to Roman and William the Conqueror fashion, to gull the public as our good folk did a short time back on the East Coast? No! Each German and Atlantic liner would load from four to five thousand men and run in foggy weather up the northern rivers and into dock, like peaceful traders, and who could withstand them?

11.—Forewarned should be forearmed! Let the House of Commons act and force the Government to recognize this great peril and insist on all German officers found spying and military sketching be dismissed from the country. Would France or Germany hesitate under similar circumstances? This is no time for mincing words, with the enemy in our midst.

12.—Ordinary simple minds cannot follow the policy of a Home Secretary, who so thoughtlessly permits these thousands of respectable but truly dangerous aliens to flock to our shores. The very rudiments of patriotic instinct and common sense might show him the danger of such a course. Verily, the minds of some politicians are a sealed book to all lovers of their country.

FOREIGN LOANS DECREASING

At recent meetings of the Peterborough Board of Trade a discussion took place on banking in which a member stated that Canadian institutions had too large a proportion of funds loaned elsewhere, than in Canada, and this was to a certain extent, responsible for the stringency of the money market. Mr. Charles, who read a paper on "Canadian Banking," gave some interesting figures on the call and short loans, the current loans and the deposits elsewhere than in Canada, showing from the Government returns that in February, 1907, the total amount was $90,563,629. In the course of his remarks, he said "It is not the amount of Canadian money used outside of Canada by the banks, and it is a mere bagatelle compared with the loans and discounts in Canada, which makes money so credit scarce, as complained of by Mr. Poussette, but it is the enormous inflation that has been going on for some years past which causes the trouble."

The discussion in Boards of Trade and in the press about the practice of Canadian Banks sending their surplus to New York on call loans, seems to have had some effect, as a Government return issued the other day, revealed that our current loans have decreased in the United States by $4,400,000.

The Toronto News referring to this matter says: The Government statement of the condition of the thirty-five Canadian chartered banks on April 30th, 1907, is to hand. It shows a note circulation of $72,849,909, a shrinkage of about $3,500,000 for the month, out of an expansion of about $6,300,000 over the same date a year ago. The liquidation in stocks is reflected by a decrease during April of $2,309,326 in call loans in Canada, and of $3,000,000 in call loans, elsewhere, i.e., in the United States. Current loans in Canada increased about $7,000,000 during April to $586,149,738. Current loans elsewhere, i.e., in the United States, decreased $4,400,000. It is thus seen that the Canadian Banks are still pursuing the policy of bringing funds home to meet the requirements of business in Canada. The value to the country of these bank reserves abroad is thus again proven.

PEN POINTS.

Help along the garbage system.

Does the proposed bylaw, for the inauguration of a scavenging system in the city, meet your views?

If you have any objection to raise as to the service or schedule of prices in the proposed garbage bylaw now is the time to state them through the press or to the aldermen, not after Monday next, when the bylaw will be passed.

The cold, raw weather and backward spring are still the chief topics of conversation. Unlike some other topics they seem to survive discussion and persist in their onward course.

If the present weather does not moderate the band may be excused this summer from providing open air concerts in the park. How could citizens hear the music with faces muffled up and cap pulled down over the ears.

The break-up of the School-book Ring is a decided relief to fathers of families in Ontario. For thirty years they had been fleeced at the rate of $60,000 a year, for the benefit of publishers favored by the late Liberal Government. The amount returned to the treasury was but small moiety of the money taken, over and above a fair profit on the school books. On moderate computation the total sum unjustly filched from parents by this monopoly would reach a million and a half of dollars.

Good Liberal cabinet material from Ontario is apparently at a premium so far as representation from this province at Ottawa is concerned. Hon. C. S. Hyman has run his course and is not likely to seek re-election and the only men in the Liberal ranks, spoken of as "big" enough to hold portfolios are W. S. Calvert, chief Liberal whip, and Archie Campbell of York. Of the latter in a recent address before the North Toronto Conservative Association, Mr. W. H. Bennett, M. P., for East Simcoe said: Among the "small grafters" are James Conmee, Leighton McCarthy, George D. Grant, and "Toronto Junction's Archie Campbell." The latter figured out the flour contract for his mills. Mr Bennett did not want to say it wasn't good flour. He felt assured that the local grain inspector would say that it was. This inspector, by the way, was another Campbell—a cousin of Archie's. But what he did want to say was no member of parliament should be found trafficking in public contracts."

The Toronto News also asks: Will the Liberal party be re-animated and its vigor and enthusiasm restored by Mr. Calvert of West Middlesex, and Mr. Campbell of York? A few years ago, Ontario was represented in the Government by Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir William Mulock. To-day the only man of first-class talent who sits in the Cabinet for an Ontario constituency, and is active in the direction of its policy, is Mr. Aylesworth. He came late into politics and still finds the going strange and difficult. Liberals of Ontario should speak out now, if this province is to have influence in the Confederation and the Government to escape utter destruction in its constituencies at the next general election.

Enjoyable Concert in Opera House

Most Artistic Programme Ably Presented Last Night

The concert in the Grand Opera House last night was high class in every respect and it is regrettable that a more generous patronage was not extended the talented artists. There was a fair gathering of the music loving populace of the city, but the assembly was, by no means, as representative as it should have been. The applause was liberal and spontaneous, and not one of the artists could complain of lack of enthusiasm or appreciation.

Those who took part were Monsieur Mercier, of Quebec, the celebrated French-Canadian tenor; Mr Trethewey, A.G.S.M., of Toronto, the clever violinist; Mr. John King, the popular concert basso; Miss Levina Hallihan, the gifted soprano vocalist, and Mrs. W. J. Morrow, Peterborough's accomplished pianist, and accompanist.

Mons. Mercier appeared in four numbers. His voice is rich, full and and powerful. It is under perfect control and he sings with ease and grace. He has a fine stage presence and at once found favor with the audience. Mons. Mercier is one of the most artistic, finished and thoroughly competent vocalists who has visited Peterborough in many months. He certainly scored a triumph last evening and deserves all the golden opinions he has won in the leading musical centres of the world. His enunciation and articulation are particularly attractive. His stirring rendition of Granier's "Hosanna" will live long in the minds of those who had the pleasure of hearing him. Another enjoyable number was Recit. and Aria "Inspirez Moi" from the Queen of Sheba, and as an encore he sang with telling effect "La Marseillaise" and then at the close led the gathering in singing the National Anthem.

Mr. James Trethewey is a violinist of the very front rank. His expression, tone, execution, and masterly interpretative talent, were all fully brought out. His numbers were difficult and varied, but served splendidly to demonstrate his powers on the violin, in a manner that earned for him unstinted applause. He had to respond to several encores. His first offering was Hubay's "Hejre Kati," and in the second part of the programme he favored with (a) Canzonetta—D'Ambrosio (b) L'Extase — Thome (c) Hungarian Dance, Brahms-Joachim.

Mr Trethewey will always be a favorite with Peterborough concert patrons.

Mr. John King of this city, needs no introduction to a local audience; his admirers are numerous. He sang with fine spirit and sympathy, "Why do the Nations," from Handel's Messiah, and in response to a recall, contributed a pretty love song in a most acceptable manner. Mr. King also gave Schumann's "The Two Grenadiers," and did the number full justice. His voice is rich, strong and attractive.

The "Jewel Song" from Gounod's Faust, by Miss Levina Hallihan, was most artistically given. She possesses a clear, sweet, well modulated voice and sings with pleasing effect. She was given a cordial reception and generously responded to most insistent plaudits. Her number on the second part of the programme was Arditi's "The Daisy," which was rendered in an attractive manner.

Mrs. W. J. Morrow's piano numbers were thoroughly characteristic of her widely recognized ability and admirable powers as an instrumentalist. Her piano solos were "Fantaisie Impromptu" and "Allegro Agitato" by Chopin and "Valse de Concert" by Winernawski.

Mrs Morrow played all the accompaniments of the evening in a faithful and efficient manner, demonstrating that, whether as a piano soloist, or as a skilled accompanist, she is equal to any demand made upon her. She had to bear the major part of the evening's entertainment, but she did it worthily and well.

The piano used at the concert was a superb Heintzman & Co. instrument.

The programme last evening was;

CONSTRUCTING FIREPROOF OUTBUILDINGS.

Serious efforts have recently been made, to reduce the frightful loss from lightning and fire on Canadian farms. And they have been wholly successful, not only in securing a thoroughly lightning and fireproof construction, but also in bringing the price down to, and even below, that of the old-time board and shingle barn.

The new plan is to use corrugated galvanized sheets for roofing and siding barns and all outbuildings. These sheets are very rigid, and make a perfectly strong construction when used over very light framework. No sheeting boards are used at all—only light purlin strips being necessary.

Such buildings are now becoming very common, and users everywhere affirm that "Acorn Quality" Corrugated Galvanized Sheets, manufactured by the Metal Shingle & Siding Co., Limited, of Preston, Ont., is the most satisfactory material known for the purpose. They are so heavily galvanized that they easily outlast a generation and never need repairs. The firm above mentioned will gladly send to inquirers their interesting literature about "Acorn Quality" Corrugated Galvanized Sheets, and give names of users in all parts of Canada. 40

MATTHEWS' NEW RETAIL STORE

Work Started This Morning at the Corner of Park and Sherbrooke Streets

Work was started this morning on the excavation for the new retail store for the Geo. Matthews Co. at the corner of Park and Sherbrooke streets. The building will be a one storey structure, solid brick walls, with a cement foundation, and a basement seven feet deep. The store will be built parrallel with Park street, and will be 62 feet deep by 26 feet wide. It will be modern throughout, and will be an attractive as well as convenient addition to the south ward. In front of the store, which faces Park street, and on the Sherbrooke street side, the space between the building and the walk will be concreted, adding very much to the appearance of the corner. Architect Blackwell was down yesterday with Mr. T. F. Matthews and staked out the foundation. The construction work will be pushed with all speed so as to get it completed in time for the summer trade.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

The body of a man believed to be that of Frank Sperry, of Toronto, former State tax commissioner, was found in the East River, New York.

Spring Fever Is Spring Catarrh—Nothing Robs One of Strength Like Spring Catarrh.

Pe-ru-na Is a Fine Tonic For a Weary Woman.

A Letter of Praise.

Miss Nellie Condon, 450 7th Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I consider Peruna the ideal spring tonic.

"For the past five years I have taken it at this time of the year and find that it enables me to endure the variable weather of the spring and the trying heat of the summer."

Peruna affords the most prompt and permanent relief in all cases of nervous prostration, caused by systemic catarrh, as verified by many cures on our records.

Gained Eighteen Pounds.

Mrs. Hattie Hamilton, R. F. D. 2, Sparta, Ky., writes: "I have taken two bottles of Peruna and commenced on the third.

"I did not really need the third one, but thought it best to take another bottle.

"I have always weighed 102 pounds, but since I began taking Peruna I weigh 120 pounds for the first time in all my life, and I am now 33 years old.

"Your medicine has surely done me a great deal of good and I have recommended it to several others who have begun taking it.

"My mother, who is 76 years old, had grown so weak she could scarcely walk.

"She took two bottles of Peruna and is fleshier and is looking well."

A Spring Tonic.

ALMOST everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain, and cleanse the blood. That Peruna possesses such qualities is beyond all question.

We have on file thousands of letters which testify to the curative value of Peruna in cases of nervous depression and run down conditions of the system.

A Typical Letter.

Mrs. Rhoda Stufflebeam, Bunch, Iowa, writes:

"For years I suffered with catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes.

"I doctored with different physicians, but kept getting worse all the time.

"This spring I took a cold which settled on my lungs. I had such a cough I could not rest at night. My friends, and I myself thought I had consumption.

"A friend advised me to try Peruna. I bought a bottle and wrote to you for advice. Before I had taken one bottle, my cough was better so I concluded to give it further trial.

"I followed your directions as closely as possible, and thanks to you and Peruna, I am a well woman to-day."

Peruna never fails to prevent spring catarrh or nervous prostration, if taken in time.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind.

Peruna is perfectly harmless, if taken according to the directions on each bottle. So used, it can be taken any length of time without acquiring a drug habit.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a harmful nature.

Case of Hill vs. Gow Dismissed With Costs by Chancellor Boyd

Action to Set Aside the Conveyance of Chas. Gow's Land to the Late John F. Gow—Non-Jury Sittings Being Heard.

The non-jury sittings of the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough opened before His Lordship Chancellor Boyd in the court house this afternoon at one o'clock.

The first case called was that of Hill vs. Gow.

The legal fraternity was represented by County Crown Attorney R. E. Wood, J W Bennet, D O'Connell, F D Kerr, S T Medd, G N Gordon, E L Goodwill, L M Hayes, John Green, Peterborough; Geo. H Watson, K.C., Toronto; Chas. Dunbar, Guelph, W. E. Middleton, Toronto; A T Bowles, Leamington; Clarry & Buchanan, Sudbury.

HILL VS. GOW.

In this case the plaintiff is Robert D. Hill and the defendants, Charles and John F. Gow, and also Charles Gow, Christopher John Darling, and Wm. John Moore, executors of the last will and testament of John F. Gow.

The plaintiff states that on or about the eighth day of April, 1906, he recovered a judgment against the defendant, Charles Gow, in the High Court of Justice, for the sum $653.52 damages and costs, and on the same day a writ of execution against the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of the defendant was issued, upon the said judgment, and placed in the hands of the Sheriff of Peterborough County for execution. The said writ of fieri facias has ever since been in the hands of the sheriff for execution. At this time the defendant resided in Dummer township. The action was entered for trial at a sitting of the High Court held in Peterborough in April 1906, when a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff, with a stay of proceedings for 30 days.

The plaintiff claims that at the time the action was entered, the defendant was the owner of the east half of lot No. 13, in the 4th concession of Dummer. The plaintiff charges the defendant with having for the alleged and pretended consideration of $1,500, executed a deed whereby he purported to convey the lands above referred to to John F. Gow. The deed was dated April 14, 1906. The lot in question is valued at $2,500 or thereabouts. The plaintiff claims that by this fraudulent conveyance he is unable to realize the judgment he obtained, and as a result is being defeated and delayed, and defrauded in collecting his claim against the defendant.

John F. Gow died July 21st, 1906, having first made his last will and testament, whereof he appointed the said defendants, Christopher John Darling, and Wm. John Moore, executors. The plaintiff charges that the above conveyance was fraudulent and void and should be set aside.

STATEMENT OF DEFENCE.

The defendants, Christopher John Darling and Wm. John Moore, admit the judgment of plaintiff against Charles Gow, and also admit the conveyance by Charles Gow, to the late John F. Gow, but claim that they had no knowledge of any facts that would tend to throw any doubt on the validity of the said conveyance.

R. E. Wood, solicitor for plaintiff, and Roger, Bennett & Goodwill, for the defendants.

Miss Beatrice Gow, sister of Chas. Gow, was called first. She stated to Mr Middleton that her brother left home the morning after her father's funeral. Where he was now she did not know. She knew of the conveyance of the land, having heard her relatives talking of selling the property in March. She had not heard Hill's name mentioned in this connection.

Mr. Archie McIntyre said to Mr. Middleton that he was a contractor and recently inspected the barns on Chas Gow's property and valued it at $400.

To Mr. Watson witness said he inspected drive sheds and stables on what he was told was the Charles Gow farm. He also inspected a log barn which was on the Gow farm. He inspected all the buildings on the farm of 800 acres. He only valued the drive sheds and stables.

This ended the case for the plaintiff and His Lordship expressed it as his opinion that no case had been established. Mr. Middleton argued several points, but it made no difference, and the case was dismissed with costs, subsequent to the examination of Mr. Dennistoun.

Big Day's Work at Track Laying

Mr. P. Burke, track foreman for the Portland Cement Co., at Lakefield, laid 1,200 feet of a new steel track in the yard, including three frogs and two switches in seven hours. The company though it would take two or three days to do the job. All the time Mr. Burke asked for was ten hours, and he finished it in seven. This is remarkably quick work and reflects great credit on Mr. Burke, who has proved himself to be quite proficient in this line. He expects to have the whole track completed by July 1st.

Furniture Factory is Nearly Ready

The new furniture factory on Hunter street east, will be ready for operation in about two weeks. Everything is now completed, but the placing of the machinery, some of which has already been put in position. The building is of good large dimensions and consists of two storeys. The ground floor will be the machine shop. The work of manufacturing will be done by machinery, which will be run by a 45 horse power motor from the C.G.E. works. On the second storey will be the paint and work shops. A nice-sized room in the front of the building will be fitted up for an office.

The factory will turn out all case work, that is book-cases, tables, side boards and such like. No chairs will be manufactured.

Mr. T. A. Oke, formerly of Cobourg, where he had a factory, although not as large as this one, is the proprietor of the new building. He has also superintended the erection of it. Mr. Oke is anxious to get things in operation as soon as possible, as he has several orders, including one for 100 tables.

The new building is quite an improvement to Hunter street east, and is a credit to the city.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

New York, May 29.— The stock market showed a much better tone today The absorption seemed to improve. At concessions stocks were wanted both by shorts and long buyers There was investment buying again noted and some evidence of better support, with a little manipulation against the shorts. Large bear operators covered and expected a rally. The market was oversold or the better tone would not have been witnessed prior to the holiday tomorrow. The dealings were small and dullness ensued, but the demand for stocks at times was better than the supply at previous quotations, which was encouraging.

Union Pacific sold ex-dividend 2 1-2 per cent. and more than regained it. Wheat was weak on reports of good rains in Kansas and Nebraska, but oats were very strong and corn up a cent. The closing on stocks was active and strong, although slightly under the best of the day. All exchanges closed tomorrow, Decoration Day.

THE GARBAGE BY-LAW

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have carefully read the terms and provisions of the proposed garbage bylaw, and am certainly going to give it my support. There is nothing Peterborough more urgently needs than a regular, systematic collection of refuse. It will cost householders in the central part of the city, only 15 cents a month or $1.80 a year, to have garbage removed, and sir, I believe the service is well worth it.

Yours, etc.,
SIMCOE-ST.

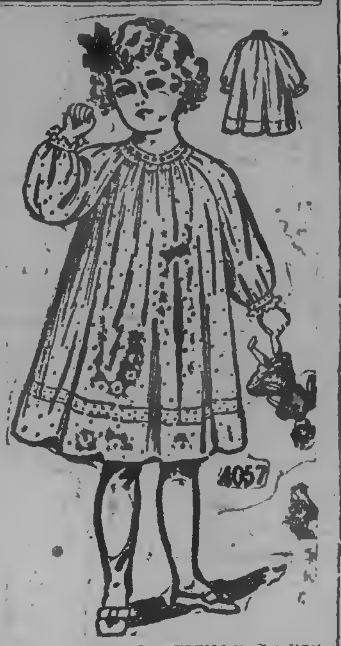
FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS

An old and well tried remedy. — Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906. Serial Number 1098.

Complaints have reached the State Department at Washington, that the Japanese in San Francisco, are being made the victims of attacks by mobs.



4057.—A SMALL BISHOP DRESS.

Among the many designs for children's frocks none is more comfortable and becoming than the bishop dress, and we may add, none is so easily made. There are only the seams at each side which join the front and back and those that join the sleeves to the body. These latter extend to the neck edge where the dress and sleeves are gathered to a narrow neckband or finished with a narrow frill of lace. Another suggestion is to hemstitch the lower edge and finish the sleeves and neck with tiny hemstitched frills. Nainsook, lawn, dimity or a flouncing would develop this little dress charmingly. The medium size demands 2 1-8 yards of 36 inch goods.

4057.—Sizes, 6 months to 6 years. The price of this pattern is 10c.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM FLAMES

Warsaw Blacksmith Shop Had Close Shave

The blacksmith shop of Michael McCann, at Warsaw, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire yesterday. When the children were coming from school at noon they noticed flames shooting through the roof, and at once gave the alarm. After a hard fight Mr McCann, with the assistance of a neighbor, Mr. Jas Barrie, succeeded in putting the fire out, but not before some damage had been done. The fire started from the forge, and it was lucky that it was discovered in time.

Retail Merchants' Banquet is Off

For some time a movement has been on foot among the retail merchants to hold a big banquet the end of May or the beginning of June. The Retail Merchants' Association took the matter up and a small committee was appointed to look after it. It has now been decided, however, to not hold the banquet until early next fall. This was done on account of the holiday season being so near at hand, and a belief that the desired object would not be accomplished. In the fall the merchants can be got together easier and the banquet can be followed up with regular meetings.

DEATH IN THE KISS

Glasgow, May 29. — Dr. Chalmers, the medical officer of the city, has completed an elaborate investigation of the recent high rate of mortality by spotted fever, and, as a result, declares emphatically that there is death in kissing. He condemns the prevailing habit of kissing infants, which, he says, is an unmistakeable carrier of disease. For weeks the city hospital has never had fewer than 100 patients.

E. Allison Powers Gave Address

To Knights of Pythias on Endowment Rank—His Visit in the City

A special meeting of Marathon Lodge, No. 39, Knights of Pythias, was held last night in the rooms on Hunter street, when Mr. E. Allison Powers, of Montreal, editor of the Pythian Review, was present. Mr. Powers gave the members a talk on the endowment rank, or insurance department of the Order. He has just returned from an extended trip to many cities and towns in the United States, and in Ontario, and has made a special effort on behalf of the endowment ranks. He has met with great encouragement wherever he has gone. There are now 80,000 members in the insurance department, and new lodges are being started all over the country, and the membership roll is crawling up. In Montreal there are eight lodges, and in Toronto five.

There was a large number of Knights present to hear the editor of their official organ, and no doubt much good will be accomplished as a result.

This morning Mr. Powers, in company with a couple of the local Knights, drove around the city and over to the lift lock. This was his first visit to Peterborough, and to use his own words, "It will not be the last." He was delighted with everything he saw, and thought the lift lock a wonderful piece of engineering work.

Was Fined for Illegal Fishing

County Police Magistrate Moore of Lindsay, visited Omemee on Tuesday, and settled a case of illegal fishing that occurred there some time ago. A man named John English was operating a decoy and a snare through the ice last winter in an attempt to catch fish. Fishery Overseer Ira Toole was on the alert, however, and caught the man. Magistrate Moore fined him $10 and costs.

"BLOWN FROM THE GUNS"

First Shipment of "Quaker Wheat Berries" the New Food Placed in the Market by the Quaker Oats Co.—How the Nutritious Product is Manufactured.

"Blown from the guns" was the penalty inflicted on the rebels who took part in the fearful massacres of the Indian Mutiny. But here we have the phrase in connection with a manufacturing industry, and the making of a product to furnish the breakfast tables of the nation.

The Quaker Oats Company, in addition to their manufactur of flour, Quaker Oats, Corn Meal feeds had recently added that of Puffed Rice. It proved a popular innovation, and one that was much appreciated. A further development along the same line resulted in placing on the market "Quaker Wheat Berries," a light, wholesome and delicious food, one thoroughly cooked, delicately and nicely prepared, and retaining a nutty flavor that will make it a favorite. The advertising to introduce the new food is being liberally put out, and the first shipment was made yesterday.

The making of the "Wheat Berries" is an interesting process. It is made from selected grain, only the best being made use of. After being thoroughly screened, cleaned out, and the bran removed, the kernels of wheat are poured into the "Gun," of which there is a battery of ten standing ready. The gun is a cast iron cylinder, about five feet long by ten inches in diameter. It is massive and strong, for it has to stand immense pressure and intense heat. It is closed up absolutely tight, under a very severe pressure and run into a section of the oven, where it is caught by a holder that revolves, and turned over and over, while the heat from burning jets of gas play on the cylinder, causing the temperature on the cylinder to about 400 degrees. As air is excluded the contents do not burn.

After being subject to the heat for fully half an hour, a jet of steam at about 200 pounds pressure to the square inch is forced into the cylinder, saturating the wheat and raising the pressure to a very high point. The gun is then withdrawn from the oven, pushed into a holder, an opening in which gives access to a chamber, lined with wire netting and steel screens. When the gun is opened—"fired" the men call it—the contents of the cylinder are driven, by the enormous pressure out into the air of the chamber and fall to the floor, each grain swelled or puffed to thrice its normal size. The report accompanying the discharge of the gun is something startling, and forms a very respectable cannonade. The process is continuous, the battery being loaded and fired in succession. The samples of the new food placed on the market found quick favor, and the plant will be run at high pressure to supply the demand. While the standard and old reliable "Quaker Oats" is always and ever a favorite, the new food will catch the attention of those who look for something new, and certainly they have it.

One detail of the manufacture is its absolute cleanliness. The product, from the time the wheat leaves the elevator until it is packed in the cases as a finished product, is never touched by human hand. It is handled, carried, cleaned, made and packed by machinery, each detail being watched with the utmost care and attention.

The new food will be on the local market in a few days, when our people can have the opportunity of sampling it, and the general verdict will be one of hearty approval.

The diagram of parlor car, which is attached to local Canadian Pacific Train leaving Peterboro' at 8 a. m. for Toronto, is now held by W. McIlroy, City Passenger Agent. Seats in the parlor car can be reserved on application to him.

A FINE LAUNCH

Mr. Daly, of Cobourg, launched a 30 foot motor boat on Victoria Day, which is, as far as we know, the finest craft on the Trent waters. With a 21 horse power engine driving her, she went up the river at the rate of about sixteen miles an hour, which with a craft of her size, seemed about forty.—Hastings Star.

The Emmerson Libel Suit is In Progress at Fredericton

Defence Pleads Statement Is True and in Public Interest.

Plaintiff Claims Libel In Few Words Only—Whole Article Not Admitted—Panic In Prosecution Camp—Premier Pugsley Asks For Adjournment—"No Technical Defence" Says Counsel.

Fredericton, N. B., May 30.—When the criminal libel suit entered against The Gleaner by Hon. Mr. Emmerson opened yesterday morning before magistrate Marsh, it was generally known that no testimony would be heard until afternoon, and only a handful of people had assembled. Within the bar were J. D. Hazen, K. C., M. P. P., leader of the Provincial Opposition; Mayor McLeod, and O. S. Crockett, M. P., counsel for the defendant. Mr. Emmerson had not arrived, nor had his leading counsel, Premier, Hon. William Pugsley.

J. H. Barry, K. C., on behalf of the crown, asked an adjournment until the afternoon. He read a telegram from Premier Pugsley, stating that he would arrive at Fredericton with Mr. Emmerson on the C. P. R. express from Montreal.

The C. P. R. train was late, and it was three o'clock before Hon. Mr. Emmerson and his counsel entered the court room. Meanwhile a large crowd had assembled, and many curious glances were directed toward the witnesses for the defence. These included John Lloyd, white-haired and with white moustache, who for 30 years had been night clerk at the St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal; Harry Dean, a Scotchman of soldierly cut, who served under Gen. Gordon and who happened to be the night watchman at the hotel on the Sunday night when it is said that Mr. Emmerson and his companions were ejected; G. M. Smyth, accountant of the Hogan estate (owners of the St. Lawrence Hall), who brought with him the register of the hotel.

Although counsel for the defendant offered, in open court, to admit that J. H. Crockett had written the alleged libel, Premier Pugsley insisted that he should be allowed to prove it. For this purpose he had subpoenaed the entire staff of The Fredericton Gleaner, but only one was called, namely, Douglas Black, city editor, who threw but little light on the subject.

Again, Mr. Hazen protested on behalf of Mr. Crockett that the latter admitted that he wrote the article.

"We have no technical defence," he thundered. "We say that the article is true and that it was published in the public interest."

After examining this witness, Mr. Pugsley asked for an adjournment. There was plainly a panic in the camp of the prosecution, and there was evident relief when the kindly magistrate adjourned the trial until to-day, after a session of 50 minutes.

Mr. Emmerson appears to be in poor health. He was quite nervous throughout the session and was constantly tearing up bits of paper and throwing them upon the floor. A telegram, handed him during the trial, seemed to depress him deeply. He read it over and over again, and his hands trembled to such an extent as to cause very general comment throughout the court room. It is rumored that the message was a cable from Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The first witness called yesterday afternoon was John B. Hawthorne, jailer of the County of York. Not long since he purchased a copy of The Gleaner of date March 27. The paper was produced and Mr. Barry, on behalf of the crown, offered in evidence a sentence or two from quite a long editorial, these sentences comprising the charge that Mr. Emmerson was expelled from the St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal, in company with two women of ill repute. Mr. Hazen, for the defendant, insisted that the entire article must be put in evidence. Premier Pugsley objected strenuously to this. It would open the door to investigations as to the character of George W. Fowler, M. P. He denounced The Gleaner editorial as a "most horrible and slanderous article." The magistrate overruled the objection and confined the testimony to that excerpt from The Gleaner article which is quoted in the affidavit.

Douglas Black testified that The Gleaner had a large circulation in Canada and the United States. On March 27 last he understood in a general way that J. H. Crockett, the defendant, was editor of the paper. He was probably in Fredericton on that day. Witness had read The Gleaner on that date. He thought that the "Mr. Emmerson" referred to in The Gleaner article was Hon. Henry R. Emmerson, ex-Minister of Railways and Canals. He was unable to say who wrote the article. He could not say that it was written by the defendant, James H. Crockett.

The trial was adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock.

MONTREAL WOMAN SUICIDES.

Asphyxiates Herself In New York After Reading Poems.

New York, May 30.—After trying to destroy every clue to her identity, Emma Mosscrop of Montreal, a handsome woman about 24 years old, turned on the gas in a room in East 24th st. which she engaged Tuesday. She was dead when the occupants of the house, who had been attracted by the odor of gas, burst in the door yesterday. She had been reading a book of poems before ending her life.

May Be Girl's Murderer.

New York, May 30.—An attempted criminal assault on a five-year-old girl in Cerena, L. I., yesterday gave rise to the suspicion that Henry Becker might not, after all, have been the assailant of Amelia Staffeldt, the 15-year-old girl who was killed in a field in Elmhurst last Wednesday.

The culprit in yesterday's attempted outrage was arrested and he answers fairly well the description given by Joseph Engel of the man he saw running away from the lot on which the Staffeldt girl was murdered.

METHUEN TO COMMAND.

Will Be Given First Place In the Old Battlefields.

London, May 30.—Among a number of new military appointments just announced is one of unusual interest, that of General Methuen to command the British forces in South Africa.

General Methuen's part in the South African campaign did not reflect great credit upon him. He was severely defeated at Magersfontein in December, 1899, and was recalled from Kimberley after his unsuccessful operations before Warrenton in March 1900.

Duke of D'Abruzzi Coming.

Ottawa, May 30.—It is understood the Duke D'Abruzzi, the Italian explorer, who at first proposed coming to Canada in an informal and unofficial manner, may arrive at Quebec with the full fleet of Italian warships, which the Italian Government sent to the Jamestown Exhibition under his command.

He will probably be in Canada a month or more, and will visit some of the principal cities.

Grain Samples.

Ottawa, May 30.—The annual distribution of sample grains and vegetables from the experimental farm has almost concluded.

The number sent up to May 27 to the various provinces was as follows: Ontario, 8,476; Quebec, 13,374; Nova Scotia, 3,414; New Brunswick, 3,785; Prince Edward Island, 1,595; Manitoba, 2,290; Alberta, 1,991; British Columbia, 819. Total to date mentioned was 40,208.

PAINTINGS FOR EXHIBITION.

Twenty-Eight Valuable Pictures From Laval Collection.

Toronto, May 30.—Dr. Orr, manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, received word yesterday that 28 valuable historical paintings from Laval University will be on exhibition here.

The collection includes portraits of General Wolfe, by Sir Joshua Reynolds; Joseph Brant, the Indian, by Breezy; Louis XV. and Montcalm, by La Tour; General Amherst, by Lawrence, and an Indian Girl, by Legarre.

This will be the first time that these famous works have been permitted to leave the galleries and corridors of Laval University.

The appointment of School of Science men, unused to the bush as fire rangers, is adversely criticised in the north.

REBELS FIGHT RULERS.

Outbreak In China Not Against Foreigners—Missions Are Safe.

Swatow, China, May 30.—A proclamation issued by the Svatan revolutionary society declares that the uprising is not directed against foreigners or ordinary Chinese citizens, but against the Government, the intention of the revolutionists being to attack and burn every yamen and exterminate the officials, with the object of overthrowing the Government.

The missions, with the exception of the German mission at Lien Chow, have thus far been unmolested, but the missionaries are abandoning their stations and seeking refuge here.

The local officials take a serious view of the situation, and are urging the authorities at Canton to despatch gunboats here.

Incoming and outgoing Chinese passengers on the Chao Coufu Railroad are searched.

Canton, China, May 30.—The revolutionists in the neighborhood of Swatow recently captured the entire family of a Chinese brigadier-general and compelled them all to drown themselves in a well.

Thirteen hundred troops have been despatched from Canton to Swatow and another detachment has gone there from Shiuhing.

ROYALTY IN DANGER.

Queen of Norway Has Narrow Escape In Paris.

Paris, May 30.—While King Haakon and Queen Maud of Norway were driving in the park of Varsailles yesterday accompanied by President and Mme. Fallieres, the leading horse attached to the carriage containing the Queen and Mme Fallieres suddenly reared while crossing a small bridge and jumped over the paraphet into the water, dragging the postilion over the bridge.

The two ladies were somewhat alarmed, but happily they did not sustain any injury.

The postilion was dragged out of the water, none the worse for his wetting, another horse was attached to the carriage and the party proceeded.

As a souvenir of their visit the French Government has presented to their Norwegian majesties a gobelin tapestry, some fine engravings from Louvre, and several Sevres vases. M. Fallieries has decided to go to Norway during the summer and return King Haakon's visit.

It is entirely probable that his trip will be extended to include England, Denmark and other countries, whose sovereigns have been guests of the French republic.

ENGINEER ARRESTED.

Held Responsible For Two Deaths Near St. Thomas.

St. Thomas, May 30.—Murray Stevens, who was the engineer in charge of the Wabash theatrical special train last August that dashed into a C.P.R. passenger train, just on the city limits, and killed John MacKay, of Toronto, was arrested yesterday and lodged in the county jail. He will have to answer to the charge of causing MacKay's death.

The wreck caused the deaths of John MacKay, a C. P. R. engineer at Toronto Junction, and Alex. Wiley, a baggageman of St. Thomas, and injured several others.

In his evidence at the inquest, Stevens admitted he ran past the signal, and declared he had no intention of stopping for the crossing, this, he said, being contrary to the custom of the road.

The watchman declared the C. P. R. train had the right of way, and the coroner's jury put the blame on the Wabash employes.

Mining Commission.

Alberta, May 30.—The Lethbridge mining commission began taking evidence yesterday morning. A number of miners stated their views, based on experience, plainly to the commissioners.

It was established that conditions in Galt are on the whole satisfactory, though ventilation and the system of paying men were criticized. There had been no fatal accident in these mines for four years.

The eight-hour day was strongly advocated as being conductive to more effective work and less liability to accidents.

Tariff With Germany.

London, May 30.—(C. A. P.)—The Mail's Hamburg correspondent says: Herr Baldn, managing director of the Hamburg-American Line has informed him the company will establish a direct weekly goods and passenger service between Hamburg and Canada.

The correspondent says he learns from other quarters that well informed business circles look for a most favorable result from the German-Canadian tariff negotiations.

Killed by Train.

Hamilton, May 30.—W. G. Lemon, employed by G. W. Carey & Co., piano dealers, was struck by an express train at Hagersville yesterday morning, and instantly killed. He left his home at Crown Point yesterday morning on a business trip for his firm, and word of the accident was received shortly afterwards. He was 67 years of age.

Attacked by a Rat.

Hamilton, May 30.—Mrs. Carter and her infant, were attacked while sleeping by a rat last night. The baby's hand was badly torn, the rat woke Mrs. Carter by biting her thumb and fought viciously before it could be driven away.

Voliva Fired.

Chicago, May 30.—General Overseer Voliva, who succeeded in ousting the late John Alexander Dowie from control of Zion City, has been ordered by Receiver John C. Hately, to vacate all leases of buildings May 31.

Two Suicides In Central Park.

New York, May 30.—The bodies of two men, who had committed suicide, were found in Central Park yesterday. One of the men had thrown himself into the reservoir, and the other had sent a bullet through his head.

In Fort William, butter is selling at 70c., a pound, and potatoes at $1.70 per bag.

DOUGLAS IS SET FREE

Crown Attorney's Statement in Orangeville Case.

Case Against Druggist Is Dropped—Coroner Henry Makes Protest In Court—Calls It a Farce—Residents Are Indignant — Defence Lawyer Claims Fulfilment of Bargain—Much of Evidence Only Hearsay.

Orangeville, May 30.—Although at a dramatic moment in the proceedings, Coroner James Henry rose in open court and vehemently stated that the whole thing was a farce, addressing Police Magistrate Pattullo directly on the bench, the crown yesterday afternoon dismissed Arthur Chapman Douglas on the charge of supplying noxious drugs for a criminal purpose to Elizabeth Wells.

The score or so of spectators, that included farmers that had driven in miles to be present, judging from their expressions, did not view the result with any too much equanimity. There was talk of holding an indignation meeting Thursday night.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., after the reading of the charge, sprang a surprise by refusing to allow Douglas to either plead or elect. This course he explained, was justified from the fact that Douglas had been used by the Crown as a witness for the extradition of Walter Jackson, and before the grand jury and following the invariable custom ought to be protected. On this understanding only Douglas had been permitted by his counsel to make any statement to the Crown.

The crown attorney made a statement in which he said the reason for the course taken, was that he felt that no jury would convict on the hearsay evidence, which was all that could be produced. Moreover, Douglas had been used as a witness for the Crown, and this had always been held to carry exemption from future prosecution.

WOULD SHUT BARON'S MOUTH.

Attempt Made to Declare Evidence Inadmissable.

Quebec, May 30.—The chief incident in the Prevost trial yesterday was the long legal fight over an attempt to introduce evidence proving Baron Lepine's oft-repeated statement of disbelief in God and the future state, for the purpose of ruling out all his evidence against the Cabinet Ministers and about the electoral fund.

Mr. Laflamme objected that this evidence, once given, must be permitted to stand, when court had allowed him to testify. The objection should have come before the examination of witness.

Judge Bosse took the question under consideration.

Hon. Mr. Dubord, M. L. C., said that he had been appointed as Canadian director of the Belgium syndicate and that he never heard anything about the electoral fund and the contribution of 30 cents per acre required by Hon. Mr. Turgeon from the syndicate.

HIS MOTIVE FOR MURDER.

Woman Had Called Him "a Dirty Little Brat."

Killarney, Man., May 30.—"I killed Georgina Brown because she called me a dirty little English brat."

Such is the motive Lawrence Gowland claims led him to perpetrate the revolting murder of last week.

The confession was made to the murdered girl's brother, and it was entered in the evidence at the preliminary trial yesterday afternoon.

Gowland was then committed for trial.

To Distribute Land.

Madrid, May 30.—The Government has elaborated and submitted to Parliament a scheme for the distribution of the uncultivated lands belonging to the state to the communes, so as to allow each head of a family desiring to do so to take up a sufficient area to maintain his family.

The plan involves the organization of co-operative societies to aid the colonists in securing and exploiting the lands.

Hit Duke With Parasol.

Paris, May 30.—A woman named Mme. Guggenheim was fined $20 in a civil court for having committed an assault with a parasol upon the Duke of Galleria, husband of the Infanta Eulalia, aunt of the present King of Spain.

She claimed in court that she had left her husband for love of the duke, and that he had subsequently neglected her.

Drinkwater Remanded.

Cobourg, May 30.—J. H. Drinkwater came before Police Magistrate Holland yesterday morning charged with forging a $400 cheque on the Dominion Bank. He was represented by J. F. Keith.

The magistrate remanded the case until Wednesday, June 5.

Longshoremen Win.

Ottawa, May 30.—The Labor Department has received word that the strike of longshoremen at Vancouver for increased pay terminated within 24 hours of its inception in a victory for the men.

No Sign of Summer.

Washington, May 30.—Weather bureau officials say that there is no immediate prospect of any summer weather anywhere.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

"I shall remain papa that the son of an old comrade is living so near us," said Reine, "and I am sure he will be glad to welcome you to Fairlawn for your father's sake and—and for your own," she added, coloring a little.

"Do not mention it, I beg of you," returned Waldron, hastily; adding, with a note of sorrow in his voice, "Our fathers were not the best of friends, Miss Hastings. They disagreed over a trifling matter, and never met again to become reconciled, my father going abroad. In the first heat of memory which might be bitter, the general might forbid our acquaintance. Ah, Miss Hastings, do not do anything that might disturb that."

Reine looked greatly embarrassed; she hardly knew what answer to make to that direct appeal.

"I should like the general to meet me casually," he went on; "then I should have no fear of his disliking me. I should endeavor in every possible way to win his esteem."

"He will be sure to like you," said Reine, so earnestly, that this man of the world worldly could scarcely refrain from laughing outright.

"Thank you for thinking so," he said gallantly, raising his straw hat with a very low bow, which did not fail to make due impression upon his companion.

"Shall we walk down toward the river?" he asked; "it might be pleasanter than standing here." He thought he had observed Chesleigh from a distance coming in that direction.

Reine readily consented.

"Do you know, Miss Hastings, I had quite made up my mind to return to New York two days ago, and was on the point of concluding my arrangements on the day I saw you?"

Before she could reply he went on: "Now I have determined to tarry a little longer at the Towers."

"I am glad you are not going so very soon," she replied.

It is not very difficult for a young and handsome man, of the world worldly, to make himself extremely fascinating to a young and inexperienced girl of sixteen. Waldemar Waldron, although but four-and-twenty, was well skilled in the ways of winning feminine hearts. Young girls were always interested in him for the sake of his fair, handsome face. The moments sped like a golden dream to Reine.

He had a fund of poetic lore at his tongue's end, he knew how to imbue the lines with a tender cadence, that made the girl's heart thrill with ecstatic pleasure. Under the guise of poetry, he could put into eloquent language words that he could hardly have repeated to her otherwise.

She had been talking to Waldemar Waldron quite half an hour before Bernard Chesleigh missed her and discovered her whereabouts. He came swiftly toward her, alarm on his face. To him, seeing Reine standing there was like seeing a beautiful bird in the most deadly peril.

It was like a cold, chill shock to Reine when she saw Bernard Chesleigh advancing through the trees. Why couldn't he stay away? Why must he interrupt so charming a tete-a-tete? She was enjoying herself so well. She could scarcely conceal her pique and annoyance.

At the sound of the swift, approaching footsteps, Waldemar Waldron turned nonchalantly around; but when he saw who the intruder was his face paled. Yet a flash of defiance leaped into his eyes as the gaze of the two young men met, and held each other for one brief instant.

"Mr. Chesleigh," said Reine, flushing and smiling, "allow me to present you to—"

Bernard Chesleigh held up his white hand with a quick gesture.

"I will spare you that trouble by saying that we have met before," he said, sternly. "Will you take my arm, Miss Reine?" he said, ignoring Reine's companion completely. "The refreshments are being served."

Waldemar Waldron raised his straw hat, and with a smile and a bow, for which Bernard Chesleigh could have annihilated him, he walked away, and there was nothing else to do but walk back beside Bernard to the merry throng gathered around the white cloth which was being laid; but she was too bitterly angry to take the arm proffered her.

"Why were you so uncivil to the young gentleman who just left us, Mr. Chesleigh?" she cried, resentfully. "Indeed, you treated him most shamefully."

"I deny that young man's right to the honorable title of gentleman," replied Bernard, warmly. "Oh, Reine," he cried, "I warn you against him. Do not trust him. If I saw you engulfed in a cloud of consuming flame, or about to fall in a horrible pit, I should spring forward to save you. If I saw you stretching out your white hands toward a sharp sword that would wound you, I should warn you. Yet none of these things are as dangerous as the danger that lurks in the smile of the man from whom you have just parted."

"I do not believe it," cried Reine hotly. "Mr. Waldron is one of the most perfect gentlemen whom I have ever met."

"It is not to be supposed that you could discriminate between a gentleman and a rascal," replied Chesleigh gravely, quietly. "You have never been brought in contact with wickedness, or the people steeped in it. I thank Heaven it is a sealed book to you, Reine. Take my word for it, that man is not a person for you to know."

CHAPTER IV.

Reine Hastings flashed her companion a glance of withering scorn. How cruel of him to traduce the handsome stranger behind his back. It was unmanly. Girl-like, the more Bernard said against him, the more of a hero cruelly slander Waldemar Waldron became in her eyes.

"If I answer you we shall quarrel, Mr. Chesleigh," she said, and he was bewildered by what he saw in her face. A terrible fear came to him that chilled his heart. Had his warning to beautiful, impulsive Reine been given too late?

The fete wound up with a merry half hour of dancing under the light of the gleaming swinging lamps, and the silvery light of the golden stars.

As soon as the band struck up the strains of a waltz, to Bernard Chesleigh's dismay, Waldemar Waldron crossed over to where Reine was sitting, and the next moment they were whirling away together amid the gay throng.

"I wish this waltz would never end, Miss Hastings," he whispered. "This is the happiest hour of my life. Would that the future could be like this;" and he was quite satisfied with the impression he had made when he saw the girl's cheeks flush, the blue eyes droop beneath his ardent, eloquent glance, and felt the little hand tremble in his clasp.

At that moment both glanced up and caught sight of Bernard Chesleigh's white, set face.

"Mr. Chesleigh, your escort, does not appear to like me," he said. "He appears angry because you have been so kind as to dance with me. Has he any right to direct your actions?" he asked, with eager intentness.

"Any right!" echoed Reine. "No. Why should he?"

The answer so unhesitatingly given relieved Waldemar Waldron's mind wonderfully. He saw that Bernard Chesleigh loved Reine; but she was utterly unconscious of it. She gave him only formal friendship in return.

He had no chance of saying good night to Reine—Bernard Chesleigh was too watchful for that—but he promised himself that he should see Reine soon again. Although he haunted the shaded road where she would be likely to ride, and the green, flower-strewn glades where she might walk, a week passed and he had not caught so much as a glimpse of General Hasting's daughter.

Had he made less of an impression upon her than he had imagined? He had been so certain of meeting her; or was she kept in close surveillance under the watchful eyes of a stern papa?

Waldemar Waldron was determined to find out.

He dared not call openly at Fairlawn and ask for Miss Reine, but he laid his plans to lay siege to the girl's heart in a most adroit manner. He wrote the most charming of notes, and by bribing one of the maids, succeeded in having it conveyed to Reine in an ordorous bouquet.

How deliciously romantic! How Reine's heart throbbed as she read the ardent missive that told how he had watched and waited for her in vain. Would she permit him to call upon her at Fairlawn? He would be so pleased to meet her again. If she would write him just a single line to let him know that she was well, he would be so grateful. She could place it in the hollow of the old oak tree that stood at the right angle of the park that skirted Fairlawn.

The very romance connected with the novel idea captivated Reine's girlish fancy.

The next day Waldemar Waldron received his answer, but she did not tell him that the general had forbidden her to drive or walk beyond the grounds of Fairlawn without the escort of the stolid old footman, and that in her anger she had declared she would not go at all if she was to be followed by a lackey. The general had given as a reason that the country about was infested by tramps. She never dreamed that the true reason was Bernard Chesleigh had told the general that, as they had feared, the heir of Waldron Towers had been at the fete, and how infatuated he had appeared to be with Reine.

General Hastings listened in silence.

"She may have espoused the young man's cause when you warned her against him, Chesleigh," he said. "Young girls have a penchant for being on the contrary side. Ten to one she'll never think of him again. Still, it would be as well to nip such an affair in the bud. She shall not go out without an attendant; so she'll not be likely to meet this gay Lothario again."

But love laughs at the stern decree of wise parents as well as locksmiths, as we have seen; and the pink-tinted note that found its way to Reine, hidden among the flowers, was followed by many more such missives, which found their way back and forth through the agency of the hollow oak tree.

Wooing by letter has a charm about it peculiarly its own, so much more can be said by the pen than the lips can utter; and then young girls have the habit of reading and rereading them till they know every tenderly expressed thought by heart.

They were Reine's first love-letters, for they grew to be that; and the enforced separation which she was obliged to submit to only increased the flame in her rebellious little heart. And when Waldemar pleaded that he must see her soon and gain her consent to asking her father a very important question, her own heart acceded eagerly.

"Let me see you, Reine, if but for a few brief moments, at the old oak tree, to-night," he wrote. "I will be there at seven sharp."

It could not be so very wrong to grant him a few short moments, Reine told herself. A meeting at the old trysting-place, seen through the warm haze of a young girl's fancy, was delightfully romantic. Reine went. She could stay but a few moments, however, for her father had sent her a message after tea that he wanted to see her in the library that evening, at eight.

How handsome Waldemar Waldron looked as he advanced eagerly in the moonlight to meet her. He had quite made up his mind to win her. Reine's fresh, young beauty charmed him. He loved her quite as much as he was capable of loving. He had vowed to wrest her from Bernard Chesleigh, his mortal foe. And last, but by no means the least, she was heiress to a million. What man would wish a fairer prize?

He knew there would be a battle to fight before he gained Reine Hastings for his bride. He had sown more wild oats than were usually allotted to young men, and he had reaped the whirlwind for a harvest. He knew that he would never have been received as a guest at Fairlawn by the old general. Bernard Chesleigh knew enough about him to interfere with that. So no other way of winning fair Reine was left him save through the adorable letters he knew so well how to write. "All was fair in love and war."

"You can give me only a few brief moments, Reine?" he said, reproachfully. "How shall I tell you all I have to say, in so short a time? The words I would utter would fill volumes."

He clasped the little white hand, bending his handsome head over it, and the beautiful story, so old and sweet, that young girls love to listen to so well—the story that had been so charmingly told in a score or more of letters, in an hundred different ways—was breathed again in eloquent, passionate words.

She looked up at him with startled eyes, crimson flushes coming and going on her dimpled face. But she loved him. The artless, girlish replies to his letters had told him that long ago.

Her golden head drooped. She tried to speak, but her lovely lips trembled with all a young girl's coy bashfulness.

"You do care for me, Reine," he whispered. "Look up and tell me so. Tell me that, and nothing shall ever part us. You will be mine in life, mine in death, mine through eternity. Say that you love me, Reine, and will be my bride, and to-morrow I will come and ask your father for this dear little hand. He may censure our wooing, yet it could not have been tenderer, sweeter. He may hold out against us at first, but when he finds out how well we love each other, he will yield in the end."

She did not shrink from his caresses, for Reine Hastings, the general's lovely daughter, had learned to love Waldemar Waldron with all her heart. She sat with him under the trees, listening to his words of love, so unutterably happy, and the answer she made him must have pleased him, for his eyes blazed with triumph.

Yes, she had promised to be his bride.

"They may try to part us, Reine," he said, "they may calumniate me, and try to vilify me in your eyes; but you will be true to me through good or evil report—true to me if we lose the whole world beside," he went on, anxiously and eagerly.

"Why should any one wish to part us?" asked Reine.

"I will tell you, my darling," he answered, with an assumption of intense sorrow. "You are General Hastings' heiress, rich in this world's goods, while I am comparatively poor. They will say I am no match for you—that you are expected to marry brilliantly."

Reine laughed, thinking how little weight money would have with her father in considering her happiness. Why, he had never denied his motherless daughter anything that she had really set her mind on in all her bright young life. He would not do so now.

"We shall have trouble, Reine," he said. "I am sure we will have trouble in gaining your father's consent. But with you on my side—if you stand by me firmly—he will not hold out against us long. I will come to Fairlawn to-morrow morning, Reine, and see him."

The great bell in an adjacent belfry rang out the hour of eight in measured strokes, and the lovers parted hastily.

He to go slowly back to Waldron Towers, triumphant over his prospects of the future; she to hurry back to the house to keep her appointment with her father in the library, her throbbing heart in a whirl, the glamor of love's beautiful dream enfolding her.

General Hastings was pacing up and down the room when she entered. She went up to him swiftly, clasping her arms about him, hiding the tell-tale, blushing face in his breast.

Should she tell him of her love for Waldemar Waldron ere she left him, and plead with him to receive her handsome young lover kindly on the morrow? She would wait and see first why he had sent for her.

"You wanted me, papa, dear," she said, "yet you seem in no hurry to tell me what you want of me."

The general smiled. How impetuous his beautiful darling was. He seated himself in his favorite armchair, and drew her down to a hassock at his knee, where he could have a full view of her face. How blue her eyes were, and how crimson the laughing lips

REVIEW LETTER BOX

JUST WHAT WAS NEEDED

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The garbage bylaw is the best piece of work that the present City Council has done during their term of office. It will be a great boon to the city and it appears to me that anyone who finds fault with it, must be a knocker of the approved type.

The strong feature of the bylaw is the reasonable cost to the citizen for the collection of his garbage. The rate is so low that the system should work out splendidly in every respect. A bylaw of this kind was what Peterborough needed and I am glad that the council saw fit to take the action it did.

Yours,
HOUSEHOLDER.

A GOOD THING

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The proposed bylaw for the collection of garbage at the householder's expense of fifteen cents a week is the best thing that has struck Peterborough in a dog's age. The collection is to be made by the city once a week and all for 15 cents a month, the year round on the average. Now Mr. Editor, what is the case at present? We have White's creek, a sight to behold, with tin cans, stove pipes, ashes, and everything to make the landscape hideous. Why is it Mr. Ball is not looking into this? I am sure I don't know. I have never seen so many old cans and tins on the streets of the city as this year. Anything to get rid of such stuff, and the proposed garbage bylaw is the thing. People want nice places and try to keep them so. Let the city give them a show.

Yours, etc.,
FOR THE BY-LAW.

MECHANIC FAVORS IT

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—I am only a poor working man and own a small house on Reid street, but I am going to talk up the garbage bylaw for all I am worth as I believe it is a very necessary measure. Such a service should have been inaugurated years ago. However, better late than never. I have been talking to a great many of my fellow workmen and, with only two exceptions, they all favor the bylaw. Surely any householder is able to pay 15 cents per month for having all garbage carted away. This will include ashes and all kinds of refuse. I have paid a dollar each spring to have my ashes taken away, and the whole scavenging service, which means a visit of once a week, will entail an outlay of only $1.80 per year to each householder. I think any person can well afford this sum as it really means only about 80 cents more a year than the price for having a couple of loads of ashes removed. Then too, look at the convenience, cleanliness and benefit of such a system. I hope the bylaw will be given its third reading on Monday nigth and garbage collection instituted as soon as possible.

Yours, etc.,
MECHANIC.

Hard Raps for Douro Council

Mr. Jos. Crowe, Stage Driver, Points Out Where They Have Erred

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—I understand a petition signed by fifty ratepayers of Douro was presented to the Douro council, asking them to make a grant of $15 to complete a public watering place on my route from Warsaw to Peterborough, where ratepayers have expended over $15 to try and give the public an invaluable benefit which nature offers at so trifling a price. The motion was moved and died without a seconder. I, myself, have given $2 to try to encourage the council to do its duty. The spring is on one of the most travelled roads in the county, and the small sum asked would build a trough and make one of the best watering places in the county. Who elected the Douro council or what were they elected for? Was it to ignore the request of a body of fifty ratepayers asking a trifle for a public benefit? Is Douro to go away back and sit down in the early fifties, and read of the advancement throughout the country by the light of a tallow candle, and compel their mail carrier to buy a canal that can store in water enough to carry him over that long, dry road from Warsaw to Peterborough? Is this economy, for the saving of the fifteen dollars? I have carried the mail from Warsaw to Peterborough and back for several years and am surprised that Councillors Farley and Quinlan between whose ward this great blessing to the public can be so easily obtained, let this motion pass without seconding it. I give Councillor Leahy credit for moving to have the first watering place in Douro township. Hoping I shall soon see this watering place in shape for the refreshment of every horse, and thanking you for the space in your valuable paper.

I remain,
Yours, etc.,
JOS. CROWE.

Odor Was Not At All Pleasing

And Persons Residing in Vicinity Made Complaint

It has come to light that had not the Jews, who have a junk warehouse at the corner of Bethune and Charlotte streets, had not shipped away a pile of bones they had stored in their yard, there would have been trouble. Many of the bones were green, and as they had been piled in the yard for several days, the odor they gave off was not particularly agreeable to those residing in the vicinity. A complaint was made and, after some delay, the bones were shipped away, and everything is all serene in the neighborhood again.

Free Fight in George St. Restaurant and Candy Store

Two Men Fined $5.00 in Police Court This Morning—Were Drunk and Got Into a Mix-Up With the Greeks—Damage Done in the Store.

There was trouble in the Greek settlement at the corner of George and Charlotte streets last night, about midnight, but after all had been said and done no blood was shed, and no one hurt. It was more of a fight with words than with fists, and for a while confusion reigned supreme.

The scene of the brawl was in Demette Bros. candy store. The parties who figured in the free for all were Ed. Stein and Lyman Mosier who have not been long in this city and Mr. Koster Jarvis, manager of the store and three or four of his employees. The instruments of war used were jack-knives, clubs, the silver stands for ice cream soda, and tins of biscuits and several cans of candies. Until the police arrived the excitement was great, and candies, biscuits, and everything else within reach were thrown recklessly.

It appears that last night about midnight these two Yankee boys were going down George-st. singing all the popular airs they could think of. They had been out on an evening's spree and were feeling exceedingly jolly. As they passed the Olympic store, someone shouted from inside; "Shut up and go on and mind your own business." Infuriated by this the two Yankees turned back to the store to have it out with the Greeks and it was not many minutes before all was confusion. The Yankees invited their new enemies out on the street, but they would not go. They preferred to fight inside. The Greeks armed themselves with clubs, while their opponents prepared for the fracas—one by drawing his knife, and the other grabbing soda water stands, which he let fly at random. At the appearance of the knife the Greeks became frightened and telephoned for the police. The swearing and loud talk of both parties attracted a number of men who happened to be in the vicinity at the time.

Constables McDonald and Newhall were soon on scene and Stein and Mosier were placed under arrest. A third man was implicated in the fracas, but he got away.

At this morning's police court they appeared upon a charge of being drunk and disorderly, before City Clerk Armstrong, who acted for the magistrate in his absence from the city. O'Connell & Gordon appeared for Koster Jarvis, the Greek, and Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for Ed. Stein and Lyman Mosier. They pleaded guilty, but the evidence of several witnesses was taken to ascertain the seriousness of the offence. Mr. J. Andrews, of Pappas' cigar store, acted as interpreter.

After hearing the evidence a fine of five dollars each was imposed to be paid forthwith. They paid their fines and were allowed to go. They have only been in the city a short while and work at the C.G.E. works.

The damage done to confectionery, dishes and other things, is estimated at about twenty dollars.

Hat Manufacturers to Locate Branch Factory in Canada

Heads of the Firm Will Visit Peterborough This Week—Will Employ 100 Men to Start and Are Asking no Concessions From the City.

Buwes, Vongal & Co. of New York, and Danbury, Conn., will send representatives to Peterborough in a few days to look for a site for their new factory. This company is one of the largest hat manufacturers in America and they have worked up an enormous trade in Canada. In order to hold their trade, they have found it necessary to make their goods right on the ground and with this end in view, several towns and cities in Ontario are being visited.

Mr. Thomas Barrie is the representative of the firm in Peterborough and he stated to the Review today that Messrs. Edward Vongal of New York, president; J. Q. Shaw, of New York, general manager; and Wm. F. Smith, of Boston, manager of the New England and Canadian business, would be in the city in a few days to see what this city offers as a location for their factory. Ald. W. G. Morrow, chairman of the Manufacturers Committee has been notified and he has been in communication with them at Brantford.

The president readily accorded an interview, says the Brantford Courier. He spoke in a most frank manner and is manifestly a keen business man.

"So you gentlemen have decided to establish a branch in Canada?" queried the scribe.

"Yes. That is definitely settled. We must have one somewhere between here and Montreal. We have visited a great many places on a tour of inspection and Brantford is among the municipalities on our list. We have spent $100,000 in building up our business in Canada, and the duty renders it necessary to come here to hold that trade, and also we think the greatly increase it."

"What number of hands would you expect to employ?"

"One hundred the first year, and in three years about four hundred. We have already enough Canadian in view to warrant one hundred hands, and this is on one grade of hat alone."

"Are you asking any inducements?"

"No. We do not want any capital subscribed, a free site or anything of that kind. Of course inducements have been made in some places but we are not seeking them. The spot which is going to suit our business best is what we are after. On our return home we shall report what we have seen in connection with various municipalities and our board will then decide on a location on the basis of the best for the purpose."

A factory will be erected 100 by 40 feet, four stories high, at a cost of probably $30,000, employing one hundred hands, men and girls, at the start, and in all likelihood four hundred hands in the course of three years. This in brief, was the plan of the company.

House Burned on Donegal Street

Rather Serious Fire Broke Out This Afternoon

Fire which broke out at three o'clock this afternoon, badly damaged a frame house at 460 Donegal street, occupied by Mrs. Houlihan and her son, Mr. Sam. Houlihan. The building, which was a storey and a half high, was gutted by the flames and only the furniture in the parlor and dining room was saved. A valuable piano was among the articles taken out of the parlor.

The fire broke out in the kitchen at the rear of the house and spread rapidly owing to the dryness of the building. A stable and some outhouses at the rear of the house were also destroyed.

The fire brigade made a quick run to the scene of the fire and did splendid work in fighting the flames and saving the furniture. It took about 25 minutes to get the flames under control.

The house in question is located on the east side of Donegal street, near Murray.

Lumber Down For R. Hicks & Co.

Navigation on the Trent Canal has been brisk so far. For the first two days the lift lock was open there were twelve lockages. This included the steamer Majestic, of Young's Point, which brought down a scow load of lumber, containing 110,000 feet of basswood and pine, for R. Hicks and Company. This is the first lumber to come down and it was brought all the way from the mills at the head of Stoney Lake. Mr. Hicks has also a large quantity of cord wood on the way down. The unloading is being done at No. 6 locks, and team over to the yards from there.

The dredge Emmerson, which has been working for the past week on the river between Lakefield and Young's Point, has completed that job and is being moved down the Otonabee river to Dangerfield, about seven miles below the city, where it will be employed for a time. The Emmerson will be used all along the route to keep the channel open.

The tug Myrtle has been engaged by the McBurney Lumber Co., of Campbellford, and is at present bringing down the drives of logs for the company.

Navigation on The Trent gives promise of being the heaviest this year in the history of the canal.

Mrs. Ira Kimmerlys' house and Jas. Brandon's barn at Napanee were burned on Saturday.

No Trotting Over Smith Street Bridge

Two Drivers Allowed to Go With Warning

Chief of Police Roszel is going to keep a vigilant watch on the Smith street bridge and henceforth anyone who drives over it faster than a walk will be prosecuted. Two drivers appeared in police court this morning, charged with the above offence.

Thos. Deck, a dairyman, living near Curtis' brick yard, was the first one. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, Mr. F. D. Kerr, appearing for him.

P. C. McDonald stated that at 4 p.m. on Monday he saw Deck drive across the bridge and his horses were trotting. City Engineer Hay testified to there being notices on both ends of the bridge forbidding anyone driving over faster than a walk.

Mr Deck stated that he was coming down an incline and the horses were forced to go a little fast. One horse was very slow and had to trot a little to keep up with the other one walking.

Jos. Sullivan, driver for R. Denne, was the other offender. He pleaded not guilty. He stated that he was going west on the bridge. His horse was a nervous animal and trotted about half way across.

P. C. McDonald testified to having seen it running east on the bridge and also when it came back going west.

The bridge is only a wooden structure and will not stand a great deal.

Acting Magistrate S. R. Armstrong allowed them to go, but warned them and all others, who drive over faster than a walk, that they will be severely dealt with.

The next offender will not get off so easy.

ALLOWED TO GO.

Alf. Johns, just lately out from the Old Country, pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place yesterday. He said that he was going to Toronto today and he was allowed to go on the promise that he would leave the city.

RODE ON WALK

Wilfrid Hall and Arthur Wynham were fined two dollars each for riding their bicycles on the sidewalk.

EXPLAINS THE COLD WEATHER

Frankfield Says High Pressure Areas Are Moving Eastward

Washington, May 29.—Remarkably unseasonable weather with a cold wave extending through the region east of the Rocky Mountains, and thermometers in some sections registering the lowest temperatures for the season in many years, is reported by the Weather Bureau.

Last night the Bureau issued the following special forecast;

"Frost warnings have been issued for the Middle Atlantic States and the Eastern Lower Lake Region, Western Colorado, East Wyoming, Utah and Northern Arizona, and warnings of freezing temperature for Western Wyoming."

Weather Bureau officials say that there is no immediate prospect of any summer weather anywhere. The present cold wave, they add, has prevailed most of the present month. Heavy frosts are reported to the Weather Bureau from Michigan and other States of the Lake Region.

The cold wave is particularly severe in the southwest, and is due, according to the weather experts, to the heavy rains in that part of the country. Forecaster Harry C. Frankfield, of the Weather Bureau said last night; "The reason for the cold weather we have had during the past two or three months is that the high areas of pressure have moved eastward from the northern portion of the country, almost continuously, and these have caused cold north winds. That is the only reason I can give for the cold weather areas. As to what makes these high areas keep up all this season is more than I can tell."

Peterboro' Boy Highly Honored

Mr. Robert Sherlock, of Escanaba, Given Gold Watch

The Escanaba (Mich.) Daily Mirror, of May 24th, contains an appreciative reference to Mr. Robt. Sherlock, an old Peterborough boy, who is a son of the late Mr. Lucius Sherlock, and a brother of Mrs Wm Thompson, and Miss Maggie Sherlock, of this city.

The Mirror says;

"Robert Sherlock, who has held the position of dock superintendent for the C. Reiss Coal Company, in Escanaba, for the past six years, has resigned his position to accept a more lucrative one in the Canadian Northwest, and will leave for that country some time next week.

"At noon today the employees gathered at the office of the company and presented Mr. Sherlock with a beautiful gold watch handsomely engraved, with his initials on the back.

"A suitable address was read to him by the company's bookkeeper, H. P. Termansen.

Mr. Sherlock, or "Bob" as he is familiarly known among the men, was completely surprised, and deeply affected by the loyalty and good will of his fellow employees. It was with a great effort at self control that he was able to thank the men in a few well chosen words for the valuable and handsome gift.

"Robert Sherlock came here about six years ago to accept the position of assistant to his brother, Thomas Sherlock, manager of the Reiss Coal Company's interests here, and he will be greatly missed, not only by the company, but by all of the employees. During the time that he has been located in Escanaba he has made many friends and was universallly liked by all who knew him.

"Mr. Sherlock has been succeeded as dock superintendent by Matt. O'Brien, who has served as dock foreman for several years."

WEDDING BELLS

WEBSTER—CLARKE

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at "Mapledale," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clarke, Ennismore, when their eldest daughter, Miss Pearl Augusta Clarke, became the bride of Mr. James Franklin Webster of Asphodel township, on Wednesday, May 29.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Taney, rector, of Emily, in the presence of the assembled company. The bride was attractively attired in a gown of crepe silk de chine, trimmed with silk ribbon and silk lace. She wore the conventional bridal veil and lilies of the valley, and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Cora Clarke, sister of the bride. She was attired in white muslin over pink, and carried a basket of pink carnations. The wedding march was played by Miss Gladys E. Teney.

After the nuptials a tempting repast was partaken of and congratulations extended to Mr. and Mrs. Webster. The bride, who has been organist of St. James church for a number of years was presented by the congregation with a purse of gold. The groom's gift to the bride was a tea set of solid silver and to the maid of honor a gold brooch, with pearl settings. Mr. Webster and bride left for Peterborough, and their future home in Asphodel township near Norwood. The bride's going away gown was of dark castor, broad cloth trimmed with white lace. She wore a cream hat adorned with pink roses. Many friends will join in wishing the young couple many years of happiness and prosperity.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt of Peterborough, who it was expected would be present, was unable to attend owing to an important engagement which detained him in the city.

They Hit Spot.

The Seat of Women's Troubles.

When you get all run-down, feel tired and out of sorts, it is pretty hard to tell just what part of your peculiar organism is going wrong, isn't it? That is why you can take so much medicine and still have it do you so little good.

It doesn't hit the right spot, that is, it doesn't reach the organ or organs that are going wrong.

But supposing you could get a remedy that contains ingredients for every organ of your system, and especially those peculiar to your sex, you wouldn't need, then, to know just what is the matter with you, or just what organ is causing the trouble, would you?

Certainly not, because no matter which organ or organs it might be, they would be reached by some one of the many ingredients of the medicine, and would be restored to a normal condition. And then you would be well again.

And do you know there IS one just such remedy? It is

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women.

Dr. Hugo's remedy contains something for every organ of the female system; something for the stomach to help indigestion—for the bowels to cure constipation—for the nervous system to tone up the nerves—for the liver and kidneys to make them active in carrying off impurities—something for the uterine system to stop all drains, allay inflammation and make women regular.

If there is anything wrong with you—if you don't feel as well as you used to—these tablets will give you the old time life and vigor.

Don't wait till something serious develops. Take them now.

Mr. George Pert Came to Peterborough One Year Ago Last Sunday

On Sunday of this week, Mr. Geo. Pert, who resides on Concession st. east city, had just been one year in Peterborough, and he commemorated the occasion by asking some of his neighbors in to tea, and afterwards reading an appropriate chapter of the Scriptures.

Mr. Pert has got along well since coming to Canada. When he arrived here a year ago, he had very little money and for a time he and his family, consisting of a wife and four small children, had to reside in a tent. He secured employment, however, and has been working steadily since. He is now residing in a comfortable cottage, has it well furnished and is getting along splendidly. He realizes that there are many more chances for a poor man in Canada, than in England, the land of his birth, and he considers the past twelve months the most successful in his life.

Sewer System for Engleburn Park Proposed by the Owner

Build a Septic Tank at Foot of Maria Street and Charge Sewers to Frontage Tax—Mr. Bogue Responsible for All Damage Next Spring From Floods Caused by Him Blocking the Creek.

The Board of Works met last night and considered a proposition for supplying the Engleburn Park with a sewer system and it will be adopted if nothing goes wrong in the meantime.

All the members were present, including Ald. Duncan, chairman; Ald. Johnston, Wilson and McIntyre, and Mayor McWilliams.

Mr C. B. McAllister was present with a plan of Engleburn Park, which has been registered. He is now anxious to have a system of sewers put in so that he could sell the park in building lots. He said he proposed to establish a septic tank at the foot of Maria street, which, of course, would be built according to medical health departments' requirements. There are thirty-seven lots in the property and there is no other possible way of getting sewers through there, as it is lower than the Burnham street sewer. The property is a very desirable one and if he can get a sewer, Mr. McAllister said he could soon dispose of them

The sewer, of course, would have to be built by the city, in the ordinary way, but the ground is all very favorable for digging, and the cost would not be very great. Besides the Engleburn Park property there are very few places which could use the sewer, and the whole cost would have to be charged to the property.

Mr McAllister said that if his property was not charged any other sewer tax, of course there would be no objection to paying for the proposed sewer. He added that he would like the city to guarantee to build the septic tank next year at the foot of Maria street, and have it paid for by general tax on the city and that the sewer be paid for by frontage tax on the different lots.

There will be at least fifteen houses erected on the property in question and the structures will be of a very superior kind and will be a credit to the city.

The first thing to do is get permission from the Provincial Board of Health and to get this a plan would have to be prepared, showing the tank, where it will empty, how far the pipe will run out into the stream and the different spots that will be drained.

It was moved by Ald. Johnston and Ald. Wilson, that the city engineer make the necessary plans for the approval of the Provincial Board of Health, at his earliest convenience and also ascertain the cost.—Carried.

Moved by the mayor and Ald Wilson that this committee recommend to the council the construction of the sewer system for the Engleburn park property, subject to the approval of the Provincial Board of Health.—Carried.

A communication was received from Mr F. J. Conroy, asking if the city intended to do any more filling in on the river front. If so, he would be pleased to consider any proposition the council would make and if not he would like to be paid in full for the work done last year. No action was taken, but it will come before the council next Monday night.

FILLING IN DRAIN

Ald. Johnston brought up the matter of filling in the drain running through Mr. Bogue's property. Mr. Bogue is filling in the drain himself and it means a great deal of trouble next spring. In case of a heavy rain, which often falls, a large number of the residents are going to be drowned out. Some three years ago Mr. Bogue and Mr V. Eastwood between them, paid the cost of changing the course of the creek and instead of objecting to the change as the city might have done, the city changed the conditions on the streets to suit.

Mr Bogue will be held liable for all damages caused by floods next spring and he advised him to remove any obstructions he has placed in it.

Alexandria Robbers Fought Bancroft People With Guns

Thieves With $4,000 Worth of Plunder Were Attacked by Villagers With Military Rifles—Two People Wounded—Robbers Got Away.

Belleville, May 29.—Three men, who are believed to have robbed a jewelery store at Alexandria on May 15th, turned up at Bancroft, in North Hastings, on Monday morning, and terrorized the entire population of that village. They entered a general store, kept by Mr. Lavinge, and one of them wanted to trade a watch for a pair of boots. The men were suspected of being the Alexandria thieves, and Constable Steinberg tried to arrest one of them. The others drew revolvers and fired, wounding a couple of men. The crowd scattered, and the robbers got away.

At night a crowd of men surrounded the robbers' camp in the woods, armed with military rifles. Shots were exchanged, but the desperate men escaped again. The thieves got about $4,000 worth of watches and jewellery in Alexandria.

Good Roads in North Monaghan; Township to Adopt New System

North Monaghan has decided to establish a system of modern road building. Many of the township highways are in need of repair and the old way of building roads is very expensive and unserviceable. The council and the people want to go in for permanent work and to make the roads of their township an ideal for other municipalities to follow

Mr T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., has arranged with Mr. A. W. Campbell deputy minister of public works and the good roads commissioner, to address a public meeting in the township hall early in June. Mr. Campbell is an expert on road-making and during his talk he will impart a great deal of very valuable information. He will outline a course for the township to pursue and will tell the council what machinery will be necessary to carry the system out.

Mr. Bradburn is taking a great interest in the good roads proposition in the county. He is assisting the townships all he possibly can, and if the work is continued, it will not be long before the county of Peterborough roads will be among the best in the township.

ALIMONY CASE

Dr. Ackland Oronhyatekha Is Defendant in a Suit

According to the New York Sun Dr. Acland Oronhyatekha is being prosecuted for abandonment by his former wife Natalie Brand, in the New York Court. The woman, whose tribal name is Gaygengorah (Fair Flower) wants alimony, and says she will be satisfied with $50 a week.

Dr. Acland Oronhyatekha was on his way to join his second wife, formerly Miss Theresa Hansen, of Rotterdam. He showed his first cabin steamship ticket and regretted that his arrest should postpone his trip, but was confident that the court would finally decide in his favor. The Sun says he claimed to have a divorce from his first wife. It was obtained in Dakota, but the complainant in court said that if there was any divorce, she didn't know anything about it, and that no papers had been served on her. That was why she made the complaint of abandonment on which the warrant was granted.

The complainant said her husband went alone to Australia in 1902, and she remained in New York. He sent her money for her support for some time, but finally stopped the remittances. Then she got employment in business offices. Last Tuesday she was surprised to see her husband coming out of the Ashland House. She had just left her home at 274 Fourth avenue. She hastened to court and got a warrant.

The lawyers wanted time to prepare for the legal battle, and asked that the case be postponed.

OBITUARY

MRS. JAS. E. HARRIS.

The death occurred early this morning at the Windsor Hotel, of Mrs. Jas. E. Harris, Toronto, after a lengthy illness. The deceased had been ill for about three years and only came to this city about three weeks ago, to visit her sister, Mrs. A. Johnson, and in hopes that the change would do her good. She was 31 years of age and was born in the City of Toronto, where she resided all her life. Her maiden name was Jessie Irene Milburn and she was the daughter of Mrs. E. Milburn, Queen street, Toronto. Five years ago she was married to her now sorrowing husband, who with an infant child is left to mourn her loss. Two sisters also survive her. They are Mrs. Arthur Johnson, city, and Mrs. E. V. Walker, of Buffalo, N. Y.

The remains will be taken to Toronto this evening and the funeral will take place, on Saturday afternoon, from her late residence, 75 Broadview avenue, to St. John's cemetery, Norway, for interment.

MRS. J. BRICKLEY.

The death occurred at her home in Hastings on Saturday last of Mrs John Brickley, one of the oldest and most respected residents of this district. Deceased lady, whose maiden name was Mary Ann Galvin, was a native of Smith township, Peterborough county, but since her marriage, some forty-five years ago, had been a resident of Percy. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, one son, Mr. James Brickley, of Marysville, and three brothers, two in Peterborough, and one in Campbellford.

The funeral took place on Monday morning to the Roman Catholic cemetery here, and was largely attended by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

While Returning From Peterborough

Norwood Lady Met With a Serious Accident

Mrs. David Kelly, Belmont street, met with a somewhat serious accident last Thursday night. Mrs. Kelly had been to Peterborough and was returning by the midnight express, and just as she was stepping from the car to the platform at the station here, the train started, the motion of which caused her to turn partly around and caused her to lose her balance and she fell with considerable force on the platform. Being a heavy woman she sustained quite a severe jar, causing something like concussion of the spine.

Dr. Ford, who is the C.P.R. Co's surgeon for this district, was summoned and had her removed to her home, and gave her every necessary attention. She is as yet, however, suffering from the effects of the general shaking up which she sustained and is confined to her bed.

The Lift Lock At Kirkfield

The Lindsay Post says: Speaking about lift locks, our readers will be interested in the statement made to The Post by a leading official of the canal on May 24th. "From a spectacular point of view," he said, "the lift lock at Kirkfield will surpass the lock at Peterborough, although the latter is six or seven feet higher. You see the Peterborough lock was the first of its kind in Canada, and it was thought necessary to build it entirely of cement, at great cost. The Kirkfield lock is an all-steel structure and the wonderful mechanism hidden in the Peterborough structure, is open to the gaze of every visitor, who will be protected by guard rails at all dangerous points of vantage. I predict that the Kirkfield lock will, when the canal to Lake Simcoe is entirely open, be visited by a constant succession of excursion parties from all points on Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching and the upper Kawarthas."

Board of Works Will Buy Hose

For Flushing Sewers From the Fire, Water and Light Committee

When the Board of Works met last night a proposition was made by Ald. Johnston, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, whereby the Board of Works will not have to borrow any more hose. Ald. Johnston offered to sell the Board 600 feet of 1901 hose at 75c a foot. He claimed this hose was just as good for flushing sewers, etc. as the new hose.

Ald. Wilson did not look on this proposition favorably. He offered that the Board of Works need first-class hose, and should purchase good rubber hose at $1.10 a foot, rather than pay the fire, water and light committee two-thirds the original cost of six-year-old hose.

The street commissioner thought it would be economy to take the best of old fire hose for street purposes but not at so unreasonable a price as 75c a foot.

Ald Johnston remarked that he wished to put a stop to the good fire hose being used for other purposes than fires. The Board of Works should own their own hose, which might be stored in the fire hall tower.

On motion of the mayor, seconded by Ald. Wilson, the Board of Works will offer the fire department 50c. a foot for 400 feet of old hose, such hose to be subject to the commissioner's approval as being serviceable.

The city engineer was authorized to purchase the steam coal required for this year's work with the steam roller and crusher.

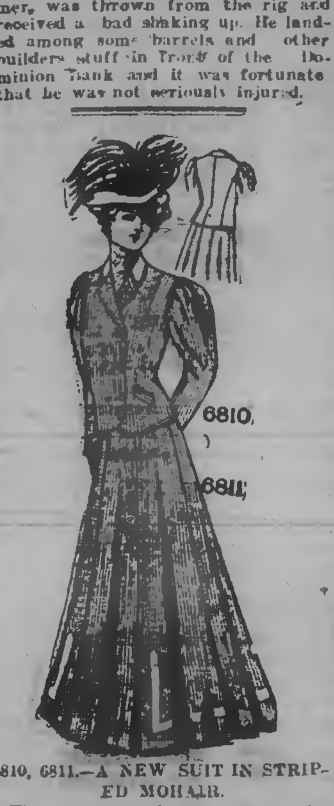
Farmer Thrown From His Buggy

Which Was Struck by a Street Car

As a result of his buggy being struck by a street car at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, yesterday afternoon, Jas. Darling, a well-known Smith township farmer, was thrown from the rig and received a bad shaking up. He landed among some barrels and other builders stuff in front of the Dominion Bank and it was fortunate that he was not seriously injured.



6810, 6811.—A NEW SUIT IN STRIPED MOHAIR.

The newest models in street suits show many striped effects and one which is exceedingly smart is sketched. The material is striped mohair, but the same would be charming in flannel or serge. The jacket is double breasted, but short and natty with pockets for convenience and effect. The fronts are rounded at the lower edge to suggest the cutaway styles and the whole has a trig tailored look. The skirt is a seven gored one with under fulness at the lower part of the side seams to insure a pretty flare about the feet, while the top fits smoothly over the hips. The suit is one which would be neat in any of the new materials, cheviot and English suiting being a favorite choice for such models. The medium size calls for 7 yards of 54 inch material.

Two Patterns,—6810.—Sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6811.—Sizes 20 to 32 inches waist.

The price of these patterns is 20c, but either will be sent upon receipt of 10c.

Leave your order and ten cents at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

Flying Squirrel Was Captured

Mr. Kenneth Routley, son of Mr. C. B. Routley, while at Stony Lake last week, captured a flying squirrel and four young ones, which had their nest on the verandah of Mr. Routley's cottage. The mother and young ones were placed in a cage, and carefully cared for, but died on the way home, evidently owing to the extremely cold weather.

SUPPORT THE BY-LAW

It is hoped that every progressive citizen will give the proposed by-law for the collection and removal of garbage his hearty support. Such a service is urgently needed in the city and the cost is very low. The terms and conditions of the measure appeared in the city papers on Tuesday and no one can complain that he has not had an opportunity to become fully acquainted with the bylaw, that it is being rushed through or is not receiving sufficient consideration. The bylaw is now before the citizens who are asked to express their views, favorable or otherwise.

It is believed, judging by the expressions of opinions heard on the street that the majority of citizens are thoroughly in accord with the proposed move and will give it their strongest endorsation.

There is no greater convenience, no more pressing necessity, in the rapidly growing city of Peterborough, than a scavenging system, and the present plan seems to admirably meet all requirements at comparatively little outlay. Fully nine citizens out of every ten have no systematic or adequate means of getting rid of their rubbish, refuse and the general accumulation that invariably gathers about every house. The bylaw in brief is,—

For each hotel, fruit store, factory and hospital, the cost will be only 45 cents per month to the owners and the collection will be three times a week throughout the year; for each store and shop within the fire limits the cost will be 30 cents per month and the collection will be twice a week.

For each dwelling in the central part of the city, where there will be weekly collection, the outlay will be 15 cents per month or $1.80 a year.

It will be seen that the cost is small—in fact a mere bagatelle so far as the average householder is concerned.

The general good must be considered. This move will directly or indirectly benefit all classes. There may be some minor objections and unforeseen difficulties in the way at present, but these will be removed or remedied when once the service is started. The main thing, just now is to get it going and any obstacles can be satisfactorily adjusted at a later date. It is important that he bylaw should be passed, not later than on Monday night in order that the collection of garbage may be started by the time that warm weather sets in. The system will be under the direction of the sanitary inspector who will see that it is properly and efficiently carried out.

The Review regards the measure as one of the very best that has been brought to the attention of the City Council for some months. It is not class legislation but is in the interest of all the citizens who prize health and love cleanliness, and have an earnest public spirited desire to see that the city is clean and kept clean.

CANADIAN HOLIDAYS

Some American firms, who have branch factories or establishments in Canada, particularly at Windsor, Ont. have, it seems, been in the habit of not observing Canadian holidays or allowing their employees to do so.

One firm in particular, the Penberthy Injector Company, which has a factory in Windsor, has not been closing down on the 24th of May, 1st of July and other Canadian holidays, but has been faithfully observing all American holidays. Last week Jesse O'Neill, an employee of the firm, who has been in the habit of celebrating May 24th, asked to have the day off. He was told by the management that, if he did not report for work on Victoria Day, he need not return to work at all. The young man, not to be deterred by such a threat, observed the holiday, which he celebrated at Essex with some friends. On the train he met Hon. Dr. Reaume, Ontario Minister of Public Works and told the doctor of the occurrence. Dr Reaume was indignant that the young man should lose his position simply because he was loyal and patriotic enough to desire to celebrate the birthday of our late Queen and it is said the Minister of Public Works made the case pretty plain to the company, pointing out that Canadian and not American customs are the proper caper on this side of the Detroit River.

The employers of the young man have decided to take him back to work Dr. Reaume informed the Penberthy firm that there was an alien labor law in existence in Canada and if the officials of the company were so loyal to Uncle Sam that they could not conform to the customs of Canada, they might be given a chance to return to their own country and reside there. Dr. Reaume was right in the patriotic stand which he took and the American firm in question will likely observe Canadian holidays in future and, while doing business in the Dominion will probably do as the Canadians do.

STANDARD OF MORALITY

There is about to be sprung upon the public, we are credibly informed, another sensation, by the most sensational administration ever in power at Ottawa. Still another victim of the wiles of women and his own weakness, is to be added to the list. If these painful details of human frailty continue to decorate the press what must we say of the moral conditions of this country, already prostrate under the feet of Mammon. We fancied that the churches were active, but they must be more active They must of all things, demand purity in the life and character of the representatives of the people. Is it possible that we cannot find these good qualities allied to common sense and business acumen? Not even the most patriotic Canadian denies the gravity of the situation. We do not wish to pose as being "better than other people, for posing is at all times objectionable, but we can at least do as the Capitoline geese did, call attention to the impending sack of the city and of the state, by men whose appetites have destroyed their morals. We are not sensitive enough on these points. We applaud success and energy, even when accomplished by the most doubtful methods. Why? Because we are losing our moral fibre. Let preachers preach a new crusade—the crusade against the low standard of public morals. A well known citizen saw in a public park of this city, on a recent lovely afternoon, the scene of the most brazen and wanton conduct on the part of a number of young girls and boys. But why should these poor little victims of vice be hounded when we applaud and embrace those who are older, even worse. If we are asked how it is, such men as these get to the front. The answer is ready. Their brazenry and immodesty bring them to the front, and the promise of patronage does the rest.

PEN POINTS.

Hamilton Herald; A local option measure has become law in England. To bring it into force a three-fifths favorable majority of the qualified electors is necessary. Our prohibitionist friends in Ontario have been denouncing the three-fifths majority as "un-British," so we must conclude that they want Ontario laws to be more "British" than British laws.

Many esteemed contemporaries are condemning the action of two hotheaded young Canadians who, at Winnipeg on May 24, tore down the Stars and Stripes from a flag-pole. There is no excuse for the action of the young men, unless people see one in the fact that the Union Jack was flying under the Yankee flag, on the same pole. The position of the flags was not calculated to please everybody.

Welcomes Them To New Ontario

Bishop Scollard Urges French Canadians to Try Their Fortunes in Northern Ontario

The Toronto News says;

Mgr. Scollard, Roman Catholic Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie, formerly of Peterborough, is doing patriotic work in urging French-Canadians, who intend to leave home in search of fortune, to come to Northern Ontario In a letter to La Patrie he shows the advantages of the north compared with the factories of the United States. He says; "To the thousands of French-Canadians of Quebec and of the United States who might settle here, I give a cordial welcome. I urge them to visit our country and when they have seen for themselves, they soon will be convinced of the splendid, prosperous future which awaits them. "Canada for the Canadians" is a good motto.

COTTISMORE AVE WILL BE GRADED

T. Hurley Wants to Open Western Ave as Public Thoroughfare

May 25, 1907.

The township council met today at 2 p.m. in the town hall, North Monaghan.

All the members were present, the reeve presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Accounts were handed in and read from,—

Charles Goodacre, burying carcass of dog	.50
Kingan Hardware Co., nails	.52
B Sanderson and J. J. Lynch, labor, repainting town hall	16.50
Peterborough Examiner Co., sundries	1.55

On motion of Messrs. May and Dobbin, these accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

Communications were read from Messrs. D. W. Dumble, and W. G. Morrow, in reference to the grading of Cottismore avenue, and from T. Hurley, re the grading of of Western Avenue. These were received.

A copy of a registered plan of the sub-division of a part of Lot 11 on the 12 concession was produced from the Registrar of the County of Peterborough. This was ordered to be fyled. It was moved by Messrs. May and Morrow, that the clerk is hereby instructed to inform Mr. T. Hurley, that as by the plan registered by him, opening a street through part of lot 11 in the 12 concession, provision is not made for an opening or outlet at the northern end, and as an outlet is considered necessary by the council, either by connecting Western avenue with Cottismore avenue, the Gravel road, or Lundy's lane. The council therefore, will not assume the said Western avenue as a public highway, until such connection is provided for. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Dobbin, that the commissioners of road div. No. 4, be hereby directed to grade Cottismore avenue, as far West as Mr. Hamilton's house, and also to grade Braidwood avenue, from Lock street eastward.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Morrow and Dobbin, that the clerk is hereby directed to investigate the matter of a registered plan of the sub-division of a part of lot 14, in 11 con. and to report to Mr. Howden. Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Morrow and Dobbin that the Commissioner of road div. No. 2, is hereby directed to cut away any trees or brushwood that hides the approach of trains upon the C.P.R. at the crossings on the 11th concession. Carried.

The committee consisting of Messrs. Messrs. May and Howden, who were appointed to investigate the proposition to alter the loop line on 11 concession, along C.P.R. track, reported that they found it would be necessary to construct about 500 yards of new road, part of which being through a wet bog and part a deep cutting, to do this a greater cost would be incurred, than would be commensurate with the benefit to be derived therefrom to the township and they would therefor, recommend that no action be taken.

On motion of Messrs. May and Howden, this report was received and adopted.

Moved by Messrs. May and Dobbin that the commissioner of road div. No. 1, be hereby directed to repair the culverts at Succee's creek.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Howden, that the commissioner of road div. No. 1, is hereby directed to repair the culvert at Mr. J. T. Greens. Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Brown, that the rate of pay for the road commissioners for the year be increased to $2.00 per day, and the clerk is directed to prepare a bylaw to amend Bylaw No. 579, to that effect. Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Brown and Dobbin that the clerk is hereby directed to notify each road commissioner that it shall be his duty to consult the members of the council in connection with the work in his division as follows,—

Div. No. 1—Mr. Dobbin.
Division No. 2—Mr. May.
Division No. 3—Mr. Brown.
Division No. 4—Mr. Howden.

And that each paysheet presented for payment must have the certificate of the consulting member of the council for such division, before payment thereof, will be made. Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Howden that the clerk's salary be increased to the sum of $100 per year, and the clerk is hereby directed to prepare a bylaw accordingly.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Howden that the clerk is hereby directed to order repairs to the road grader at once.—Carried.

By-law No. 581, a bylaw to alter the boundaries of school sections Nos. 2 and 3, by taking the north-east quarter of the east half of lot No. 9, in the 11th concession, from section No. 3, and adding it to section No. 2 was then introduced regularly, read and finally passed.

Council then adjourned until called by the Reeve.

ASYLUM FOR INEBRIATES.

Premier Whitney Not In Favor of Minister of Health.

Toronto, May 30.—The Ontario Medical Association decided yesterday morning that the only way to redeem inebriates was to keep them under restraint and give them special treatment.

The subject was brought up in an address by Dr. Edward Ryan of Kingston, who said that drunkenness was one of the worst evils that physicians had to combat. The loss to the state and to society, he added, could not be computed.

Mr. Justice Riddell was present and strongly supported the establishment of an institution in the province where inebriates might be treated. Some of the delegates were not sure that an asylum of this kind would be a success, but eventually it was agreed to request the Government to establish such an hospital, where those who were far gone in the liquor habit might have some chance of recovery.

The chairman reported that a special committee had waited on the Premier to urge the appointment of a Minister of Public Health. Mr. Whitney did not receive the idea very favorably. At least he saw considerable difficulty in the way of such an increase in the Cabinet and there seems no likelihood of a new Minister being appointed in the immediate future.

ITALIANS ON TRIAL.

Charged With Murder During Drunken Bout on Christmas Day.

Parry Sound, May 30.—Two Italians, by name Capelle and Marano, laborers, are on trial for murder, before Justice Teetzel in the Assizes here. A verdict is expected to-day. It is charged that during a drunken carousal on Christmas Day, when they were interfered with, they attacked the others in a vicious manner, Capelle with a sharp-pointed weapon made from a file, whilst Marano flourished a revolver, discharging it several times, resulting in one death.

One of the witnesses was Mrs. McCormack, wife of the owner of the house where the row and murder took place. It was because of her that the fight took place. Her evidence was to the effect that the prisoners had attempted to assault her.

Court sat late last night and the defence called the prisoner, Marino, to the stand. His story was one of almost direct contradiction to the others told on the stand, but he said little to exonerate his partner, Capelle.

QUEBEC EXCEPTED.

Nova Scotian Students Admitted to Royal Medical Corps.

London, May 30.—(C. A. P.)—Principal MacAlister, at the session of the General Medical Council, said the committee had decided to grant recognition to Nova Scotia degrees, and Canadian medical students who fulfilled the conditions applicable to the Maritime Provinces, will now be eligible to commission in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

The King has not yet been pleased to apply the act to Quebec, as it is first necessary that the council be more fully informed as to the actual provision of the local law affecting admission to the provincial register of practitioners registered in the United Kingdom.

New Government for New Brunswick.

Fredericton, N. B., May 30.—A meeting of the Provincial Government was held here Tuesday evening and may last for a day or two.

Hon. C. H. Labillois, chief commissioner of public works, arrived, and Premier Pugsley came from Montreal. Lieut.-Governor Tweedie also arrived from St. John and to him Hon. Mr. Pugsley handed his resignation.

Hon. Clifford W. Robinson, Provincial Secretary, is to be called upon to form an administration, but there is considerable speculation as to who will be selected to become members, it being generally felt that there will be several changes made.

Geo. W. Allen, M.P.P., and Solicitor-General Jones, are both mentioned prominently in connection with the Attorney-Generalship under the new regime.

A Costly Pest.

Ottawa, May 30.—Dr. Fletcher, Dominion entomologist, will attend the convention which is to be held in the Annapolis Valley, Nova Scotia, next week, to discuss the best means of eradicating the brown tail moth, a pest that causes destruction in the orchards. This insect has made great havoc in the orchards of the New England States, and millions have been spent in trying to stamp it out. Recently it made its appearance in the Maritime Provinces.

The Nova Scotia Government is paying a bounty of three cents for each caterpillar nest brought in, and 2,000 have already been found.

Will Take Some Time.

London, May 30.—Premier Campbell-Bannerman, replying to a question, said matters relating to the proposed all-British mail route were being examined departmentally with the aid of experts.

Until he was further advised he would be unable to say whether a formal committee would be necessary.

Third to Suicide.

Binghamton, N. Y., May 30.—John Sayre, aged 63 years, yesterday committed suicide in his home by shooting himself through the mouth, going into the same pantry to commit the deed in which his father and grandfather both killed themselves by cutting their throats many years ago.

Fishery Inspector.

Belleville, May 30.—Ald. J. S. Starling of this city has been appointed fishery inspector of this district, at a salary of $1,000 a year. The office is a new one.

Quakers Did Well Against The Touring Fall River Team

Visitors Won by 2 Goals to Nil at Riverside Park Last Night—Home Team Was Playing Fine Football Towards the End of the Match.

Scoring two goals before their opponents had rightly settled down the touring Pan-Americans, of Fall River, Mass., champions of the New England League, defeated the Peterborough Quaker football team at Riverside Park last evening by two goals to nil. It must be admitted that the tourists played a little better ball than the Midland League champions, but there was little difference between the two teams in the latter stages of the game. The visitors secured their two goals in the first sixteen minutes of play, the first in ten minutes and the second in six minutes. After this there was no scoring, although in the second half the Quakers looked dangerous on many occasions, but Healey, the Pans' star goal tender, took care of everything that came his way.

The game started shortly after seven o'clock, and play continued for one hour, with a short intermission. Mr. J. E. Sullivan made a satisfactory referee. He had a comparatively easy time, as no rough work was indulged in, and all the players played the ball instead of the man. And it was a big improvement over the practices sometimes adopted. The best of feeling prevailed between the two teams throughout, and not a man was ruled off.

About 300 spectators witnessed the match, and the good plays of both teams were liberally applauded. The game was fast at all stages, and quite scientific. The visitors were more finished in their play than the homesters and showed better condition. This was only to be expected, as the Quakers have had only a few practices, and the team that faced the Fall River Tourists had not played together this season. Naturally they were a little off color at the beginning, but soon steadied down and commenced to make things lively for the visitors. Their showing against the New England champions was highly gratifying to the followers of the soccer game in this city.

VISITORS WERE ADEPTS.

The visitors showed themselves adepts at the game, and it was a treat to see them at work. Every man on the eleven could boot the ball from almost any old position, and it was seldom that they made a muff. They were always on the ball and were usually well scattered over the field. They indulged in very little short passing, but confined themselves largely to long passes and shooting on goal whenever they came with any kind of distance of it. And it was in their shooting that the American players mostly excelled. They continually dropped the leather right in front of the goal, and it was seldom that there was not some one there to kick or bunt it through if the slightest opportunity was given. The visitors used their heads to great advantage, not only in matters of judgment, but in bunting the ball. They used their heads almost as much as their feet in sending the pigskin along. They landed on it with their heads from the most unexpected positions, and in this matter proved quite deceptive at times.

QUAKERS DID WELL.

The Quakers put up a splendid article of ball and surprised everybody by their showing. The forward line did not show up to advantage at first, but in the second half was coming along splendidly, and time and again carried the leather right into the enemy's quarters. But score they could not, although at times the chances appeared bright for a tally. Crough at right wing was one of the most conspicuous men on the field. He played a dashing game and was a tower of strength to the Quaker forward line. He was easily the match of any of the visitors, and made some runs that delighted the hearts of the spectators. McFadden never played a better game in goal, and turned aside over a score of well directed shots. At one time the ball was fairly fired at him for several minutes, but he picked off the pigskin every time and relieved quickly and effectively. The other members of the team all played well and were on the aggressive at all times. With a few more practice they should be able to take care of everything in the Midland League.

Capt. Cyr played a great game for the visitors and never let up. His rushes were a feature of the game and he booted the leather strongly and with great accuracy. His support was splendid. The two Gauthiers, on the forward line, were both conspicuous and did good work. They are French-Canadians, and, like nearly all the visitors, are employed in the cotton mills at Fall River. Healey, the Pans' goal keeper, is counted one of the best in the business, and made many fine stops last night.

THE TEAMS.

The teams lined up as follows;—

Fall River		Quakers.
	Goal.
Healey		McFadden
	Backs.
Lough		Doris
Greenwood		Evans
	Halves.
Cyr		R. Best
Dalton		Fitzgerald
Lynn		Archibald
	Forwards.
L. Gauthier		Coleman
Cummings		E. Best
G. Gauthier		Huston
Bannister		Crough
Bowden		Baker

Referee—J. E. Sullivan.

The New England champions secured their first goal on a prettily dropped corner kick ten minutes after the play started, and six minutes later Cyr drove one through from out in front, when he had a clear space. This ended the scoring. The Quakers then started to travel at a lively clip, and in the second half did fully as well as their opponents. The forwards played nice combination, but seemed weak in shooting, at least their marksmanship was not as good as that of the visitors. The defence did great work in the second half, and beat off attack after attack. Darkness was beginning to close in on the field before the game was over.

The Fall River team left this morning by G.T.R. for Montreal, where they will play the Westmount team. This will be their last game in Canada.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE BALL

Karenots Won From Lillies and West Ends From Lakeviews

The results of the Intermediate Baseball League games played last evening are;

Karenots 17, Lillies 8.
West Ends 4, Lakeviews 2.

The Karenots in their game with the Lillies at Nicholls Oval had all the best of it and administered an overwhelming defeat to the Lillie aggregation. They started out last night with a lead of five and in three innings they piled up eleven more runs and did not go to bat in their seventh. Sid. Ferguson occupied the pitcher's stand for the winners and had his opponents guessing all the time. He pitched great ball and has lots of speed. There were few who were allowed to walk and the Lillies had difficulty in hitting his curves. The Karenot fielders were all good and were always on the job when the feather came their way. Few errors were placed to their account. Each man on the team shared equal honors in scoring the runs.

The Lilies had bad luck last night and owing to several costly fumbles lost their game. They play better ball than was exhibited last night. Their fielders were not up to their best and made some errors which should never have occurred. Barclay and Ryan took turns in twirling the leather. Barclay pitched first and was afterwards relieved by Ryan. Both men twirled fairly well. They lacked the speed, however, which characterized their opponents' twirler. Ryan did not perform in the box last night nearly as well as on previous occasions. The support given the Lillies' battery could be improved upon, but the season is just opening, and there is yet time for them to have their revenge on their conquerors. Ryan, C. Simmons, and J. Simmons were successful in making the rounds and each tallied a run for their aggregation.

The teams were as follows;

Karenots.— Johnston cf, Geale ss, Lang, 1b, Carton c, Ryan 3b, Conroy rf, Ferguson p, Barradaile, lf, Craig 2b.

Lillies —Hillier c, Barclay p, Price 3b, C Simmons lf, Foley ss, J Simmons 1b, Ryan 2b, Connors cf, Pilling rf.

WEST ENDS WON

The game at the Driving Park between the Lakeviews and West Ends, was a closely contested match and gave the fans who were present an exciting exhibition of this favorite sport. In the first half, played on Monday night, they broke even, and last night both were out to win and fast, snappy ball was what was dished up. Neither aggregation had very much over the other in the excellence of the players. It was only owing to a costly error on the part of a Lakeview man that the West Ends pulled out a victory. Butcher made the hit that won the game. The ball passed the Lakeview fielder, and Cameron, who was on a base, succeeded in crossing the home plate, followed by Butcher, giving them a lead of two runs, while the Lakeviews got none to correspond. The West Ends have an all round good team. They played a fine game and look as if they would make a high bid for the Review trophy. Butcher, who pitched a great game for the winners, has plenty of speed and has a drop shoot which keeps his batters guessing. He has good support in the field, every man throwing to bases and stopping well.

The Lakeviews also are a strong aggregation and they too will give a lively chase for the silverware. They have as fast a bunch as there is in the league and, with the exception of one error, were all to the good in last night's match. The work of Mahoney in the pitcher's box was excellent, and he ranks high among the twirlers of the different teams in the league.

The teams were as follows;

West Ends.—W Butcher p, J McNeil c, L [illegible] 1b, B Halpin 2b, Rose ss, Max Cameron 3b, Grange lf, C Dobson cf, N Moore rf.

Lakeviews. —Holland 3b, Menzies c, Wilson 1b, Carson 2b, Mahoney p, Theobald ss, Doherty lf, McGill cf, Hewson rf.

Mr. Fred Craig officiated as umpire in a satisfactory manner.

Great interest is being taken in these intermediate games, both by the players and a large number of fans, who are always in attendance. With the six teams in the league the race for the Review cup promises to be decidedly interesting.

The next game takes place on Saturday, when the Karenots and the Strathconas play at Nicholls Oval.

MEETING TONIGHT

An adjourned meeting of the Intermediate City Baseball League will be held this evening at the Y.M.C.A. hall when the protest, entered by the Excelsiors against the Strathconas, in connection with the game on Saturday last, for playing Kendry and Weatherstone, will be considered. A full attendance is requested. Other important business will also come up.

BASEBALL

IMPORTANT MEETING

Every team in the Intermediate Baseball League is asked to send a representative to the meeting to be held at the Y.M.C.A. tonight at eight o'clock. Any team not sending a representative will be put out of the league. The protest entered by the Excelsiors of their game with the Strathconas on Saturday, will be dealt with, and it is urged that there be a full attendance.

RUGBY

Hamilton, May 28. — When the champion Tigers line up this fall for their first practice the familiar face of Sep. DuMoulin, the popular captain, will be missed from the half back line. Force of circumstances rather than a desire to retire from the game will be responsible for Sep's absence. A couple of days ago he was notified by the Bank of Hamilton officials of his promotion to an important position in connection with the Winnipeg branch of the bank and he will be leaving for the west in a couple of weeks.

Sep will be much missed in local football circles. For many years, ever since the days when Jack Counsell was in his prime as a football player, he has been one of the mainstays of the team. He had the faculty of infusing the other players with confidence and ginger and his presence was a source of strength to the team, particularly when it was in a tight corner. The Tigers' loss will be Winnipeg's gain for Du has many good games left in him yet and he will likely get back into football harness before he has been in the West very long. His many friends here will wish him continued success in both financial and football circles.

FOOTBALL

WILL PLAY OMEMEE

The Peterborough Quaker Intermediate team will go to Omemee on Saturday afternoon instead of on Friday evening. This change was made from a request of the Omemee club as a number of their players cannot get off on Friday evening. The team will practice on Friday evening on the Exhibition grounds.

TENNIS

The Nicholls Oval Tennis Club will hold the first tea of the season at the Oval tomorrow evening, and all the members are requested to be present. The courts are in fine condition, and it is hoped that the weather will remain fine.

Toronto Papers to Get Here Earlier

Will Arrive Starting Next Week at 11.16 Instead of 11.38 a.m.

The new time table on the C.P.R. will go into effect on Sunday next. There are several changes in the time which the public will appreciate.

The most important is that the Toronto morning papers will reach Peterborough at 11.16 a.m., instead of 11.38 as at present. This is just 22 minutes earlier and will enable the reader to procure his daily journal in good time before going for dinner. The afternoon train from the east, which now gets here at 5.13 will reach Peterborough at 4.48 p. m. —twenty-five minutes earlier.

The changes in detail are as follows,—

GOING WEST:

	New time	Old time
Leave	5.16 a. m.	5.15 a. m.
"	8.00 a. m.	8.00 a. m.
"	4.48 p. m.	5.13 p. m.

GOING EAST.

	New time	Old time
Leave	11.16 a. m.	11.38 a. m.
"	7.47 p. m.	7.40 p. m.
"	12.28 p. m.	12.28 p. m.

Refused to Pay For Their Meals

There was a lively time for a few minutes Tuesday night, in George Thomas' Chinese Cafe on George st. Two young men were in the place about two o'clock in the morning and being under the influence of liquor they refused to pay for what they had eaten when they were leaving the cafe. One of the liquor soaked young men seemed bent on having a fight, and started in to do up Mr. Thomas'. One of the latter's countrymen, who is employed in the restaurant, pitched in to take the proprietor's part, and for a time there were doings around the establishment. Chairs were knocked over, a couple of tables upset and a general racket created. The police were sent for, but before they arrived, the two fellows had got out of the restaurant and made their escape.

It is unfortunate that there are still a few individuals in the city who try to take advantage of peaceable and industrious foreigners who have located here. Persons who refuse to pay for what they have eaten and start to raise a row when requested to pay, deserve a thorough thrashing.

Heavy Cattle Weighed on Scales

A large Holstein bull tipped the market scales today at 2,280 pounds. This is an exceptionally heavy one. It was owned by Mr. John Moore, of the 4th line of Smith, and sold to Mr. Geo. Wheeler, the east city butcher. Two cows weighing 2,600 lbs and belonging to Mr. Moore, were also sold to Mr. Wheeler.

This has been a busy day at the market scales. Forty hogs were weighed and sold to the Geo. Matthews Co. by Messrs. Howden and Thornton.

Hay is realizing a good price. $15 per ton has been the price all week.

4092.—A USEFUL KIMONO FOR A GIRL.

The young girl appreciates the value of a restful kimono quite as much as older women and here is shown a pretty model for such. The yoke is in deep pointed outline and supports the full skirt portion. The choice of two sleeves is given, the flowing kimono sleeve and bishop sleeve with its trim cuff. The kimono may be in full length or sack length as desired. Tub fabrics are most practical for these negligees though the light weight cloths and silks are much used. The medium size calls for 3 5-8 yards of 44 inch material for the long gown and 1 3-4 for the sack style.

4092.—7 sizes, 4 to 16 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Great Scarcity Of Male Teachers

The Board of Education finds, says the Mail & Empire, great difficulty in securing the services of male teachers. At the last meeting of the board the request of Mr. J M McCutcheon, of St. Thomas, for appointment, was favorably considered, and he was therefore added to the staff with a salary of $1,000. Shortly afterward, Mr. McCutcheon received an offer of $200 a year more, and in consequence, declined his Toronto appointment.

This makes the seventh man in the last few months, who, after being appointed to the teaching staff, declined to take the offer.

STRUCK FOR HIGHER WAGES

Three Men Quit Work at the Armouries

Three of the men employed on the excavation work for the new armories went on strike this morning for higher wages. They tried to get all their fellow workmen to do likewise. However, the others did not see matters in the same light as the trio who wanted to strike and continued at work. The three dissatisfied ones quit work and are now looking for another job.

FOR VIOLATING THE LIQUOR LAW

Pontypool, Cavan and Omemee Bonifaces Were All Fined

Three cases of infractions of the liquor law were before Mr. R. H. Holland on Monday and fines amounting to $170 were imposed, says the Port Hope Times.

Three detectives in the employ of the provincial government went to Pontypool on April 30, the day before local option came into force, and stayed at the hotel. They drank rather freely, and next morning before taking the train, persuaded the hotelkeeper to serve them with drinks. As local option had by that time come into force, they laid an information. On Monday the hotelkeeper pleaded guilty to one charge and was fined $50 and $8.23 costs. Two other complaints laid by the same detectives were dropped, by order of the government.

In Cavanville on the morning that local option came into force, one of the detectives is said to have complained of feeling ill and persuaded the hotelkeeper there to give him a drink. He also pleaded guilty to one charge and was fined $50 and $8.63 costs. Two other complaints were dropped by the direction of the provincial inspector.

Detectives visited the Queen's Hotel at Millbrook on April 25. They obtained liquor after hours. A plea of guilty was entered and Mr Holland [illegible] amounting to $7.58. Another complaint was dropped.

More Bones Dug up at the Park

Workmen at Armouries Excavate Some More Relics of the Past

Some more human bones were dug up this morning at the excavation for the new armories. They were found near the east side, and were about three feet fromt the surface. There is considerable discussion as to how the bones came to be so near the surface, as none of those that have been discovered have been more than three feet down.

A gentleman who is connected with the building of the armories remarked today, that that part of the park must have been levelled at some time and in doing so some earth must have been removed from the surface. This would leave the bones buried there nearer the top than would otherwise have been the case.

Joseph E. Mercier, Montreal, a fireman, claims $20,000 damages from the C.P.R. for the loss of a leg in a collision.

Both Arms Broken in Lively Runaway

A sad accident befell Mr. and Mrs Wm. Cleugh on Wednesday of last week, as they were driving into Campbellford. Upon reaching the Rathbun crossing, on Rear-st., their team of ponies became frightened at the stone crusher, which was in operation in Mr. Kent's lot nearby, and bolted for liberty. They ran to Front street, turning the corner quickly, upsetting the rig, and throwing both occupants out. The buggy was dragged to Front street where the team was caught. Mr. Cleugh sustained very serious injuries, both his arms being broken and receiving several wounds about the body. Mrs. Cleugh was also very badly shaken up.

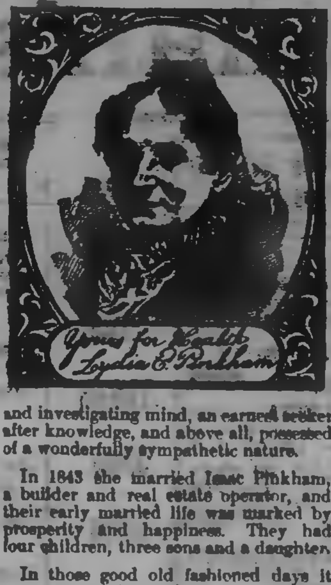
WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.



Yours for Health
Lydia E. Pinkham

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest-fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until to-day Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With woman assistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound: made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

TROOPS FIGHT REBELS

Resulted in Victory of Chinese Government Forces.

Leader and Flags Were Captured—Over Hundred Men Are Killed—Gunboat Sent to Disaffected Places With Additional Troops—Swatow May Be Attacked—Famine Now Broken—Milk Supplied to Babes.

Canton, China, May 31.—A severe engagement has occurred between the provincial troops and a body of rebels, resulting in a victory for the former. The rebels lost over a hundred men killed and the Government forces captured the rebel leader.

Two thousand additional troops have been despatched to Chaochow.

The Chinese gunboat, Sum Hong, having on board the fifteenth regiment of Chinese troops, has sailed from here for Swatow, to defend that city against a possible attack on the part of the rebels.

Chinese Famine Ended.

Shanghai, May 31.—The famine which has prevailed for many weeks, causing hundreds of deaths and great suffering, has been broken.

The crops are still thin, but the hot weather of the past month has been favorable to a good yield.

American gifts have supplied milk regularly to 1,000 babies at the Hsu Cheo Fu Temple, while 200 more have been nourished occasionally. The children are left with their parents or relations, as the Chinese dread foreign orphanages.

What is left of the gift will be turned over to the Red Cross Society to relieve individual cases of need, and to grapple with the next crisis.

LAFLAMME EMPHASISES.

Insists That Article Published Was True.

Quebec, May 31.—Judge Bosse yesterday having ruled against the evidence offered to prove Baron Lepine's incapacity as a witness, all his testimony was allowed to stand and Laflamme spent all the afternoon addressing the jury for the defence.

He claimed Asselin's article in Le Nationaliste was fully justified by evidence which showed that as charged, Prevost sold mining permits privately and lands as well. Thus one other paid $1,000 for 200 acres, which he sold for $100,000.

McKenzie had bought land for a few thousand, which he sold to a company with a capital of six millions, and declined to say how much he made out of it. He had been favored by being given permits fraudulently, which had been previously applied for.

"I have known men to serve time in penitentiary," said Mr. Laflamme, "for less offences."

He said that the mining department had been proved to be thoroughly demoralized.

COBALT LICENSE SWINDLE.

Two Men Asked $3,000 for Government Campaign Fund.

Toronto, May 31.—The provincial detectives have unearthed what they believe to be the beginning of a gigantic swindle in the sale of bogus liquor licenses in Cobalt.

Two men were arrested Monday. A man called Enright was taken into custody by Chief Caulback of Cobalt, and another, Davison, of Ottawa, was arrested there, charged with conspiracy to defraud.

It is alleged that these men went to Cobalt and undertook in at least one instance to procure a liquor license for a Cobalt man in consideration of $3,000, which should go to the Provincial Government's campaign fund.

They are said to have represented themselves as the fountain-head of influence, and to be able to produce licenses at the given figure.

Davison is being sent to Cobalt, and the twain will appear there before Police Magistrate Brown this morning for a hearing.

Edna Wilson, an actress, wife of George M. Wilson committed suicide at the Bryden hotel, Columbus, Ohio, by drowning herself in a bath tub.

ITALIAN FOUND GUILTY.

Convicted of Murder at Parry Sound on Christmas Day.

Parry Sound, May 31.—The trial of the two Italians, Capelle and Marano, accused of the murder of Daw on Christmas Day, as the result of a drunken row, was brought to a close yesterday.

A verdict of guilty was brought in against Capelle, while his companion, Marano, was acquitted.

All the evidence was put in on Wednesday, and the proceedings opened yesterday morning by the address of Mr. Keefer for the defence.

He spoke for one hour and devoted most of his remarks toward the defence of Marano.

Judge Teetzel's charge to the jury lasted upward of an hour and was considered very fair toward the prisoners.

At about 1.30 the case was given to the jury, and after deliberation of some four hours the verdict was reached.

Sentence will not be passed until the close of the term, as the two accused in the case just terminated, have two more charges against them, on which they will be tried during the present term.

CLERICAL LIBEL SUIT.

Professors of Montreal College Settle Their Difference.

Gananoque, May 31.—The libel charge as preferred by Dr. Workman against Prof. Shaw of the Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, has taken a great deal of the time of the ministerial sessions of the Montreal conference which opened here Wednesday, and is the main theme for discussion between sessions.

Dr. Workman and Prof. Shaw were both on hand. Dr. Workman was allowed to read the circulars issued by Prof. Shaw, but when he proceeded to comment on them he was ruled out of order. The question was then warmly debated and finally it was decided to have a committee deal with it.

The committee heard both Dr. Workman and Prof. Shaw and endeavored to get both to give and take a little. It is understood Prof. Shaw expressed regrets that he had made statement to the board of governors before they had been proved true, and also published without his knowledge, thereby doing an injustice and harm to Dr. Workman. Dr. Workman was willing to accept this and call quits.

FALCONER FOR TORONTO.

Resignation Accepted by Board of Pine Hill College.

Halifax, N. S., May 31.—The Presbyterian College Board met yesterday morning. Principal Falconer was present and his resignation of the principalship of the college, in view of his decision to accept the offer of the presidency of Toronto University, was laid before the board. The action of the board was that, while greatly regretting to lose his services, nothing would be placed in the way of Dr. Falconer accepting.

The board unanimously nominated Rev. Dr. Magill, one of the professors of Pine Hill College, as Principal Falconer's successor, and Rev. J. W. Falconer, pastor of Fort Massey, to succeed his brother as professor of New Testament exigises.

SEAMEN GO ON STRIKE.

Atlantic Liners Delayed At Glasgow—Employers Refuse Demands.

Glasgow, May 31.—The seamens' strike here has reached an acute stage. The employers refuse to recognize the men's unions and have taken no notice of their demands for an advance in wages.

The Atlantic liners due to sail June 1 for New York or Canada have not yet secured crews.

The ship owners are calling a conference of representatives of the various maritime nations to meet in London and devise means for defence against the unions.

MANY HURT IN WRECK.

Two Killed and Many Others Fatally Injured.

Elyria, Ohio, May 31.—Crowded with holiday passengers a Cleveland & Southwestern trolley car, bound from Wellington to Cleveland, was struck rear-end by another car at the corner of Sixth street and Middle avenue early last night, resulting in at least two deaths and 11 persons being injured. Two of those injured, it is thought, will die.

Coal Going Up.

Winnipeg, May 31.—G. G. S. Lindsey, of the Crow's Nest Coal Co., who was in Winnipeg yesterday, said: "A rise in the price of coal is inevitable, owing to the action of the public and the press.

The newspapers stated that the recent strike would tie up everything in the West and the effect of this in the striking miners was to make them feel that the rotation of the wheels of industry depended upon them, and consequently they became more independent than ever, for what the workman likes to think more than anything else is that he holds the key to the situation.

"The public can hardly complain, then, if the operators are forced to raise the price of coal on account of the increased wages which they will have to pay the miners."

Professor's Largest Export.

London, May 31.—Prof. Iverach at the United Free Church Assembly, discussing missionary effort, remarked dryly that the church's largest export to Canada was professors, adding that in the Dominion the ministers had to preach, not to read essays.

Woman Commits Suicide.

Madoc, May 31.—Mrs. Jane Reid of West Huntington committed suicide yesterday morning about 10 o'clock by taking carbolic acid. She had been found lately wandering about and it is supposed her mind was affected.

London's assessment for 1907 shows a total of $22,285,967, an increase of $2,134,000 over last year.

FLOORING COLLAPSED

Crowd at Corner-Stone Laying Precipitated Into Cellar.

Sixty Persons Have Nasty Fall at Wilkes-Barre—Bishop Hoban of Scranton Gets Severe Shaking—Accident Due to Insufficient Bracing—Injured Rescued With Ladders By the Police.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 31.—At the laying of the corner-stone of St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church yesterday, a temporary flooring collapsed, precipitating about 60 persons into the cellar, 12 feet below.

For over an hour the utmost excitement prevailed. The screams of those in the wreckage and the groans from the injured could be heard for a block away. Ladders were obtained from neighboring factories, and with the aid of the police, the injured were removed from their perilous position. Some were able to walk to their homes. Others were removed to hospitals in ambulances.

The accident, it is said, was due to insufficient bracing beneath the new floor.

Bishop Hoban of Scranton, who went down with the wreckage, was at first reported to be seriously hurt. He was soon rescued by friends and removed to a place of safety. He was badly shaken up, but escaped injury.

CAMPAIGN IN WEST YORK.

Suddenness of Campaign Hardly Appreciated By Electorate.

Toronto, May 31.—Canvassers in the West York campaign report a surprising lack of knowledge among electors that a contest is imminent in this riding.

The speed with which the vacancy in the local House is being filled is believed to be mainly responsible for this, as it has allowed little time for public meetings. The election takes place to-morrow (Saturday). The riding comprises Etobicoke and Vaughan and York Township west of Yonge street, the towns of Toronto Junction and the villages of Weston and Woodbridge.

The candidates are Dr. Godfrey, Conservative; Esten William, independent, and F. J. Peel, Socialist.

SHOT SISTER AND SELF.

Two Little Girls Found Dead In River by Father.

Springfield, Ill., May 31.—Carrie Lederbrand, 7 years old, and her sister Cora, 17 years old, daughters of Joseph Lederbrand, a farmer, were murdered and thrown into Sugar Creek Wednesday, and the bodies were found that night by the girls' father.

The girls left home early in the afternoon.

Dr. Duncan found that each girl had a bullet hole in the right temple.

It is believed that Cora shot her invalid sister Carrie and then killed herself. Cora had often complained that she was unable to associate with other girls because she had to care for Carrie.

SHOT AT BISHOP.

Attempted Assassination Foiled By Young Priest.

Lublin, Russia, May 31.—An attempt was made to assassinate Bishop Yatshevsky, of the Catholic church.

A man, who subsequently was identified as a socialist agitator, who had twice been imprisoned, fired several shots from a revolver at the Bishop while the latter was walking through a street here and then attacked him with a dagger, slightly wounding the prelate.

The latter's life was saved by a priest, who sprang before the Bishop. The would-be assassin was captured by the police.

COTTON SHIP AFIRE.

Reaches Port With Cargo Ablaze and Decks Crumbling.

Hamilton, Bermuda, May 31.—The British steamer Boniface from Galveston for Liverpool arrived here yesterday morning with her cargo of cotton on fire.

The Boniface carried nine passengers, eight of whom are women. The flames were discovered May 26, when the vessel was 700 miles from Bermuda. The hatches were battened down and the Boniface was headed for the island. When she arrived here her cargo was burning furiously and her decks were crumbling in.

Cow Runs Amuck.

Exeter, May 31.—While 300 children were dispersing from school a cow, being led by a young man, got enraged, charged into the crowd. It carried one boy for a distance on both horns and threw him to the ground, and then pinned a 12-year-old girl named Welch to a fence. The horns, however, escaped her body, but she had a leg broken.

Forger Being Deported.

Ottawa, May 31.—Geo. Shenton, who, on May 18, presented a forged cheque for $60, bearing Nelson D. Porter's name, has been ordered to be deported by the Dominion Government. He will be put on board the steamship Ionian.

He came from Yorkshire, Eng., about ten months ago.

Election Not Yet.

Ottawa, May 31.—There will be no general election this year," stated W. S. Calvert, M.P., chief Liberal whip yesterday.

"We gave our word to the leader of the Opposition that there would be another session before dissolution and it holds good."

Race Train Derailed.

New York, May 31.—Several persons were injured, none fatally, when a Long Island train was derailed at the Belmont Park race track station yesterday afternoon.

Word from Minnesota says that Take Falls and Lake Basswood are covered with ice 17 inches thick.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, May 30.—Receipts of live stock at the city market as reported by the railways since Tuesday were 90 car loads, composed of 1202 cattle, 2365 hogs, 195 sheep and lambs, and 300 calves.

Exporters.

Not many offered and prices ranged from $5.25 to $5.60, and those quoted at the latter price were bought for butcher purposes. Export bulls sold at $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots sold from $5.25 to $5.50; loads of good at $5 to $5.25; medium at $4.75 to $5; common mixed at $4.25 to $4.60; cows $3.50 to $4.60 per cwt.

Stockers and Feeders.

Harry Murby reports a light trade in feeders and stockers during the week, owing largely to the active demand for butchers cattle, which has placed them at a price too high for those who were buying shortkeep feeders. Mr. Murby bought about 100 stockers, and feeders, during the week, weighing from 600 to 800 lbs., at $3.50 to $4 per cwt.

Milch Cows.

There was a good outlet all this week for good to choice milkers and springers, the bulk of which were taken by eastern buyers from Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec. A good many went to Montreal. Buyers, as usual, were after the high-class cows, giving or likely to give a large flow of milk. The best sold up to $60 and $70, and the bulk of good ones went at $45 to $55. Medium cows have been slow sale in comparison with the good. Common light cows were not wanted, and were hard to cash or close out at $25 to $30.

Veal Calves.

Receipts of veal calves have been large for some time, and, of course, there are some that are choice and just what the butcher requires, but the great majority lack the necessary age, and finish to make them satisfactory killers. This has been the case more emphatically than usual this season, because the price of milk is higher than it has been in years, and that is about all some of the dairymen seem to think about. For him there is money to sacrifice the calf, and save the milk. The result has been that the market has been flooded with a poor class of veal, and dealers want something better. If 75 per cent. of the calves coming on the market were fed about two to three weeks longer, prices would average much higher, but the dairymen have figured it out and have concluded that it wont pay. Prices for calves were firmer to-day in sympathy with the advance in beef prices, selling from $3.50 to $6 per cwt., and some few were reported at $7 per cwt., but this was for an odd new milk fed vealer of choice quality, such as butchers are anxious to get.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run being light prices were firmer all round. Export ewes sold at $5 to $6 per cwt.; rams $4 to $4.50; yearling lambs $6 to $7 per cwt.; spring lambs $3 to $7 each.

Hogs.

Twenty-four hundred hogs were bought by Mr. Harris at $7.10 for selects, and $6.85 for lights and fats. Mr. Harris reports prospects to be for easier markets.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, May 30.—Cattle—Receipts 100 head; slow; prime steers, $5.80 to $6.

Veals—Receipts 800 head; active and 25c lower; $5 to $8.25.

Hogs—Receipts 4300 head; fairly active and 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $6.25 to $6.50; mixed, $6.50; yorkers, $6.50 to $6.55; pigs, $6.55 to $6.60; roughs, $5.40 to $5.65.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 2800 head; active; sheep steady; lambs 25c higher; lambs, $5.50 to $8.75.

British Cattle Markets.

LONDON, May 30.—Liverpool and London cables are steady at 11¼c to 13c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9c, to 9½c per lb.

Cheese Markets.

KINGSTON, May 30.—A year has made a cent's difference in price of cheese: In 1906 this week's price was 11⅝c; to-day 831 boxes of colored and white, all registered on the Frontenac board, sold at 12⅝c.

Very stormy weather is reported on the lakes.

Both Cases Were Dismissed To-day

Wages Suit and Abusive Language Aired in Police Court

There were two cases in the police court this morning but the city coffers were not made any the richer as a result of them. One was against the Brinton Carpet Co. for non-payment of wages, and the other was an assault case. His Worship dismissed both. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for the company on the wage case. Ernest Hall, an employee of the company claimed $9.36 for wages owing him. He had worked for the firm about seven months in the finishing room. He said that he had given notice last Saturday, that he was going to quit. Two weeks' notice is required by the company when an employee is leaving. According to Hall's statement, some trouble arose between him and an employee, and he left Monday morning. Mr. Wadleigh, acting manager for Mr. Preen, refused to pay him.

Mr. Wadleigh, said that Hall had been foreman of the finishing room but he was incapable of doing the work so another was put in his place. A lady was placed in charge over the girls, instead of Hall. He was continually quarrelling with this lady and other employees. Mr. Wadleigh told him to either work in harmony or go. Mr. Wadleigh stated that he did not dismiss him, but gave him the conditions on which he could stay.

His Worship did not approve of that rule which denied a man his wages if he left without giving two weeks' notice, but on account of the informant not being discharged, Mr. Dumble said that he would dismiss the case.

Arthur Burrows charged Ed. Gardner with using abusive language to him yesterday on George street. After each one's story, it appears that all the abusive language amounted to was that Gardner told Burrows that he would knock his block off. His Worship considered the two disputants on a par with each other, and discharged Gardner.

Furniture Was Nearly all Saved

Small Insurance on the House—Damage Over $500

The fire at Mrs Samuel Houlihan's yesterday afternoon was a destructive one. It started in the kitchen, which was a frame lean-to, and destroyed it completely. The long shed at the rear was burned to the ground, the roof of the house was damaged, and the interior of the house was damaged. The loss on the building and the furniture will be over $500, while there is only a small amount of insurance. The firemen were unable to enter the house when they arrived and they directed their attention to getting the flames under control. As soon as this was accomplished the furniture was taken out and except for damage by water and smoke, most of the household goods were saved.

There are several other inflammable buildings very close to the one burned and the wonder is that more damage was not done. The fire brigade deserves great credit for the splendid run they made and the good work they did.

Mr. Wm. Whittom who has been in the Cobalt district for some time paid a flying business visit to the city this week. He arrived yesterday noon and will leave again for the silver country tonight. Mr. Whittom while in the city, interested several local men in Cobalt properties. He has purchased twelve claims in Coleman township, which give promise of turning out rich for the owners. The are in the vicinity of Big Chief, Nipissing, McKinley and several other famous mines, and they are valued at $3,000 to $10,000 as they are without any prospecting being done.

BATTERY HAD FINE TURNOUT

The 24th Field Battery drilled at Central Park last night and had a most satisfactory turnout. Sergeant Major Fee was in charge and put the men through some valuable exercises. They showed much proficiency in their work and entered into it with enthusiasm.

The Battery will go into camp full strength this summer and in much better condition than last year. There are a large number of first class men who are anxious to join and there will be no difficulty in recruiting full strength.

The next drill will be on Monday evening.

ALLIANCE DISAPPROVES.

Judge Morson's View of Sunday Selling Not Appreciated.

Berlin, May 31.—The 13th annual session of the Hamilton conference opened in New Trinity Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, over 300 ministerial and lay delegates being present. President R. J. Elliott of Waterloo, presided.

A civic welcome was extended by Mayor Bricker, who was accompanied by several aldermen, and the delegates were given the freedom of the town.

In speaking of the recent decision of Judge Morson in Toronto, Rev. T. Albert Moore, secretary of Ontario Lord's Day Alliance, pointed out that it only touches the City of Toronto and County of York, and does not affect any other portion of Canada, and he was confident that very few judges in the Dominion would coincide with Judge Morson in his opinion.

Was Not Beresford's Wife.

El Paso, Texas, May 31.—Flora Wolff, commonly called "Lady Flo," a negress, who set up a claim against the estate of Lord Delaval Beresford as his common-law wife, Wednesday accepted $10,000, devised to her by the will of Lord Beresford, and an additional $5,000, and waived all claims to the estate. She certified that she was never, either in law or in fact, the wife of Lord Beresford.

Many Bank Bills Lost.

Kingston, Ont., May 31.—Early yesterday morning the frame house at the G. T. R. outer station, occupied by Mrs. Anna McKay, was burned to the ground. Mrs. McKay lost several hundred dollars in bank bills. She kept them in her room, and in her alarm left them until too late.

She made several attempts to reenter, but failed. The neighbors saved much of the furniture.

Was Almost Asphyxiated.

Brockville, May 31.—A man named Hurst, hailing from Toronto, who has been about town for some time, was found in a room in the Grand Central Hotel unconscious from the effects of inhaling gas.

He will have to remain at the hospital for some time.

Strike About Ended.

Ottawa, May 31.—The Department of Labor has been advised that the strike of the longshoremen at Halifax has been practically ended. One shipping firm has accepted the men's demand, but the companies having no vessels in port have decided upon a waiting policy.

Skilled Men Unobtainable.

Lethbridge, Man., May 31.—The operators submitted their case before the mining commission yesterday, the mines here and at Tabor being represented.

The general tenor of the evidence shows uncompromising opposition to a compensation act and uniform eight-hour day.

Operators declared they were unable to get skilled miners, and, as a result, were opposed to being held responsible for accidents which may be due to carelessness or ignorance.

Cloud Bursts In Texas.

Houston, Tex., May 31.—A series of storms, accompanied by cloudbursts, swept over this vicinity Wednesday night and continued until yesterday.

The country for miles is covered with water.

Soccer Football Team From the Capital to Make a Tour of Western Ontario and Eastern Manitoba

An Ottawa despatch says: "The Ottawa Association football team, which made such a favorable impression on the Montreal fans in the match against Point St. Charles last Saturday, will leave at the end of July or the first of August, on a tour of western Ontario and the east end of Manitoba. Manager Henzell has received a letter from a Toronto man, who has heard of the good work of the Ottawas. He asks Mr. Henzell to consult the other officers of the club, with a view to having the team take in the trip, and there is every probability that the tour may be arranged. Of course, the Ottawas will not leave until all their regular games in the Montreal District League have been played. If they go they will take all their regular players and a few spares. Their expenses have been guaranteed. Toronto, Hamilton, London, Peterborough and Guelph are among the towns included in the tour which has been proposed. A meeting of the club will be held in a few days to consider the proposition.

"There will be at least two changes in the Ottawa team when it lines up against the C.P.R. eleven at Lansdowne Park Saturday afternoon. Leggatt, the crack forward, will be back in the game, also Lowdell, who was injured in the Y.M.C.A. match last week. The team to meet the C.P.R. will be selected this evening. The visitors are coming up with a very strong team and a good game is expected."

Match Will Have to be Re-played

Strathconas Had Men on Line-up Who Were Not Eligible

The opening game of the Intermediate Baseball League, played on Saturday last between the Excelsiors and Strathconas will have to be played over again. Such was the unanimous decision of the executive of the league at last night's meeting in the Y.M.C.A. All the teams were represented and have all paid their entrance fee. The president, Mr Jas Long was in the chair. Great interest is being displayed in the league and a lively discussion took place last evening.

The chief subject discussed was last Saturday's game between the Excelsiors and Strathconas. At the last meeting of the executive Weatherstone and Kendry were barred from all intermediate games. In Saturday's contest both these men figured and thus ignored the decision of the league.

One of the chief objects of the league is to develop good ball players among the younger element, and it does not seem fair to allow fellows who have played several years at the game to figure in a league composed chiefly of boys who are just starting out.

After some lively discussion, principally between the managers of the Excelsiors and the Strathconas, it was moved by Harry Theobald and seconded by W. Butcher and carried, that Saturday's game be played over again, the date decided upon being Saturday, June 15th. Then the players of the Strathconas were considered. It was moved by H. Theobald and seconded by W. Butcher, that Alex. Weatherstone be allowed the privilege of playing, but Kendry cannot play under any consideration. Harold Crane, who was allowed to play with the Straths. at the last meeting was ruled out last evening. Theobald and Staunton considered he was too fast for intermediate ball, and when the motion was put to a vote it was carried, so the Straths. will have to look for someone else to fill his place.

There is a friendly spirit of rivalry existing between the several teams and the race for championship honors will be keen. The games are well worth seeing, and some good contests in the league are assured.

Tomorrow afternoon the Strathconas and Karenots play at Nicholls Oval. This will be an interesting match as both teams are strong aggregations.

FOOTBALL

Ottawa, May 30.—The Ottawa soccer team which is playing in the Montreal District League, will tour Western Ontario and probably Manitoba as well about the end of July or early in August. The team numbers several crack English players, and is looked upon by experts here as one of the best in the Dominion. The tour will not be undertaken until the club's schedule in the Montreal District League has been completed.

BASEBALL

PRACTICE TO NIGHT.

The Karnots are requested to practice at Nicholls Oval to-night at 6.45 o'clock in preparation for the league game with the Strathconas to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Oval.

CAMPBELLFORD WON.

Last Friday, a game of baseball was contested between the Campbellford and Marmora Clubs. Mr. J. Farrell pitched a good game, and all played their positions well. The score was 14 to 7, in favor of Campbellford. The Marmora Club enjoyed the good time given by our boys, and the manager expresses thanks to the many who responded to the game.

SHEA MAKING GOOD

"Dubby" Shea has turned down an offer from Harris, Minn. The Malleable catcher is certainly playing the game this year and he is hitting the ball terrifically. — Brantford Expositor.

TENNIS

The first tea of the season of the Nicholls Oval Tennis Club will be held at the Oval this evening. All the members are asked to be present as the courts are in good condition and an enjoyable time is assured.

CRICKET

PRACTICE MATCH.

A practice cricket match has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon, to commence at 2.15. Two full teams have been selected and will line-up in the following manner,— Neilson, Cook, Casey, Brittain, Coleman, Greenhalgh, W. A. Bailey, Roe, Lovekin, Gordon and Saunders.

Bitt, Hall, Wood, Moore, Edwards, Duggan, Cameron, Roe, Clarke, Greer, Robson.

Players whose names do not appear above will be picked at the oval.

PERILS OF BALLOONING.

Two Military Experts Carried Out to Sea—Are Rescued.

London, May 31.—A military balloon, piloted by Lieuts. Caulfield and Leake of the Royal Engineers, which was sent up from Aldershot camp, May 28 during the review in honor of Prince Fushimi of Japan, was picked up at sea by a fishing smack yesterday morning, some distance from Exmouth, County of Devon, at the mouth of the Exe, in the English Channel.

Later in the day a despatch by wireless telegraphy was received from the coast guard station at Scilly Islands reporting that the two lieutenants had reached the station in safety.

PILES CURED IN 6 to 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c.

4181.—SOME PRACTICAL BLOOMERS

The manner of clothing the little people is becoming more practical every year and one of the best evidences of this is seen in the popular wearing of bloomers instead of petticoats, which soil quickly and do not protect the child's cloths from wear. A pair of bloomers is sketched which will prove excellent for this kind of wear. They are simply made and up-to-date in cut and style. The fulness is gathered on a tape at the waist and with elastics at the knees or finished with bands. The material of the play dress should be used to develop these, but any of the durable and dark colored fabrics are good. The medium size calls for 1 3-8 yards of 44 inch material.

4181.—7 sizes, 2 to 14 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Flower Beds are Being Prepared

Season Later Than Last Year at Little Lake Cemetery

Supt. Wise has a number of men at work at Little Lake cemetery preparing the beds where flowers will be planted. It is interesting to note that at this time last year the beds had been planted and the flowers were well under way. The cemetery however, is looking very pretty at the present time and is being constantly beautified.

Otonabee Sunday School Gathering

Mr. W. Boreland Elected President of Township Association

Keene May 30.—The annual convention of the Otonabee Sabbath School Association was held in the Presbyterian church, Keene, Tuesday May 28th.

There was a good attendance at both afternoon and evening meetings The president, Mr. P. T. Pilkie, presided. The afternoon meeting was addressed by Rev. D. D. McDonald who spoke on "How the teacher may help the scholar besides teaching him," and Dr. W. T. Harrison spoke on the teaching of the lesson for June 2nd, followed by an address by Mr. R. Lees on "Child Culture."

Then followed the reading of the reports by the delegates of the various Sabbath schools. Reports were given from all the schools in the township but one, and were invariably highly satisfactory and encouraging.

The president's resignation, owing to intended removal, was accepted, and Mr. William Boreland, the former vice president was elected in his place, while Mr. Kinney, Coldsprings was elected to Mr. Boreland's former office. The other officers were re-elected.

The night meeting was principally taken up with addresses by Rev. W. D. Harrison and Mr. R. Lees, county public school inspector, who spoke on "Why we have Sabbath Schools," and "Relation of Parents to Sabbath Schools," and gave very interesting addresses.

Otonabee Co's. Lights Were Out

Bolt Dropped Out of the Water Wheel—Repairs Made at 2 O'clock

At six o'clock last night the bolt in the coupling on the exciter water wheel at the Otonabee Power Co.'s power station dropped out, and the power was shut off. As a result their subscribers all over the city had no light last night and the old coal oil lamps had to be resorted to. At first it was thought that repairs could be made in a short time, but later arrangements were made with the Peterborough Light & Power Co., and at ten o'clock everyone had lots of light. The Otonabee Company got its plant running again about two o'clock.

SAYS WORST IS YET TO COME

Ottawa Clergyman Makes a Sensational Statement

Montreal, May 31.—A clergyman high up in the Established Church, who is as well known in this city as is the city hall, tells a most sensational story as to the intentions of certain sections of the church militant, regarding the recent charges that have been made so boldly against several of Canada's public men and he also declares that steps will be taken to bring other notorious facts to the light of day as soon as Sir Wilfrid Laurier returns from Great Britain.

The reverend gentleman says that certain letters now in the possession of an Ottawa clergyman, which were written to a young lady now deceased, by an ex-minister of the crown, will create a terrible sensation when they are given to the press.

It appears that the Ottawa divine wrote to the eminent politician in question for an explanation and the latter not deigning a reply a second epistle has been sent off.

In fact the minister declares that if no answer is forthcoming immediate action will be taken.

Rev Father Doherty, Arthur, who celebrated his silver jubilee this week, was presented with a gold-headed cane and banqueted by the Protestant citizens.

Tree Was Pulled From its Roots

Peculiar Accident at the New Armouries Yesterday

A somewhat peculiar accident that fortunately did not result in anyone being injured, occurred at the new armouries yesterday. A large derrick was being used to remove some large stones and it was made firm by being attached to a fairly large spruce tree that stood in the immediate vicinity. As an extra large rock was being pulled out the strain was so great that the tree pulled out of the roots and tree, derrick and everything else came crashing to the ground. The men who were working the derrick noticed what was happening and succeeded in getting out of danger before the machinery and tree came crashing down. It was indeed fortunate that no one was injured.

The derrick was badly smashed and it will require considerable repairing before it is fit for use again.

Roll Call at Park St. Church

Impressive Ceremony Was Conducted Last Evening

The annual Roll Call of the Park Street Baptist Church, was held last night. A very large representation of the church was present. Tables were very tastefully laid and at 6.40 the first relay sat down. The waiters were kept busy until eight o'clock, when the pastor called the meeting to order and the whole company joined very heartily in singing "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian Love. The fellowship of kindred minds, is like to that above."

In the absence of the clerk, Mr. Geo. Sloan, the Rev. A. H. Brace called the Roll. It was unique indeed to hear different parts of the Bible recited from all parts of the church. Much prayer was offered during the evening, and suitable hymns sung. The service was intensely spiritual and inspiring.

The pastor gave an address on the church's outlook and bright prospects A liberal offering was presented which will be supplemented on Sunday. More than half the envelopes are yet to come in.

It was announced that Dr. Norton will preach on Sunday. The doctor is always welcome in Park street, and especially so, as on this visit he is fresh from Cobalt and the northern field.

QUEER POSITION OF A GAME WARDEN

Carried a Gun and Ducks Were Found in His Possession

The Lindsay Post says,—"He carried a gun for protection against those whom he had caused to be fined for violating the fish and game laws." Such was the reason advanced by Guide Nicholls, game warden at Bobcaygeon, when questioned by a magistrate concerning five ducks in his possession. It leaked out that in his three year term of office he had prosecuted only one law-breaker.

Information had been laid before County Police Magistrate Moore against Nicholls for personal violation of the fish and game laws, a man named Parker who has been fined for illegal fishing, having retaliated with the counter charge Nicholls had been caught with the "goods" in the shape of five ducks, three of these he claimed to have picked up after being shot by others—he had found them floating; the two were Mergansers caught in traps set for muskrats.

Whether Mergansers are ducks or not, is in the opinion of some, an unsolved problem, and Magistrate Moore gave Nicholls the benefit of the doubt. The charge was dismissed without costs, but His Worship did not forget to dwell with emphasis on the peculiar circumstance of Nicholls invariably carrying a gun It suggested the thought that occasionally the quiet shepherd is more to be feared than the ravening wolves.

The Lindsay Post says:—Considerable excitement was caused in town today at noon by the circulation of a report that there was a big fire at Sturgeon Point. Mr. J. D. Flavelle and Mr. G. H. Hopkins left for the scene of the fire, in the launch Viking shortly after one, and several other boat owners and a number of citizens held themselves in readiness should their services be required, but fortunately later advices came to hand that the fire was not of a serious nature, and was confined to some burning brush and grass at the rear of Mr. Knowlson's property.

Fire fighting appliances of some kind should be provided by the council. If a blaze once gets a start among the inflamable buildings the Point site will be swept bare.

Italian Murderer Will be Hanged

Execution Will Take Place at Parry Sound on Aug. 1.

Special to the Review.

Parry Sound, May 31.—Marano, the companion of Gapello in the Dow murder case, was found guilty of assault on Angus McLeod, one of those who interfered against the Italians in a row at McCormacks on Christmas Day. Justice Teetzel pronounced the sentence of death in the case of Capello, the execution to take place at Parry Sound on August 1st.

Marano got three years in the penitentiary.

DOCTORS WILL DO NO LODGE PRACTICE

At a meeting of St. Catharines medical men Wednesday night a medical association was formed, with Dr. Sutherland president and Dr Armour secretary-treasurer. It was unanimously decided that after June 1st the regular charge for day visits be $1.50 and night visits $2. The minimum charge for examinations for life insurance companies and fraternal societies was decided on to take effect July 1st. It was also unanimously resolved that after the expiration of present contracts no further lodge practice would be engaged in.

"Unwritten Law" May be a Statute

A Virginia Senator Will Offer a Bill at Next Session of the Legislature

Richmond, Va., May 31.—Senator Louis H. Machen of Alexandria, will offer at the next session of the general assembly a bill to incorporate the so-called "unwritten law" into the statutes of Virginia. This will be the first time, at least in the history of Virginia, where any action has been taken to legalize the taking of human life.

Senator Machen says he has received sufficient encouragement to make him believe that the bill is meeting a popular demand.

"The sacredness of the home," says Senator Machen, "must be upheld. Why force men to commit perjury to save themselves when they have done the only thing that men can do under the circumstances, and why make juries violate, at least technically, the oaths they have taken when they refuse to send a man to the gallows who has killed a man under circumstances which they know in their hearts would also compel them to commit a like crime? Juries always will find that there are extenuating circumstances in such cases which makes the law as it stands a farce and a comedy."

Twenty Japanese, all wearing medals of service in the recent war, have this week been found in Arizona, smuggled across the border.

ILLEGAL LIQUOR SELLING

For selling liquor to a man, against whom notices have been posted forbidding the sale of liquor, a west end hotel keeper was fined $10 and costs in police court. The liquor was sold last Saturday evening, and License Inspector Thornbury laid the information. Owing to the case being a first offence we refrain from publishing the hotelkeeper's name. The buyer of the liquor will appear before the magistrate at a later date.—Lindsay Post.

Social Evening at Knox Church

Young Men's Guild Pleasantly Entertained Congregation

A most enjoyable congregational social was held last evening at Knox church. The newly organized Men's Guild entertained the congregation and they certainly proved themselves to be admirable hosts. A short programme of music and recitations was given and refreshments were served. The first part of the evening was spent in social intercourse. Rev. H. J. Keith the pastor, acted as chairman. In his opening remarks he expressed pleasure at seeing so many present and hoped all would spend a pleasant and profitable time. The programme was as follows,—

Hymn and prayer.
Piano solo.—Miss Obyles.
Vocal solo.—Miss W. Anderson.
Club Swinging.—Mr. Burns.
INTERMISSION.
Vocal Solo.—Miss A. Carr.
Piano Solo.—Miss J. Byers.
Recitation.—Miss Eva Bartley.
Vocal Solo.—Mr. D. Campbell.

During intermission refreshments were served. The Men's Guild are indebted to the ladies of the church for their kind assistance.

An interesting and unique amusement was provided in the way of a guessing contest. There were 25 different articles placed in a box with a glass top on it. This box was passed around for all to have a look at and the one who named correctly the largest number of articles in it received a handsome prize. There were three who had the same number and a draw was made. Mr. Evans White proved to be the winner. The committee in charge consisting of Messrs. D. Campbell, Burns and R. Lang and three associate members, Misses Clifford, Hamilton and Barclay, deserve great credit for the successful manner in which the affair was carried out.

A very pleasant event was closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Must Not Tamper With the Rifles

Ottawa, May 30.—Today's militia orders state that a recent expert examination of the small arms of some city regiments show upwards of 25 per cent. of the arms to have been tampered with. Tampering with rifles is absolutely forbidden. The officer commanding will take steps to have an expert examination of all small arms in their commands, once a year. All arms found to have been tampered with will be at once ordered into stores for repairs.

TO RAISE DREDGE

The Toronto World says:—The Reid Wrecking Company, of Sarnia, are shortly to attempt to raise the dredge Sir. Wilfrid Laurier, which sank this side of Port Hope almost two years ago. It will likely be put into repair and sold to the Department of Canals to be used in conjunction with the scows. Salvage work will begin about the end of May.

Arthur McCollum Home From West

Attended Convention of Brotherhood of St. Andrew

Mr. Arthur McCollum arrived home last night on the midnight, after attending the 15th annual convention of the Dominion Brotherhood of St. Andrew, at Winnipeg. Mr. McCollum was away for about ten days and all the time he was in the western metropolis, he was kept on the jump. There were three sessions daily, and the first started at 6.30 a.m., with a celebration of Holy Communion. The delegates had only a few hours to look around the city. Nevertheless the trip was a thoroughly enjoyable one, and all the visitors appeared to be there for business. There was lots of work to do, as the convention, included delegates from Halifax to Vancouver, and some from the United States.

The idea of holding the convention in Winnipeg, was to give the western chapters the benefit of the experience of the eastern. The great problem, is what is the best way to get in touch with the thousands of immigrants coming into the country. The Brotherhood work has not been long in the west, but it is growing very rapidly and nearly every church has a chapter. In Winnipeg there are twelve good, active chapters, and they are all doing good work.

The convention was a very interesting one. About 238 delegates were present, including 75 clergy. The addresses were excellent and much good was accomplished. Mr. McCollum will report to the chapters here at a joint meeting in about a week, when he will give in detail what was done.

Crown Attorneys ; Railway Wrecks

Toronto News Refers to Partial Collapse of Bethune St. Bridge

The Toronto News says;

The bulk of the work in fastening responsibility for railway wrecks has to be done by the Crown Attorneys, the local representatives of the Crown. These men are appointed and paid to investigate and prosecute infractions of the statutes. No considerations should stand in the way of a fearless application of the law. If the circumstances attendant on each wreck are sifted by the local Crown Attorney and the guilty person or persons brought to trial and prosecuted vigorously, wrecks will not be so frequent. It rests with the Crown officers charged with the administration of the law and with our courts whether or not the blood shall cease to flow on the railway tracks.

A lot depends on the courage of the Attorney-General's department. A weak officer will be afraid of going after a prominent railway official; the investigation will be lifeless, and inept. A strong and courageous Attorney-General will see that each wreck is thoroughly investigated, and that responsibility be fixed, whether on "wiper" or General Manager. It will be necessary to pursue inquiries "higher up" in many cases. This will frighten a weak Crown Attorney, but not a strong one. And not until the companies learn that even a powerful railway official must bow to the same law as the most lowly employee, will we begin to have freedom from railway wrecks.

Here is a case in point. Section 219 of the Railway Act of 1903 provides "that no passenger train "shall have any baggage, freight, "merchandise or lumber car in the "rear of any passenger car in which "any passenger is carried." Subsection 2 of this section states that "every officer or employee of any "company who directs, or knowingly permits and freight, merchandise or lumber car to be so placed, "is guilty of an indictable offence."

On Thursday, May 16th, the partial collapse of a bridge occurred at Bethune street, in Peterborough, on the Lakefield branch of the Grand Trunk. Who was responsible for that bridge. Is Mr Wood endeavoring to fix the responsibility for the unsafe condition of that bridge, as the Criminal Code provides? Is Mr. Wood inquiring how and why the Grand Trunk violated the Railway Act by attaching coal cars to the rear of a passenger train and by ignoring Section 219?

It is the Crown Attorney's business to enforce the law. Here is one plain violation of it in attaching coal cars to the rear of a passenger train. And another violation, and a more dangerous one, is found in the neglect of the Bethune street bridge until it became so weak that it collapsed under a moving train. Who neglected it? Section 298 provides punishment for such culpable and dangerous negligence.

What is the Crown Attorney doing?

POLICYHOLDER: How can the companies pay us profits if you won't let them make profits? The Chairman of the Policyholders' Committee told you at Ottawa we did not want severe restrictions which would reduce our profits and do no good. Now we must all lose $20.00 a year because of your inexperience and bad judgment. And we will be lucky if we do not lose out insurances too, for you encourage companies to make bad investments by restricting them to a very narrow field. They may be tempted to buy bonds of small and weak concerns simply because you make them legal and make better bonds illegal! You cut our profits and lessen our safety at the same time.

Addition Will be Built To Havelock Public School

Peterborough Architect Will Prepare Plans—School System Will be Re-organized—Belmont Council Receives Grant—An Interesting Budget From the Railway Town.

Havelock, May 30th. — An important meeting of the school board was held in the public school on Wednesday night when a long discussion was held on the question of erecting an addition to the school, which on account of the large number of scholars, is absolutely necessary. They decided at last to build a two-storey addition to the school to be 38 by 53 feet, south of and adjoining the present building. The addition will be brick veneered with a stone foundation and Mr. Wm. Mathison was instructed by the board to go to Peterborough and get an architect to prepare plans for it, and at the next meeting of the town council, the matter will be laid before that body, and they will be asked to raise the necessary funds by bylaw.

The present school system will be reorganized for next term by the board and with that end in view, they will advertise for a complete staff. The board have notified the present lady teachers of their intentions and have asked them to apply for their positions next term.

The resignation of the principal, Mr. Geo. Priddle was accepted by the board.

It is the intention of the board to place a principal in charge next term, who will be qualified to teach grade A., Continuation Class work, which will mean that teachers will not have to leave Havelock in order to obtain second-class certificates.

This action is not approved of by many who think that a teacher cannot teach high school work to a Continuation class and also take charge of the entrance class. Either the entrance class will be sadly neglected, or an additional teacher will have to be hired to take charge of it.

Others contend that if this addition is made to the school and additional teachers hired besides the taxes will become unbearable. Last year the taxes were 25 mills on the dollar over half of which was devoted towards school purposes.

Another meeting of the board will be held on Friday night.

At the County Teachers' Convention at Norwood last week, Miss A. Maude Kelly of the primary department of the public school, gave a most successful demonstration in phonics, using for her pupils six little tots from her department in the school. Miss Kelly's lesson in this important subject was highly appreciated and the high state of excellence of her class warmly commended.

Mr. Geo. Priddle, principal of this school, gave a very interesting and lengthy lecture on "Uniform Promotions," outlining and illustrating the advantages of such examinations.

BASEBALL MATCH.

A very interesting baseball match took place at the local park on Wednesday evening, when the local school nine played a nine of the town boys. The game was hotly contested, resulting in a score of 13—9 in favor of the school team. The teams were as follows,—

Town—A. Armstrong, p.; W. Rose, c.; N. Campbell, 1b.; M. Watson, 2b; H. Patterson, 3b.; R. Barlow, s.s.; H. Buchanan, c.f.; R. Curry, r. f.; T. Falkner, l.f.

School—R. Webb, p.; G. Barlow, c.; R. Joyce, 1b; L. Bennett, 2b; P. O'Brien, 3b; Jas. Bohn, ss.; C. McNicholl, cf.; H. Carmichael, rf.; C. Bohn, lf.

DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION.

A largely attended meeting was held in the council chamber on Monday night to arrange for a demonstration on the first of July, and judging from the enthusiasm displayed by those present, July 1st, will be one of the greatest Havelock has seen in many a year. The chairman of the celebration is Reeve Thompson, the treasurer, Mr. W. J. Boyd, and the secretary, Mr. T. P. Lancaster. Committees of all kinds were appointed and everyone so honored is expected to get right out and hustle from now till July 1st.

Rev. A. E. Camp, B. A., of town, accepted the call to St. Paul's church, Steelton, Sault Ste. Marie, at a meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery at Hastings on Tuesday.

Elders James Thompson, R. J. Graham, and P. Buchanan, represented the Havelock congregation, and offered no objection to the call, although extremely sorry to see Mr. Camp leave town, where he has formed many friends, and is highly esteemed by all classes and creeds.

Mr. Camp intends leaving to take charge of his new parish on June 23rd and on June 30th, acting moderator Rev. G. A. McLennan of Norwood, will declare the pulpit vacant.

Mr. Smithson of Norwood, will preside at the high school entrance examinations here in June, while Mr. Priddle will preside at Keene.

The funeral of little Mabel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Quackenbush, who passed away, on Thursday last, took place from the family residence, Belmont, on Saturday forenoon to the Maple Grove Cemetery.

A check for $350 has been received by the Belmont Council, being the amount of the Government grant in aid of the heavy expense incurred by the epidemic of smallpox last year.

AN ACCIDENT.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. E. Middleton of town, narrowly escaped death on Friday of last week, May 24th. Mrs. Middleton had mixed up a cup of Gillet's lye and while absent the child got hold of the cup and drank a quantity of the liquid. The little one's mouth and stomach were badly burned and the life of the child was saved only by the prompt use of a stomach pump.

The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, Ottawa street, which died from an attack of measles and pneumonia on Wednesday of last week took place on Friday forenoon of last week, to the R. C. cemetery in Norwood. The bereaved parents have the deep sympathy of all.

"The Royal Slave," which was billed for Havelock on the 31st, have broken their engagement and will appear in Peterborough on that date instead. This is a good company and an effort will be made to secure the company on another date.

One of J. H. Richard's horse and rigs was stolen from the hotel sheds at Norwood on the night of May 24, but the outfit was, however, found in this neighborhood next day, having likely been taken possession of by some person who was likely "all in."

The principal speakers at the convention of the Belmont district of the Sunday School Association of the County of Peterborough, on Friday, will be Rev. W. P. Harrison of Keene, who in the afternoon, speaks on "The teacher's qualifications and preparation," and in the evening on "Why we have the Sunday school," and Mr. Richard Lees M. A., general secretary, of Peterborough, whose address in the afternoon will be "The child from one to twenty-one," and in the evening "The Sunday school and the Home."

Miss B. Armstrong spent Sunday with relatives in Hastings.

Miss Mary McNicholl of Campbellford, was the guest of her cousin, Miss Maye McNicholl, for a few days this week.

Miss Georgina Falkner has been engaged as bookkeeper by A. E. Barrett & Co.

Messrs. Wm. and H. T. Andrews left on Tuesday for Winnipeg, Man., where they intend going into the dry goods business.

Mrs. D. Hogg, and daughter, Ethel, spent a few days with friends in Peterborough this week.

Miss B. Rose has returned from visiting friends in Toronto.

Mrs. E. A. Payeq is the guest of Miss Eva Lancaster for a few days.

Mrs. P. McNicholl and Mrs. McDermott spent Tuesday, with friends in Marmora.

Miss F. Boswell of Nicholls hospital Peterborough, spent Monday, the guest of Mrs. H. Falkner.

Messrs. H. McWilliams and L. Shannon of Marmora, spent Sunday with friends in town.

Mrs. B. Conkrite of Niagara Falls is visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. Jas. Conkrite.

Mr. T. Hawthorne of Peterborough, spent Sunday the guest of Mr. Cecil Starke.

"The Hottest Coon in Dixie," which appeared in the Grand opera house, Peterborough, on May 24th, will hold the board here on June 7th. The band of "The Hottest Coon in Dixie," will give a free concert on the square opposite St. John's church, at noon on the above date.

Miss Warren of Proneveau, is visiting friends in Campbellford.

How Zam-Buk Saved A Girl's Arm

The great healing and antiseptic power of Zam Buk, the favorite household balm and salve, is well illustrated by the following occurrence. Miss Saddington, of Huntsville, Ont., is the subject, and she says,—"I had a scalded arm which 'went the wrong way,' and began to swell very badly. The pain from it was terrible and when I went to the doctor, he said it was blood poison. For ten months I was very bad with it. I tried all sorts of remedies but could not get ease, to say nothing of cure.

"One day in the house of a friend Zam-Buk was recommended to me. On my friend's recommendation I applied some Zam-Buk that same night. To my delight when I awakened next morning my arm was much better. I therefore continued with the treatment regularly. In three weeks the arm was quite well and I have never felt any trace of pain from it since. It is now some months since I was cured, so that it is evident that the cure is permanent.

"Since that time my friend's husband cut his arm. This wound also turned to blood poison. Zam-Buk was applied and in his case also completely cured."

Zam-Buk is just as effective when used for cuts, burns, sores, skin eruptions, pimples, boils, bad leg, varicose, ulcers, eczema, etc. Just put it on to that cut or scratch, or blister, or sore, and note how quickly it takes out the soreness and heals! All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50. There is nothing just as good.

WEDDING BELLS

HUTCHINSON—WYLIE

On Wednesday morning, May 15, at seven o'clock, in the Methodist church Oxbow, Sask., Miss Edna M. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G Hutchinson, was united in marriage to Mr. H. C. Wylie, of the firm of Holmes & Wylie, hardware merchants. After the marriage ceremony had been performed by Rev. A. J. Tufts, in the presence of a few witnesses, the bride and groom left on the 8.30 o'clock train for a short trip to points in Manitoba.

Gave Report of Annual Meeting

Mrs. Butcher Addressed St. Luke's Church Woman's Auxiliary

The monthly business meeting which was also the last meeting for the season of the W. A. of St. Luke's church was held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. T. Gaskins, the president, was in the chair. After the devotional exercises, conducted by the president, the usual routine of business was attended to. Mrs. John Butcher gave a very interesting and comprehensive report of the annual meeting, recently held at Toronto, and to which, she with others, has been a delegate. Mrs. Phillips, who is one of the most faithful members of the W.A., and also its vice-president gave a most carefully prepared review of the history of St. Luke's Branch of the W.A. since its inception. Mrs. Gaskins read a carefully prepared paper on the "Spiritual helps derived from the annual meeting." Her account of the motives prompting missionary activity was most impressive and her earnestness and deep spirituality in her work as president will give much enthusiasm to the members.

It was decided that the W.A. will hold its annual picnic at Jackson Park, on Thursday, June 6.

After the meeting the members were entertained to tea, by Rev. and Mrs. Langfeldt. The annual corporate communion of the W. A. will be held on Sunday, June 9, at the morning service.

Presentation at Court Chemong

Fifteen Beautiful Officers Sashes Donated by the High Court

The regular monthly meeting of Court Chemong, No. 530, I. O. F., was held last night in the S.O.E. hall. There was a very large attendance. In addition to the regular business, there were nine candidates initiated being secured by Bro. A. Bradshaw, the local organizer.

A special feature of the evening's proceedings was the presentation of fifteen beautiful officers' sashes to the Court by Bro. G. N. Brown, H.C.R., on behalf of the High Court of Eastern Ontario, and also a splendid picture of the I. O. F. Orphans' Home, Deseronto, for the Court Room, from Companion Mrs. G. N. Brown. The thanks of the Court were tendered to the High Court to Companion Brown and Bro. Brown for the magnificent gifts.

The Court made the necessary arrangements for their church service to be held on Sunday evening, June 16th, when the members will assemble in the S. O. E. hall on Hunter street at 6.45 p.m. and proceed to the George Street Methodist Church, when Rev. Dr. Crothers will deliver the Forestric sermon.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Splendid Concert Held Last Night

Enjoyable Programme Rendered at S. A. Barracks

The concert last evening at the Salvation Army barracks for the benefit of a sick comrade was a decided success. There was a large number present and an excellent programme was rendered. A good sum was realized and will greatly help the one in need. The one drawback to the meeting last night was that there were no lights. This put those in charge to great inconvenience. Adjutant Wiggins occupied the chair in an acceptable manner.

The programme was as follows:

Vocal Solo.—Bandsman Payton.
Piano Solo.—Miss Ethel Card.
Instrumental Quartette, band accompaniment.—Nearer to the Lord.

Decoration Day on June 20th

Oddfellows Will Beautify Graves of Departed Brethren

Thursday, June 20th will be Oddfellows' Decoration Day in Peterborough and as usual there will be a general half holiday in the city. Arrangements for the decorating of the graves of departed Oddfellows are now being made and it is expected that the event this year will be one of the most interesting for some time. The triple-linked brethren will gather at Central Park and will march to the cemetery, where bouquets of flowers will be laid upon the last resting place of those who have gone before.

A large force of men are at work at the cemetery and in a few weeks it will be prettier than ever before. No expense is being spared to put the different plots, walks, etc. in splendid condition and, although the cold weather has been somewhat of a hindrance, good progress is being made in the work of beautifying the city of the dead.

NAMES WORTH MILLIONS

Trade Marks Which Have Become Invaluable Through Merit.

All cameras are not "Kodaks."

All piano-players are not "Pianolas."

All ready-to-finish clothes are not "Semi-ready."

These three well-known trade mark names have taken a permanent place in the English language, though they did not exist fifteen years ago. They have been made to mean so much that the public applies the name generally to anything that resembles them.

Merchants and manufacturers who have imposed on the general acceptance of a name have suffered by their infringement of the Trade Mark Act.

By enthusiastic and intelligent promotion, the owners of a trade mark such as "Semi-ready" have succeeded in revolutionising an industry, and have incidentally created an asset valued in the millions. As a great American millionaire observed, "I had rather own a well-known trade mark than a million-dollar plant."

MANY STORMS DURING JUNE

Rather Gloomy Forecast of Prof. Irl Hicks for the Bridal Month

A regular storm period extends from the 2nd to the 7th of June, says Irl Hicks in his forecasts for the coming month. It is central on the 4th, with the moon on the celestial equator on the 5th. The crisis of this period will fall on and next to that date. It will be preceded by marked rise of temperature with rapid and decided fall of the barometer, and the culmination will come in sudden and severe thunderstorms, cloudbursts, hail, wind, and possible tornadoes.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 9th, 10th, and 11th. The new moon is in the 10th, in the midst of the magnetic crisis that falls annually on and about June 11th. This period will bring excessive warmth, very low barometer, abnormal humidity, and violent thunder and wind storms. Earthquakes will be reported in many quarters of the globe, within three days of moon on the 10th. June thunder clouds will break in hail storms and cloudbursts in many localities during this period. Rising barometer, west winds and change to much colder will spread eastwardly over the country from the 11th to 14th.

The third regular storm period will prove one of the most decided times of turmoil in June. It is central on the fifteenth and will come culminating stages during Sunday, the 16th to Tuesday, the 18th.

A reactionary storm period falls centrally on the 20th, 21st, and 22nd. The June solstice and the Mercury disturbances are central together on the 21st. The moon passes over the celestial equator working southward on the 20th. On and touching that day look for sudden and decided rise of temperature, with corresponding fall of the barometer — beginning, of course, in the western sections—followed quickly by phenomenal lightning and thunder, with violent wind in many localities. Solstice cloud bursts and local floods may be put down as certainties for this storm period. The Jupiter, Saturn and Mars periods all being in full strength during this solstice month, water spouts, cloud bursts, and destructive local downpours of rain in widely separated sections, will hardly prevent a hurtful scarcity of diffused and general rains over intervening sections of our own and other continents.

The fifth regular storm period has its centre on the 27th, reaching from the 25th to the 29th. The moon is full and in perigee on the 25th and at extreme south declination on the 26th. Low barometer and other storm conditions will appear at the very beginning of the period and solstice storms of rain, wind and thunder will continue daily through the greater part of the same, especially over central to eastern parts of the country. Another marked seismic period will fall from about the 24th to the 27th, most notably on the 25th and 26th. Heavy storms about the 25th to 28th will bring no danger and alarm to you and yours—if you are ready for them. The probabilities are that the heaviest and most general rains in June will fall during the closing period of the month.

COST OF THE COMMISSION

An Ottawa correspondent points out that although the Insurance commission report seems to be more or less of a jumble, some individuals have done very well out of the enquiry.

Parliament has voted already $105,000 to pay the bills. Probably there will be other votes next year. There was a vote of $20,000, then one of $10,000, then one of $75,000. The way some of the money went has been explained. Other explanations will perhaps be made next year.

Mr. Shepley, counsel for the Government, was paid $100 a day and moving expenses during the time he was employed. He also received a counsel fee which was not fixed until after he had finished the job. Down to April 10th Mr. Shepley had received $8,000. It may be remarked here that his firm drew $8,266 in the previous year in connection with other Government business. This included a round sum of $7,500 for professional services in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific contract. Also it may be said that he is now acting as counsel for the Government in the Bell Telephone enquiry. There is a Minister of Justice, a Solicitor-General, a Deputy Minister of Justice, and two or three legal advisers to the Department of Railways, but they cannot get along without Mr. Shepley, even although he comes high.

Mr Tilley was Mr. Shepley's assistant. He got $50 a day and expenses, and had drawn $4,000 when last heard from.

Mr. Dawson, principal actuary, was allowed $50 a day and expenses, and had two assistants at $20 a day and expenses. Altogether these actuaries received $7,743.80.

Then we have the commissioners themselves. They were allowed $30 per day in addition to their moving expenses. This pay seems to have gone on continuously. Payments on account down to April last were $2,500 to Commissioner McTavish, $2,000 to Commissioner Langmuir, and $2,000 to Commissioner Kent. Chairman McTavish is a County Court Judge, and has been a commissioner on more than one previous occasion.

It was he who reported with reference to West Elgin that, although there had been irregularities, there had been nothing by which the integrity of the poll was violated or the rule of the electorate subverted."

The signed confession of the Grit candidate as witnessed by Mr. Aylesworth, now Minister of Justice, was therefore probably a joke.

THE CROP REPORTS

The report on the crop situation in this province just issued by the Department of Agriculture is not as satisfactory as could be desired. Fall wheat suffered from the variable weather of the spring, and much has had to be ploughed up. The result will be a shortness in an important crop. What effected fall wheat also operated to injure clover, and many fields will have to be sacrificed, reducing the supply of fodder at a time when there is special need of it, as farmers seem to have run somewhat short. On the other hand, spring sowing seems to have been carried on under advantageous circumstances, as regards the soil, though the cold weather has made growth slow, and it is not yet sure what the "catch" will generally be. While there is room for much improvement all round it is also to be remembered that there is also the possibility of it. The Canadian summer when conditions are normal, with its warmth and long hours of sunshine, has no superior as a crop producer, and there is yet plenty of time for it to do its work. It is trusted too, that the possibility will be realized, for very much depends on it. Recent events in the world's market have served to remind people that the farms are the places of origin of our material prosperity.

USER PAYS THE COST

Some misunderstanding appears to have arisen in connection with the question as to who will bear the expense in connection with the proposed system for the collection and removal of garbage. The cost will be borne by the householders themselves and not by the landlord, as supposed by some who may be inclined to oppose the measure. The person who is benefitted should certainly bear the outlay the same as a tenant now has to pay for the removal of ashes—not the landlord. The cost of the system to each resident will be only 15 cents a month in the central portion of the city and ten cents in the outlying district and there are very few tenants who regard health and cleanliness as prime necessities of the comfort of life, who will not willingly shoulder the small tax.

Of course, a few may object, but, as has been pointed out, the bylaw is for the benefit and general good of each and all and no trifling obstacles or sectional bickering will be allowed to interfere with its adoption.

A good scavenging system is almost as important and urgent as good good drainage, and street watering, and, if Peterborough is to retain its good name, for being a clean, attractive and sanitary residential city it is imperative that the bylaw should be passed and the system of garbage collection instituted, at the earliest possible date.

PEN POINTS.

The garbage bylaw is a progressive measure. Help it along.

Summer weather appears to be here at last. Everything comes to him who waits and patience never ceases to be a virtue when applied to meteorological conditions.

The medical men of St. Catharines have resolved to do no lodge practice after their present contracts have expired. They will probably adhere to the resolution in about as firm a manner as the physicians of Peterborough, Kingston and other places did, for history records that once upon a time the Medical Associations of these cities took a stand similar to the one of the St. Catharines practitioners.

The Canadian Gazette contains a proclamation stating that the act to provide for inspection of canned food products, meats and fish, passed at the last session of parliament, will come into force on August 1st next. Regulations in respect to the duties of inspectors, methods of inspection, etc., are now being drafted. The Government will appoint about 45 inspectors, who will be under Dr. Rutherford as inspector general. The salaries of the inspectors will be $1,200 per year.

According to the terms of the garbage bylaw householders in the central portion of the city will pay 15 cents a month for the weekly removal of all refuse and garbage, while the collection in the outlying districts will be once a fortnight, and the charge will be only ten cents per month. Outlying districts shall include the following portions of the city;—All east of Concession street; all north of Smith street and east of the river; all south of Romaine street, all north of Smith street and north and west of the Lakefield branch of the Grand Trunk Railway. The charges are reasonable and the city surely needs a proper scavenging service. The householder — the one who benefits directly by the system—will pay the cost, which cannot be regarded as excessive, in view of the benefits and advantages to be derived.

All cities are now devoting considerable attention to the matter of civic improvement and attractiveness. The following from a Toronto paper gives an idea of the comprehensive plan which the Queen City has in view; "The Guild of Civic Arts has received the reports of the various committees of the guild dealing with the questions of the decoration of the City Hall, the decoration of the Parliament buildings, and the comprehensive plan for the future development of Toronto, and they were read and accepted by the guild. The plan of improvement is now well on its way towards completion. Sir Aston Webb, of London, England, has been retained as supervising expert and his representative is now in Toronto working on the details of the plan. It is the intention of the guild to hold a series of lunches within the next few weeks, to which all interested citizens are invited, when the plan will be on exhibition, and discussions will take place on the various important questions involved.

Emmerson Denies Charge Made by Gleaner Against Him

Declares He Was Never Ejected From Montreal Hotel.

Explains Incidents That Gave Rise to Libel Suit—Was Protecting Lady Friends Who Had Been Insulted—Kindly Act to Constituents—Meeting Was Accidental—Hotel Porter Gives Evidence.

Fredericton, N. B., May 31.—Yesterday was redolent with surprises and rich in dramatic incidents in the Emmerson charges of criminal libel against the editor of The Gleaner.

Just now the issue narrows to a point of veracity between Mr. Emmerson and Harry Deane, once nightwatchman at the St. Lawrence Hall.

The facts are so nearly agreed upon that judgment in the end must depend only upon the inference to be drawn.

Indeed, the case, if submitted to a jury, will be largely decided upon Mr. Emmerson's testimony.

Mr. Emmerson's Star.

Mr. Emmerson, examined by Mr. White, stated: On Sunday, June 10, 1906, he left Ottawa for Montreal, arriving about 7.30 p m. He was assigned a room at the St. Lawrence Hall. He glanced over the hotel register and found the names of Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Beauthner. He went to their room and, at his suggestion, the party went for refreshments to the Oxford Cafe. They returned to the hotel about 10.30 and, after a brief conversation at the door of the ladies' room, he went to his own apartment. He was awakened by a knock on the door and found the two ladies, Mrs. Beauthner somewhat hysterical. They complained that a porter had come to their room and insulted them, and Mrs. Beauthner insisted upon leaving the hotel. Mr. Emmerson asked them to wait, and stepped into the bathroom to complete his toilet. Meanwhile another porter appeared and made some apology, and both Mr. Emmerson and Mrs. Allen urged Mrs. Beauthner to quiet down.

He afterwards escorted them to another hotel.

Mr. Emmerson declared that both of the ladies were of irreproachable character, and Mrs. Allen moved in the best society of Moncton, and had been known by him since her childhood. The other he knew slightly, but esteemed her of blameless life.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hazen, Mr. Emmerson denied that he came to Montreal by appointment with them on the following Sunday, and also that the women were with him in his room, and that the lights were turned off. Possibly they were in his room while he was in the bathroom.

He denied that the porter came to the room and ordered the three of them to make less noise.

He did not ask what the porter had said to the ladies, or in what way they were insulted.

He had given the money to Mrs. Beauthner to pay his bill and to hire a carriage, because she was fully dressed for the street and he was not.

He denied that either lady was in his room after midnight, clad in a kimona.

He denied all improper conduct.

The next morning he had returned to Ottawa.

Upon re-examination, Mr. Emmerson recalled that Mrs. Allen's father had been his father-in-law's private secretary. He declared that Mrs. Allen was of untainted character.

Plea of Defence.

With the conclusion of Mr. Emmerson's testimony, the crown rested. Mr. Crockett was then formally arraigned, and his counsel stated that he had admitted writing the article, that he claimed that it was true, and that the matter contained therein was true, and that long before the publication by The Gleaner, it had become a matter of public discussion among the people, by the public press and in Parliament.

Porter's Testimony.

Harry Deane, night porter, testified that about 12 o'clock he saw two ladies going towards Emmerson's room. They were in dressing gowns. They had left the door of room 9 open, and he closed it. At 1.30 he heard loud talk and loud laughter in Emmerson's room. The voices indicated that two ladies and a gentleman were in the party. Witness tapped on the floor. After two or three minutes the door was opened. A tall woman came to the door. The room was dark, although there may have been a light in the bath. He told her and the party generally that they must keep quiet. She said, "All right," and shut the door.

He then reported the occurrence to Lloyd, the night clerk, and, acting under Lloyd's direction, returned to room 137. Mrs. Beauthner opened the door. He said to the party inside, "You will have to make less noise or get out of the hotel." Mr. Emmerson and the two ladies were then in room 137. The room was now lighted up.

Question: Did you see the bed? Answer: Yes.

Question: Had it been occupied? Answer: Yes.

A few moments later he saw the three leaving.

On cross-examination, Mr. Pugsley recalled Mr. Emmerson's statement that he was asleep when the ladies came to his room, and witness admitted that this might explain the condition of the bed.

Labor Conditions in Peterboro'; All the Industries Are Busy

Unskilled Labor Was Not in Great Demand During April Owing to Cold Weather—High Price of Building Materials—Demand for Working Men's Houses.

Ald. W. J. Johnston, local correspondent for The Labor Gazette, sends the following report from Peterborough and vicinity for the month of April;—

GENERAL CONDITION OF THE LABOR MARKET.

Employment during April was active, but would have been more so if the weather had not impeded building operations. The majority of mechanics were employed, but unskilled labor was not in great demand. Building operations have now started and all classes will be well employed. A large amount of work has been carried on at several points on the Trent waterway, a large number of workmen being engaged under representatives of the Department of Railways and Canals. All classes of workmen employed in factories were active. Transportation and shipments have been heavy, especially on export trade. Wholesale and retail trade was very active.

Nineteen harness makers, employed by Ackerman & Son's, went on strike. They asked for an increase of $1.18 per week in wages and a reduction of one hour per week. Outside of this, the labor market was free from unrest. The carpenters' demand for an increase to 27 1-2 cents per hour was granted. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company's trackmen received notice of an advance in wages commencing May 1st.

The Peterborough Lumber Company has begun work in its mills, employing 75 men, and in a short time will increase this number to 100. The company expects to do a large season's work.

The Peterborough Cereal mill was running 24 hours per day.

The contract for the Collegiate Institute building has been let and the work of erection commenced. The new King Edward school is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupation. The contract for the North Ward school addition has also been let and work started.

The Peterborough Canoe Company was very busy, with so many orders ahead that its output is sufficient to meet the demand.

The City Council has formulated its plans for the season's work. There are to be two gangs of men on granolithic sidewalks, and one on street crossings. Two gangs will also be employed on sewers and two more on creek diversions. All of this work will be done by day labor, experience having proved this method to be the cheapest and most satisfactory. The river dredging work will soon start again. The city has made arrangements to secure the dredgings to fill in along the water front.

The work on the large transformer building at the Canadian General Electric Company's Works is being rapidly pushed forward. The contract for the construction of the new Canadian Pacific Railway from Peterborough to Victoria Harbor has been let. The total cost will be about $10,000 per mile. It is understood that work will commence very soon.

The different local industries were all well employed, and present indications point to a good summer.

The high price of building material has somewhat affected the building trade, as a large number of persons who anticipated building have postponed doing so for this year. The chief demand is for a class of dwelling houses that can be rented for $9 or $10 per month, but in consequence of rising prices it is almost impossible to build a house of sufficient size that can be rented for the above amounts.

CONDITION OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES.

Agriculture—Sugar making has given employment to a large number of farmers. Large quantities of maple syrup have been marketed, bringing $1.40 per gallon, being an increase of 15 cents over last year's price. Preparations were being made at the beginning of the month for spring work among the farmers, but owing to the cold weather no seeding was done. Considerable damage has been done to fall wheat and clover by frost. Farm laborers were very scarce.

Fishing—Active conditions prevailed.

Lumbering—Conditions were very busy.

Manufacturing—Busy conditions prevailed in all lines.

Mining—Dullness prevailed.

Railroad Construction and Employment—Ordinary section work, such as keeping the railroad in order, was active.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES.

Building.—Bricklayers, lathers and plasterers, gas and steamfitters were active; masons, plumbers and stonecutters busy; painters and paper hangers very busy, and builders' laborers dull.

Metal, Engineering and Shipbuilding.—Busy conditions prevailed.

Woodworking and Furnishing.—Woodworkers, and upholsterers, varnishers, and polishers, carriage and waggon makers were busy. Car builders or repair work were active. Pattern makers were busy and coopers dull.

Printing—All branches were very active.

Clothing—Journeymen tailors have been exceptionally active, and garment workers active. Hat makers and boot and shoe makers were very busy.

Food and Tobacco Preparation.—Bakers and confectioners, butchers and meat cutters were busy, and ice handlers and cigar makers active.

Leather—These trades were very busy.

Miscellaneous—Barbers, broommakers, clerks and stenographers were busy; delivery employees, hotel, restaurant, theatre and laundry employees were busy, and furriers active.

Transport.—Railwaymen in all branches were well employed. Steamboat employees were getting ready for the season's work. Some small boats have commenced operations hauling freight, etc. Street railwaymen, teamsters and expressmen were active, and cabmen were busy.

Unskilled Labour—Conditions were active.

DISTRICT NOTES.

Cheese factories were preparing for operations. Markets have been well attended and products of all kinds brought good prices. The general stores did a good business throughout April. Large numbers of men are going to the West.

Lakefield.—Two new industries have started, viz., a planing mill and a cheese box factory. The Cavendish Lumber Company will run its mill 24 hours per day all summer; this will mean the employment of double the number of men.

Lindsay.—The town has secured a new industry, a branch of the Lower Oiled Clothing Company, of Toronto. The necessary machinery has been installed, and 20 young women will be employed at from $4 to $6 per week. The Madison, Williams Foundry Company has shipped another carload of machinery to the west. It has 32 men busily employed and could employ more. The Lindsay sawmills have started, employing 225 men in the mills and on the drives.

Bridgenorth—Kelly's mills at this place have begun work.

Navigation Business Booming; Many New Boats About Ready

The Launch "Bobs" Will be Used as a Supply Boat for Stony Lake This Summer—Milburn's Yacht to be Shipped Next Week—W. J. Matson Getting a New Boat.

The big steam launch "Bobs," of Fort Royal, Stony Lake, was in the city today and left this afternoon for the north end of the lake, with a cargo of supplies for Mr. R. H. Jackson, who is in his cottage at Eels Creek. The "Bobs" was built last year by the Peterborough Canoe Co. for Mr. A. L. Dunsford, of Fort Royal. For years Mr. Dunsford conducted boarding houses at the Fort, but this year he is going into the supply business. He will handle all kinds of fresh meat, vegetables, poultry, etc., and will make daily trips all over Stony Lake. The "Bobs" will be used for the purpose and will call at every cottage. This is the first trip the boat has made, but starting June 15th, or sooner, if there is any demand, the trips will be made daily. This is a new scheme at Stony Lake, and it should prove a most profitable undertaking. The cottagers will find it a great convenience, and no doubt will appreciate it.

LAUNCH FOR CHEMONG.

The handsome new gasoline launch for Mr. Bull, president of the Chemong Park Association, is nearly completed, and will in a few days be ready to launch. It is being made by the Peterborough Canoe Company and will be fitted with a 6 horse-power engine, made by Mr. Wilson, of this city. The boat is 23 feet long by 5 feet wide, and is fitted with canopy top and curtains. It will be one of the fastest crafts on the lake, and will be a valuable addition to the fleet at the park.

MILBURN'S BOAT.

The finishing touches are being put on the very handsome launch made by Mr. J. B. Odette, of the Peterborough Canoe Co. for Mr. T. Milburn, of Toronto. This craft is without exception, the finest ever turned out by the company, and it is a credit in every respect to its makers. It is a 30 foot day cruiser, and is fitted with all modern conveniences, including a trunk cabin, back to the engine room, a closet, an ice box, cupboard, etc. It will be lighted throughout with electric light, the current for which is generated by the motor on the boat. Power is furnished by a 15 h.p. 4 cylinder, jump spark, reversing clutch Buffalo motor. The motor is being installed now, and it is expected that the boat will be loaded on the cars early next week. It will go direct to the Muskoka wharf, where it will be launched on or about the 10th of June, and will be used by Mr. Milburn and family this summer around the Muskoka lakes. It will have a carrying capacity of 20 persons, and will make 10 miles an hour in a gale.

W. J. MATSON'S BOAT.

Mr. W. J. Matson, wife and family, of Falls Creek, Pa., arrived in the city on Thursday, and are registered at the Snowden House. The party intend spending the summer up the lakes, and as they have not yet selected a cottage and have not been here before, came early so as to have an opportunity of looking around. Mr. Matson has ordered a new gasoline launch from the Peterborough Canoe Co., and it is now being finished up. The engine is a 6 horse-power capacity, and was made by Mr. Wilson. The boat is 26 feet long by 6 feet wide, and is fitted up in good shape. It will be launched about Monday or Tuesday, when Mr. and Mrs. Matson and family will start for the lakes. At present they have an idea of locating near Buckhorn.

POWER DORY.

Mr Barr, of New Ontario, has placed an order with the Peterborough Canoe Co. for a power dory, and the company is turning it out with all possible speed. This is the first time a boat of this kind has been made here. It will be fitted with a 4 horse-power gasoline engine, with sails and a centre board. Its construction will be watched with interest by local launch men.

Ontario Bank Got Judgment Against McDonald of Hanmer

Case of Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co. vs. C. B. and Jane McAllister Was Heard and Judgment Reserved—Non-Jury Sittings Are Over.

The non-jury sittings of the High Court of Justice are over and the cases were all disposed of except that of the Canadian Cordage Co. vs. C. K. Core, which was referred to the county judge.

ONTARIO BANK VS McDONALD

In this case the defendant is a hotel-keeper, residing in the village of Hanmer, Nipissing District, and it is alleged that he was indebted to Alexander Elliott, of Peterborough, to the extent of $308.08 for liquors, purchased from Mr. Elliott. On Feb. 13th 1907, Alex. Elliott assigned to the plaintiffs the sum of $305.08, and the plaintiffs claim this amount from the defendants.

The defendant claims that any indebtedness to Alex. Elliott was settled by the giving of notes, one of which for $113.83 was paid in March 1907, the second will be paid as soon as presented for payment, and the third will be paid, as soon as it matures. The defendant asks that the action be dismissed with costs. Hall & Hayes, solicitors for plaintiff, Clarry & Buchanan, Sudbury, for the defendant.

Judgment was given in favor of the plaintiff for $305. and costs.

The case of the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co., vs. C. B. and Jane McAllister, was the last case heard.

The plaintiffs claim that in September, 1902 an indenture of lease was executed with the defendants in which the power company leased the Otonabee mills in Ashburnham, to the defendants for a term of ten years from Jan. 1st, 9013, at the rent of $3,000 per annum, payable quarterly in advance. It is further claimed that in December, 1906, the defendants notified the plaintiffs as follows, "We have already sent you a cheque for $750 rent due to date for the Otonabee mills, and now hand you the keys of the buildings and give up the possession of the premises as arranged." The plaintiffs refused to accept the keys, claiming that they knew of no arrangement as referred to above. They ask for $750 rent due the first day of January, 1907, and interest until judgment.

The defendants deny the allegations of the plaintiffs in toto. The Ontario Bank is a third party in the case. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr, solicitors for the plaintiffs, and O'Connell & Gordon for the defendants.

Judgment was reserved after hearing the evidence and court adjourned yesterday afternoon.

"Delicatessen" on George St. South Will be Closed

It is learned on good authority that Mr. M. W. Porter has decided to close his "Delicatessen" on George street, near Charlotte, and will devote his attention to his main store at 410 George street. It is said that Mr. Ed. Huff, the tailor, will occupy the premises which Mr. Porter is vacating on George street south.

Free Examination of Pupils' Teeth

In view of the fact that medical inspection for the schools of Peterborough, was recently discussed, the following article from the Ottawa Citizen will be of interest.—

"The dentists of Ottawa promise to heartily co-operate in the plan for free examination and treatment of school children's teeth.

"As outlined in The Citizen several days ago, Mr. J. W. Woods has undertaken to secure the chair and equipment provided the dentists would give their time. Dr. Oliver G. Martin of Robertson and Martin was one of the first to endorse the scheme and to promise assistance. Not only did he promise to give his own share of time, but he elicited the sympathy of others. There have been no meetings of the dental society since the matter was broached and Dr. Martin has been very busy but he has seen several other dentists. This morning he stated that all he had seen were heartily in accord with the movement. As soon as the chair is ready, the dentists can be counted on to do their share.

Dr. W. H. Graham to a Citizen representative today, expressed himself as very much in favor of the plan. He would willingly give a half day a month, and was sure his brother, who is going to be a partner with him will do the same. Dr. Graham spoke in a very strong manner of the importance of the matter. It was lamentable, he said, the way young children suffer pain and also lose most important teeth through neglect. Many children were allowed to neglect their teeth through ignorance and through the thoughtlessness of their parents till the molars were decayed beyond saving. If there was a proper examination of the teeth of school children this would not be. In cases where parents could pay and would rather do so, the children could simply be advised to have the teeth attended to by their regular dentist. In cases where children could not afford to have the work done in the regular way, their teeth would be treated by the dentists in the dental room, free of charge. Of course there would not be any elaborate work done, but the teeth would be treated in a way to prevent decay, and the children would be given valuable advice on the care of the teeth.

"Now that the dental part of the examination of children seems assurred and the public are becoming seized with the importance of the move, there promises to be a lively agitation started for a systematic medical inspection as regards eye trouble, throat and other affections that are prevalent among children and which are too often allowed to become chronic as well as being a serious handicap to the progress of the pupils' studies."

Stagnant Water in Lakefield

The following letters appears in this week's Lakefield News,—

Dear Sir,—Considerable indignation was expressed in your paper recently on account of the Peterborough Board of Health, sending their inspector up here to look after our sanitary arrangements and the writer seemed very savage and stated that he thought the Lakefield Board of Health were quite capable of looking after their own district. Mr. Editor, I do not know who the gentlemen are, that compose the Lakefield Board of Health, but one thing, I know is, that as long as they allow that dirty smelling stagnant water to stand summer after summer, under the sidewalk, opposite the rink, it will always be in my opinion that they are not capable of looking after our sanitary arrangements. If they did their duty they would at once insist upon the Council opening a drain so as to carry off the stagnant water, even if they have to overcome the opposition of the owner of the adjoining property, the said opposition in my opinion being pure cussedness.

Yours, etc.

EXAGGERATED REPORT

It was reported in the city yesterday that Mr. "Mike" Belleghem, the well known ball player, had lost an arm in Kelly's mill at Bridgenorth. The report is greatly exaggerated. Belleghem had his hand slightly cut but the mishap is not serious and the young man is at work.

NO GAME TO-MORROW.

The baseball team has been unable to arrange a game for to-morrow, the Strathconas, of Toronto, being unable to come. Cobourg and Port Hope teams will likely play here in the near future. Arrangements are now being made with them.

LACROSSE

The intermediate lacrosse team had a fine work out at Riverside Park last night. About a dozen players were out and travelled at a lively clip for over an hour. The Maitlands, of Toronto, will likely play here on Saturday, June 8th, and the locals will work hard in the meantime in order to get into shape. A few more practices like the one last night will have the most desirable effect.

Rev. Dr. Symonds Delivered Address

Rev. Dr. Symonds took the duties of Christ church on Sunday last and in the morning gave an excellent address on Christian Unity. In keeping with the subject, Rev. Mr Smith of Knox church, and his congregation attended, Mr. Smith reading the lessons. The choir received great assistance, and the service was altogether a memorable one. The reverend doctors' address was most reasonable, impressive and convincing, and he undoubtedly made an excellent sowing of a line of thought so well calculated to further the growth of the great principle so dear to the heart of the Master, the brotherhood of man. — Bobcaygeon Independent.

New Block of Stores Will be Erected Near Cavanagh House

Toronto Savings and Loan Company Start Next Week on Building—Will be Three Stories High and have Four Single Stores and One Double—Change in Merchant's Locations.

The great demand for stores which has caused the rents for business premises to go up so high during the past couple of years is to be relieved. Next week the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, of which Ald. W. G. Morrow, is managing director, will start the excavation for a block of stores on Simcoe street. The building will be erected on the old Burnham property just east of the Cavanagh House. It will have provision for four single stores and a double store, all of which have already been rented. There will be a good basement under the entire structure, the walls will be of solid brick, and the block will be three stories high.

This will be a great improvement to Simcoe street, and will increase the value of all the property in the neighborhood, and will also tend to attract business down Simcoe street.

The plans have been completed and they show a large handsome structure fitted up with every convenience for the different lines of business to be carried on in them. The work will be done by the Toronto Savings & Loan Co.'s staff of builders and will be rushed to completion, as the tenants are all anxious to get into them. The block will have a depth of fifty feet, with a one storey addition at the rear of the double store, 50 feet deep.

ADAMSON & DOBBIN.

The double store has been rented by Messrs. Adamson & Dobbin, plumbers, etc., and stove merchants. They will move in just as soon as possible and they will fix the place up, so that it will equal any store in Ontario and surpass most of them. The new premises will be larger than those now occupied, being 20 feet wide by 100 feet deep.

J. C. TURNBULL CO.

The store now occupied by Messrs. Adamson & Dobbin has been secured by the J. C. Turnbull Co., dry goods merchants and they will have it remodelled and will extend their store back. This will give them considerably more floor space. The Turnbull Co. will have the ground floor and basement and will use it as an extension of the house furnishings and carpet department.

St. Paul's Choir and Sunday School Orchestra will give a miscellaneous concert in the Sunday School Room of the church on Monday, June 3rd, at 8 o'clock. The choir will render several selections with orchestral accompaniment, and there will also be vocal solos and duets. Admission 25c.

WEAK MEN AND WOMEN

The Most Perfect Restorative Known and Invigorating Tonic Vitalizer —Greatest Health-Renewer

Nature's greatest cure for weak, pale men and women is Ferrozone. It is invaluable for run-down, overworked, delicate people, and will restore them to robust health more quickly, at smaller expense, than any other tonic you can select.

We quote the following cases to show what Ferrozone has done for others. In your case it will act just as efficiently:—

FOR BUSINESS MEN

The Experience of a Well-known Lawyer Proves Ferrozone an Ideal Tonic.

Mr. N. W. Burke, a well known lawyer in Meriden, says:—"When I first took Ferrozone I was in a nervous run-down condition, almost sick enough to give up work. I lacked strength, and felt as if I could not get down to work. Ferrozone at once gave me a good appetite, and drove away the nervous, apprehensive feelings that formerly made my life miserable. As I continued the use of Ferrozone I grew stronger, and am glad to say it has brought me back to perfect health. I know that Ferrozone is an excellent tonic for business men and people inclined to a sedentary life. I can recommend it to such."

FOR NERVOUS WOMEN

Nothing Compares With the Nerve-Strengthening Power of Ferrozone.

Mrs. R. D. Emmerson, of Centreville, says:—"I am glad to think that there is at least one honest remedy for nervous people. No one can imagine what I suffered with my nerves, and I sometimes wonder at the number of useless prescriptions and medicines I took. But Ferrozone acted differently from all the rest. It built up my system, and gradually the irritability left my nerves, and I got well. Ferrozone cured me by removing the cause of my trouble, and by giving me enough additional strength to overthrow the attack of nervousness. I can recommend Ferrozone strongly."

THOUSANDS ANNUALLY CURED BY FERROZONE

If you want to get well and keep well, by all means use Ferrozone. If you suffer from insomnia, nervousness, debility, loss of appetite, poor digestion, or any other symptom of disordered blood, nothing will tone up and vitalize your system like Ferrozone. Price 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50. Sold by all druggists, or sent safely by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., or Kingston, Ont.

Ennismore Boys Have Great Luck; Sell Claim at Cobalt for $100,000

O'Connor Brothers Said to be Worth That Sum—Mr. James A. Tully Returns From the Hustling Silver Section and Speaks of the Great Activity in the Mining Centres.

"Yes sir, there is great activity at Cobalt, in all the mining camps," remarked Mr. Jas. A. Tully, travelling representative of the Oddfellows' Relief Association, who has just returned from a five weeks' trip to several towns in New Ontario, and was instrumental in instituting two new I.O.O.F. lodges—one at Burk's Falls, and the other in Cobalt.

"I was in the great mining centre for five days and the rush was something awful. It is hard work to get proper accommodation. The train service is, however, pretty good. Talk about prospectors! Why, when the ice was out of the Montreal River I saw 195 canoes start up north in one day, from Latchford; all the canoes were filled with prospectors. This will give you some idea of the great inrush. I visited all the mines in and around Cobalt, and some of them opened my eyes."

Here Mr. Tully produced several samples of rich silver ore from the Hudson Bay mine, located about half a mile out of Cobalt. Shares in this mine a year ago were in the market at forty cents, while today they are selling at $1.95 each. Mr. Tully also displayed samples of ore taken from the Coniagas Silver Leaf and other mines, several of the samples being all silver.

"Did you meet many Peterborough boys while away?" was asked.

"Yes! quite a number. In Latchford I ran across James J. MacPherson, who is doing well, and in Cobalt I met Arthur Graham and Dick O'Brien, who are succeeding admirably. But I must tell you about Albert O'Connor and his brother, who went to Cobalt about a year ago, from Ennismore township. They worked in the mines for a while, but kept their eyes open and did some prospecting on their own account. It was in Cobalt that I ran across O'Connor brothers and they told me that they had just closed a deal to sell their claims, which were located about four miles north of the town, for the sum of $100,000. They were naturally in good spirits over their splendid fortune. New veins are being discovered daily and only last week a rich vein was unearthed. This vein runs under the Methodist church, which will be moved elsewhere. I might tell you a great deal more did time permit.

"As to Oddfellowship, I found it in a flourishing state. As I said, new lodges were started at Cobalt and Burk's Falls, the former with 49 chartered members and the latter with 25. Grand Master W. S. Johnston, of Toronto, and A. H. Blakeby, of Kingston, Past Grand Representative, were present, and we also visited lodges in Sturgeon Falls, North Bay, Haileybury, New Liskeard and the lodge at Powassan, which was burned out some months ago, was revived. At the institution of the Cobalt lodge, the members of the new lodge at Latchford, organized in January last, put on the degree work in admirable style. We were well received at every place, and found the Order growing rapidly, all the lodges showing an increase of membership."

Mr. Tully, after spending a couple of weeks in the city, will leave on another trip to Parry Sound and the Sault Ste. Marie district. He says there is still considerable snow in the woods, and on Tuesday of this week he saw a horse and cutter going down the main street of Haileybury.

All Retail Merchants Should Blend Their Own Teas and Coffee

Canadian Grocer Contains an Interview With Mr. Jas. Connal of P. Connal and Son in Which Tea Blending is Strongly Advocated.

Canadian Grocer.

Your correspondent called on Jas. Connal, of P. Connal & Son, one of the oldest retail grocers in the city, and found him engaged in blending tea. The process was a most interesting and apparently a very profitable one. Mr. Connal is a tea blender of no mean ability, and his mixtures have gained him an enviable reputation in this district. He has had charge of this branch of the business for a long time, stepping into the place occupied by his father, who was an expert with very few equals, and did the blending for many years. In the course of a conversation in reference to grocers blending their own teas, Mr. Connal pointed out the many decided advantages he has over the grocer who handles package teas. In the first place, the grocer who handles package teas exclusively loses his identity as a grocer and becomes an agent. He is also at the mercy of the wholesale tea trade and is often disappointed in his goods. He does not know what kind of tea he is getting except what the traveller tells him and what he sees printed on the lead package.

If a grocer does know anything about tea, and he handles the package tea, all the credit of his quality goes to the package man, as well as the profit of blending and putting up the tea. If the grocer who has a knowledge of tea was to buy in bulk and do his own blending he would receive all the profit and all the credit. In addition, he would know exactly what he was offering the trade and would be in a position to keep his grades up to the proper standard and to keep the flavor always right.

Mr. Connal strongly advised that all grocers make a study of teas. It is a very interesting and profitable subject, and has the advantage of requiring no time during business hours, as it can be done at home at night. The only way that a thorough knowledge of the business can be obtained is through experience. The package men accomplished all they know through experience, and very often at the expense of the retail grocer. But if a grocer knows nothing about teas, and is not willing to put in a good many hours in studying and experimenting, he had better keep to the package teas exclusively and make no attempt to produce his own. If he does know something of teas he can very soon get out new ideas of his own.

One great fraud many grocers have in buying tea in bulk is buying from appearances only. In this case appearances are very deceitful. Some teas, which look high grade, are not nearly as good as teas which do not look so well, but have better cup quality. The only reliable and sure test is by tasting. Mr. Connal never buys any tea without first drawing a sample. If it is satisfactory the traveller gets an order. In this way he is able to know his goods and put up teas which he knows will satisfy his customers in both flavor and price. P. Connal & Son have a very complete outfit for blending both teas and coffees, and the amount of goods they turn out would surprise the majority of people. They buy mostly from tea brokers, and therefore stand to make all the profit that is going.

Good Programme Was Contributed

Annual Box Sale and Entertainment of St. Luke's Junior W. A.

The Sunday school room of St. Luke's church was crowded with the friends and members of the congregation on the occasion of the annual box sale and entertainment of the Junior W. A., of which Mrs. W. J. Scott is the president. This event is always looked forward to with much expectation, because it has always satisfied its patrons. The articles sold in boxes give many surprises and are much more valuable than the price of 25 cents paid for them. The large attendance and the financial result must have been very pleasing to Mrs. Scott, to whom as president, the unqualified success is due. The sales tables for the boxes was presided over by Mrs. Scott and Mrs. T. H. Adams, nearly one hundred boxes, containing fancy work, were sold long before the programme was started. Mrs. L. Turner and Misses Ethel Pakenham and Ruby Quartermaine attended to the candy table. Their wares were greatly in demand and they reported "sold out" in a short time. Mrs. G. R. Browning had charge of the "Jack-in-the-box," which was patronized by a large number of children, and was "sold out" likewise.

A pleasing part of the evening, was the presence of the Rural Dean, Rev. J. C. Davidson, who with the rector, had a seat on the platform.

The opening number was an instrumental duet, by Misses Lizzie and Florence Scott.

Then were given the following numbers,—

Songs, by children of the kindergarten.

Vocal Duet—Misses Georgie and Prudence Long.

Recitation—Miss Katie Leary.

Vocal Solo—Master Cyril Devey.

Instrumental—Miss Clara Adams.

At this juncture, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, who was the chairman gave a short account of the work of the Mission Band, and thanked Mrs. Scott and her two assistants, Mrs. Adams and Browning, for the good work they were doing for the missionary cause. The year's work had been most successful; regular and large attendance of the members had given much encouragement and was the means of much work being accomplished. The outfit for Marie Papanuse of Waparkha was a credit to the Junior's work. This Indian girl is provided with clothing by the Juniors. Mr. Langfeldt referred to the faithful and regular attendance of Misses Ada Adams and Greta Pakenham, who had received prizes from the Diocese Board of Management. He called upon the Rural Dean to present these prizes, and he was very glad to express his pleasure at having Mr. Davidson present. In presenting the prizes, Mr. Davidson complimented the young ladies on receiving the distinction. His address contained much encouragement to the Mission Band, and was listened to with marked attention.

Instrumental—Miss Ethel Goodenough.

Vocal Solo—Miss Ruth Dawson.

Instrumental—Miss Katie Leary.

Mandolin Selections by Messrs. Tovey, Cranfield, Holland, Brightman and Theobald.

The rector, on behalf of Mrs Scott thanked Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Browning for their help in the work; also the W. A. for their interest and co-operation and the contributions they had made to the box sale.

The ladies and gentlemen, who so kindly assisted in the programme were also thanked.

Mrs. D. J. Scott, Miss Lottie English, Mr. Devey, and Mr. Theobald acted as accompanists.

The proceeds amounted to about $60.00.

The singing of the National Anthem and three cheers for Mrs. Scott brought the happy event to a close, which everyone admitted to have been an unprecedented success.

Grand Lodge May Meet in Ottawa

Ottawa, May 31.—The officers of the Ottawa lodges of Oddfellows are about to make an effort to induce the Grand Lodge to hold its annual meeting next year in Ottawa. In previous years' meetings have been held in Toronto and Hamilton. If anything comes of these local efforts the Grand Lodge will meet here next year, and as about 1,500 people usually attend, this means a good deal for Ottawa.

Summer Visitors at Bobcaygeon

Messrs. McGill and Mowry Bates Visit the Northern Town

Mr. McGill arrived from Washington D.C., on Monday, to see how his floating house had passed through the winter and was pleased to find everything in good shape and just as he had left it. But the weather, gracious! Coolness is of course a great attraction in the heat of the summer, but a snow storm on the 27th of May is rather too much of a frigid bolt. Mr. Mowry Bates, of New York, turned up on Monday afternoon with his yacht and his colored attendant, on his way to his summer residence at Jacob's Island and it was a rough trip down Sturgeon Lake, for the north-west gale knocked up the water in great style and the colored attendant found the absence of the orange blossom in that north-wester most marked. When the snow-storm came in the evening Mr. Bates was struck with the fact that he had quite overlooked an order of snow shovels.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

DREDGING FROM OTONABEE RIVER

The Board of Works is advertising for tenders for spreading the dredgings being taken from the turning basin above the Hunter street bridge. Last year Mr. Conroy had the contract at 13 cents a cubic yard, but he claims he cannot do it at that price this year. He has, however, consented to carry on the work at the same figure until the Board of Works has an opportunity to make other arrangements. The first scow load of gravel and stone was towed from the dredge to the derrick on the river bank this morning and Mr. Conroy started work this afternoon. The Board of Works will open tenders on Wednesday night.

Douma Declines to Accept Government's Explanation.

Minister of Justice Denies Story of Tortures—Says Ill-Treatment Was Inflicted With Whips and Sticks—Police Cruelties Excused—Struck Only With Their Fists—Debate on Riga Mutineers.

St. Petersburg, June 1.—The Lower House of Parliament Thursday declined as unsatisfactory the explanations made by the Government in the matter of the tortures inflicted upon prisoners at Riga, and consequently the affair will be submitted to the Emperor.

In the course of the debate the Minister of Justice denied that officials of his Department had taken any part in inflicting these tortures, as had been charged, and declared that the information of the Douma committee in this respect was absolutely untrue. M. Makaroff, Assistant Minister of the Interior, then denied that the police had been guilty of inflicting tortures. He said a preliminary inquiry had shown that in some cases policemen had struck prisoners with their fists, but these blows were never severe. A total of forty-two police officials had been arraigned on charges. He did not wish to justify their conduct, but under the existing abominable conditions the actions of the police might be excused by the cruelty of the revolutionaries. It could not be expected that the police always should remain calm when more than one thousand of their comrades had been killed or wounded in the Baltic Provinces alone.

The debate on the answer of the Government to the interpellation concerning the mutiny in the prison at Riga, April 13, when seven mutineers were killed and twelve wounded, was then continued. This matter last came up in the House on April 23. The Minister of Justice, M. Chlogheglovitoff, denied that mediaeval tortures had been inflicted on the mutineers, but admitted they had been beaten with Cossack whips and rubber sticks.

MISSIONARIES ARE SAFE.

The Revolution Is Purely a Political Affair.

New York, June 1.—American missionaries stationed in the Chinese provinces of Kwang Tung and Kwangsi, where the standard of rebellion against the Chinese dynasty has been raised, are believed by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions to have suffered no injury thus far from the outbreak.

The destruction of the German mission station at Lien Chow by a Chinese mob, the Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of the Presbyterian board said yesterday probably occurred, not in the Lien Chow, where the Presbyterian missionaries are stationed, but in another city of the same name several hundred miles away and near the coast. He said that the Presbyterians would have cabled if there had been any trouble at the station.

Concerning the rebellion the Rev. Mr. Brown, said: A new movement of stupendous proportions is now taking place in China. It is on the whole peaceful, and not directed against the missionaries or other foreigners, it is political and economic rather than religious, and is due in part to the Japanese-Russian war, the results of which have deeply stirred the Asiatic mind.

Another Revolution.

Amoy, China, June 1.—An insurrection has broken out 40 miles southward of Amoy. Thirty thousand rebels are under arms and are stated to be well led. The revolt is spreading in towns near Amoy. The viceroy of Fuchow is sending 6,000 troops to deal with the rising, and warships are expected here shortly.

Body Badly Mangled.

Winnipeg, June 1.—T. Williams, section man, committed suicide on Thursday by jumping in front of the westbound C. P. R. express near Rennie, Man. The locomotive struck him and hurled the mangled body one hundred feet into the brushwood along the track. He had tried to court death in the same manner on the previous day by standing in front of an approaching freight, but the engineer saw him and stopped the train. The body was brought to Winnipeg, where it is held awaiting the Coroner's orders.

Fugitive Captured.

St. John, N. B., June 1.—Word reached here late yesterday afternoon that A. E. Akerley, wanted in Seattle on charges of forgery, has been captured in Labelle, Que., by officers of the Canadian Detective Bureau.

Akerley, who came from Seattle, was found in St. John on May 30, but before he could be got, he skipped to Moncton, then to Montreal, and finally, May 26, he went to Labelle, where he was landed. He is said to be one of the most notorious crooks in America.

One Killed, Four Injured.

Ottawa, June 1.—A head-on collision occurred between two extra freight trains on the G. T. R. a little to the west of Beatty's Station, on the Depot Harbor branch, early yesterday morning. Fireman Alexander Rochon of Hull was killed, three freight cars were wrecked and two engines badly smashed. Engineer H. Cluff, Conductor A. E. Gorman, Engineer H. Champness and Conductor F. Graham were slightly injured.

Hon. E. Blake's Illness.

London, June 1.—(C. A. P.)—Hon. Edward Blake, M. P. for South Longford, who is suffering from a slight stroke of paralysis, is progressing as favorably as can possibly be expected under the circumstances. The Canadian Associated Press is informed that the physicians in attendance have assured Mrs. Blake that there is no cause for immediate anxiety.

Pilgrims and Puritans.

The pilgrims, or, as they are often called, the "pilgrim fathers," were the seventy-four men and the twenty-eight women, members of the John Robinson's church, who sailed in the Mayflower from Leyden to North America and landed at Plymouth Rock, where they founded a colony Dec. 25, 1620. The Puritans were the English nonconformists who came over later, the name being given to them on account of their supposed great purity of doctrine, life and discipline.

Cochineal.

Cochineal, so much used for coloring table jellies and also given to infants as a domestic remedy for whooping cough, is the whole insect of a class called coccus, but only the females are used. Why? Because the insects are captured by suffocating them with the smoke of fires below the trees on which they live, and as the males have wings, while the females have none, the gentlemen take to flight when the atmosphere becomes unpleasantly warm, leaving their ladies to their fate.

Warnings.

Mrs. Stubb—I notice so many married men save the receipted milliner bills. What use do they make of them? Mr. Stubb—Charity. Mrs. Stubb—Charity? Mr. Stubb—Yes; they are sent around to the bachelor clubs to warn any reckless member who might be thinking about plunging into the sea of matrimony.

Her Postscript.

"Why does a woman always add a postscript to her letter?"

"Well," answered the ungallant wretch, "she probably figures out in her own mind what her letter has made you think and then tries to have the last word."

The Trouble.

Jones—I understand there is trouble between Mrs. Poet and her husband. Smith — Yes. He couldn't sell his poems, and she couldn't eat them, so she left him.

GOVERNMENT FOR N. B.

Hon. W. Pugsley Resigns—New Members Sworn In.

Fredericton, N. B., June 1.—Hon. Wm. Pugsley last night placed in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor his resignation. His honor accepted, and called Hon. Clifford W. Robinson to form a Cabinet.

The new Premier announced his Government, which was sworn in, as follows:

Premier, Provincial Secretary and acting Attorney-General—Hon. C. W. Robinson.

Commissioner of Public Works—Hon. C. H. Labillois.

Surveyor-General — Hon. F. J. Sweeney.

Solicitor-General — Hon. W. P. Jones.

Commissioner of Agriculture—Hon. L. P. Farris.

No new members were taken into the new Cabinet, but it is likely such will be the case before long.

Jones will then probably become Attorney-General.

MOTORMAN ARRESTED.

Held Responsible For the Death of Seven People.

Elyria, June 1.—C. M. Forney, motorman of a Cleveland and Southwestern traction car, was arrested in Cleveland yesterday and brought here to answer to the charge of being responsible for the death of seven persons, killed in a traction accident here early Thursday evening, and for the injury of eight more persons, several of whom will probably die. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $5,000 bonds.

Forney was operating a car which ran at high speed into the rear end of another standing still on a straight track in broad daylight.

Against Conciliation Board.

Ottawa, June 1.—The Labor Department has received a telegram from A. M. Nanton, manager of the Alberta Railway and Irrigation Co., protesting against the appointment of a conciliation board, as requested by the men, in connection with the labor troubles at the Lethbridge mines.

He says that there are no grounds of dispute to justify the appointment of a board, and he thinks the Department acted hastily. He also protests against Sherman being on the board, and asks for reconsideration.

Flees to the Woods..

Roblin, Man., June 1.—A posse of fifty are pursuing Joe Winn, a desperate man who shot and fatally wounded Joe Story Thursday. He fled to the woods and is heavily armed.

Business Hit Hard.

Halifax, June 1.—Several vessels are tied up here as a result of the strike of longshoremen.

Shippers complain of the injurious effects of the strike on the business of the port and an effort will be made to secure the intervention of the conciliation board.

Young Lad Drowned.

Guelph, June 1.—A sad drowning accident occurred yesterday morning near Johnson's boat house on the river Speed. A young lad, three years of age, a son of Frank Brown, who had been playing at the river side, fell in and was drowned before help reached him.

New Gold Camp OF Northern Ontario.

THOMAS McCAMUS, President.
Vice-Pres. of The Temiskaming and Hudson Bay Mining Co'y., and President of The Temiskaming Telephone Co.

FRANK WESLEY HAYNES, Vice-Pres.
Director of The New Liskeard and Northern Ontario Mining Co.

We earnestly recommend that you purchase the Lucky Boys Gold Mines stock at 6 cents per share. This advice means riches to you. The time is not far distant when Lucky Boys will be paying large and continuous dividends. By buying now at a price you can afford to pay you will be a participant in these assured profits.

As we have heretofore stated in our circular letters and advertisements, we are willing to stake our standing and reputation on the present conditions and the future outcome of the Larder Lake district and as to its possibilities. We believe it will be the most wonderful gold field that the world has produced. When we make these assertions it is after we have made most searching and thorough investigations. We do not believe that a financial house who has every facility at its command, having a number of experienced mining men in the field, and reliable and trustworthy mining engineers, could go to more pains regarding the actual worth of a gold camp than we have done. We have been most cautious and we are very particular as to what we recommend for investment. We have built up a big business and the investors who place confidence in us and follow our advice number many thousands. We guard the interests of our investors just as closely and with as much care as we do our individual investments. This is the reputation we have attained among the investing public. We have gone to great expense in ascertaining the true merits and real conditions of the Lucky Boys properties. In order to satisfy ourselves beyond question we despatched various crews of men to make examinations. They were supplied with all the necessities, such as hand drills, dynamite and camp outfits. They have visited all of the properties, have blown out the ore, and we have had some assayed, not only by our own assayists but by others. The proofs that we have obtained demonstrate beyond question the great values of the LUCKY BOYS.

We say to our clients follow our advice in the purchase of shares of the Lucky Boys, rely upon our reputation and standing as being reliable and trustworthy. Follow our advice and you will make profits that will astonish you.

Law and Co. have experts and engineers who are rated among the best engaged in examining and reporting on properties. Only those properties which have every indication of richness are handled by us; all the others are turned down as too risky. Our engineers and experts are in the field at a great expense, and it would not pay us to simply make a report on and sell the stock in any worthless company.

We are looking far into the future, and we thoroughly realize that the only way to hold our customers and keep them interested is for them to invest their money in stocks that have merit and that are sure winners.

THE MAN OR WOMAN WHO INVESTS THEIR MONEY THROUGH US CAN SIT DOWN AT THEIR HOMES AND FULLY REALIZE THAT WHATEVER FUNDS THEY HAVE INVESTED HAVE BEEN WELL PLACED.

You can absolutely depend that the officers and directors of the Lucky Boys will expend the money received from the sale of Treasury stock in the development of the property. We wish to call your attention to the fact that 1,000,000 shares of the stock of this company are for the absolute use and benefit of the Treasury.

6c PER SHARE

(Par Value $1.00, Fully Paid and Non-Assessable.)

If you will compare the price, 6c per share, and the organization and incorporation of the Lucky Boys against any of the other companies, you cannot but realize the great percentage there is in favor of your investing your money in this stock in preference to any other.

Coming to the most vital point of all, when you interest yourself in Lucky Boys you are becoming a partner of people who are either practical mining men, and have made fortunes out of mining, or of mining men who are willing to wait the development of this property to make their fortunes.

BUSY MONTH AT CUSTOMS HOUSE

The receipts at the local Customs House for the month of May averaged over $1000 per day. The total returns for the month were $31,547.23, which is an increase over previous months. The large amount of money being taken in at the Customs House is a good index of the commercial activity of the city and of the excellent business being done by local merchants and industrial concerns.

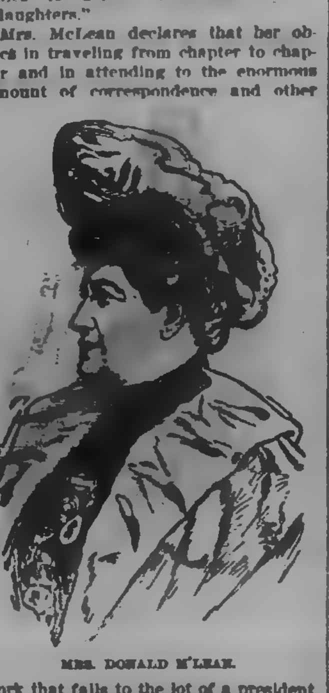
WOMAN'S WORLD

MRS. DONALD M'LEAN.

Leader of Patriotic Women Works Hard For Love of Country.

To spread among the women of America the spirit of Moll Pitcher and Barbara Frietchie is the patriotic work to which Mrs. Donald McLean, president of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, devotes the greater part of her time. So earnestly and disinterestedly does this feminine descendant of the men and women of 1776 labor in her self chosen cause that her face and voice are familiar wherever the women of the order's chapters gather, and that is in every part of the Union. It is recorded of Mrs. McLean that in one recent year she traveled more than 20,000 miles to deliver addresses to the "daughters."

Mrs. McLean declares that her objects in traveling from chapter to chapter and in attending to the enormous amount of correspondence and other work that falls to the lot of a president general of the D. A. R. is to try to instill a spirit of enthusiasm and patriotism in the branches of her beloved society. That the "daughters" lie close to Mrs. McLean's heart is amply evidenced by the fact that she has been active in the work of the society since its inception in 1890. She is a charter member of the New York chapter and held the office of regent for more than ten years. The present is Mrs. McLean's second term as presiding officer of the national organization. She was the first president general to be chosen from what is known as the "nonofficial" party in the society—that is, she was the first president general whose husband was not a Washington official. The first woman to hold the office was Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, wife of the late ex-president.



MRS. DONALD M'LEAN.

Before her marriage in 1883 to Donald McLean, one of New York's leading lawyers, she was Miss Emily Nelson Ritchie, daughter of Judge Ritchie of Frederick county, Md. The Ritchies are numbered among the historic families of the Old Line State, but the McLeans are not wanting in patriotic ancestry. Mr. McLean is the son of a colonel in the regular army and the grandson of General John McLean of the Revolutionary forces, who was commissary general of the state of New York under Governor George Clinton. The ancestral tinctures of Mrs. McLean's husband might thus be said to be buff and blue, colors dear to hearts of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The home of the McLeans is in the Harlem section of New York city. One of its most prominent features is a huge flagstaff, from which the national colors are shown whenever a national holiday affords excuse for the display. The interior of Mrs. McLean's home is crowded with flags and other patriotic reminders of the tastes of the McLeans, and Mrs. McLean's three daughters are being trained in reverence for America's history and traditions. Despite the occupation of her time by her onerous duties (she works "twenty-six hours a day," according to her friends) she is a home loving woman and a charming hostess.

Serving at Dinner.

Everything at table is passed at the left hand of the person seated and not at the right.

A servant should not ask a guest to have a second portion of any dish, but should bring it at once if asked.

A tablespoon and a large fork should be placed by a servant in the entree dishes previous to handling them.

Vegetables should be handed by a servant a second time at a family dinner, but only once at a dinner party unless specially requested.

When a large dinner party is given the guests should be helped in the order in which they are seated, commencing with the lady seated at the host's right hand.

In the family circle the mistress of the house is served first, then the daughters according to their ages, the master of the house and the sons according to their ages.

When a fork or spoon is asked for it should not be handed on a waiter, but placed on the right or left hand, as required. When a tumbler or other dish is asked for, it is handed on a small waiter.

Rearing of a Child.

In the rearing of a child, as in any other business or vocation, we must have an ideal, lay our plans and map our course by which that ideal is to be attained; hence, consciously or unconsciously, your own ideals and purposes in life are bound to affect those of the child thrown in your constant society.

One generation of intelligent and efficient mothers with high ideals, who are willing to make the necessary effort, during the formative years of childhood can do more to purify politics, overcome the materialism that is crushing the best out of our lives and to solve the social questions that oppress us than five generations of schoolteachers, philanthropists, civic clubs, etc.

Educators and others who are working with the young tell us that many of the problems that confront them are the result of the failure of the home to do its part in rearing the child. With this accusation before us, as well as the oft expressed opinion of foreigners as to the faults of the American child, it is time for every mother to arouse herself.

The Girl Who Succeeds.

She has so much to do that she has no time for morbid thoughts. She never thinks for a moment that she is not attractive nor forgets to look as charming as possible.

She is considerate of the happiness of others, and it is reflected back to her as in a looking glass.

She never permits herself to grow old, for by cultivating all the graces of heart, brain and body age does not come to her.

She believes that life has some serious work to do and that the serious work lies very close to the homely everyday duties and that kind words cost nothing.

She is always willing to give suggestions that will help some less fortunate over the bad places in life's journey.

She is her own sweet, unaffected, womanly self. Therein lies the secret of her popularity, of her success.

Dressing to Please Men.

Dressing to please a man is not such difficult work if a woman will only grasp the fundamentals. A man likes to see brilliant hair with a deep wave in it. He loves a hat that is trimmed with roses and caught up at the side. He dotes upon the little coat that is not too severe in its outline, and he likes feminine fripperies around the hands. As for the fingers themselves, they must be perfection. Then as to the arms. No man likes a poor pair of arms. Better cover them with lace armlets than display a set of rough elbows and bones that show through the skin.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The Good-Night Kiss.

Always send your child to bed happy. Whatever cares may trouble your mind, give the dear child a warm good night kiss as it goes to its pillow. The memory of this in the stormy years which may be in store for the little one will be like Bethlehem's star to the bewildered shepherds, and welling up in the hearts will rise the thought, "My father, my mother, loved me!" Lips parched with fever will become dewy again at this thrill of tender memories. Kiss your little child before it goes to sleep.

First Aid For Burning Feet.

Burning feet are most unpleasant and not only make a woman miserable, but cause her to pucker up her face into numerous fret lines and so rob her of the pretty, cheery light which makes a woman so lovely, says the Philadelphia Press. Every night bathe the feet well with hot water to which ordinary washing soda has been added. Dry thoroughly and apply this powder: Five grams of powdered alum, five grams of salicylic acid, sixty grains of powdered talcum, rubbing it well into the feet.

For the Unexpected Guest.

A good emergency dish for Sunday night tea or the unexpected luncheon guest is this: Cut slices of bread a little thick and scoop a hollow in the center of each, leaving the crust as a rim. Grate some cheese, season it with salt and paprika, moisten it with milk and spread the mixture on the bread. Then turn an egg without breaking the yolk into each piece, dot it with butter and bake about ten minutes.

For Mother's "Little Helper."

A cunning little Dutch apron for the very tiny child to wear over its white frock when playing is of delft blue denim or chambray bound all around with scarlet. A crescent shaped pocket edged with the scarlet is set all the way across the front for the child to drop its playthings in. The apron is shaped to extend in broad straps, crossing in back and running up to button, each to the opposite shoulder.

An Unusual Salad.

An unusual salad that is particularly appetizing is made with cream cheese and ripe olives. The olives may be obtained from any store that sells Italian products and are quite different from the ordinary green olives that come in bottles.

Chop the olives quite fine, mix with the cream cheese and moisten with French dressing. Shape into balls and serve on lettuce leaves.

Skin Disease is Blood Disease

"Fruit-a-tives" clean the blood of all impurities and clear the Complexion.

Pimples and Blotches—Redness—Boils—Eczema and other inflammations of the skin—mean Impure Blood.

A person with a bad complexion always suffers from poor digestion — non-action of the bowels (or Constipation) and often the kidneys are weak.

These unhealthy organs cannot rid the system of the waste matter. It is this waste—taken up by the blood and carried to the skin—that ruins the complexion.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure all skin troubles because they cure the kidneys and bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" cause the eliminating organs to do their proper share of the work of ridding the system of waste. This purifies the blood — and instantly the pimples and blotches disappear, and the complexion clears. "Fruit-a-tives" cure skin troubles when everything else fails.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices, intensified, and combined with valuable tonics and antiseptics.

"Fruit-a-tives" are a wonderful cure for Pimples and Blotches on the skin.

They are without doubt the greatest blood purifier in the world. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. At all druggists.

HUMOR

COMMON SENSE VIEW.

Why Viola Decided to Marry Young Harry Wilkins.

"Father, I would like to see you in the library on a matter of business."

"Very well, Viola; come along. Now, then, what is it?"

"Father, you are aware that Harry Wilkins has been paying me his attentions the last year?"

"Yes, and I've felt like kicking him! The idea of a Wilkins daring to aspire to the hand of a Grafton!"

"He has asked me to be his wife."

"The scoundrel! Why, I'll"—

"And I've almost promised," she placidly continued.

"What, what! My daughter marry a Wilkins on $25 a week? Never! Go to your room while I seek out this base adven"—

"Father, I want to talk real business to you," she interrupted. "Have you seen the marriage statistics of London for the last year?"

"No, of course not! The idea of Harry Wilkins skulking around after my"—

"Wait! According to the statistics, this city has 871,240 more females than males. There are 226,890 more marriageable girls than can find husbands, to say nothing of 182,321 widows who are very anxious for a No. 2. The number of young men in London earning over $15 a week and in the market is only 22,107. There are after these young men exactly 220,000 young women and 150,000 widows. Three out of every five children born are girls. Death removes two young men to one married man or old bachelor."

The old man turned pale and grasped a chair for support. After a pause she continued:

"From June to October over 80,000 marriageable young women visit fashionable watering places, and it is estimated that 31,442 of them catch husbands, thus further reducing the chances of a resident cockney. Father, take this pencil and figure out your Viola's chances of catching another man if she lets Harry Wilkins canter away."

"Great Jimminy!" he gasped, figuring for a moment. "Why, your chances are only one in 21,875,947!"

"Just as I figure it out. What shall I say to him this evening?"

"Say! Say! Why, tell him you'll have him and be mighty glad of the chance! And don't let him draw a long breath before you add that the ceremony can take place right after breakfast tomorrow morning and that I'm to give you a wedding present of $500 in cash!"—Tit-Bits.

Two Muffs In One.

She sat between her two lovers in the trap. George was driving, and Edward was pressed closely against the rail. The night was dark, but the horse was old and knew his way. This gave George an opportunity to hold the reins in one hand and also to slip the other into the lady's unoccupied muff. Presently—well, two hands were tenderly pressing each other.

The end of the drive came at last, and a sweet, small voice whispered:

"When you two gentlemen have quite done with my muff perhaps you will be kind enough to let me have it."

Then did two sworn enemies alight from the trap with thoughts that could scarcely be expressed coherently in presentable language.—Judge.

The Elm Incident.

Washington was taking formal command of the Continental army at Cambridge. He crooked his arm, placed his elbow against the historic elm and rested his head on his hand. Then he addressed the ill assorted gathering of patriots. In the midst of his remarks his elbow suddenly glided from the tree and Washington completely lost his equilibrium.

"Why didn't you inform me," said the great general, with dignity, "that this tree was a slippery elm?"—Woman's Home Companion.

In three years or five at the outside, there will be a war between Japan and the United States, is the opinion expressed by J. A. Elliott, of Manchester, N.H.

Hooking the Wary Trout.

Trout when hungry usually face the current. This fact should be remembered when approaching a bridge or eddy where the "speckled beauties love to hide." If possible, such spots should be approached upstream. It may take a little more time to go around and come back up, but "make haste slowly" is said to be the first axiom of trout fishing. As the stream becomes warmer, the trout seek the cool pools and shaded places. They are to be found where a cold spring bubbles up into the stream or where a mountain creek enters. Often a number frequent the same haunt. Each additional fish means two more eyes to watch for the fisherman. One trout is all that is necessary to give a danger signal by darting away. The rest immediately follow suit. To catch more than one, or even that, in such a place takes skill in the use of the line. But who has said that trout fishing is not an art?—Circle Magazine.

Our Pygmy Ancestors.

The armor of the knights of the middle ages is too small for their modern descendants. Hamilton Smith records that two Englishmen of average dimensions found no suit large enough to fit either of them in the great collection of Sir Samuel Meyrick. The head of the oriental saber will not admit the English hand nor the bracelet of the Kaffir warrior the English arm. The swords found in Roman tumuli have handles inconveniently small, and the great mediaeval two handed sword is now supposed to have been used only for one or two blows at the first onset and then exchanged for a smaller one. The statements made by Homer, Aristotle and Vitruvius represent six feet as a high standard for full grown men, and the irrefutable evidence of the ancient doorways, bedsteads and tombs proves the average size of the race certainly not to have diminished in modern days.—London Hospital.

Great Musician's Eccentricities.

Dolls were the idols, after his beloved instruments, of Domenico Dragonetti, the king of the double bass. He had a huge collection of these puppets dressed in various national costumes, and wherever Dragonetti went the dolls were sure to go. That was only one of this eccentric genius' peculiarities. He would never play unless his dog were in the orchestra, and nobody would have got a note out of him unless he had been permitted to sit in the orchestra next to the stage door. This was a precaution to enable him to save his wonderful instrument in case of fire. The instrument itself he brought from the monastery of St. Pietro when on a visit to Vincenza, and when he died he bequeathed it to St. Mark's, Venice, to be used at solemn services.—London Standard.

A Queer Coincidence.

While a serial story was running in a certain magazine a lady in Johannesburg wrote to the publisher asking whether Christian Lys (the author's nom de plume) was assumed or not. She herself was a Mrs. Lys, who was trying to trace an ancestor of her late husband, who was a descendant of Joan of Arc. Mr. Brebner, the author in question, wrote assuring her that his pen name was a family one, his forbears having come from Aberdeen. Strangely enough, it came out that her family came also from Aberdeen and their name was Brebner.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Like Talking Shop.

A stockbroker whose mind is always full of business was asked a few days ago how old his father was.

"Well," said he abstractedly, "he's quoted at eighty, but there is every prospect that he will reach par and possibly be at a premium."

A Rebuff.

"Miss May," began Mr. Hoamley, "would you—er—be mad if I were to kiss you?"

"Not necessarily," replied the bright girl, "but I would certainly be mad to let you."

Are we to mark this day with a white or a black stone?—Cervantes.

Two Moons Cause Cold Weather

Prof. E. Stone Wiggins Has Solved the Perplexing Problem

Prof. Wiggins, the dear old boy, has turned up again. He has it down fine, and can tell us all about it this time. This disgusting weather is brought about by there being two moons. Sniff, the old reprobate who writes our leading articles, insisted upon it the other day, that he had seen two moons the previous night and he was firmly requested to go and sleep it off. Now Wiggins comes along with two moons. One serious effect of the cold weather is an evident prolongation of the hot Scotch period.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

The Young Man Was Called Down

For Getting Off Suggestive Jokes at the Opera House

Last evening at the production of "A Royal Slave" in the Grand opera house one of the company who took the part of Humboldt Jones an American newspaper correspondent, in Mexico, came out between acts and gave a couple of songs. He then did a monologue stunt and told two or three suggestive stories which the "gods" applauded, but the remainder of the house received in silence. "The gods" called for an encore, but before the young man had in alliance to respond Mr. Turner made his way behind the scene and pointedly told Mr. Jones that he had better eliminate his vulgar jokes as speedily as possible.

The the young man walked out again and remarked "ladies and gentlemen, I am requested by the management to say as little as possible."

Mr. Turner deserves the thanks of public for promptly rebuking and checking all suggestive and indelicate jokes and seeing that all the productions at this house are kept clean and above board.

Some Amendments are Suggested

To the Garbage By-law Which are Worthy of Consideration

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—If we are to emerge from the status of a village or country town we must of a necessity have a garbage bylaw of some kind and so stop those dangerous and obnoxious fires so generally condemned. After reading your clever and lucid editorial upon the proposed bylaw for that purpose, I have no doubt that as a tentative measure, it will work all right. Of course, all laws, in their initial stage are more or less defective, but such defects can be easily remedied by a careful revision of the bylaw. With your permission, I would suggest a few amendments as follows;

Sec 4 (a) should be once a day instead of three times each week during at least from the 1st of April to the 1st of October.—the dangerous season.

Sec 4 (d) should be once a week instead of a fortnight.

In Sec. 13 (e) it would be a hardship to tax such premises for the whole year round, when the only thing that needs removal, are a few ashes, for five or six months at the longest. They certainly should not be charged for the time when they have nothing to remove which could be verified by the inspector, if necessary. There does not seem to be any provision for the placing of boxes of premises in the upper flats, where there is no yard or back entrance. In such cases if boxes were left in the hall ways adjoining the rooms, it ought to be sufficient. We also need a bylaw, even more urgently, for the abatement of stenches, arising from packing houses, glue factories and such like, which are in our midst, or likely to come. We should strive to make our city healthful and pleasant, not only for our own sakes, but as an inducement for a desirable class of citizens to come and reside amongst us.

Yours, etc.,
CITIZEN.

WEDDING BELLS

WALDINGER—DAVIDSON

June, leafy June, the month of weddings, and of roses, was ushered in today by the celebration of a marriage of much interest to many residents of Peterborough.

This afternoon at the hour of 3 o'clock a very pretty house wedding was celebrated at 202 Dalhousie-st., when Miss Christine Madge Davidson, eldest daughter of the late R. S. Davidson, became the bride of Mr Carl Waldinger, of Boston, Mass.

The auspicious event marked the union of one of Peterborough's most popular and highly esteemed young ladies to an energetic and progressive young business man from the land across the border, and the best wishes of a host of friends and admirers will be extended for their future happiness, health and prosperity.

Rev Dr. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large company of guests numbering about eighty friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

The charming bride was given away by her mother and was attired in a handsome Empire gown of ivory white Liberty satin, with yoke and bolero of rose point lace. She wore the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley.

The bridesmaids, Miss Helen Davidson, sister of the bride, and Miss Pearl Lundy, were attractively dressed in white embroidered mull over white silk, and large leghorn hats, trimmed with marguerites and roses. They carried bouquets of marguerites and ferns.

Mrs. Davidson, mother of the bride wore an artistic gown of French silk chiffon, with fine black silk stripe, over silk, and trimmed with rose point lace.

Mr. A. B. Holmes, of Toronto supported the bridegroom.

The wedding gifts were in every way worthy and representative of the occasion, comprising many artistic and valuable tokens from friends far and near. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a diamond and ruby ring; to the bridesmaids, gold chains, with pearl pendants, and to the groomsman, a pearl scarf pin.

After the nuptials a reception was held and felicitations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Waldinger. The drawing room, in which the ceremony was performed, and the reception held, was prettily decorated with primroses, narcissus, blossoms, and other spring flowers. Refreshments were served from a large marquee on the lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldinger left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train for points west and will return to the city in about ten days. After spending a short time here, they will leave for their future home in Boston, Mass., en route, remaining a few days in New York. The bride's going away costume was an ecru and blue tailor-made suit, trimmed with rajah silk, and touches of blue broadcloth and white braid; smart blue toque, with brown wings.

Among the guests were several of the bride's school friends from Toronto and other places, constituting a house party, who have been spending the past few days, prior to the wedding as the guests of the bride. After the wedding today they were taken for an automobile ride to several local points of interest. Those present at the ceremony today from outside the city were Mr. and Mrs. W. B Stout, Miss Stout and Miss Helen Stout, Miss Morrison, Miss Mabel Lennox, Miss Elsie Riddell, Miss Emma Gilmour, Mr. Leonard Morrison, Mr. R. B. Henderson, Mr. T. C. Irving jr., Miss Irving, all of Toronto; Mr. W. H. Fieldhouse, Montreal; Miss Susie Milne, of Sarnia; Miss Hilborn, of Berlin, and others.

DESIRE TO SELL BETHEL CHURCH

The last meeting for the present conference year of the Quarterly Official Board of Mark street Methodist church is being held this afternoon and important business is being considered.

The following stewards were elected for the coming year; Messrs M. Carton, J. Thorp, W. Brown, R Deyell, S. Mitchell, P. Sergeant and W. Sergeant.

Permission will be asked from the Bay of Quinte Conference to sell the frame church at Bethel, in Otonabee township. Owing to the union services being held in Stewart's hall by the Presbyterians and Methodists each Sunday afternoon, the building will not be required any more.

The matter of calling a pastor to succeed Rev. J. G. Lewis, whose term of four years expires this month, was also discussed, but no definite decision had been reached up to the hour of going to press. Mr. Lewis has been called to the pastorate of Main street Methodist church, Picton. He will leave on Monday next for Bowmanville to attend a meeting of the stationing committee of the Bay of Quinte Conference, of which he is a member.

Mark street, it may be stated embraces the church on Mark street, and Bethel and Zion churches in Otonabee township

An Interesting Story From Buffalo of Local Interest

Dr. R. E. Campbell, One-Time Physician to Buffalo Millionaires, Dies Amid Obscurity—Was a Native of North Monaghan and Had Many Relatives Here

An interesting story comes from Buffalo concerning the death of a former Peterborough man, Dr. Robert E. Campbell, who apparently had had a somewhat romantic career. He leaves a large number of relatives in Peterborough and district, and the despatch from Buffalo, which is as follows, will be read with much interest here.;

Buffalo, N.Y., May 31.—Death has revealed the fact that "Doc." Campbell, who died in obscurity, at the Park Saloon Hotel on Monday without a friend at his bed-side, was none other than Dr. Robert E. Campbell, one time physician to the Buffalo millionaires, who married wealthy Helen Thornton, from whom he was separated after sensational divorce proceedings.

He lived and entertained, in the height of his social glory, in the mansion in aristocratic North street, later occupied by the recently deceased multi-millionaire, Frank Goodyear.

The adjustment of the estate has revealed the fact that the relatives of the dead man, who will divide the property, are for the most part in Canada. They include a niece in Toronto.

Four years ago he came to the Park Hotel, and there he lived, unknown to his prominent friends of the old days. No one called on him, except on business; he went out little, kept aloof in his room, and no one about the place knew or dreamed that the man who was droning away the years in his single little room was the formerly prominent Dr. Campbell.

He died on Monday with only a bell-boy at his bed-side, and not until Wednesday did the identity of the man, whose body had been unceremoniously taken from the hotel to the east side undertaker's, become known.

Dr. Campbell practiced his profession in quarters such as no other physician in Buffalo, before or after, has been able to boast of. His offices, separate from the household rooms, consisted of five expensively furnished apartments. There was a first reception-room, then a boudoir for women patients, with a maid in attendance.

Mrs. Campbell became unhappy because of that five-room string of offices, and the women who came there, and their married life became filled with quarrels. A tour of the world, which was to consume two and one-half years, was planned.

Then, seven years ago, Mrs Campbell began her divorce action in New York City, which was sensationally thrown out of court because of perjury charges. She named as co-respondent, Cora Alden, a Denver girl, and the offense was complained to have taken place in the hotel of the little town near which was Campbell's Nebraska ranch.

It was estimated, after Dr. Campbell's death, that his estate was worth about $100,000, but that this valuation is too high, is evident from the application made yesterday by Dr. Edward N Pfohl, of Buffalo, to Surrogate Hart to be appointed administrator of the estate.

According to the petition, the estate may not be worth much more than $15,000.

The relatives of the dead man, who are named in the petition, are as follows:

Rev. James Campbell, brother, San Francisco, Cal.; Mrs. Elizabeth Lowry, sister, Peterborough, Canada; Lorinda McCullough, niece, Newtonville, Canada; John H. Campbell, brother, Peterborough, Canada; Warren Samis, Norman Samis and Jonas Samis, Newcastle, Canada; Arvesta Gibson, Elizabeth Guerin, Margaret Hoar and Martha Hurd, West Superior, Elijah Scott, niece, Toronto.

LOCAL HISTORY

Investigation by the Review elicited the information that the John H Campbell referred to in the despatch is a farmer, and resides in Douro township, near Nassau. He is over seventy years of age. Mrs. Elizabeth Lowry, who was a sister of the late Dr. Campbell, died in Peterborough, on Wednesday, May 7th of this year. She was interred at Warsaw and at the time of her death was 79 years of age. Several nephews and nieces of Dr. Campbell reside in the city and district.

The late Dr. Campbell was born in North Monaghan township and was grown in manhood before he left this part of the country to go to Buffalo. He would be about seventy-five years of age, according to the statements of those who knew him when he resided in Peterborough.

TO-DAY'S MARKET, WELL ATTENDED

The market was fairly well attended this morning by both buyers and sellers, and a lot of produce changed hands. Changes in prices, however, were few, nearly all lines going at the same figures as last week.

Inside the hall, eggs sold at 17c per dozen and dairy butter in prints at 25c and 26c per lb. Chickens were quoted at 80c to $1.25 per pair, while turkeys were scarce and brought as high as $2.25 each.

Potatoes were fairly plentiful and went at 85c to 95c per bag. Green onions and radishes sold at 5c per bunch and lettuce went at the same figure. There was practically nothing offered in the meat line and business was slow in this department. Little pigs sold at $5 to $7 per pair, according to size.

The Ontario Medical Association has decided to take steps to secure the establishment of an institution for the treatment of inebriates.

BIG DEMAND FOR WHEAT BERRIES

There has been an extraordinary demand for Quaker Wheat Berries, the new product of the Quaker Oats Company. So great has been the request for the new food stuff that the factory cannot turn it out fast enough to fill orders and it is understood that the plant is 25,000 packages behind. Quaker Wheat Berries have made a great hit on the market even more so than Puffed Rice when it first came out.

PRESENTATION TO POPULAR LADY

Mrs. Stewart of Bobcaygeon Was Honored by St. Joseph's Congregation

A very pleasant incident occurred at the residence of Mrs. Stewart in Bobcaygeon, last Saturday evening. Rev. Father O'Leary, the popular pastor of St. Joseph's R. C. Church and a large number of his parishioners, called at Mrs. Stewart's home in a body and after an interchange of greetings, Capt. Maurice Lane, produced an address, which he handed to his daughter to read. It was directed to Mr. C. E. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart, and in well chosen words, it gave expression to the appreciation and gratitude, of both priest and people, which had been deservedly earned by years of self-sacrificing labor for the spiritual edification of the congregation and zeal for a fitting celebration of the Holy Mass. Mrs. Stewart has for many years officiated as organist at St. Joseph's and devoted herself unsparingly to the improvement of the musical service, while Mr. Stewart has been equally faithful and zealous in his work in the choir, his grand and well trained voice being always heard with fine effect in the offertories.

As tokens of the congregation's gratitude Mr. Stewart was presented with a commodious Morris chair.

BURKETON MAN CANNOT SURVIVE

Brought to St. Joseph's Hospital This Afternoon.

A man who has been employed as a section man by the C.P.R. in the vicinity of Burketon, was brought to the city on a freight train this afternoon and taken to St. Joseph's hospital in The Dan Spence ambulance. According to Dr. Gray, who is in attendance, the unfortunate fellow, only had a few hours to live, as he is suffering from lockjaw in an advanced stage.

It is not known what the man's name is as he has been unconscious since Thursday morning. To the railroad men with whom he worked, he was known as "Charley." On Thursday morning, he was found unconscious at the place where he had been boarding and a Burketon doctor who was called considered that the unfortunate fellow had been poisoned, but Dr. Gray states that such is not the case. His left side is paralyzed and the doctor states that he can only live a few hours.

Reynolds Ready for His Long Walk

Will Foot it to Toronto and Back From Port Hope

Three weeks from Monday, June 24th, James Reynolds will leave Port Hope and endeavor to make Toronto and return, a distance of 132 miles in 38 hours. It is a large undertaking, but Reynolds feels confident of winning and has wagered his $600 against $1,200. He is walking each day from fifteen to twenty miles, and states that he never felt in better shape. He tips the scales at 140 pounds, but expects to be five pounds lighter, before the event takes place.

He will leave here at one o'clock Monday morning, starting from the Queen's hotel, and will go to the King Edward hotel, Toronto. He does not intend to take any rest in Toronto, but will probably stop in Pickering for a short time. Jas. has it all figured out how he is to win, and as he says, no person is in a better position to know than he is.

Reynolds has deposited $300 against the opposition $600, and the balance will be put up a few days previous to the walk.

Strongly Opposes Garbage By-law

Mr. R. J. Todd Says Measure is Unjust and Unfair

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I have noticed many letters in your paper respecting the garbage system. We might ask who are the authors of these nom-de-plume letters who see so much perfection in this bylaw. Perhaps they are all written by men waiting for the contract, or some one having other axes to grind

If the advocates of this bylaw are sincere, and have a just cause, why do they refuse their names?

Now, sir, I have neither the time nor desire to enter into civic affairs, but have taken time to read carefully this garbage bylaw. And sir, I am surprised that any man would attempt to bind his fellow-citizens under a law so unjust, and unfair. It is simply another case of forcing the poor to pay the expenses of the rich. This may seem to be strong language, but let us view this bylaw under the light of reason and justice. While we fully appreciate the efforts of our City Council to adopt a garbage system, I for one, cannot allow this matter to carry without a protest.

We shall just consider at this time section 12, and sub-section D. of 131 First section 12.—In view of where I am now writing lives a poor widow. To get a living out of a house of 7 rooms she occupies one side of the hall, while she rents the other portion to an English couple. In the wording of this section each of these is taxed 15 cents per month, making $3.60 per year, for this small property. Circumstances compels them to live very savingly. Say as an outside figure they burn 4 tons of coal, which will be equal to two loads of ashes. At present it would cost them for removing $1.00, a loss to the poor widow and emigrant of $2.60. But you say some one must get this benefit. Let us see who it is. Across the street from the widow referred to, is a more expensive property, with luxury therein. I have been informed they use at least 21 tons of fuel a year. Putting together the refuse of a wealthy home, old boots, cans, pickle bottles, ale bottles, orange, lemon, potato and other peelings, you can safely count on three loads of garbage, and five loads of ashes, for $1.80, instead of the present cost of $4.00, The poor widow pays $3.60 and the rich neighbor $1.80, thus forcing the poor to pay for removing the rich man's garbage. Then with sub-section D of 13 there is another practical case. A lady has to make a living for herself. She rents a house and has six boarders to make a living. She must be very saving; she shuts off her fires when she can, sifts her ashes and burns everything than can be burned. In the past year she has just paid $1.00 for carting garbage and her yard is clean. Under this section of the bylaw she would pay $3.00; alongside of her is a professional man with six of a family and many visitors, who would have at least six loads of garbage; present cost $3.00; under proposed law $1.80. Therefore, the poor boarding house keeper, struggling for an honest livelihood, pays $1.20 more than the professional or private individual living on the interest of his money, and in luxury. Section 18 says that, on failing to pay this, and found unable to do so, they are liable to spend a term in the common gaol. This is the very beautiful law that our nom-de-plume finds so praiseworthy.

I sincerely hope that the ratepayers will see to it on Monday night that this bylaw is either amended or thrown out. Please pardon me for taking your valuable space. I felt I must speak out in the interest of my more humble neighbor, as well as myself.

Sincerely yours,

R. J. TODD.

"St. George's Baking Powder is good enough for me."

"What if I can make more profit on a powder that you say is just as good"?

"I have no use for those 'just as good' things. And I will not have 'cheap', impure baking powder in my store at any price."

"No, sir! People, who deal here, expect me to protect them against doubtful goods. And I am not going to risk losing good customers by selling a Baking Powder that I can't intelligently recommend."

Event of Historic Interest; Burning of Sir Robert Peel

Steamer Which Was Destroyed by Pirate Band 69 Years Ago During Troublous Days of the Rebellion—Mother of a Peterborough Lady Was on Board at the Time—Escape of the Passengers.

The burning of the steamer, Sir Robert Peel, during the troublous time of the rebellion in 1837-38, by Bill Johnston and his pirate band, is an event of much historic interest. It will also be of local interest to know that one of the lady passengers on board the boat at the time of its destruction was Miss Fisher, daughter of Judge Fisher of Adolphustown, afterwards, Mrs. Wallis, mother of Mrs. Walter M. Roger, of Peterborough.

The account of the stirring incident was first published in the Kingston Chronicle and Gazette, on June 22nd, 1838—nearly sixty-nine years ago. The report was later printed in many Canadian newspapers. The original report as it appeared in the Kingston Chronicle and Gazette will be read with much interest. It was as follows.—

The following account of the burning of the Sir Robert Peel will be read with deep and absorbing interest. It is from the pen of a young lady who was prevailed upon to draw it up, in consequence of the repeated requests of her friends. We have seen several accounts of the destruction of the Peel, and of the various circumstances connected with it, but this is by far the most satisfactory that has come under our notice. The simplicity and naivete with which the narrative is told entitle it to the highest credit. The fortitude which the young lady appears to have exhibited during the trials of that dreadful night bears ample evidence to the truth that woman in the hour of peril rises superior to fear, and that the greater the danger to which she is exposed the greater does her calmness and self-possession become.—Chronicle.

On the night of Tuesday, May 30th, between twelve and one o'clock, one of the inmates of the ladies' cabin on board the Sir R. Peel, upon suddenly awaking was alarmed by the deathlike stillness which seemed to pervade the boat, and demanding of the maid where we were, was told, "At Wells' Island taking in wood." This, owing to the total absence of all necessary noise, appeared impossible, therefore after a few minutes had elapsed, unable any longer to control her uneasiness she arose, and lifting one of the curtains at the side window of the door, beheld a number of armed and disguised men rush on the boat and immediately followed the screams of some French-Canadians, who were sleeping on the lower deck. At once, perceiving the actual state of the case but fearing that should she tell the truth, she might over alarm, and for the moment deprive us of our senses, she merely said to us, that she believed the boat was on fire, upon which we all jumped up and endeavored to dress ourselves. Thanks to her coolness we were sufficiently collected to make the attempt, except one young lady, who from terror for her father and brother, who were also on board, seemed through the whole affair, paralysed and deprived of all fear or power of exertion for herself, but none of us had time to do much, for hardly had we begun to dress when there was a loud knocking at our door accompanied by violent threats, in consequence of some unavoidable delay in obtaining the key and unlocking it. When it was opened one person who appeared throughout as possessing authority entered. His progress was arrested by the same lady, who courageously seizing his arm and telling him her name (which was one well known) asked what they wanted. The only answer was, "Come with me and I shall save you; the nations are at war." She then said, "But surely you will allow us to dress ourselves and save our luggage," to which he replied, "Yes," and left us. But before we had time to put on our clothes the windows were shattered by pikes and amid the most terrific menaces and imprecations, and cries of, "Remember the Caroline," the lady already mentioned and myself were seized by our hands by the same pirate and hurried away. When we had gone half across the deck we stopped and conjured him, by the feelings of a man to tell us what was to be our fate; his only reply was "I will defend you as long as you are with me," and in this state of horrible uncertainty we were pushed roughly on the wharf. He, then, I believe, returned for the others, who soon followed us. During this whole transaction we saw no human being save these robbers, and our fears suggested that the gentlemen had either been tied or murdered. We afterwards ascertained that they had been detained in their cabin by force. In truth we were for for some time in an awful state of suspense and agony, but God gives strength in need, and although some were alarmed, not only for themselves, but for parents, brothers or sons, yet all subdued their feelings and none added to our misery even by a scream.

We, five in number, were soon joined by one of the deck passengers, who, through mud and wet, and over sharp stones, some of us without shoes, and one lady with a baby in her arms, led us to the summit of the island, where we sat in perfect darkness, endeavoring to prepare ourselves for the worst, not daring to open our lips, being quite uncertain whether we were not surrounded by our enemies. We were after some time, much relieved by the gentlemen joining us. They advised us to go to a log hut near us, the lights of which we had before seen, but had feared to enter it, knowing we were on an American island. We now followed their advice, and had not been there very long before there was a cry of "they are setting the boat on fire," and we all went out to look. Instantly a brilliant flame ascended, the red light of which disclosed to us everything around us; the Sir Robert had been taken to a rather distant point, and our beautiful boat was burning, but we had no power to save her.

We saw the cowardly band when they had finished their fiend-like deed row quietly away through the calm water as if they had done nought to trouble us or them. Suddenly our thoughts were turned from ourselves and the pirates, for there arose from the midst of the flames, most piercing shrieks of "My God! My God! can anybody save me?" Fortunately there was a skiff moored at the wharf, which was quickly put off, but before it had reached the burning boat, the sufferer, who proved to be the mate, had thrown himself into the river; he was picked up and brought to the hut most dreadfully burnt. The woman of the house, who was Scotch, was very kind and attentive, but had little or nothing which could give relief. When again we thought of the pirates, they had disappeared.

All tried to do something for the unfortunate mate, but his groans during the whole night added much to our unhappiness. We had all this time remained with our feet wet and bare, none of us were quite dressed, but all had succeeded in putting on their cloaks, and most of us were perfectly aware that the little we had on was the extent of our wardrobes, for we literally had saved nothing, except our dressing cases, which they had allowed us to carry in our hands. But this loss seemed very trifling we had so much to be thankful for.

Right glad we were to see the Oneida, which arrived at about six o'clock. I am sure we shall ever remember with gratitude the kindness of Capt. Smith and the promptitude with which he altered his course to bring us to Kingston.

The woman on the island also deserves our praise for her kindness in assisting us. Besides the crew and passengers of both cabins, there were all those of the steerage, men, women and wretched little children crowded into her hut.

I positively think that had we shown the slightest restraint the ruffians would either have burned the boat with us in it, or have murdered us. Silence and obedience to their orders to "turn out instantly," were in this case the best proofs of valor.

I believe this, so far as I can remember, to be a true statement of our own proceedings. Of those of the gentlemen, I know little, save what I have read in the newspapers.—A PASSENGER in the ladies' cabin on board the Sir Robert Peel.

DOG NUISANCE GETTING WORSE

Lawn Owners are Annoyed and Put to Great Expense

It will not be long before that familiar heading "Dog Poisoner at Work Again," will appear in the local press if it doesn't it will not be because the residents on Weller street do not feel justified in ridding their section of the city of a pest. The people on that leading residential street, are spending a large amount of money on their lawns. Their idea is to make their street one of the most beautiful in the city and time and money are not being spared. But what is the use of it all. Every little while a mongrel cur or a score of them, belonging to people in all parts of the city, make a raid on the new lawn and terrace. The freshly raked ground, the newly sown seed, the tender young grass and the freshly made flower beds are scratched, dug and scattered to the winds. The lawns are turned into a public play-ground for dogs, and the property owners have to pay the expense.

The question is, "Which is most valuable to the city, a thousand dogs that pay $850 a year in taxes, or three thousand lawns, on which the owners pay $8,000 or $10,000 taxes?" Looking at it in that way it is clearly a matter for the city council to deal with and the property owners will look to them to decide which shall be done away with—the lawns or the dogs.

A NEW MAP OF THE DOMINION

The Review desires to acknowledge the receipt of a handsome map of the Dominion of Canada, handed to the staff with the compliments of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P. The map is a fine one and sufficiently minute to accurately place all parts of the Dominion. The business office of the Review will confiscate this map, though no doubt Mr. Hall intended it for the editorial sanctum. The sanctum has now five maps, which stand in a corner in various stages of delapidation. The only way to have a map in an editorial room, and keep the map in decent shape, is to hang it so high that it can't be reached with an umbrella or a broom. Place it lower and the editorial and reportorial staffs are so callous and hardened that they will scratch matches across the Great Lakes and adjacent territory. So the map will be put where it will be preserved—in the business office.

AMUSEMENTS

A ROYAL SLAVE.

The stirring romantic story of "A Royal Slave," the creation of Gordon & Bennett, was produced to a fair sized gathering at the Grand Opera House last night, and was given a cordial reception. The curtain calls were numerous, and the play abounds in many incidents of life typical of the early days in the southern republic, dealing with the career of a daring bandit, who masquerades in private life as a count, and the schemes of an adventuress who would stop at nothing to gain her ends. Mr. John Arthur as El Aguila, the last of the Montezumas, the early Indian rulers of Mexico, who portrayed the part of a faithful, devoted slave, won the good opinion of all for his conscientious work. Miss Jean Roberts, as Icadora De Ora, the Countess' daughter, also enacted her roll with feeling and abandon, while the comedy element was provided by Mr. Harry Wilson, as Humbolt Jones, a newspaper correspondent. Martin Pache, as Count Pedro Martinez, took his part with skill and tact, and Mr. Richard Kingham as the insane captive was realistic. Miss Helen Harrington as the Countess Inez De Ora, proved herself to be a capable and versatile exponent of the wiles of a designing woman.

WHAT THE PUBLIC ARE WAITING FOR

There has been nothing in the local bookings for the current season that will attract the interest of play-goers to a greater extent than "The Lion and the Mouse," which Henry B. Harris will present here in the very near future, and which comes with an endorsement which has not hitherto been vouchsafed any production of recent years. Charles Klein wrote the play and when Henry B. Harris gave New Yorkers the opportunity of viewing it they liked it so well it is now in its second year at the Lyceum Theatre in that city. The Boston judgment was expressed in crowded houses for six months, and in the eight months it ran in Chicago, the attendance exceeded anything in the history of Chicago theatricals. "The Lion and the Mouse" is booked here for Wednesday, June 5th. Box office opens Monday at 10 a.m.

SHAMEFUL CONDUCT

The uncanny spirit of the time seems to have infected this city. Reports are heard of improper conduct on the part of several young girls in the city parks. The caretaker of one of these places of public resort, and at this season of the year, of beauty and pleasure, says that his park is being made hideous by the actions of young girls from ten to fourteen years of age, who go there to meet boys of a corresponding age. He says the boys would be decent enough, if it were not for the girls. A Review reporter can testify that he has seen within one week, not less than ten different girls acting in a perfectly shameless manner. What is to become of Canada, if her young men and maidens are to follow the example of those in higher station, who are prostituting the name of this young country. But so long as the people continue indifferent to the character of its public men, they must expect that moral degeneration and corruption will break out in the most unexpected places. Once more the Review calls attention to these facts of local significance with the hope that it can render at least the young people some service. The Children's Aid Society we understand, is constantly on the alert, but if the source be corrupt what use is it to expend effort on the stream.

SCARCITY OF LABOR

The Weekly Sun, in seeking to understand why there is such a shortage of labor in the country, hits it fairly when it sums up the case thus; Higher wages in the towns and cities, the preference of many for the arts and sciences, the love for the crowd and the throng, and the greater freedom, outside of certain work hours, for occupations that are enjoyable, by the individual.

The wage question is the principal one, and it has much to do with the labor situation. The farm, the tillage of the soil, offers the most independent livelihood, and one that is not, we opine, sufficiently appreciated. Farm life is healthy, and in recent years it has been very profitable. It is not so diverting as life in the city, but it is immeasurably more satisfying to the one who desires peace and plenty and contentment.

The dearth of labor for the time being in Ontario has been caused by the removal of so many young men to the north west, where they have been able to acquire large tracts of land cheaply and with the promise of larger revenues, and an earlier competency.

RAILWAY FARES

The two-cent railway fare bill in Illinois passed the Legislature in response to popular demand. It followed the measures enacted in several other States during the past few months. Its constitutionality will be attacked in the courts on the ground that it aims at the confiscation of the property of the railways, through the imposition of an obligation to carry passengers in Illinois at a rate which will not pay the railways. If the constitutionality of the law is upheld it will be in the way of a declaration that 2 cents a mile as a maximum charge for carrying railroad passengers in Illinois is a living rate, says the Ottawa Journal.

The prescribed reduction of fares, as the Chicago Daily News has pointed out, ought to cause the railroads to regain some of the traffic between local stations which they have lost in recent years, from the competition of interurban trolley lines. The railroads, however, as they have, done in other States, are likely to make up part of the loss of approximately one-third of their passenger receipts by cutting down the number of trains, crowding the aisles with passengers, reducing their force of employees, and generally lessening the comfort and safety of their patrons.

The Chicago News seems to lay its finger on the root of the two-cent proposition. It professes that the people are entitled to lower passenger rates, and says that desiring them to receive precisely so large a reduction as would stand the scrutiny of the courts, it recommended action to that end by the state railroad and warehouse commission. Similar action was lately taken in Wisconsin through the agency of the railroad commission of that state, it being based on actual knowledge of railroad earnings. But it is admitted that the constitutionality of the measure—meaning, we assume, its simple decency, under which railways may live in Illinois— remains to be tested. And that, of course, is the point. If passengers cannot be carried profitably at two cents a mile the railways should not be obliged to carry them at that rate, unless, as in the case of certain railways in Canada, it be argued that by reason of the lands and moneys of the public domain granted them by Parliament, they should be constrained to make recompense in kind, which, of course, is absurd.

In Canada, the problem remains. Parliament has declined Mr. W. F. Maclean's several propositions for the enactment of a two-cent rate. The courts are wrestling with his proposition to enforce it, as against the Grand Trunk, whose charter of 1854 calls for it. The Railway Commission has recently ordered out of existence a series of passenger rate discriminations maintained by the Grand Trunk, especially east of Toronto, and has cut down scales on two big lines from the foothills of the Rockies to the Atlantic. And it has its eagle optic on the Canadian Northern, too. But this rate matter is not a matter to be handled by the people with the same brutal disregard for the interests of the railways as the railway companies are showing today for the interests of the people. The people must be right and until it be established in the popular tribunal that the railways can carry passengers at a profit at two cents a mile, that particular branch of railway reform should stand. Other more important matters press.

PEN POINTS.

Leafy June.

The month of marriages.

According to tradition, it is time to change your underwear and don your straw hat.

Although the weather is a trifle cool for summer garments, still Hon. H. R. Emmerson is finding his libel suit pretty warm.

It is said that there is a petition against the proposed garbage measure. There was never yet any progressive move that did not meet with opposition.

Canada has a hundred million acres of land unoccupied and untilled, and some people cannot be induced to go upon it. What is the matter with them, asks an exchange!

The Grit papers are laughing at the idea that an election may take place soon, but the Grit constituencies are picking out the candidates. The candidates may be only straws, but they show which way the wind is blowing.

The garbage bylaw is a necessary measure. It is in force in Brantford and is giving the utmost satisfaction. Why should progressive Peterborough lag behind in the matter of this great civic convenience?

Peterborough has been visited by two fires—one of which was rather serious—within five days. The way in which each was handled, and the prompt response of the department have won much commendation from those who witnessed the good work of the brigade.

The regular systematic collection of garbage was tried in Brantford in just one section at first. The result was so favorable that there was an immediate demand for the service in other parts of the Telephone City. Peterborough proposes to make the system universal—a good idea.

Some objection is being raised to the adoption of the garbage bylaw, on the ground that, while certain householders may not require to use it, having other ways of disposing of their refuse, they will have to help support it. Yes: we also have a county gaol, a police station and other accessories. We may not have use for them, but we have to help pay for their maintenance. It is for the general good of all, and that is the guiding principle and chief motive of the bylaw.

The work done by the various Children's Aid Societies throughout the province is becoming recognized as one of the most powerful and effective agencies for the reclamation and betterment of the children of the land. Children whose parents neglect ill-treat and cruelly use them, whose circumstances, surroundings and environments are such that the probability of the children turning out well and becoming good citizens, a source of wealth and enrichment to the country is of the remotest kind.

That every boy and every girl in the Province should have at least an opportunity of becoming a good citizen the "Child's Protection Act of Ontario" was passed in 1893, and the experience of fourteen years has proved it to be, 1, practical; 2, economical; 3, helpful, and 4, encouraging, and to-day there is more interest sympathy and effective work done than ever. There are throughout Ontario 64 societies in existence. 4000 children have been taken from poor homes and placed in adopted ones, where 1000 have grown up and are are now doing for themselves. Some are married and in their own homes, while there are 3000 still under supervision by the superintendent, Mr. Kelso and his assistants.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country, than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Methodists in Need of Men in the West

One Hundred Could be Placed There if They Could be Secured

A Toronto despatch says:—"The great need of the west is more than the Methodist church can conveniently cope with at the present time," said Rev. Jas. Allan, general secretary of home missions for the Methodist church, who has just returned from a trip to the North-west and the Pacific coast. "One hundred men could be placed if we had them. While we are in need of both money and men, we feel that if we secure the latter the wherewithal will be provided. Rev. Dr. Wordsworth, senior superintendent of mission for the church, will go to the old country in search of young men to take up church work in the west. Mr. Allan said when he arrived at Okanagan Valley, in British Columbia, the orchards were in full bloom, although the season was considered later than in former years.

"Earthquakes" Was the Subject

Two Interesting Papers Read at Astronomical Society Meeting

The meeting of the Astronomical Society in the Y.M.C.A. hall last night was a most successful event. The attendance was fair and two most interesting papers on "Earthquakes" were listened to with deep interest. They were given by Mr. D. W. Dumble and Mr. S. W. Lowry, and both showed careful study of the subject and considerable originality of thought in dealing with it. Mr. D. W. Dumble presided and read the first paper. It was a most interesting and edifying essay, the nature of earthquakes, the theory of their cause and other interesting information of this character. The paper showed careful preparation and was received with applause.

Mr. Lowry also dealt with his subject in a most interesting manner. Much of the information he presented was new to those present and the paper was couched in language easily understood by the amateur.

Votes of thanks were tendered Mr. Dumble and Mr. Lowry at the close of the meeting.

During the evening there was a short musical programme that proved most enjoyable. Miss Julia Choate delighted the audience with a violin solo with piano accompaniment by Miss Estelle Foy, and Miss Francis Manning gave a vocal solo in her usual pleasing manner.

Operetta Presented at St. Peter's School

Charming Entertainment Given by St. Mary's School Girls Last Night

St. Peter's school spacious concert hall was crowded last evening with an appreciated audience to hear the grand operetta given by the pupils of St. Mary's convent. The entertainment was one of the most enjoyable ever presented in the hall, the programme consisting of drills, instrumental and vocal numbers, an operetta, and a pantomime being given entirely by the children. The grace and precision of movement that characterized the drills, reflected great credit upon the untiring efforts of the sisters of St. Mary's, who so carefully trained the girls. It, indeed, must have been gratifying to them to see that those efforts were appreciated, as was amply proven by the large attendance and the hearty applause which greeted the several numbers. Sisters St. Fergus and Geraldine trained the children and everything was carried out in a most creditable manner affording evidence of the careful training imparted at the hands of the sisters. The excellent concerts given by the pupils of the convent in the past have been sufficient to draw a large audience but the entertainment last night eclipsed any previous effort. The programme was opened with a well executed instrumental duet by Misses E. Doris and K. McCarthy, who played violins, and Misses M. Grady and Sullivan, L. Hatrick and E. Morrow, who played pianos. This was a most pleasing selection and was loudly applauded. The scarf drill given by a number of little girls was a very pretty exercise. They were all attired in white frocks tied with sashes, each sash being a different color. As they went through the difficult movements an attractive scene was presented. They also sang in chorus, "Grandpa's Birthday," given by forty little girls and Mr. Jas. Weir, who acted a grandfather's part in a most acceptable manner, was a very delightful musical number. Mr. Weir's fine tenor voice was heard to good advantage in this number. Miss Vera Walsh and Miss Mollet, two little tots, sang a pleasing duet, and the "Good night" chorus was all that could be desired. When one considers the youth of the performers they were exceptionally well given. This was followed by a vocal duet by Misses Pearl Morgan and Nellie Hallihan, first soprano and Misses Helen Rush and Emma Derother, second soprano. Their selection was a creditable one and won merited applause.

The operetta entitled the "May Queen," was the enjoyable number of the evening. It was given in two scenes and the pretty costumes and the May pole dance presented a charming picture. This pretty fairy-esque opened with a splendid chorus by six floral maidens, who presented their claims for the honor of May Queen. Princess Goodwill, the good fairy, was splendidly portrayed by Miss Louise Potvin. Her song to the flower girls in which she asks them to select Charity, a little waif, for the Queen, was exceedingly well rendered. The part of "Charity" is taken by little Cecilia Shevlin. The flowers girls do not approve of Charity being May Queen, but Miss Kathleen O'Brien, as Moss Rose, in a contest for Queen puts forward Charity. She pleads for her in song. She has a sweet soprano voice and her solo was much enjoyed. The Fairy Queen transforms Charity into an attractive flower girl and she finally is declared May Queen amid much festivity. The Queen's subjects then enter and dance the Maypole in an excellent manner. The programme in full is as follows:—

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 62, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are, it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

The 24th Field Battery will hold a gun practice at the east city drill hall on Monday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. Members of the corps are requested to govern themselves accordingly.

Intending recruits should lose no time in presenting themselves for enrollment, as the service rolls must be sent to headquarters before June 7th, and it is necessary that all recruiting must be completed before that date. Those desiring to join should present themselves to Major Young or any of the officers of the Battery.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

"Safe Lock" Shingles can't leak.

They are the original interlocking metal shingles and the only ones which leave absolutely no nail holes exposed to the weather. They are proof against lightning, fire and water.

When we first brought out the "Safe Lock" Shingle, other makers were selling cleat shingles. Several imitations have appeared, but they have not solved the vital problem of concealing all the nail holes.

Remember that "Safe Lock" Shingles are nailed above the lock. Others are nailed through the lock, thus leaving nail holes exposed to the drifting snow and moisture.

Being heavily galvanized, "Safe Lock" Shingles will never rust. No dust or dirt can lodge on their smooth surface, and the result is clean rainwater in the cistern. Besides, our galvanized "Safe Lock" Shingles may be counted upon to outlast a generation, without one cent for repairs. Don't take our word for this, alone. Ask our customers in your neighborhood, how they like our goods and our liberal treatment. We'll send you a list of users in your county, if you write us. 48

Enjoyable "Tennis Tea" at the Oval

The Nicholls Oval Tennis Club held a most enjoyable "tennis tea" at the Oval last night, and those present had a delightful time. Over thirty members of the club were in attendance and the courts were well patronized before and after the refreshments had been disposed of. The Oval was never prettier than at the present time, and is a delightful place to spend an evening.

The Nicholls Oval Tennis Club has apparently a most successful season before it, and it is hoped that the players will turn out as often as possible.

Moulders From Port Hope And Cobourg Here June 19th

Are Running an Excursion to Peterborough—Port Hope Baseball Team Will Play the Local Nine

The moulders of Port Hope and Cobourg are running a joint excursion to Peterborough, on Wednesday, June 19, and are making big preparation for the event. One of the attractions at Peterborough for that day will be a baseball match between the Peterborough and Port Hope nines. These teams are old rivals and the match will no doubt attract a great deal of interest. It is some time since the Port Hope ball team played here, and it is understood that they have a stronger aggregation this year than ever before, and can be depended upon to give the fast Peterborough nine the game of their lives. It is expected that the excursion will bring in about five hundred people from the two lakeside towns and a big day is assured.

The Peterborough teams next game will be at Riverside Park, a week from today, when they will meet the St. Andrew's, champions of the Toronto Junction league. The Saints have a strong team and the match suhuld be a good one. The home team will practice faithfully next week, and will be in much better shape than when they won the three game series from the Arcties.

Useless, Unnecessary and Uncalled for Extravagance

New Armouries Being Built According to Ideas of Men Not Acquainted With Local Conditions---Board of Education and Citizens Will Protest Against Removal of Earth From Central Park

"Useless, unnecessary and uncalled for extravagance" is how a leading citizen described the armories this morning. That gentleman is not alone in his opinion, nor yet are his statements based on air. In referring to the manner in which the work is being carried on, and every one has noticed the same thing, he spoke of the extraordinary depth they have gone for the foundations. The greater part of the building is without a basement, and for the foundation the plans called for a trench six feet deep. At a depth of three feet the government would have struck the same solid and permanent gravel bed which has been undisturbed for centuries as was secured at a depth of six feet. Thus thousands of dollars of the people's money has been thrown away. At the bottom of the trench the foundation is five feet wide, while three feet would be just as strong and would last just as long. Several more thousands of dollars will be thrown away there. That is, of course, a matter of the Dominion, and the only part the people is to pay the bill.

Continuing, the citizen said, the extravagance of the government is not the most serious matter as far as Peterborough is concerned. The Board of Education is getting a very raw deal. The minor, or red tape officials of the government absolutely refuse to consider, or even hear any protest against the plans, and the beauty of the park is going to be ruined. In the first place, the contractor is giving all the material from the excavation to the city. The city is paying teamsters $3.60 a day to draw it away to build a road which will be worse when completed than before the repairs were made. Not only the gravel, but also the top soil, which is needed and is very valuable on the park, is being taken away, and all the land around the armories is going to be a gravel bed instead of a beautiful lawn.

The government has decided to change the original levels of the building, and the armories will be 18 inches below the grade of the Collegiate Institute. This in itself will be a matter of everlasting regret and will cost the people far more than it would be to keep the grade up and make the park attractive.

The plans originally made, or at least the Board of Education was given to understand, called for the front of the two dwellings to be in a line and on the same grade. The Board, therefore, made its plans to correspond. The foundations were constructed to correspond and provision was made for bringing the level of the park in front up. Nearly 100 loads of street scrapings were drawn on to the park and piled up near the old armories to have ready for levelling up the lawn in front. It was also figured that all the top soil from the excavation of the armories would be saved by the government for the same purpose. It is much more valuable than street scrapings, and it has been wasted, actually thrown away. The result is that no lawn grass cannot be grown on the park in its natural state. Earth has to be drawn on it in order to give grass a hold. The lawn fronting on George street was raised a foot and is now in excellent condition and a credit to the city. But unless the present intentions of the Dominion Government are changed, the back part of the park in front of the armories will be a disgrace to the city.

The Government has ignored the Board of Education from first to last, and refused to listen to any of their arguments. The Board wanted the two buildings brought out almost on a line with the old armories, and have all the parade grounds at the back. This was thrown down and every desire of the Board and the citizens has been thrown down.

The cause of all the trouble and the reason for the ridiculous extravagance on the foundation is due to the plans being preared without any knowledge of local conditions, and without, apparently, any desire to acquire any such knowledge.

The Board of Education intends to enter a protest to the Minister of Public Works at once, and to have His Worship the Mayor also send a protest. An effort will be made, even at this date, to have the wishes of the citizens and the Board of Education at least, taken into consideration.

Bread War Raging in Keene Three Pound Loaves Sell at 8c

Bread made in Peterborough is sold in Keene for less money than the same bread is sold for in Peterborough. The merchants in the village overlooking Rice Lake are hot after the bread business and they sell the three pound loaves at 8c., while in this city the people have to pay 9c., for three pound loaves. Consequently many farmers living in the vicinity of Keene who formerly bought bread from the merchants in the city are now buying it in Keene, and are also leaving a lot of other business there.

It was reported on the streets the other day that local bakers were selling bread to the Keene merchants for less money than they did to Peterborough merchants and paid the freight as well. This, however is not the case as will be seen by the following letter, received in reply to a query.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Regarding retail price of bread in Keene. Until several months ago, bread retailed here at 11 cents, on account of the high price in proportion to the cost of flour, the sale was much smaller than it should have been.

I handle a large quantity of bread, getting a supply daily, and selling some weeks as much as 450 to 500 loaves. Getting it in such quantities I am only charged the the minimum cartage and express rates and I can get it laid down in my store for about 8 cents.

I believed that if I sold it at 9 cents, I could handle so much more bread, that it would, at the smaller percentage of profit, give me a greater aggregate profit, so I reduced the price to 9 cents per loaf.

My competitors, who do not handle nearly as much bread as I do, and who only get in a small quantity every second day or so, told me that they could scarcely get their bread laid down at 9 cents and asked me to raise my price to allow them to have a profit on what they sold.

Refusing to sell bread at their price they decided to lose between half a cent and a cent on every loaf they sold, rather than allow me a profit on my bread, thinking thus to bring me to terms.

So for about three months we have been selling bread at 8 cents per loaf. I suppose you heard that the bakers were selling the bread, freight paid to Keene at 7 cents per loaf, and that we are selling it for 8 cents. Such is not the case. It is us, not the bakers, who are losing on profits.

Yours truly,
R. H. CAMPBELL.

Large Excursion From Queen City

St. George's Society, Toronto, Will Come Here at End of the Month

Towards the end of June the executive of the St. George's Society, of Toronto, will visit Peterborough in a body. The officers of the Society have an outing every year, and so far have never visited Peterborough. But the city has come so prominently before the world during the past couple of years that it has been decided to visit here this summer. Today Mr. J. M. Gander, President of the Society, and Mr C. R. Wheeler, of Toronto, are in the city arranging for the trip. They drove around the city for a couple of hours this morning and visited the principal places of interest. They are greatly impressed with the place, and Mr. Gander stated emphatically that they would come.

An effort will be made to have the party shown through the Canadian General Electric Works, and they will go over to the lift lock. There will be about forty in the party, and they will come down on a special car on the C.P.R.

If there are any members of St. George's Society in the city, Mr. Gander would be glad to correspond with them in reference to the proposed trip.

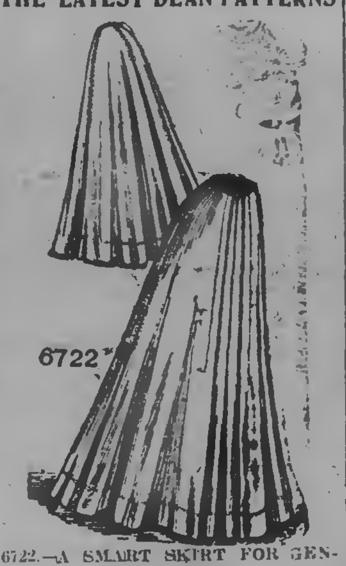
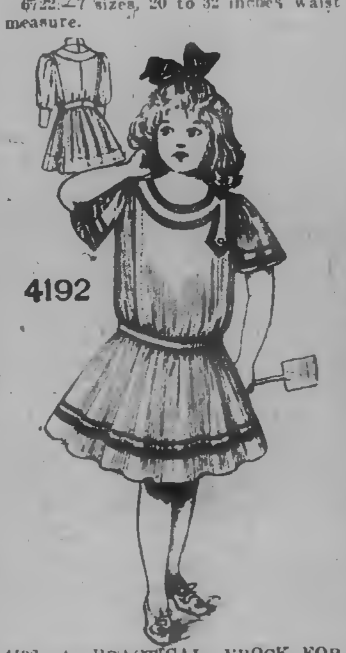
THE LATEST DEAN PATTERNS



6722.—A SMART SKIRT FOR GENERAL WEAR.

Now, that the fashion for separate skirts is again to the fore, many very chic new designs are to be seen and one is sketched which will please the particular woman. The skirt is a five piece circular one with tuck pleats in front and an under box pleat at the side and back to give it a wide ripple at the hem. The new skirts are most of them pleated in one way or another, and for the woman who does not desire a full pleated one the skirt shown is excellent. The medium size calls for 5 3-4 yards of 44 inch material.

6722.—7 sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist measure.



4192.—A PRACTICAL FROCK FOR SUMMER WEAR.

A style of dress which adapted to changes is always more valuable than one which must be in one mode only. Here is shown a dress which may be finished in low round neck and long sleeves for any season. The waist with its tucks at either side is attached to the skirt by a narrow belt and closes in back. The fanciful trimming band which finishes the yoke on neck edge may be of a contrasting fabric or not as desired. The tub fabrics as well as cloths are suitable to this style of dress. The medium size calls for 2 yards of 44 inch material.

4192.—8 sizes, 3 to 10 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

New York, June 1.—Sharp attacks on the copper and smelting shares this morning brought about a decided reduction in these shares, while the bears throughout the market were looking for weak spots. The market showed very little resistance and slowly sagged off. The bank statement was very poor, but had little effect on prices, and the market remained dull till the close, which was irregular and weak. The advance in cotton is very unfavorable to the market, and we may see quite a break in the next few days on this account. Wheat, however, is working lower and the crop killers are quiet. Things may not be as bad as some would have us believe.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

"I have sent for you to talk over your future with you, my Reine," he said, stroking her curling, golden hair. "That has happened to-day which may change my plans for you entirely. I have discovered that some one loves my darling very much."

Reine sprang to her feet, breathless with excitement: the deep blushes glowing and burning her dimpled cheeks, her breast heaving.

Had Waldemar been to her father already, and wished to surprise her? She looked anxiously into his face.

Where was the stern anger her lover had pictured to her—the opposition?

He was smiling down into her face, and there was a merry twinkle in his fond eyes, as though he were well pleased.

"I have discovered that some one loves my Reine very much," repeated the general, "and wishes to wed my daughter if she will look with favor upon his suit. Although it has been kept very slyly from me, as the young man supposed; yet old eyes are keen. I discovered his love for my Reine some little time since."

"Oh, papa, how in the world did you find it out so cleverly?" faltered Reine, half sobbing, half laughing in delightful girlish confusion. "We thought—I thought—you might be angry if you knew, and I was almost afraid to tell you, yet I really never meant to keep it a secret from you, papa."

"I discovered his love for you, my dear, some weeks ago," said the general, "and although I watched you closely, I could never feel quite certain that you cared for him. He is a noble young man, my child—the one I should have chosen for you above all others. I can die content, knowing that you will have such a protector. To tell you the truth, my dear, this is the very thing I have wished for all along. I was too well versed in the contrary ways of girls' hearts, though, to even suggest such a thing to you. Then you do love him, my dear?" questioned the general, earnestly. "I must hear it from your own lips before I give him his answer."

"Yes, I love him, papa," sobbed Reine. "I love him with all my heart. Life would be nothing to me without his love. Oh, I care for him so much, papa—more than all the world—except you."

The old general looked at his daughter in wonder. He had always thought of her as a dreaming child, knowing as little of life, or love, as the brilliant butterflies that flitted among the roses. He was amazed to discover the mighty, passionate love that beat in her breast.

He raised her quickly in his arms, kissing solemnly her smiling, tearful face.

"The one prayer of my life is granted, Reine. You love the man whom it has been my secret wish to see your husband, and he loves you. You both have my hearty consent and my blessing.

"He is in the next room, my darling, waiting with all a young lover's impatience to learn from me what your answer is. I will bid him come in," said the general, rising hastily.

Reine's heart gave a great, fluttering throb; her lover beneath the very same roof with her, in the very next room, and so soon to be with her—oh, joy, joy! She sank down in her father's great arm-chair, covering her flushed, happy face with her hands, trembling with excitement. Ah, how cruel of Waldemar to jest with her so.

She caught her breath, with a little suppressed cry of joy, when she heard the library door open. Her lovely head drooped lower; she could not raise her eyes to her lover's face, while her father stood watching them.

"My dear boy," cried the general, heartily, "my child has confessed to me that she returns your love. In giving her to you, the one wish of my heart is brought about—take her and be happy. You both have my blessing."

The general led him over to where his daughter sat. He knelt at her feet; then Reine shyly raised her blushing face from her trembling hands.

The next instant a piercing scream rang through the room—a cry that chilled and froze the hearts of those who heard it. Reine staggered back—a look of horror on her white face—a gasp of agony, pitiful to hear in her young voice.

"Oh, papa! papa! there has been some horrible mistake," she gasped. "I—oh, it is not Mr. Chesleigh whom I love. I—oh, it is some one else!"

The shock was so great that it would have killed a weaker man than Bernard Chesleigh—he loved her so. She sprang to her father's side like a wounded bird, and knelt at his feet.

"Forgive me, papa," she said: "I cannot be Mr. Chesleigh's bride. To-morrow you will know why."

CHAPTER V.

General Hastings and Bernard Chesleigh had listened in amazement to Reine's incoherent words without comprehending their import in the least; neither of them sought to detain her as she fled desperately from the room.

"I am literally astounded!" gasped the general. "The little witch confessed to me that she loved you, Chesleigh, scarcely five minutes since. I confess the ways of women are a mystery to me; I do not understand the sex—my own daughter included. I suppose they all have the trick of refusing a man in order to be coaxed and pleaded with; depend upon that."

"Do you really take that view of the case, General?" asked the young man, brightening up.

"Of course," declared the general, heartily. "You know its all stuff and nonsense about her caring for anyone else. She has never had a lover in her life—excepting yourself. The sly puss as much as told you to see her to-morrow about the matter, and if you are a courageous, dauntless wooer, my word for it, you will win in the end."

"I hope so, sir," responded Chesleigh, fervently.

The entrance of one of the servants interrupted further conversation, and Bernard slowly quitted the library.

Reine did not appear at the breakfast table the next morning; she sent word by the housekeeper, Mrs. Dent, that she had a severe headache and could not come down.

Bernard Chesleigh's face paled. Was it because she would not meet him, after what had passed the previous evening in the library? The general's broad smile and twinkling eyes reassured him, however, and helped to re-establish his composure.

"She is only trying your patience, my dear boy," he said, confidently. "Remember, 'a faint heart never won a fair lady.'"

Bernard sent up a beautiful bouquet of fragrant roses that he had gathered in the garden himself for Reine, with sincere regrets that she was indisposed, and begging if she were better that she would grant him but a few short moments before the luncheon hour.

"Tell him I can't see him, Mrs Dent," said Reine, piteously; and the housekeeper was startled at the white face the young girl turned toward her. She noticed, too, how carelessly the fragrant rosebuds were tossed upon the marble table, to wither away quite unheeded.

"Hadn't you better lie down and rest awhile, Miss Reine?" said the housekeeper, persuasively. "Your two cheeks are like fire, and your eyes unnaturally bright."

Reine did not even appear to hear her; she was standing at the window, watching the main road so intently, her little hands clasped tightly over her heart.

At last her weary vigil was rewarded; she saw her lover hastily approaching. He saw the lovely face pressed, flushed and eager, against the window pane; and raising his hat with a reassuring smile, he passed out of her sight. The next moment the resounding peal of the front door bell rang through the house.

A moment more and the library door opened and closed again, and she knew that her lover was ushered into her father's presence.

Oh, how her heart beat! She would have given the world to have known what was passing between them. How slowly the moments dragged themselves by.

"Would her father call her down?" she wondered.

With trembling hands she re-arranged the white lace at her dainty throat, and the wood violets that nestled on her breast, for the twentieth time; but no summons came for her.

She could hear the indistinct hum of voices in the library, and she knew by that that Waldemar was still with her father.

You and I will go back a little, reader, and witness the meeting between General Hastings and his daughter's suitor.

Waldemar Waldron had walked boldly up the marble steps, and rang the bell with a firm touch.

"Take this to General Hastings," he said to the servant who answered the summons, producing his card. "Tell him I wish to see him on a very particular errand, and I trust he will courteously grant me a few moments' time."

The general read the name engraved upon the bit of pasteboard in astonishment.

"What can Waldemar Waldron want of me?" he wondered, impatiently.

He received the young man coldly, indicating a seat, and after a few brief words of formal greeting, the general inquired what Mr. Waldron's business was with him.

It all came out then, and words are weak to describe the general's intense anger and dismay.

"I have told you everything now, sir," said Waldemar Waldron, calmly, "and I come to you to sue for the dear hand of your daughter, Reine."

He had made his plea, and waited for the answer. He had expected anger, but he was wholly unprepared for the terrible burst of passion to which the old lawyer gave way. No hurricane could have been fiercer. The storm burst, and he began in a voice of such withering scorn and bitter contempt that the young man looked in wonder and alarm at the general, who shook with such furious rage, and whose face was fairly livid. There was little to be hoped from Reine's father, and there was nothing for it but to sit there quietly while the tempest he had evoked raged on.

"You ask for my daughter—you!" he cried—"a New York roue and villain of the deepest dye! I know all about you. Why, man, you are mad to think I would give you my lovely young daughter!"

"It is a very common madness, sir," responded Waldemar Waldron, striving to keep back his anger at the bitter epithets the exasperated old millionaire hurled at him. "I love your daughter, and I ask you to give her to me."

"And I refuse!" roared the general. "I would rather see her dead and buried than wedded to you—yes, dead! with her blue eyes closed, and her little white hands crossed over her pure breast. You were a dastard to creep into her innocent heart through letters smuggled to her without my knowledge and consent. I understand you. You dared not boldly present yourself here as my daughter's wooer; and your motive, too, in laying siege to her heart is clear to me. Love! Bah! such a man as you are has forgotten the meaning of pure, innocent love years ago. You had an eye to my poor child's prospective wealth."

"I am poor, compared to what your daughter is worth, I admit; but it is not her money I want, sir, it is herself. I can work for my wife," replied Waldemar Waldron, haughtily.

"You work!—You!" cried the general, scornfully. "Not while money can be made by any other means. Now listen to me, young man, and heed well my words," cried the old millionaire, his anger increasing with every word: "If my daughter were to marry you, I would cut her off without a shilling. She should never have one cent of my money, not even if she were starving! Do you hear—starving! I tell you, you would wed a penniless girl—for penniless she would be, for all of me, until the day she died; this I swear to you, and men of my race never break an oath. Let us end this, Mr. Waldemar Waldron. I refuse you my daughter. Never dare to see her or write to her again. Let this be the winding up of this so-called love affair."

Waldemar Waldron looked fixedly at the enraged general.

"Have you thought what parting us might mean for your daughter as well as myself? Remember she loves me—to whom she has plighted her troth—loves me with all her tender heart."

"Do not dare to stand there and tell me that!" cried the general, clutching at his cravat as if to tear it to give himself more room to breathe. "Do not dare to say it—you madden me!"

"But she does—indeed she does, sir," persisted the young man. "Send for her here and now, and she will tell you that she loves me!"

"I will not believe it," exclaimed the old man, bluntly. "Your face may have fascinated her, but she could not love you; after you have been separated from her six months she will have forgotten all about you. You have broken the heart of many a trusting young girl, but you shall never break my Reine's. Go, now, Mr. Waldron; please consider this very unpleasant interview at an end."

"I will go, sir," said Waldemar Waldron, "but the time may come when you will perhaps recall me. Fathers have done more than that before now to save a beloved daughter's heart from breaking."

"Better die of a broken heart than live as your wife," said the general, sternly; but his face whitened under the young man's words.

The general pointed to the door.

"Leave my house," he said, passionately, "and if you are wise you will leave the neighborhood. I know that about you which would make your stay in this neighborhood disagreeably unsafe. I will give you twenty-four hours to leave it. If I find you are still here at the expiration of that time, I will telegraph on to New York and ask if Waldemar Waldron is wanted there. One broken-hearted girl would find an answer to that."

"As you will it," returned Waldemar Waldron, with defiant haughtiness. "It seems useless for me to attempt to refute the charges you insist upon bringing against me. I leave your house and the neighborhood. It has little enough attractions for me now. But, if at any time you should ever want to recall me, I leave you my address. I am going west, to Cincinnati. A line to my bankers there will reach me at any time."

He placed another card upon the table, bearing the address of a Western banking firm. His own name was written beneath it.

"I shall have no use for it," said the general, sweeping it into his waste-basket.

Waldemar Waldron lifted his hat, and with a mocking smile on his fair, handsome face, turned on his heel and quitted the house.

He glanced eagerly up at Reine's window as he passed out of the grounds, but he did not see Reine.

She was pacing restlessly up and down in her room, and had not heard the hall door open and close with a bang on the retreating form of her chagrined, vanquished lover.

He had gone some time ere she noticed that the hum of voices had ceased in the library. She listened intently for more than half an hour. All was still as death below. She could bear the suspense no longer; and, blushing and hesitating with girlish confusion and expectancy, she glided down to the corridor below and timidly entered the library.

The general sat there alone before his desk, his gray head bent heavily on his hands.

His daughter stole timidly up to him.

"Papa," she cried out, nervously, "where is my lover? What have you done with him?"

Ah, how should he answer her?

CHAPTER VI.

General Hastings raised his head slowly and looked with emotion too great for words at the beautiful young daughter who knelt at his feet. He had faced the foe on the battle-field, boldly charging forward, with shot and shell falling like hail around him, and he had felt no fear; but his heart failed him at the ordeal he must pass through now. He nerved himself for it, however.

"Where is he, papa?" repeated Reine. "My lover was here to ask you to give me to him. Tell me what answer you made him?"

Her intense, pitiful eagerness overcame the coy, girlish bashfulness that was her usual wont, as she looked up into his face.

The general's answer must be spoken sooner or later. He took the little, white, trembling hands in his own strong ones.

"I sent him away, Reine," he answered, steadily. "He will never come back again—never. You must learn to forget him, my child. Would to God that you knew that man as he is: a profligate and a villain. It was your wealth he wanted, Reine, not yourself. And I have told him that which will cause him to look elsewhere for a wealthy bride. He will cross your path nevermore. You must learn to forget him."

Reine Hastings rose slowly to her feet, facing her father with a white, awful face. He could scarcely recognize in the passionate, angry girl that stood before him his loving, tender Reine, the child of his heart, the daughter of his old age.

"You have sent him away—parted two hearts that Heaven intended for each other: I could sooner die than give him up! Oh, papa! papa! let him come back to me!"

The words ended in a wail of anguish that wrung the old man's heart to the very core.

"It can never be, my Reine," said her father, tenderly. "I know best, dear. The time will come when you will thank me for saving you from your own folly. You are infatuated with the villain. This is not love, such as will come to you when you are older and wiser."

"Is it not real love when I would die for him?—when I would welcome death rather than live through the weary days without him? It is not your wealth he wants; you misjudge him cruelly. Recall him and give me to him, and you will see that we can get along without help from you. Oh, papa! you must!"

"Would you give me up for this man if you knew that I should cast you off forevermore from my heart and home for making such a choice?" he asked, huskily.

His lovely young daughter crept up to him and knelt down at his feet.

"My mother gave up everything for you," she said.

A sudden idea came to the general.

"We will compromise matters," he said, slowly. "If your lover is really in earnest in his wooing he will come to me again to urge his suit; he will not be satisfied with 'No' for an answer, and when he comes I may reconsider my decision."

A Charming Little Gown for Summer Days

Some of the most pleasing modes of the summer for little girls are found in the different guimpe and over-blouse effects. The fashion is not only suited to youthful wearers and very becoming, but practical for warm days when the guimpe may be omitted and the little maid be as comfortable and happy as freedom from all discomfort can render her. The dress sketched consists of a full waist and sleeve caps and a circular skirts laid in box plaits and attached by a waistband. The style of the gown is excellent for attractive adornment and may be developed in chambray, gingham, linen or mull, while many find pongee very good for small gowns as it launders well and wears splendidly. The medium size calls for 4 5-8 yards, 27 inches wide.

They may be made of any stout material, such as crash or denim. For the medium size 2 1-8 yards are needed.

Bold Burglars Seen On the Track

While one of our citizens was out walking with his wife on May 24th he happened to visit the overhead bridge at the head of Moira-st. On the railroad track below he saw three men, who, he says, answered perfectly the description given of the men who robbed the Alexandra jewellery store and terrorized Bancroft. The men when seen were singing and laughing and apparently enjoying themselves. They probably went to Trenton and took the C.O. R. for the north.—Belleville Intelligencer.

FIRE DESTROYED LARGE SAWMILL

One of Lindsay's Chief Industries Wiped Out by Flame To-day

Special to the Review.

Lindsay, June 3.—Kennedy & Davis' saw mill, one of Lindsay's leading industries, was burned this morning at one o'clock.

Over 50 men are out of work as a result of the fire. The cause of the blaze is unknown. The fire had gained considerable headway before the firemen arrived on the spot. They, however, did splendid work in preventing the spread of the flames. One of them, Joe Bell, was hit on the head by falling timber and was unconscious for over an hour.

The loss will be heavy, partly covered by insurance.

JACKSON PARK TO BE OPENED

Band Will be There To-morrow Night

"Band at Jackson's Park to-morrow night," is the way an ad. reads in today's Review, and this will no doubt have more influence in convincing people that summer is really here than any other agency. The park never looked better than at present and no doubt a big crowd will be on hand tomorrow night if the weather is fine. The merry-go-round, bowling alley and other features will be in full swing. Moving pictures will be put on in the course of a few days.

There will be a band at the park every night this week, except this evening.

ONE BURGLAR IS NOW IN THE TOILS

A Tweed despatch says:—Constable Sedore of Actinolite yesterday brought in a man supposed to be one of the burglars who looted R. H. Cudden's jewelry store at Alexandria on May 15th. He is a man about 25 or 30 years of age and is slightly lame. He will not give information of his movements. He has been searched, but nothing was found to connect him with the case. He will be held here till Monday.

WORK OF T. A. S. APPRECIATED

He referred to the great work the Society is doing and the good it has accomplished since its establishment in Peterborough.

Serious Charge as to Subjects Taught

The Colborne Express makes some serious charges against Canada's Public schools; "Reading, writing and spelling—we say it regretfully—are no longer thoroughly taught in the schools of the land. Young men and women who seek instruction in telegraphy, stenography and typewriting, although of good ability and general information, are lamentably deficient in the fundamentals of the English language. They especially cannot spell. Out of thirty or forty words in ordinary use, sometimes one-half, or even two-thirds, are mis-spelled. This every newspaper man stands ready to vouch for from experience. The schools no longer give the common rudiments the attention they should—too much attention is given the higher branches before the common ones have been mastered. Especially do they neglect reading. Girls and boys attending the common schools should be thoroughly drilled in reading aloud, to develop the use of their vocal organs, not only in reading, but in spelling and reciting. Young ladies and young men, you should pay more attention to the common rudiments."

The head offices of the Sovereign Bank are to be moved from Montreal to Toronto.

The Asselin Libel Action; Outcome of the Famous Case

Jury Could Not Agree and Were at Once Dismissed.

Judge Receives Threatening Letter—Severe Charge From the Bench—"Le Soleil" Fined For Contempt of Court—Judge Declares Mining Department Was Neglected—Was No Malversation.

Quebec, June 3.—The disagreement of the jury in the Asselin libel case Saturday and their immediate dismissal by the judge was no surprise, for as the judge himself declared in addressing the jury, the case had assumed quite a political character for some time past, or ever since the correspondence concerning subscriptions to an alleged electoral fund came out in evidence.

The Government and its friends claim that the jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. Asselin's friends assume to know that the twelve jurymen were equally divided in opinion. The defence consider the disagreement to be a success, and Asselin's friends in court crowded around him after the jury had been dismissed to shake hands and congratulate him.

Sensational Incident.

The most sensational incident of the day was the court's statement that it had received threatening letters during the trial. Judge Bosse did not relate this fact to the jury, but only after the latter had retired to consider its verdict and when the judge proceeded to take up the rule against Le Soleil newspaper for contempt of court in intervening in the case and attacking lawyers and witnesses. For this offence Mr. Dhellencourt, the responsible editor, was fined $50, though his friends declared publicly, after the court adjourned, that Premier Gouin, Attorney-General, who was in court himself during the proceedings, had assured them that the fine would be immediately remitted by his department.

Everybody Attacked.

In dealing with this case Judge Bosse said that a regular tempest seemed to have blown over the city since the trial commenced. Everybody had been attacked, including lawyers and witnesses, and even the court itself. He had been threatened by an anonymous letter to be cited before Parliament and even to lose his pension if he did not change his method of conducting the case. It might seem incredible, but it was true.

The letter he received said:

"We are in power at Quebec and in Ottawa, and if you do not change your attitude we will cite you before Parliament and will make you lose both your salary and your pension."

He explained that he had not read this before the jury because he did not wish it to influence them.

No Chance For Agreement.

The court spoke for an hour and a half and the jury, which retired at 11.30, returned into court at 12.45 and declared they could not agree, even if locked up for a year. They were then discharged. The charge was a moderate one. The court expressed the belief that the case should never have come before it, but have gone to the civil courts. He had done his best to prevent it coming, but the crown had insisted.

He declared that the evidence proved neglect of the mining department by the Minister, though he was busy with colonization matters at the time and not perhaps personally to blame. Nevertheless the facts were proved. As for Mr. Turgeon his character was left intact, and there was no malversation against Mr. Prevost, either proven or charged. But there was no malice proved against Asselin by the prosecution.

Present Chinese Uprising Is Lead by the White Fans

Rebellion Was Started by Alleged False Arrest.

Leaders Wrongfully Accused of Being Pirates—Prefect and Other Officials Killed—Six Hundred Rebels Slain In Battle—Are Well Fed and Organized But Badly Armed—Uprising Centres At Juan.

Amoy, China, June 3.—The centre of the present Chinese uprising is at Juan, 50 miles southwest of Amoy. The officials there arrested the leaders of an organization known as the White Fans, charging them falsely with being pirates. The prisoners escaped, collected their followers, killed the prefect and other officials and held the local magistrate as a hostage.

Emboldened by this success, 30,000 rebels gathered and threatened Chaechowfu. Troops were hurried from Canton and Fuchow, and engaged the rebels Saturday between Swatow and Amoy, with the result that 600 of the latter were killed. The Government loss is not known. The rebels withdrew, but were not dispersed, and are rapidly recruiting their forces.

The correspondent here of the Associated Press is in a position to confirm the statement that the outbreak is not anti-foreign, but anti-dynastic. The White Fans are a revolutionary organization, and are strong in Southern Foukien. The movement has been growing steadily for 18 months. The leader is Soon Wen, who was educated in Japan. The rebels are well-organized and well fed, but are badly armed, so the local troops refuse to attack them.

The United States gunboat Helena is here. The outcome is uncertain, but Amoy is in no danger. On the other hand, Changchow, of which Amoy is the port, is in imminent danger of being attacked by the rebels, and people are fleeing from there to Amoy.

MURDERS WRONG WOMAN.

Young Mother Victim of Drunken Man's Jealousy.

Freeport, Ill., June 3.—Mrs. Edna Humelbagen, 19 years old, was shot to death yesterday by Herbert Springer, 18 years old, of Rockford, Ill., who chased Mrs. Humelbagen from her baby through a crowd in Ninth street; thinking she was a Rockford woman who had spurned him. Springer last night revived from an alcoholic stupor and raved over the fatal mistake.

Mrs. Humelbagen had been married only seventeen months, and was wheeling her six-months-old baby along Ninth street, on a shopping trip. As she stopped to re-arrange the infant in the cab, Springer stepped up and muttered a threat that caused the young mother to retreat a few paces from the baby carriage.

With a hand made unsteady by drink, Springer drew a revolver and fired at the woman, missing her. As the man paid no attention to the child, but started toward the mother, she turned and fled down the street, pursued by Springer.

A second shot missed Mrs. Humelbagen as she ran, and, nearly overcome by fright, she tried to enter Aton's grocery, calling for help. Just as she reached the door of the grocery, Springer fired a third shot, and the bullet struck her dead as she fell into the arms of Grocer Aton, moaning, "Save me for my poor baby's sake."

BOY KILLS FATHER.

Was Protecting His Mother Against the Man's Attack.

New York, June 3.—In protecting his mother, Anthony Fuscilo, a 19-year-old lad, shot and killed his father, John Fuscilo, a laborer. The boy was arrested and told the police that his father came home in an irresponsible condition yesterday and threatened the mother with a revolver.

He declared he grappled with the elder man, wrested the pistol away, and that his father then started for him with a knife. Then he pointed the loaded gun at his father's head and fired.

Women's Body Found.

Selkirk, Man., June 3.—A search party found the body of Mrs. W. Chambers, who wandered away from her home at Oak Hammock, on Saturday. She has been missing for nearly a week. The body was found about a mile and a half from the house, and death was apparently due to exposure.

Accused of Grave Offence.

Belleville, June 3.—David N. Fife, who is charged with criminal assault, committed on little 5-year-old Bessie Collins of this city, was brought up in the police court Saturday and was fully identified by his childish victim.

Fife was then remanded till next week.

Forged His Father's Name.

Windsor, June 3. Russell Lonsbury, the 16-year-old boy, who is accused by his father of taking $130 from an Essex Centre bank, by signing the father's name to a cheque and disappeared, has been located by Detective Campeau. The boy will be sent back to his father's place at Kingsville.

GODFREY IS ELECTED.

Chosen By Large Majority to Represent West York.

Toronto, June 3.—Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Conservative, on Saturday was elected by a majority of about 2,500 as member for West York in the Legislature, his two opponents, Esten Williams, Independent, and F. J. Peel, Socialist, polling a ridiculously small vote.

Dr. Godfrey came out as a clean-cut advocate of the Beck power propaganda.

In Vaughan he upset a Liberal stronghold, supposed to be impregnable.

He has the vein of a fighter, the convictions of a champion of the people, and from the outset his career in the House will be observed with interest.

DR. FORBES GODFREY.

Forbes Elliott Godfrey was born in West York, near Downsview, 40 years ago. He is an M. D. of Toronto University, and also has the degrees of Glasgow and Edinburgh. After his course at the Scottish universities, he began practising at Belgrave, Ont., where he remained three years. In 1893 he came to Mimico, and in 1894 he was married to Miss Mary Carson of Belgrave.

STEAMER SUNK IN COLLISION.

Serious Accident In Detroit River—Selwyn Eddy Goes Down.

Detroit, Mich., June 3.—The steamer Selwyn Eddy, one of the Shaw-Eddy fleet of boats, was sunk in the Detroit River on Saturday, in a collision with the steel barge, Maida, owned by the United States Steel Corporation.

Immediately after the collision the captain of the Eddy headed for the Canadian shore, and his steamer sank about 50 feet from shore in 25 feet of water, with her main deck submerged but a short distance.

None of the crew was injured.

The collision occurred just off the Village of Ecorse. The Maida was down-bound in tow of the steamer Vanhise, and was cast off opposite the plant of the Great Lakes Engineering Company, where she was to go for repairs.

The big barge became unmanageable in the current before her anchor caught and she sheered into the Eddy, which was upbound, from Sandusky to Milwaukee, with coal.

The Maida, it is reported, did not suffer much damage.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN HOME.

Veteran Tariff Reformer Still Unable to Resume Active Politics.

London, June 3.—After the recent re-assuring reports from St. Raphael, France, regarding the improvement in the health of Joseph Chamberlain, his arrival in England on Saturday night was somewhat of a shock to the friends and admirers who gathered to meet him both here and at Dover. Quite apart from the fatigue of the troublesome journey, which he bore well, it was evident that Mr. Chamberlain was still a long way from such recovery as to give hope of his resuming political life with any activity.

In response to enquiries, the family authorized the following statement:

"Mr. Chamberlain has returned much improved in health and none the worse for the long journey. He has not yet made any plans, but will certainly remain in London for a time."

Educational Conference.

London, June 3.—(C. A. P.)—An official report of the private meetings of the Federal conference on education shows that in reference to the interchange of teachers and inspectors that the conference resolved that it was desirable that financial and administrative arrangements should be made for such a purpose. The conference also expressed the opinion that quadrennial conferences were desirable, and that the first should be convened by the Imperial Government. This will be held probably in 1911.

Boy Drowned.

St. Catharines, June 3.—Jack Murdoch, 5 years old, was drowned in the old Welland Canal yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock. With his brother, Stuart, aged 7 years, he was playing on the banks of the military canal and fell in.

The body has not yet been recovered.

Young Boy Drowned.

Kincardine, June 3.—Thos. Leithead, a boy of some 12 years of age, son of Thomas Leithead, Sr., lost his life on Saturday by drowning. In company with some other boys he was on a raft when a gust of wind upset the raft, throwing the young fellow into the lake.

St. Kitts' Carpenters Go Back.

St. Catharines, June 3.—Local carpenters, who have been on strike several weeks, have accepted the compromise of the contractors to settle at 33 cents, and have returned to work.

The customs revenue for the month of May totals $5,333,253, an increase of $1,303,961.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Balloon at Military Manoeuvres Drops Seven Hundred Feet.

Collapsed and Fell to Earth—Great Bag Burst With Terrific Detonation When Struck—Aeronaut Found Alive But Unconscious — Died Shortly After Falling—King Victor Emmaneul Witnessed the Scene.

Rome, June 3.—A tragic incident took place during a review body yesterday of troops by Victor Emmanual and Queen Helena. As a part of the manoeuvres, a military balloon was sent up to a height of 700 feet, with Uilivelli in the car.

A storm which had been coming up burst suddenly, and the thousands of spectators were horrified to see a flash of lightning strike the gas bag. There was an enormous burst of flame and a terrific detonation and the collapsed balloon, with its dangling car, fell to the earth over a mile from the scene of the review.

Crowds of persons, afoot and in autos and other conveyances, rushed in the direction where the balloon had fallen. Uilivelli was found alive, but unconscious. He was paced in an auto and rushed to a hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

King Victor Emmanuel and the military authorities went to the hospital after the review to enquire concerning him.

COUNTY MUST PAY ALL.

Decision, Handed Down By Judge McHugh, Affects Many Bridges.

Windsor, June 3.—County Judge, McHugh has decided in favor of Rochester township in its suit brought against Essex county over the construction and maintenance of the bridge over the Ruscombe river. The bridge proper is one hundred feet in length, with approaches on either side which add five hundred feet to the length.

Judge McHugh upholds the township's contention that these approaches are a part of the bridge. The statutes require the county to assume all expenses of bridges over three hundred feet long. There are about twenty-five such bridges in this county.

The decision, if it stands, will compel the county to take over all of them and assume a large and unexpected expense.

EARTHQUAKE IN ECUADOR.

Three Shocks Felt at Quayaquil—Set Church Bells Ringing.

Quayaquil, Ecuador, June 3.—Three earthquake shocks on Saturday caused the inhabitants of this city to jump from their beds and run panic-stricken into the streets.

The first and last of the shocks were slight, but the second was heavy and lasted about 40 seconds, causing the bells in the churches to ring and stopping the clocks in the church towers.

No news has yet been received from the interior of the republic, but it is considered probable that damage was done by the earth shocks in the country.

Owing to the peculiar construction of the buildings, the disturbance did not cause any damage in this city.

North York Liberals.

Newmarket, June 3.—In a convention which Saturday packed the Town Hall to overflowing, Frederick Underhill of Aurora was nominated to contest the riding of North York in the Liberal interest in the Provincial Legislature in opposition to the sitting member, Herbert Lennox, M.P.P.

Fred Underhill, the candidate, is a native of Markham Township, and previous to moving to Aurora, where he has been for the past years, was engaged in the manufacturer of boots and shoes in Markham Village, and is senior member of the firm of Underhill & Sisman, and conducts a large factory employing about 100 men.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

It was pitiful to see the joy that broke over Reine's face, and to see how she threw her white arms around his neck and thanked him with smiles and tears. She would send a note to Waldemar that very night, and on the morrow he would be sure to call on her father again; then all would be well. In a moment she was his own imperious, wilful Reine again, smiling and blushing by turns.

"I am sorry for what occurred in the library last night," she whispered, softly; "but, oh, papa! I thought it was Waldemar whom you meant all along. I never dreamed that Mr. Chesleigh cared for me; he is so old and grave, you know. You must tell him just how matters are."

"Heaven help poor Chesleigh! He loves you with a true and noble love, Reine. Some day you may be better able to judge between solid gold and glittering tinsel."

She kissed him, and ran lightly up to her own room, and sitting down to her writing-desk, penned a hasty note to her lover, telling him of her interview with her father, and of the promise he had made at the close of it.

This she hurriedly sealed, and throwing a lace scarf over her golden curls, took it herself to the old oak tree, where Waldemar would be sure to come in search of a line from her, or with a heart-broken note, telling her all that had passed between the general and himself.

How the sun shone on the ivy-covered walls and on the bright-hued flowers as she sped along! No one saw her as she approached the old trysting-place.

She was about to place her letter in the usual receptacle when she observed with joy that a letter was already there for her, from Waldemar.

She drew it forth with trembling hands and hurriedly broke the seal. There were but a few brief lines, and read as follows:

"My Dear Reine,—All is over between us, it seems, as you are probably aware by this time from the old gent. I came and saw; but, instead of conquering—was vanquished. I am off in a deuce of a hurry, having barely time to scribble these few lines to you. Keep your heart warm toward me. More anon.

"Yours in the greatest of haste,
"WALDEMAR WALDRON."

Slowly the girl read it through—once—twice—the letters fairly burning themselves upon her dazed brain; then it slipped from her nerveless fingers and fluttered down unheeded among the blue harebells at her feet.

Gone! and without as much as a word for her! Gone! Left her in darkness and in gloom, to die of a broken heart. Was it true? Had he gone away? Had he taken her father at his word and left her forever?

"Waldemar!" she whispered.

The very winds among the trees seemed to mock her, and murmur in their fitful rustling that he had gone.

She leaned back heavily against the old oak tree for an hour or more. She did not cry out, or utter any moan, but stood there like a marble statue. She could almost feel the beating heart in her bosom slowly parting in twain.

It was a wonder that the careless tone of the note did not jar upon her keen sensibilities; but it did not.

At that very moment, in the library, General Hastings was recounting all that had transpired to Bernard Chesleigh. It was like a death warrant to the young man, but he bore the terrible shock bravely.

Reine, whom he had worshipped so blindly, loved another, and that other, Waldemar Waldron. It was a severe blow to him. Had it been a noble and honorable man to whom Reine had given the love of her tender young heart he could have borne it better.

"Tell her, General, to forgive my presumption that she could ever love one as old and grave as myself. A sedate man of twenty-nine must seem a very patriarch to a gay, fun-loving girl of sixteen. She shall never be grieved by hearing more of this subject from me."

He turned and walked slowly out into the grounds that skirted the villa, attempting to find momentary solace in his companionable cigar.

The general looked after him thoughtfully.

"He is one of nature's true noblemen," he sighed. "Would to Heaven that Reine had given her heart into the keeping of such a man."

Then a hopeful smile crept about his bearded lips.

When Reine had learned to forget Waldron, and had time to realize her folly, she might look more kindly upon Bernard Chesleigh, and, appreciating him, learn to care for him. That was the future the fond old father mapped out for her.

In turning a bend in the path Bernard Chesleigh had come face to face with Reine. He started back in confusion. The girl scarcely stirred. The dead whiteness of her face startled and alarmed him. She hardly appeared to note his presence.

"Reine," he said, kindly, advancing toward her, "your father told me all. Forget the words I have spoken; look upon me hereafter as a kind and loving brother, one who would lay down his life for you, asking no reward but that you may ever be happy."

He stopped abruptly, for at that moment his eyes fell upon the slip of paper that lay at her feet, and, before he was scarcely aware of what he was doing, his glance had traversed quickly over those few lines. Then he held the key to the girl's death-white face, and the great purple shadows that lay in her eyes that gazed past him into vacancy. She knew that her lover had gone, and her heart was breaking.

How his heart bled for her—beautiful, gay little Reine, whose life he would have made so happy; every heart pang that she endured hurt him cruelly, too.

He put away his own great sorrow and sought in vain to comfort her.

"It is warm for you here, Reine," he said. "Come with me into the house."

He drew her hand within his arm and led her unresistingly down the sunlit path. A party of young people enjoying a canter through the glade had come to call for Reine to accompany them. She saw them dismounting at the entrance gate.

She clung to Bernard with hot, trembling hands.

"Send them away!" she cried, piteously. "I cannot see them! I could not hear their laughter and jests! I could not endure it."

He led her round by a new path, and they entered the house unobserved.

Reine crept up to her own room, and threw herself, face downward, on the white couch; and her wild sobbing reached the general as he sat in the library below.

His heart ached for her, but he comforted himself with the thought, the fiercer the storm of grief raged the quicker it would wear itself out.

Bernard Chesleigh would have left Fairlawn Villa that day, but the general urged him so earnestly to stay that he allowed himself to be persuaded, especially when by remaining he was near Reine.

Day after day Reine hurried to the old trysting-place watching eagerly for a letter from Waldemar Waldron, but she never found one there. He seemed to have passed out of her life completely, and day after day, as she crept weeping back to the house, she drooped and faded, falling into a dull apathy of despair.

The summer sunshine was a mockery to her; the singing birds were cruel; the flowers had lost their beauty for her.

In vain Reine's wondering companions sought to rouse and cheer her, asking themselves what had come over beautiful, wilful Reine Hastings, who had always been the merriest girl among them.

Bernard Chesleigh was more than kind to her. His devotion would have touched any other heart save Reine's. The old general trembled in keenest alarm as he watched her from day to day, and the words Waldemar Waldron uttered came back to him:

"Many a father has recalled a lover to save his daughter's life." Would the prophecy prove true?

CHAPTER VII.

A deep gloom had fallen over Fairlawn Villa. The old corridors and spacious rooms no longer rang with gay songs in a merry young voice that gladdened the hearts of those who heard it.

Reine went about quietly enough now. She never complained, but the gaze of the reproachful eyes that met the general's hurt him more than any words could have done.

Once he attempted to talk with her upon the subject, but she turned from him with piteous entreaty.

"Remember it was you who parted us, papa," she sobbed. "Do not refer to it."

Day by day, as he watched her, he could not help but note how she drooped, he could not help but see that she was suffering a living death. Matters could not go on in this way much longer.

Must he, to save Reine's life, give her to a man who would make that life a curse to her?

The general proposed a trip to Europe, or a season at Long Branch. The gayety was at its height there, and it might arouse her. She shook her golden head, refusing to leave Fairlawn.

They were at a loss to know what to do with her. She never complained. The name of the lover from whom she had been parted never once crossed her lips. She was only a spoiled, wilful child; her life seemed to have passed into her love, and, now that love was taken from her, her life went with it.

The hope from day to day that Waldemar Waldron would come back to her settled into dull despair.

The summer days came and went; the flowers died under the chill breath of autumn; the song birds had long since sought their sunny southern home among the orange groves. Six months had passed and at the end of that time an event happened which changed the whole current of Reine's life. The general had been stricken with a malady which threatened to prove fatal. Reine rarely left his bedside. She was the most faithful of nurses.

Bernard Chesleigh, too, was in constant attendance upon the sufferer.

It was at her father's bedside that Reine first noticed how attached the general was to him.

"I am afraid that it will be all over with me soon, Reine," he said, slowly; "but the thought of death is not so hard for me to bear as the knowledge that you will be left all alone in the world; that is the bitterest drop in my cup of sorrow.

"Do not weep so, my Reine," he went on, weakly. "We must all bow sooner or later to the inevitable."

"Ah, Reine, my child," he continued, thoughtfully, "how great a joy and comfort it would have been to me had it pleased Heaven that you could have loved Bernard Chesleigh. As you did not, I never attempted to urge it upon you; but, oh, my Reine, if the thought had been mine that you would be forever shielded from the world's pitiless storms—by his strong arms—I could have died content. He has loved you so long and so well. Ah, Reine, he loves you so fondly yet."

The slender figure, kneeling beside the general's couch, shook with emotion. The little hands that clasped his feverish one, trembled.

"Reine," he said, slowly, "if in the future Bernard Chesleigh should ask the same question of you that he asked once before, do you think you could answer him differently?"

Only Heaven knew the bitter struggle that lasted for one brief moment in the girl's heart. After all, what did it matter what became of her life; love was over for her forevermore. If Bernard Chesleigh loved her still, and it would please her father, why hold out against them longer?

"Would you really wish me to give him a different answer, papa?" she asked, faintly, great tears starting to her blue eyes, and falling unheeded.

He answered "Yes" so fervently that it startled her.

"Then it may as well be as you wish, papa," she said, wearily.

She was standing listlessly by the lace-draped window half an hour later, in the dusky glow of the twilight, when hurried footsteps startled her. They were Bernard Chesleigh's. He crossed over to where she stood, his grave, handsome face radiant with emotion.

"The general has told me, my little Reine," he said, huskily, "and I can scarcely credit it. I must hear it from your own lips. This great happiness he promises me seems too bright to be real. Is it true, Reine, my little darling, that you will indeed be my wife?"

"I will be your wife if you want me, Mr. Chesleigh," she said simply.

"Want you, Reine!" he repeated. "I want you with all my heart. Words fail me in expressing how much I want you. My great happiness overpowers me. I cannot utter all that is in my heart. I will make you a true and loving husband, Reine. Your will shall be my law. I will surround you with everything love can suggest or money procure. I will devote my life to you. You shall never regret the choice you have made."

He attempted to draw her toward him, but she shrank from his embrace, and he was too true a gentleman to repeat the caress when he saw that it was distasteful to her.

She had promised to be his wife, and he must be content with that for the present. He would do his best to win her love in the golden future. He was grateful that Heaven had rewarded his great patience and devotion by giving him Reine at last.

The news of Reine's engagement to Bernard Chesleigh was received with great satisfaction by all who knew them.

The old servants at Fairlawn were delighted, and declared that affairs were now as they ought to be, and should have been from the very first. The wedding was set for Christmas evening.

Thus matters stood when the crisis of the general's disease came, and from the moment Bernard Chesleigh broke the joyful news to him there was a marked change in the general's condition, and to the surprise of the whole household—even the medical experts themselves—he seemed to take a new lease of life, and in less than a fortnight was considered out of danger, and commenced to regain health and strength rapidly.

"I shall be able to give you away on your bridal eve, my dear," he said, joyously, to Reine one day. "I do not look upon it as losing a daughter, but rather as the gaining of a son of whom I may well feel proud."

Reine's lovely face paled. Did they really mean to hold her to that engagement, made in accordance with her father's wish; and when he believed himself dying, and that she would be alone in the world?

Now that her father had recovered, could she beg of Bernard Chesleigh to give her back her plighted troth?

The general was so much wrapped up in the approaching marriage, and had set his mind so eagerly upon it, that she hadn't the heart to thwart him.

The preparations went on on a magnificent scale.

"It makes me young again to fix up for a wedding," the general declared.

And then he must make the most of that one occasion, for he had but the one daughter to marry off.

Reine took little interest in the wonderful boxes of finery that came for her. She was marrying to please her father, not for love's sweet sake.

"I'm mad!" whispered one of her maids, confidentially in the servants' hall one day. "You ought to see how little Miss Reine is interested in her wedding clothes. When I took out her lovely white silk dress, all a sparkle with sown pearls, and the beautiful veil, she looked at them for just one minute, and then said: 'No doubt they will do very nicely, Meta, put them away out of my sight until they're wanted.' "

"Mr. Chesleigh is such a fine gentleman," assented the housekeeper, "it's ten thousand pities she cares so little for him. That's always the way it is—girls who don't care about them get husbands who fairly adore them."

"It's my opinion," declared the maid, "that she cared altogether too much for that handsome coxcomb that was here last summer. Folks had better be off with the old love before they are on with the new, if they don't it will brew trouble."

And with these prophetic words she whisked out of the room.

Reine was in her own room, a pretty little pink and white affair in the western wing, with her friend, Gertie Traverse, who was in raptures over a magnificent necklace of diamonds which Bernard had just sent up to Reine.

Presented With Generous Purse

Mr. "Dick" Baker Honored by Young Men of Y.M.C.A.

On Saturday evening Mr. Richard Baker, who for several months has been janitor of the Y.M.C.A. but who has severed his connection with the Association, was presented with a purse of over $20.00 by a number of the members. The presentation took place in the Y.M.C.A. parlors, and there was a goodly number of Y.M.C.A. members present. Mr. R. A. Harding occupied the chair and in a few words expressed deep appreciation of Mr. Baker, and also Mrs. Baker's services, during the time they had been connected with the Y.M.C.A. General regret was felt at their departure and they would be greatly missed. Mr. Harding then presented Mr. Baker with the purse.

Short speeches along the same line as Mr. Harding's were made by a number of those present, after which Mr. Baker replied suitably, expressing hearty thanks for the valuable gift.

"Dick," as Mr. Baker was familiarly called, will be greatly missed around the building, especially by the boys who patronize the gymnasium. He was always willing to lend every assistance and did much to encourage the athletic department of the Association.

Firemen Meet Tuesday Night

Question for Discussion is the Opening Ceremonies in the New Fire Hall

The fire brigade will hold its regular monthly meeting tomorrow, Tuesday, night and the leading question to be considered is the formal opening of the new fire hall. The brigade are figuring on having the event held on the first of July. That is a public holiday and as yet no attraction has been filled. The boys would like to have a celebration as well as the event at the hall and it is felt that a very successful day could be held.

Before then, however, a lot of things have to be done at the hall, such as putting up the swinging harness, putting on the electric door openers, etc. The idea of giving a demonstration will not likely be considered as the new apparatus will not be here, and to wait for it would put the affair off too long. It is proposed to give a big exhibition of the department at a later date, after the ladder truck and hose waggon have been delivered. At that time the entire apparatus, new and old, will be taken out.

MEMBERSHIP HAS DOUBLED

Springville Presbyterians Have Reason to Rejoice—New Elder Ordained

There is rejoicing among the members of the Presbyterian congregation at Springville on account of the splendid progress that the church is making. Since Rev. Dr. Marsh became pastor six months ago, the membership of the church has more than doubled, and the work has been greatly blessed. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed yesterday morning, and probably a larger number than ever before received communion. Rev. Dr. Marsh preached an appropriate sermon.

At the service preparatory to Communion on Friday, Mr. David McRoberts was ordained an elder of the church. Since Rev Dr. Marsh became pastor at Springville, evening services have been commenced and have been well attended. The members of the congregation and their pastor are greatly encouraged by the splendid progress being made by their church. To Dr. Marsh's zeal and earnestness much of this success is due and as he has the hearty co-operation of his congregation, the future is indeed bright.

393 GEORGE STREET

New Business Block on George St. To be Erected by Mr. Jas. Acton

There are rumors on the street, which, upon enquiry at headquarters, were found to be with good ground, that another large business blocks will soon be erected on George-st.

For some time past, Mr. Jas. Acton Toronto, who owns that property on the east side of George-st., just opposite Howden's butcher shop has been considering the matter of tearing down the old building situated on it now and putting up a first class business block.

Mr. Acton has not yet definitely decided upon the matter, but there are very good reasons for believing that in the very near future building operations will be commenced. If the scheme is carried out the appearance of the street will be greatly improved, and the great demand for stores and business places will be relieved materially.

Colonial Weaving Co. Make Proposition to City Council

Have Option on Property on Which They Will Erect New Factory—Ask Fixed Assessment of $3,500 fo Ten Years.

At the Council meeting tonight a letter will be read from the Colonial Weaving Company, asking for a fixed assessment on their new factory. It will be remembered that when Ashburnham came into the city it was understood that this company was to receive a fixed assessment, but they did not get it. The probability is that the Council will do all that is possible for these people, in face of the treatment they received before.

The letter from the president of the company is as follows:—

S. R. Armstrong, Esq.,
City Clerk,
Peterborough, Ont.

Sir,—We beg to state that we have secured an option to purchase lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14 and block marked "Lane," according to and as shown upon registered plan No. 86 for the City of Peterborough, at or for the price or sum of $3,500.00. This property is situated north of Rink street and east of Rubidge street, and lies south-west of the C.P.R. siding, running from the main line into the Canadian General Electric Company's Works.

The company proposes to erect upon this property a factory 200 feet long by 60 feet, and to install therein at least $30,000 worth of machinery, and will give employment to at least 60 hands.

The company are acquiring more land than is actually required for their present purposes with a view of extending the business as the growth and development of their business warrants it.

The company respectfully request that the city of Peterborough pay the purchase price of the land, viz., $3,500.00, and give the Company a fixed assessment for all purposes of $3,500.00 on the property for a period of ten years. The general terms and conditions set forth in Bylaw No. 953, entitled "A Bylaw To Aid Canadian Cordage & Manufacturing Co., Limited," of the city of Peterborough would be acceptable to the Company.

The Company proposes to engage exclusively in the manufacture of silk and cotton woven labels, of all kinds used in connection with the manufacture of clothing, boots and shoes, shirts, etc., including coat hangers, top facings, pull straps, etc.

Some Changes in Train Service

When the new summer time table of the G.T.R. goes into effect on the middle of the month, the tri-weekly train service to Lakefield and return will be resumed. The morning train from Belleville, which reaches here at 8.10 o'clock, will be run through to Lakefield and return at the same time as the regular Lakefield train. Conductor "Daddy" Haskill is in charge of this train. The Lakefield train, in charge of Conductor Geo. Joobitt, will leave here for Port Hope on the arrival of the morning train from that town, and will connect with the regular passenger express of the G.T.R. there, giving an excellent connection. The Lakefield train will return from Port Hope and connect with the 11.45 train from Toronto and Lindsay, leaving here at 11.55 a.m. for Lakefield.

Passengers from the west will thus be taken direct to Lakefield and Stony Lake without any delay. The new service should prove satisfactory to the public.

Plant Flowers In the Cemetery

Superintendent Wise Started To-day to Fill the Many Beds

Believing that at last the weather man has got settled down and is prepared to give a little decent and more seasonable weather, the Little Lake Cemetery Co. has decided to put out the many thousand plants that have been raised in the company's greenhouses. The Little Lake cemetery yesterday was looking remarkably well considering the weather. The grass is in splendid condition and is nicely kept while the new districts which have been fixed up make a very attractive appearance. The only flowers out so far are the tulips and while they make a big show the cemetery next Sunday will be in a much more pleasing condition. Superintendent Frank Wise started today to plant the flowers in the many beds and to fix up the graves for which orders have been received.

James Brown, second engineer in the power house at Kenora, was killed by an electric shock.

Now Enters Upon His Fifth Year

Anniversary Day at Park Street Church—An Interesting Event

Park street Baptist church celebrated yesterday the anniversary of the Rev. A. H. Brace's settlement as pastor, who enters upon his fifth year.

"Regeneration" was the theme of the morning sermon.

He prefaced his sermon by saying that he entered each new year of his ministerial life, with feelings of great solemnity and deep gratitude. The result of the four years was then given, viz., one hundred and twenty-five new members had received the hand of fellowship and when the three candidates who had been voted on by the church were received, just one hundred would have been baptised. Financially, prosperity had been experienced. $515.00 mortgage had been paid, the $300 new lot had been paid for, and between three and four thousand dollars in cash and pledges were on hand for the new church. Another interesting item was also given, that 35 marriages had been solemnized, and after Wednesday next two more must be added and still they come.

At the evening service, Dr. Norton of Toronto, superintendent of Home Missions took charge. He spoke of Cobalt silver and Larder Lake Gold and of Fair Ontario's sons, who were pouring in there, whose souls were more precious than gold and must be saved.

He spoke of the organization of churches and the erection of suitable buildings for worship. The work was fascinating among towns of between three and four thousand springing up in a year or two on the site of a dense bush. He asked for a liberal offering for Home Missions about the end of June.

Large congregations gathered to celebrate the day.

Yorkton is Mecca of Land Seekers

Yorkton, Sask., June 1.—The influx of land seekers after Doukhobor lands has begun. The hotels are taxed pretty well already, quite a large number arriving on to-night's train. The home-seekers are of various nationalities, a good portion being Americans. Parties have already driven across from Canora, Kamsack and Buchanan, where they have inspected lands. One party of ten declared themselves ready to pay $500 per quarter section if by that means they could locate in a certain tract. The rush is expected to materially increase to-morrow in readiness for the taking of entries on Saturday.

"Taxpayer's" View of the New Garbage By-law

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—It seems to me that some of the citizens are viewing the carrying into effect of the garbage bylaw from too personal a standpoint, or in other words, they have an idea that they possibly may be asked to contribute to something that would not be beneficial to them and relieve somebody else of certain liabilities.

The bylaw, in so far as Peterborough is concerned is something new and in the face of so much opposition I think it would be advisable to leave it open to be considered by the people until next January—then take an expression of the electorate at the polls.

There are several standpoints to view this matter from, or to compare it with the carrying into effect of other laws enacted by the legislators of our Province.

It is argued that if I keep my premises clean I have no interest in any neighbor's, or if my tenant fails to keep his clean, why should the liability incurred through failure of my tenant be charged to my property.

Why should the street watering be charged to your property if the tenant fails to pay? You are claiming you get no good from it there.

Why should you be asked to pay your share for the support of the thieves who are supported in the jail from time to time? You are no thief.

The cost will be a trifle in excess of the cost of removing anything now and in many instances will be less, and under the system will be done regularly.

But, as I stated above, let the people consider, and afterwards vote. Then if they think it wise to protect their property and themselves against being molested by people disposed to do so, and place no value upon the city or ourselves, why the majority rules.

I do not think the council would be justified in passing this before submitting it to the people—leaving it optional—then, if after a lapse of time, be it sooner or later, disease and plague visits our homes, we will have ourselves to blame for it.

I am under the impression that if the people have time to consider the matter and realize that the health of their families are at stake, the vote will be decidedly in favor of the bylaw.

Yours etc.,
TAXPAYER.

BIG HYDRANTS FOR GEORGE ST.

Fire Chief Wants to Know Why They Have Not Been Put In

It will be remembered that last year the City Council agreed to take eight large hydrants for George-st. and the Water Commissioners were instructed to put them in. These hydrants will accommodate four lengths of hose and are much more serviceable and effective in case of a fire. The chief of the fire department is anxious to know why the commissioners have not followed out their instructions. If a big fire broke out in the business section all the hose available would be required.

BETTER TEACHERS ARE NOW WANTED

Third Class Certificates to be Abolished—Summer Schools and Institutes.

The Provincial Government proposes to establish in every County Teachers' Institute, which will meet for a few days in September of each year. All teachers will be asked to attend these institutes, which will be conducted on professional lines by professional men from the staffs of the new Normal Schools.

Third-class teachers' certificates are to be abandoned and teachers holding these qualifications are to be given opportunity to secure advanced certificates by an examination divided into four annual parts.

Such was the pronouncement of Dr. John Seath, speaking officially on behalf of the Minister of Education, to the gathering of York county teachers in the Normal School auditorium.

"The aim of the Department is to increase the salary and improve the condition of the teacher, particularly the Public School teacher," said Seath. "It is felt that for the past ten or fifteen years this subject has not had sufficient attention. We desire to improve the qualification and the salary. The compulsory feature of the minimum salary has been abandoned for inducement, and I may tell you that the Minister has further in contemplation, special recognition to schools who are paying their teachers well.

"Summer Schools are to be held from time to time," continued the Superintendent, "and following the establishment of the new Normal Schools, it is proposed to establish Teachers' Institutes in every county in which professional work will be conducted by men of experience. Provision will be made for the teachers to attend these institutes for some days in September."

Interviewed by the News concerning the announcement, both Hon. Dr. Pyne and Dr Seath said that nothing further could be stated at the present time. The plans are now having Government consideration.

CHIEF'S FIRE.

This morning about eleven o'clock Chief Rutherford had a little fire all his own, and he was not slow in putting it out. Someone threw a cigar stub or a lighted match on a pile of old canvas, outside of Barrie's store on George street. He was connected with the store some years ago, and left to take a good position as traveller. Many old friends will join in welcoming him back to the city.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

It is a significant fact side by side with the alarming growth in the number of railway accidents which has been noticeable during the past winter, says the Scientific American, there has been an increasing frequency in the breakage of steel rails upon which, after all, the security of railroad travel immediately depends. There is evidence that not a few of the disasters have been caused directly by these broken rails and there can be but little doubt that many of the unexplained accidents have been due to a similar cause. According to one of our technical contemporaries, an engineer who was present at a railroad wreck stated that, within a distance of one mile, in the vicinity of the wreck, he counted nineteen broken rails which had been removed from the track during the winter.

Asked City Solicitor for Information as to What Powers They Have in This Matter—Raceway in Ashburnham to be Kept Clean—Chairman Going Away for Summer.

The raceway, just east of the Hunter street bridge, will be kept cleaned out and no stagnant water or foul smells will annoy the people of Ashburnham this summer. The Board of Health met and had a very busy session this morning for an hour and adjourned to meet the Council at nine o'clock tonight to talk isolation hospital.

Those present were Chairman Wm. Eyres, Dr. Burnham, Geo. Schneider and Mayor McWilliams, Dr. Bingham, M.H.O., Sanitary Inspector Ball, and Mr. Parker.

The minutes were read and approved.

Inspector Ball reported that he had notified the Hydraulic Power Company to clean out the raceway, flowing past their property and used by them, and this will be dealt with by the company at its first meeting.

A request was received from the Rapid Tool Co., asking that the raceway be cleaned out, as at present, it is very detrimental to the health of their employees. Chairman Eyres said that the company should be compelled to either keep the raceway cleaned out so that the water will run freely or else to fill it up completely. Inspector Ball said that all that was necessary was to keep it cleaned, and that there was sufficient water flowing through to flush it out.

Medical Health Officer Dr. Bingham stated that according to the information he had received, the Power Co. had no authority to fill the raceway. In the deed from the original owner of that property, Mr. Burnham, was a clause stating that the raceway was to be kept an open race for ever.

HARVEY ST. SEWER.

A letter was received by the board stating that the petition sent to the Board of Works in opposition to the petition for a sewer on Harvey street, was signed by many people under a misunderstanding. One man found that his lot was lower at the back that the sewer, and so he hustled around and misrepresented the circumstances. Therefore there are names on both petitions.

At the present time most of the people on the east side of Harvey street are draining into the river. This the sanitary inspector was instructed to stop. He will notify every resident using the river to cease by the end of the month, and those not complying with the instructions be proceeded against. If the people want a sewer, the city can get it constructed within a few days after a petition has been received.

SEWER CONNECTIONS.

Mr. R. E. Wood was present and addressed the Board in regard to the closets at Mrs. Patterson's houses on Brock street. He said that the Sanitary Inspector had order them moved. Mr. Wood said that the conditions there were very favorable at present and that it would be a great hardship on Mrs. Patterson if she had to put in plumbing. This comes within the area defined by the bylaw the Board of Health requested passed, therefore, it would not be legal for the Board of Health to take any action.

CHAIRMAN AWAY.

Chairman Wm. Eyres notified the board that he was going away this week to the northwest on a business trip and that he did not expect to get back within at least two months. It was therefore decided to appoint Mayor McWilliams chairman, during Mr. Eyres absence.

CLOSING CESSPOOLS.

Moved by Mayor McWilliams, seconded by Dr. Bingham, that the City Solicitor be requested to inform the board, what authority they have in closing vaults, cesspools, and pits in terraces, outside the defined areas. Carried.

This matter was brought up on complaint being made against several terraces, which are not within the defined area, and yet are very unsanitary.

They Are Taking Precaution Against Another Coal Famine

Farmers and Trades People in Western Canada Are Now Having Big Orders Filled—Former Peterborough Boy Tells of Seeding and Other Conditions in Manitoba.

Mr. Wm. J. O'Brien, formerly of Peterborough, now with the Canadian Coal & Commission Co., of Brandon, Manitoba, in a letter to the Review, says;

The Provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan have at last recovered from the effects of an extremely severe winter, and the farmer, the capitalist and the tradesman, are working night and day in the effort to catch up with "life." Seeding and other preliminary farming operations are either finished in all the districts, or well on the way to completion. The net-work of railroads throughout the provinces are alive with heavy freights moving in all directions and a reliable mail and freight service is being given to all. The farmers and tradespeople in every locality have learned a lesson in the matter of delaying their orders for fuel and the mines in Alberta are all working double shifts to supply the enormous demand for fuel. Practically all the banks, churches and other public buildings in Winnipeg and Brandon have sent in orders for summer delivery of fuel. Several dealers in Brandon are preparing to erect a coal building with a capacity of from fifteen to thirty thousand tons and thus guard against a famine, such as was experienced in the cold season of 1906—07. Building is not being carried on with such a rush as was seen in former seasons, and this is due largely to the fact that the late spring has interfered with such work.

Isolation Hospital Will be Discussed by Council To-night

The isolation hospital will be one of the chief subjects for discussion at the Council meeting this evening. The Board of Health will attend in a body and place their views before the aldermen and a strong effort will be made to induce the Council to consider this question in a serious and business like manner. It has been hanging fine now for the past three years and has been put off from one meeting to another. The Board of Health has gone to a great deal of trouble in getting plans prepared for a building, which will meet the requirements of the city and yet not to incur any expense that is not absolutely necessary. That the city will sooner or later be compelled to erect an isolation hospital no one will deny, and the sooner it is done the better for all. At the present time there is no place in which to treat cases of contagious diseases. It is true that for some time fortune has favored the people and there has been no great demand for such accommodation. But there is no one who can tell when a case will break out in a hotel or a boarding house where the results would be serious. There is no place to take the patient and the whole building in which the case was discovered would have to be quarantined and the city would probably have damage suits which would more than pay the cost of the building.

For some two years past the Provincial Board of Health has forbidden the hospitals to accept patients suffering from contagious diseases. This puts the city in a very awkward position and the only way out of it is to erect an isolation hospital. The details of construction, the cost, the management, etc., is a matter for the Council and Board of Health to work out. The people are willing to furnish the money, but not one dollar more than is necessary.

Presentation to Mr. Jos. Halpany

Canadian Foresters at Belleville Gave Him a Gold Fountain Pen

The Belleville Ontario, contains the following reference to Mr. Joseph Halpany of this city, who is now organizer for the Canadian Order of Foresters,—

"Mr. J. A. Halpany, who has been here for the past three months as organizer for the Canadian Order of Foresters, leaves this evening for Napanee. During his residence here Mr. Halpany made many friends who will always be glad to welcome him back to the city."

Another paragraph in reference to Mr. Halpany, in the same issue is also of local interest. The Ontario also of much local interest. The Ontario says,—

"The regular meeting of the Belleville Court of the Canadian Foresters had as their closing evening with organizer, Mr. J. Halpany, an entertainment of a very pleasing and enjoyable character. There were four candidates instructed in the mysteries of the Order, making thirty in all, during this popular organizer's stay. Before the close of the regular business, Mr. Halpany had an agreeable surprise in the shape of an address and presentation of a gold fountain pen, the former being read by Mr. Cochrane and the pen presented by Bro. Cooper. Bro. Halpany although completely taken by surprise made a very neat and graceful reply.

An entertainment followed at which the organizer acted in an efficient manner as chairman and called on a number of the brothers who responded with song or speech, or story, and a splendid evening's entertainment, which will be of lasting benefit to the order, was brought to a closing at an early hour."

Will Look After Boys and Girls

They Will Not be Allowed to Roam Streets After Dark

At the police court this morning Magistrate Dumble said that all little boys and girls had to be in the house by seven o'clock. Any boys and girls seen playing together after that hour on the street will be arrested. Lately there have been numerous reports made to Chief Roszel of unseemly conduct on the part of young boys and girls in different parts of the city. If these young people are to grow up respectable young men and women they must not be allowed to do nothing else but run the streets. Some parents never put a stop to it, and the police will have to look after the children. Any small girls running the streets with boys after seven o'clock will be punished.

Jas. Panter was charged with not having taken out a building permit. Mr. Panter stated that he was just bricking a house that was built 20 years ago and he didn't think a permit was necessary. His Worship told him to go and get one at once, which he did.

Healey Fall's Lease Will be Renewed

The Belleville Ontario, of May 21, in the City Council report says; "Mr. Culverwell was an interested visitor at the Council meeting, and he was called to say a few words. Mr. Culverwell said he just dropped in as a studious listener. However, he casually remarked that he was glad that the Ontario Government in their wisdom, had seen fit to promise a renewal of the lease of their portion of the Healey Rapids to the now celebrated Northumberland-Durham Power Company. He hoped the matter would be soon settled definitely in a fair manner to the Company."

It is well to add here that the Company also owns two large portions of the Healey Rapids by deed, and also have the much-delayed patent from the Ontario Government, which was received by the Company after the lease construction time limit had expired. This patent covers fifty-six acre strips of land, upon which the raceway and power works must be placed, and which is the key to the whole situation—and this "holds the fort."

PASSED AWAY AT HOSPITAL

Man Brought From Burketon Died Saturday Evening—Was an Austrian

The man who was brought from Burketon and taken to St. Joseph's hospital Saturday afternoon, died about six o'clock the same evening. He never regained consciousness and Dr. Gray, who was in attendance, states that death was due to tentanus or lockjaw, and it is his opinion that the germs of the disease had innoculated the poor fellow before leaving his own country a few weeks ago and had quietly but insidiously been spreading in his system. The unfortunate man was an Austrian by birth and, in company with a brother, had arrived in Canada about two weeks ago. His name was James Hatnauchuk. His brother came to Peterborough with him on Saturday, but has gone back to Burketon to resume his employment with the C.P.R.

Deceased had been employed by the C.P.R. laying ties in the vicinity of Burketon. On Thursday afternoon he complained of feeling ill, but continued to work until Friday night, when he went to his boarding house and soon afterwards became unconscious and never rallied. His symptoms denoted lockjaw and paralysis.

The body was interred in the Roman Catholic burying ground this morning.

SICKNESS IS ON THE INCREASE

Many More Patients in the Hospital This Year Than Last

This spring has been a very hard one on the people and a very busy one for the doctors and nurses and hospitals. For the past few months the number of cases of sickness has been very large and there does not yet appear to be any decrease. At the present time Nicholls hospital is treating thirty patients, as compared with nineteen for the same time last year. While a short time ago there were forty-two patients. Fortunately however, the great majority of the invalids have recovered, and have been discharged from the institution, while those there are doing very nicely.

The Nicholls hospital will accommodate fifty patients, and it has become so generally known, and the number of cases successfully treated there has increased so largely that every year many people are using the hospital. Since it was first built several additions have been made to it, and the time is now at hand when another addition will have to be made. The trustees have now taken this matter into consideration and although nothing will be done this year the building will be enlarged in the near future.

PASSENGERS ON C.P.R. WERE FED

Train Was Three Hours Late and McCollum's Restaurant Supplied Coffee and Sandwiches

The C. P. R. train from the east, due here at 5.12 a.m. yesterday morning was three hours late. An accident happened near Perth, but what it was could not be learned. Speaking to one of the passengers who had a berth, it was learned that the passengers were unable to ascertain the trouble. All he knew was that two or three of them in his Pullman were suddenly thrown from their berths. Enquiry at the C.P.R. offices brought out the fact that there was nothing to give out.

When the train reached Peterborough it was a double-header with a long string of cars, including several cars of immigrants. A hurry-up order was telephoned Mr. W. J. McCallum at the restaurant, and when the train pulled in he was at the station with several hundred sandwiches and coffee, so that the passengers were not inconvenienced any more than was necessary.

AMUSEMENTS

THE TALK OF ALL CANADA

Charles Klein in "The Lion and the Mouse" which production will be offered here by Henry B. Harris at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday, June 5th, has utilized a phase of national life which has never before been used for stage treatment and which proves of intense interest as a result. He has taken one of the money kings of the country a type of the financiers who manipulate the destinies of the nation, and made him one of the central figures of the plot. Stern in his attitude to all even to his wife and children and relentless to his enemies. It may be said that the play is of vital interest to all classes of thinking people, and while its aspect is serious it is said to contain a fine galaxy of wit, humor and pathos. The event of this play is looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure by all theatregoers, and the event will prove a most interesting one. The seat sale is now open.

Dog Poisoner Still at Work

Mr. D. Belleghem's dog "Dooley," had a narrow escape from making his exit from the world by way of the poison route yesterday afternoon. Mr. Bellghem was out walking in the vicinity of Dixon Park, and the dog was with him. Suddenly the canine seemed to go into a fit, and was apparently in great agony. Mr. Belleghem took prompt measures to find out what the matter was, and discovered that the dog had taken some poison as he threw up some strychnine.

"Dooley" is all right again, but the dog poisoner is still on the warpath, and dog owners should be on the lookout.

A silver nugget of half a ton was taken from the Nipissing mine at Cobalt.

Miss Alice Brennan, of Lakefield, on the Gatineau river, is dead as the result of injuries received in a runaway.

HAYWOOD BREAKS DOWN.

Taken Seriously Ill and Suffers Great Agony For Hours.

Boise, Idaho, June 3.—William D. Haywood, the defendant now on trial charged with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, became seriously ill in his cell at the county jail yesterday. Two doctors were called and were with him for several hours.

It is believed that he is suffering a nervous breakdown. For some days he has complained of headache and the guards at the jail say he has shown signs of much restlessness.

It was plain, they say, that the strain of jury getting has been hard. About one o'clock Saturday morning the pains in the head became acute. The physicians were called in at once and administered opiates.

Until these took effect, however, Haywood was in great agony and at times his cries could be heard in the jail yard. At 8 o'clock Saturday morning Haywood was resting easily.

Judge to Start Haywood Case.

Boise, Idaho, June 3.—The work of obtaining a jury in the case of William D. Haywood, charged with the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg, will be resumed this morning, unless the prisoner has a relapse. Yesterday, although a little drawn and pale, as a result of the medicine and the opiates given him to relieve him of the acute pains he suffered Saturday morning, he appeared to be in his normal condition. He was out early in front of the courthouse and walked in the sun.

Judge Freemont Wood has said that he is determined a jury shall be obtained to-day, if possible. Forty-four talesmen remain of the venire of sixty-one summoned last week.

SNOW FALLS IN NEW YORK.

First Sunday In June the Coldest on Record.

New York, June 3.—Snow fell in New York on this the first Sunday in the summer month of June. The flakes did not fall as snow all the way to the pavements, but coming from a colder strata of air, they swirled about the tops of skyscrapers and before dissolving added a midwinter touch to the most remarkable June 2 that New Yorkers have known.

The warmest moment of the day was 12.05 a. m., when the temperature was officially recorded as 51 degrees. At 10.20 a. m. the mercury had dropped to 45. At 8 o'clock last night it had risen to 47.

At the local weather bureau, where a conservative view is always taken the day was admitted to be the coldest recorded here for the second of June.

Gale Sweeps City.

The day broke with a fresh gale that swept over the city with startling effect. At an early hour the wind attained a velocity of 50 miles an hour. The brunt of the blast was felt in the Bronx, where a two-storey half completed frame house was torn apart and its timbers scattered for a block.

The watchman of the building, Heller Rubenstein, owes his escape from death to the temerity that led him outdoors for a first hand observation of the elements just before the house crumbled.

GRAND DUKE ESCAPES.

Was Placed In Peril From Runaway Locomotive.

Orel, Russia, June 3.—A train from Sebastopol to this city on which the Grand Duke Constantinovitch was a passenger, had a narrow escape from being wrecked on Saturday.

Shortly before the time of its arrival here an unknown person started a locomotive at full speed down the track.

The Grand Duke's train fortunately was late and the runaway engine captured before a collision occurred.

The incident is mystifying as the grand duke is known to be one of the most liberal-minded members of the Imperial family.

Later, the culprit was arrested, and it was found that he was a discharged workman, who sent the engine down the track out of a spirit of revenge, and not from any political motives.

RAISING FALSE HOPES.

London Graphic's Opinion re All-Red Steamship Service.

London, June 3.—(C. A. P.)—The Daily Graphic says there appears to be some danger that the loose languages used by His Majesty's Ministers in regard to shipping subsidies during the Imperial conference may raise false hopes in Canada.

Instead of asking Laurier to explain how the route to Australasia via Canada could be advantageous either to England or the Australasian colonies, the Ministers talked vaguely about "all-red" routes and said they would enquire into the matter. England surely, says The Graphic, has had sufficient experience of the folly of "all red" routes in connection with Pacific cables.

The Government have appointed a committee to consider the Canadian proposal for an all-red route, comprising Lloyd-George, Sydney, Buxton and Winston Churchill and Walter Runciman and a decision may be expected at the end of this month.

Friday Not a Barrier.

Quebec, June 3.—Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Jette have issued invitations to a dinner and reception to be given at Spencer Wood in honor of Prince Fushimi on Friday, June 7.

This dinner and reception, having necessarily to take place on Friday, a special dispensation from abstaining has been asked for and granted by the ordinary of the diocese.

Four Negroes Drowned.

Spartansburg, S. C., June 3.—Four negroes were drowned in the Tyger River, 15 miles south of here, Saturday, when a bridge gave way with a mule team drawing a wagon occupied by 14 negroes. Their bodies have not been recovered.

Mr. Blake's Illness.

London, June 3.—Hon. Edward Blake's condition is reported to be slightly more satisfactory. He spent a comfortable night.

Premier Gouin, of Quebec, returned from his European trip unexpectedly.

Dog Owners Must Take Out Licenses

All Delinquents Will be Summoned Before the Magistrate

The city coffers were not enriched any by this morning's police court. There were no Sunday drunks or any other cases of much account. But there is going to be a great grist to grind at the police court some of these mornings and His Worship will have a busy day. There are over two hundred citizens assessed for dogs that have not as yet secured tags for them. It is the intention of Chief Roszel to gather them all in and deal with them the same day. The policemen will be kept busy the next few days serving summonses.

It appears that the dog owners as soon as they are summoned to court hurry to get their tag. It would be just as easy to get them before the first of May. Those who have put it off so long will not get off so easily and will probably have to pay a fine as well as the tax.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A TRUST?

Exclusive Agencies Asserted to be a Constraint of Trade.

The Retail Merchants' Association will have their attention called to the exclusive contract system of the Semi-ready company, wherein that big tailoring house enters into an agreement to sell Semi-ready clothes to only one merchant in each town or city. No other merchant can get this agency when once the franchise has been issued and it is asserted that the five year term contains a perpetual option for the merchant first securing the rights.

That this exclusive clause comes within the meaning of the Act, against trade combines, one legal authority advised a member of the Retail Merchants' Association.

"It is not fair," said one merchant "to limit the sale of an article which has become a staple line asked for by everybody."

WESTERN ONTARIO AND MANITOBA

The agitation for the secession of Western Ontari ofrom the rest of the province is not popular in the section of the province that would be left. Nor is it likely to succeed. To rob Ontario of its present northern extension would be to presently depose it from its position as the Premier Province of the Dominion. Moreover, it would give us two provincial law-making and administering establishments where one will suffice. The unnecessary duplication of Provincial Legislature and civil service and judicial machinery is already one of the burdensome handicaps which Canada must carry, says the Montreal Star.

Still the resentment of which the people of old Ontario are conscious at such a suggestion, may give them some idea of the way in which Manitoba feels at the prospect of being "cribbed, cabined and confined" forever within its present petty boundaries. If it were suggested that a section of Western Ontario—say that lying west of Lake Superior—should be taken from Ontario and given to Manitoba, there would be a great cry from the "Ontario First" men. Yet a very good argument could be put up in support of such a step. After such a change, Ontario would still be much larger than Manitoba, or even than Manitoba is likely to be after the proposed enlargement of her boundaries. The people transferred from Ontario to Manitoba would be brought nearer to their capital city—their centre of government—their higher courts, and would, moreover, probably find themselves in partnership with a people of much more similar conditions and interests than those in the older settlements and industrial cities of Ontario.

Still we are not suggesting this. The antagonism of Ontario would be fatal to any such scheme, even if it were desirable. We are merely mentioning it with a view to awaking the people of Ontario to a future danger which lies in their path if they unite with "the powers that be" at Ottawa to deny Manitoba its legitimate expansion to the north and east. Manitoba will not be forever without friends at court. The day will come when there will arise a government at Ottawa which will want to do justice to the pioneer prairie province. If Ontario has in the meantime consented to the hemming in of Manitoba on the north, it need not be surprised if this friendly Government proposes to compensate "the postage stamp" province by permitting it to gain territory inhabited by a congenial people at present under the control of Ontario to the east. There is no likelihood that Manitoba can be manacled forever. At the present time, she can in a measure be set free without interfering with any of her neighbors. But if these neighbors close in on her and render this impossible, then her emancipation, when it comes, will have to be at their expense, and it will be as easy to take from Ontario what she now possesses west of Lake Superior as to cut into her territory in any other manner.

There should be no better friends of Manitoba in her effort to get a fair chance for future growth than the province which now lies on either side of her, and which must suffer if her expansion comes finally in the form of recouping herself at the expense of her neighbors.

Loose Living Men in High Places of the Government

Are a Dishonor to the Name of Christ, Says Rev. Dean Farthing of Kingston Who Preached at St. John's Church Yesterday.

"When men whose moral character is a reproach to the community are allowed to hold high positions in the Government of the land, it is little wonder that the name of Christ is dishonored and those who deny the Christ are given an opportunity to point the finger of scorn. These scandals in public life, concerning men who are professedly followers of Christ stink in the nostrils of those who deny him."

The speaker was Very Rev. Dean Farthing of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, at the evening service in St. John's church, yesterday. The reverend gentleman preached both morning and evening at St. John's, yesterday, and was listened to on both occasions by large congregations. Dean Farthing stands high up in the Anglican church. He is a preacher of more than ordinary ability and preached two strong sermons at St. John's. At the evening service, he called upon those in the church to lead such lives that the name of Christ would not be dishonored. Every sin committed dishonored the Master's name. The sermon was based on part of the first verse of the first chapter, of the epistle of Paul to the Romans, "Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ."

The word servant, literally translated, said Dean Farthing, meant a slave and this was the meaning it had when used in connection with Paul's relation to the Master. A slave is the entire property of his master. He does his bidding without remonstrance, and is his master's because he was bought and paid for. Members of His church were slaves of Christ because He had bought them—bought them by His ignominy and suffering on the cross, by His death at Calvary, in order that sinners might be saved from everlasting death. They were heirs with God and joint heirs with Christ and because of this relation every sin committed was dishonoring Christ's name. It was in this connection that the speaker, referred to the sin of allowing men of loose character to hold high places in the government of the land. Their actions were a dishonor to Christ and furnished material for those who deny Him to point the finger of scorn.

Continuing, Dean Farthing pointed out the responsibility that rested upon Christians in doing the Master's work in the world. At the last day they would not be judged for what they had professed, but for what they had done. It was no excuse for a man to say that he professed nothing and was therefore not responsible. This was pitiably weak. A man who did nothing when he saw the young and innocent being led into ways of sin, no matter whether he professed anything or not, was a danger to the community. He was not harmless, as some people might argue.

In closing Dean Farthing referred to the splendid growth of the church in Peterborough. While in many other towns and cities in the Dominion, the church was hardly holding its own, it was gratifying to note that in Peterborough, the growth of the church was keeping pace with the progress of the city and constantly increasing its members and sphere of influence.

On Tuesday evening the Brotherhood of St. Andrew meets at eight o'clock.

The annual picnic of the W. A. takes place at Jackson Park on Thursday.

The Mission Band will hold its closing meeting on Saturday at four o'clock

Able Sermon by Rev. Mr. Langfeldt

To the Canadian Order of Foresters in St. Luke's Church

Over one hundred members of Courts Peterborough, Littlejohn and Langton, Canadian Order of Foresters, headed by Marshall G. W. Powell, paraded to St. Luke's church where the annual service of the society was held. The visiting lodges occupied the centre pews of the church, and every pew in the edifice was filled, the congregation also turning out in large numbers. The service was particularly bright and it was indeed inspiring to note, the hearty manner in which the large assemblage of men entered into it.

Previous to the helpful and eloquent sermon delivered by Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, the rector extended to the Foresters, on behalf of the wardens, a hearty welcome to the church and hoped they would be benefitted as a result of their coming. Rev. Mr. Langfeldt based his sermon on the words found in the 24th verse of the sixth chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel, "No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon." In his opening remarks the speaker said that the reason man cannot serve two masters, is not so much that God will not accept the service, as it is not in the nature of the mind to do it. It is a moral impossibility. There are few persons who ever gave true service to two men. If they appeared to do it, on anlayzing it one would see the service was done only to one. Again, said the speaker, if a man is of strong feelings he will love the one and hate the other in the same degree as he loves. He will think only of one. How true this is of actual life? Those who hate religion are those whose whole heart is given to the world. They speak bitterly of those who are separate from the world. On the other hand those who love and delight in God and His service, to them the world is a repulsive place. Religion is a dull thing to the man of the world.

The word Mammon, means not riches merely, but the world in general in which riches occupy a large place. The world is that which has no Christ in it, and things that take the place of God. Christ says you cannot serve God and the world. One may mix in the world and accept things of the world as from God and turn them to His glory. On the other hand, one may go to church, help in good works, and pray, and yet his mind is on his business or worldly things. Further, the speaker remarked, some men make their lodge their God. They say that they go to lodge, and it is not necessary to go to church. This is a cold duty to God and not true service. Some of the men remark, "We are trying to give a divided service and living the double life, that is combining spiritual things with the secular. We are trying to serve God and the world as much as we possibly can. Let us be faithful to ourselves and serve the one true master. To attempt to serve both makes one miserable. Do not mix religion with the world and spoil both of them. God will not call anyone who lives a double life His servant. He will not take him into His household. The happiest thing in the world or in heaven, is the service of God. There comes a day when we must all hate the world or hate God. The rector urged those present to accept God as their Master. Let us take Christ into our hearts and let Him possess our whole being, and when we have done this we must confess Him to our friends and to the world." In conclusion he said live for Christ alone and forget the divided life.

After the sermon, Miss Ruth Dawson sang very sweetly "Abide With Me," and after the benediction the National Anthem was sung.

The Order then formed in procession and marched to their hall, where a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Rev. Mr. Langfeldt for his able sermon, to the wardens and congregation of St. Luke's for their giving up the pews of the church for the society, and to the choir.

Mark St. Church Is Prosperous

Great Work Done During Four Years of Rev. J. G. Lewis' Pastorate—Votes of Thanks

At a meeting of the quarterly board of the Mark street circuit of the Methodist church Saturday afternoon, it was moved and unanimously carried that Rev. J. G. Lewis, be tendered a hearty vote of thanks for the able manner in which he performed his duties as pastor of the church during the past four years. When Rev. Mr. Lewis came to the city the congregation of Mark street was much smaller than it is at present and the church was several hundred dollars in debt. He goes away with the congregation working harmoniously and with greater strength; all debt has been wiped out and the church is in a very flourishing condition.

One of the first and most important things Mr. Lewis accomplished was the revival of the Ladies' Aid Society. He found it defunct and by his efforts the ladies got together again and accomplished a great deal which has been beneficial to themselves and to the congregation.

Four years ago there was a debt of $250 on the church and $77.60 on the parsonage. This has been entirely paid off. In addition the Sunday school has been furnished with new chairs and it was painted and remodelled inside; the church was also repainted inside; the pastor's salary has been increased from $750 to $810, the choir has been enlarged and improved, and a leader and organist engaged. Besides accomplishing all this, Rev. Mr. Lewis has made himself popular with his congregation and has done much good. He will be followed to his new charge in Picton by the best wishes of the whole congregation.

At the meeting Saturday afternoon Mr. M. Carton was elected recording steward to succeed Mr. Samuel Taylor, who has filled that office with exceptional ability for four years, and the present prosperous condition of the congregation is partly due to his efforts. The Board also passed a vote of thanks to Mr. Taylor for his very able and faithful services.

REV. C. H. COON WAS CALLED

To Succeed Rev. J. G. Lewis as Pastor of Mark St. Church

If Conference consents Rev. C. H. Coon, of Bobcaygeon will be the next pastor of Mark street Methodist church, to succeed Rev. J. G. Lewis, who is going to Picton. The quarterly board of the Mark street circuit met Saturday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a pastor, and it was unanimously decided to invite Rev. Mr. Coon. That gentleman was communicated with by telephone and he consented to come if it was satisfactory to his quarterly official board, and subject to the approval of Conference.

Rev. Mr. Coon has been three years in Bobcaygeon. He is a young man, a splendid preacher, earnest and energetic, and is very popular with his congregation at Bobcaygeon, both in the pulpit and out of it. He is also a singer of no mean ability, and this, combined with his other good qualities, should assure him of a successful stay in the Lift Lock City.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country, than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Karenots Won an Exciting Game From Strathconas

Score Was 16—13 in Saturday's Match at Nicholl's Oval—Will the Karenots Win the Review Trophy?

The most exciting game that has yet been played in the intermediate league was the one at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon when the Karenots administered a defeat to the Strathconas, winning by 16 runs to 13, thus taking their second game. The Karenots with only eight men throughout the game and in the last two innings playing only seven men, gave a great exhibition of ball to the large number of fans present. The Straths. owe their defeat to several costly fumbles made by wild throws and muffing the leather when it came their way. Especially did it seem in the fifth when the Karenots brought in five runs, and all went to bat and some the second time.

The Karenots have a bunch of good players and put up great ball Saturday. Few errors were made but they were a little careless and once or twice some of them were caught sleeping on bases and were put out. Long occupied the pitcher's box throughout the game and twirled great ball. He has lots of speed and had his opponents guessing. He fanned several of the Straths. and pitched a better game than did Parnell, of the Straths. Laing was about the best man on the Karenots team and perhaps the best batter on the field. He hit the leather to right field clean over the bicycle track and made third on one of his hits. In the seventh he made a home run hit easily, but owing to his great fault of cutting the bases he was out. He never touched first, nevertheless his heavy hit brought two men in. Carton, the Karnot catcher, had the misfortune to sprain his wrist in the seventh and had to retire. Curtis was running home and collided with Carton with with such force that he fell and sprained his wrist. This was unfortunate for the Karenots as they were already a man short, but at this stage the score was 13-12 in their favor. Laing replaced Carton and the game was proceeded with. Carton played great ball until he was hurt. He steals bases well and made several heavy hits. It did not make much difference as the Straths. only got one more run. They failed to hit Long's curves while the Karenots hit Parnell all over. The work of the winner's fielders was superb. They made few errors. In the Straths. last innings Allison hit a three bagger away out to left field. Johnson soon got it and threw to Geale at second who threw home and Allison, who thought he had a home run, was out. The Karnots bat well and kept the Straths. fielders busy chasing their many heavy hits. The Straths. did not play their usual good game and owing to costly fumbles lost their match. At the beginning of the Karnots fifth the Straths. led by 4 runs, but it was in this session that the wild throws from right field to third were made. The Karnots hit Parnell all over the field and it certainly must have been an off day with the Straths., as they threw wild and muffed some they should have caught. Allison at first base also was guilty of a number of errors. Parnell did not pitch as well as he usually does. Alex. Weatherstone was the best player on the team. He is a heavy batter and is quick to act when the occasion demands it. Wilson is also a good batter and registered the first run of the day. In the third Allison made a nice three bagger and succeeded in crossing the home plate. Delaney, Dormer and Heard played their initial match this season Saturday and for their first put up a good sample of ball.

The Karenots went to bat first, but the first three men up to bat quickly fanned to Parnell, whilst the Straths. took a lead of three runs when they came up to bat. The Karenots began to wake up in the second and tallied two runs. They failed to repeat in the third, but in the fourth session managed to get one more, while the Straths. at the end of the same session had four runs to the good. But it was the glorious and lucky fifth for the Karenots when they registered five and took the lead. The Straths. had their revenge in the sixth at the close of which they were leading by two but their success ended with the sixth and in the next three they only got two runs and the Karenots registered seven making the final score 16-13.

Mr. W. Stacey made a satisfactory umpire.

The teams were as follows:

Karenots.—G. Long, p; N. Geale, s.s.; S. Laing, 1b; Carton, c; Johnson, c.f.; Ray, 3b; Borraidale, r.f.; Craig, 2b.

Strathconas.—Wilson, c; Weatherston, 2b; Curtis, 3b; Allison, 1b; Delaney, c.f.; F. Pannell, p; Dormer, s.s.; E. Pannell, l.f.; Heard, r.f.

The Karenots haven't lost a game yet and are a speedy little team and will make the other teams get some to beat them. They will put up a keen fight for the Review silverware.

QUAKERS WON FROM OMEMEE

Gained a Hard Earned Victory on Saturday by 2 Goals to 1.

After suffering two defeats at the hands of the Omemee football team the intermediate Quakers succeeded in turning the tables on Saturday afternoon when they took the kickers from the western village into camp on their own sward by the score of 2 goals to 1. It was the second league game between those two teams, the first one having been played in Peterborough two weeks ago when the visitors were victorious, the score being 1-0. An exhibition game was played in Omemee on May 24th, when the Quakers went down to defeat by 4 goals to 3. Football followers could hardly figure out how the Quakers could win on Saturday, but they have improved greatly during the past few days and gained a well earned victory.

The match was played on a field that was anything but the carpet floor variety, but despite this the game was a good exhibition of football and pleased a number of enthusiastic spectators. Rain fell during the match and did not tend to add to the comfort of the players.

The Quakers scored the first goal a few minutes after play started and Omemee made it one all before the end of the first half. In the second period the visitors drove two between the posts, but the referee's whistle blew just as one was going through, but it did not count. The Quakers were given a free kick on a foul by an Omemee player, but failed to score. There was no further scoring and thus the match ended with the tally 2-1.

The Omemee team was practically the same as that which had formerly defeated the Quakers and every man on it played good football. The Quakers, especially the forward line, showed big improvement and did effective work during the game. Crough made some brilliant rushes and combined nicely with Caniff, Brodie, Yates and Hagley. Laing made some stops in goal while Scrimshaw and Sullivan booted the leather hard at full back. The halves, Archibald, Hamilton and Dingman were also good and easily held their own against the opposing forwards.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Omemee		Quakers
	Goal
Ingram		Laing
	Full Back
MacPherson		Scrimshaw
Hayes		Sullivan
	Half Back
Rice		Archibald
C. Mitchell		Dingman
McGee		Hamilton
	Forward
Glennie		Caniff
Jardine		Crough
Nugent		Brodie
W. Mitchell		Yates
McGee		Hagley

Referee.—L. Bolin.

As referee Lou Bolin gave satisfaction his rulings being fair and impartial.

BASEBALL

FOR THE FANS.

Chuck Perkins got his second finger broken in the Sylvester-Wideawake Jackmatch Friday evening.

The Cincinnati ball club is after Jack Thoney, the clever outfielder of the Toronto Maple Leafs. But Thoney will not be released this season.

A Jersey City alderman hit umpire Owens on the head and knocked him unconscious after the Jersey City-Toronto game at the former place the other day.

GAMES TONIGHT.

Two good games of ball will be played tonight in the intermediate league series. The schedule is being run off without a hitch, and great interest is being displayed in the different contests. The Strathconas and Lillies play the first part of their game in the Charlotte street Guild field on Patterson street, and the West Ends and Excelsiors will meet on Nicholls Oval. Both matches will no doubt be good exhibitions and the fans are assured of seeing a good game. Mr. W. Stacey will handle the indicator at the Oval and Mr. Tom Carson will do likewise in the Strathcona-Lillies contest.

LACROSSE

AT ORILLIA.

This is a big day for lacrosse in Orillia. The team for Australia foregathered there on Saturday to prepare for today's game and get acquainted with each other. Today they play Beaverton, and tonight they will be formally wished Godspeed at the banquet at the Orillia House. Hon. Pres. J. C. Miller, the organizer of the tour, the most extensive ever undertaken by any Canadian sporting body, has had many difficulties to contend with, but has overcome them all. The tourists leave Orillia tomorrow, and play in Port Arthur on Thursday. Games at Winnipeg, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, and Vancouver will give the team a good chance to get together before sailing from Vancouver on the Aorangi on the 21st of June. It will be next November before they are home again, coming back by way of Europe.

A number of Peterborough lacrosse enthusiasts left for Orillia this morning to attend the game.

Tecumsehs defeated Capitals in an exhibition game in Toronto on Saturday, 7—4. The winners scored four goals in the last quarter.

Cornwall lost to Montreal in the opening N.L.U. game at Cornwall on Saturday, 9 goals to 4. The game was very rough. Shamrocks defeated Nationals in a league game 10 goals to 8.

In a senior C.L.A. game at Hamilton on Saturday the home team defeated Brantford, 6 goals to 5.

Maitlands defeated Orangeville at Toronto on Saturday, in an intermediate C.L.A. game 8—0.

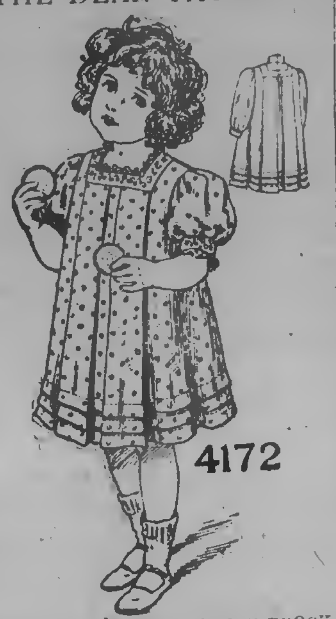
Maitlands Here on Saturday

Local Lacrosse Season Will be Opened at Riverside Park

The Peterborough Lacrosse Team will have their first game this season on Saturday afternoon of this week, when they will meet the fast Maitland dozen of Toronto, in an exhibition game. The strength of the Maitlands is shown by the fact that they defeated the Orangeville intermediate team in an exhibition game in Toronto Saturday, eight goals to nil. The locals will have to travel some to beat them, and will have several big practices this week. There was a big turnout at Saturday afternoon's practice, and the boys dug in in great shape. A strong team will be available for Saturday and the locals should open the season with a victory.

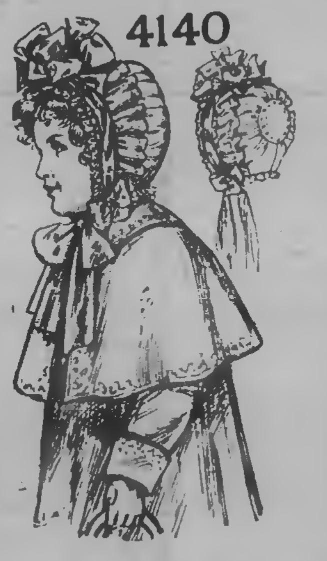
THE DEAN PATTERNS



4172.—A CHARMING LITTLE FROCK OF MUCH SIMPLICITY.

For little maids there is no prettier style of dress than that of one piece and a pleasing example is shown in the accompanying sketch. Two box pleats in front and back relieve any tendency to plainness and prove more attractive than gathers or tucks. The tucks near the hem assist the flare and are quite in keeping with the fashion of the day. A square yoke and standing collar may finish the neck or it may be in Dutch square outline as shown. Sleeves in full or short puff length are provided for so that a dressy or plain frock may be realized with this pattern. A tub fabric or light weight cloth may serve as material, of which 2 1-8 yds. 36 inches wide are needed for the medium size.

4172.—Sizes, 1-2, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 years.



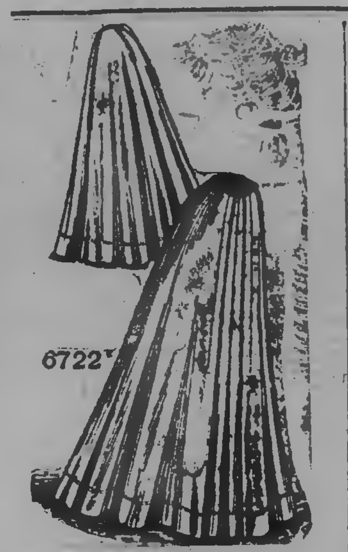
4140.—A FETCHING LITTLE CAP.

Until the small person is several years old, she wears caps of soft silk and mull which are not only cosy but becoming as well. One of silk which may be made at home quite as well as purchased ready-made is sketched and will prove most pleasing for small wearers. The side is gathered on front and back edges and the frill is shirred so as to lie correctly away from the face. Pretty bows of ribbon may trim it at the top and sides or a simple edging of pleated ribbon or lace. A surah, peau de cygne or China silk may serve while a daintier one may be of chiffon, interlined with a silk and flannel. The cap requires 5-8 yard of 20 inch material in the medium size.

4140.—Sizes, 1, 3, and 5 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

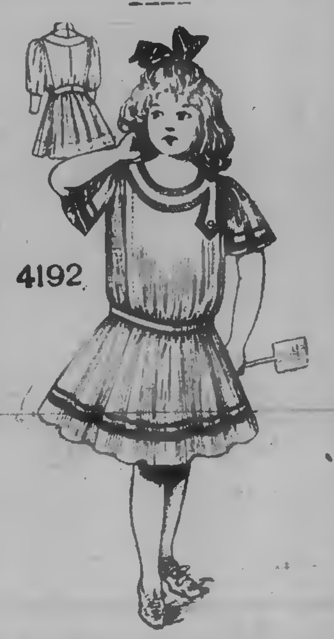
Leave your order and ten cents at at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.



6722.—A SMART SKIRT FOR GENERAL WEAR.

Now that the fashion for separate skirts is again to the fore, many very chic new designs are to be seen and one is sketched which will please the particular woman. The skirt is a five piece circular one with tuck pleats in front and an under box pleat at the side and back to give it a wide ripple at the hem. The new skirts are most of them pleated in one way or another, and for the woman who does not desire a full pleated one the skirt shown is excellent. The medium size calls for 5 3-4 yards of 44 inch material.

6722.—7 sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist measure.



4192.—A PRACTICAL FROCK FOR SUMMER WEAR.

A style of dress which is adapted to changes is always more valuable than one which must be in one mode only. Here is shown a dress which may be finished in low round neck and long sleeves for any season. The waist with its tucks at either side is attached to the skirt by a narrow belt and closes in back. The fanciful trimming band which finishes the yoke or neck edge may be of a contrasting fabric or not as desired. The tub fabrics as well as cloths are suitable to this style of dress. The medium size calls for 2 yards of 44 inch material.

4192.—8 sizes, 3 to 10 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

New York, June 3.—The stock market was again professionally attacked today. The bears did not get much stock, but owing to the scale support procedure, were able to reduce individual levels to some extent. The street was bearish almost to a man, although there was continued investment absorption reported from time to time. The tendency is to buy only on the breaks so far as high grade houses are concerned, with regard to speculation, but the best institutions agree that investment purchases judiciously made will yield well. New York Central was under pressure and forced down to a new low level, after which a good rally set in. London sent lower prices, especially for the Copper stocks, which caused heavy selling of Amalgamated in this market.

Cotton was strong, but wheat was weak on account of the almost perfect weather in the winter wheat states. Corn was firm, as were oats. Stocks were inclined to rally in the last half hour, and the final prices were steady a point or more from the lowest.

Hydraulic Co. Wins Suit Against C. B. McAllister

But the Latter is Given Judgment Against the Ontario Bank—Will Similar Action be Taken Every Three Months?

Chancellor Boyd has given his decision in the case of the Peterborough Hydraulic Company against McAllister, which was heard at the non-jury sittings of the High Court here last week. The Osgoode Hall reports in the Toronto papers have the following anent the case,—

"Peterborough Hydraulic Co., vs. McAllister.—Judgment (G.A.B.) in action tried without a jury at Peterborough. The defendants, partners under the name of "McAllister Milling Co., were lessees from plaintiffs for ten years, from January, 1903, of a milling property, at a rent of $3,000 yearly, payable quarterly. This action was to recover three months' rent, $750 payable in advance on January 1st, 1907. Defendants are liable by reason of their covenant to pay, but they claimed to be indemnified against such payment by the Ontario Bank, brought in as third parties. Held, upon the evidence that defendants had established their claim against the bank. Judgment for defendants against the bank with costs."

To make it clearer it might be stated that according to the lease which has seven years yet to run at $3,000 per annum, $21,000 is still coming to the Hydraulic Company. They sued McAllister for $750, the first quarter's rent for 1907. It will be seen that they have been awarded this amount. The business of the McAllister Milling Co., was taken over by the Ontario Bank, so when the Hydraulic Company took action against McAllister, he commenced proceedings against the Ontario Bank to make them responsible for the payment of the lease and according to Chancellor Boyd's decision has been successful in doing so. McAllister gets judgment against the bank for $750, and the bank has to pay the costs of the action.

The solicitors for McAllister were D. O'Connell and G. N. Gordon of Peterborough; for Peterborough Hydraulic Company, F. D. Kerr; and for the Ontario Bank, Hon. A. B. Morine, K. C.

Although this action is now disposed of, it is likely that the matter will be heard of again. The Hydraulic Company will in all probability demand $750 for every quarter from McAllister and the latter in turn will take action against the Ontario Bank for this amount. Whether the merry warfare will continue every three months is not know, but unless the case is appealed this will likely happen.

For the Protection of India Very Important Negotiations

Britain and Japan Enter Into Important Agreement.

New and Secret Treaty Between Two Island Powers—Japan Will Lend Support of Navy In Event of Menace to India—Britain's Undertaking Not Divulged—May Assist Japan Financially.

London, June 4.—(C.A.P.)—I am informed that very important negotiations have recently taken place in London between Prince Fushimi and Admiral Yamamoto, representing Japan, and Sir Edward Grey of the British Foreign Office. The purpose of the negotiations is to arrange an extension of the scope of the Anglo-Japanese agreement, so as to provide that Japan shall be bound to assist Great Britain in the event of British control of India being attacked by any other power.

Japan's Navy Will Act.

Japan, I am told, does not contemplate sending an army to India to support her ally in case the latter should be in trouble. Her undertaking would be to support Great Britain in India against any other power with the full strength of the Japanese navy. I am unable to state precisely to what stage the negotiations between Japan's representatives and the Foreign Office have been advanced, but my understanding is that a complete agreement has been drafted for submission to the Japanese Government.

What Japan would get in return for what she gave my informant was unable to state, but he suggested that for one thing it might be agreed that this country should do everything possible to help Japan to maintain her financial standing here and elsewhere.

Is Russia Aimed At?

Of course, the only power that is likely to interfere with British control of India is Russia, so the proposed agreement between Japan and Great Britain must be regarded as in the nature of an alliance against Russia. That being the case, it seems extraordinary that such an alliance is contemplated at a time when Japan is concluding a treaty with Russia in connection with the Portsmouth protocol and Great Britain to negotiating with Russia for an entente similar to that she has with France. When I suggested this to my informant his reply was that the intention of Japan and Great Britain was to keep the negotiations in which Prince Fushimi figured a secret; in fact to negotiate a secret treaty.

Steamer Had Narrow Escape; Its Cargo Burned Like Oil

Fire on Ocean Steamship Was Drowned Out.

"Oceanic" Liner Has Narrow Escape From Destruction—Flames Raged Unchecked for Five Hours—Firemen Overcome by Fumes—Theatrical Scenery Burned—Fire Suspected to Be Work of Incendiary.

New York, June 4.—The White Star Line's giant steamer Oceanic had a narrow escape from destruction by fire yesterday while lying at her pier in the Hudson River. For five hours the flames raged unchecked in one of her big holds, and it was only with the combined efforts of the firemen and her crew of more than half a thousand men that the fire finally was extinguished. The damage will amount to several thousand dollars, but as the flames were confined to the hold in which they started, it is believed that repairs can be made in time for the Oceanic to sail on schedule time to-morrow.

The fire was one of the most stubborn the firemen have had to fight in many months, and a full score of them were overcome by smoke and noxious fumes before the blaze was checked. All of the men were quickly revived, however. The fire started just before two o'clock yesterday morning, and worked rapidly downward to the lower part of the hold, 30 feet below the lower deck, where 120 barrels of glucose had been stored. The burning glucose sent up a dense volume of thick, pungent smoke. In the hold the firemen were sent with the hose. They worked in short relays, but even then many of them were overcome and were carried out of the hold by their companions. After five hours of the most difficult work the flames were checked, and an hour later the work of repairing the damage was well under way. All the bedding and other perishable fittings of the steerage was destroyed, in addition to a quantity of freight. Among the cargo was some theatrical scenery belonging to Forbes Robertson, who recently left for England after a successful season in America, and this is said to have been burned or damaged.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but the suspicion was prevalent yesterday that it was the result of incendiarism. The loss will reach several thousand dollars. It was stated that the sailing of the steamer will not be delayed.

CONSPIRATORS ON TRIAL.

Men Who Tried to Assassinate Alfonso and Victoria.

Madrid, June 4.—The trial of Senor Ferrer, director of the modern school of Barcelona, Don Jose Nakens, editor of El Motin, and others, charged with complicity in the attempt to assassinate King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, May 31, 1906, began yesterday.

The state demands that Ferrer be sentenced to 16 years' imprisonment and the others to 10 years.

Ferrer declared he did not know Morales, the man who actually threw the bomb, was an anarchist, and said he himself was not an anarchist, his ideal being to perfect society by means of education.

The documentary evidence against Ferrer is said to be strong.

The thirty-two Orientals arrested in Hamilton, Ont., were released on $20 bail to appear Thursday.

OLD CHARGE EXPLODED.

One Man Killed and Another Fatally Injured.

Cobalt, June 4.—At the O'Brien mine yesterday afternoon, at the 150 foot level, David Blair, a Scotchman, recently arrived in Cobalt, was instantly killed and Harry Weldy of Orillia fatally injured. Both his eyes were blown out, both legs broken and he suffered other injuries.

The accident was caused by the explosion of an old charge.

Blair was a married man. Weldy has been mining for 15 years, and came to Cobalt from Copper Cliff. Both were 30 years of age.

Woman Stabbed to Death.

New York, June 4.—Mrs. Katherine Killoran, wife of James Killoran, a foreman of laborers in the McAdoo tunnel, was found dead in their home in the Bronx yesterday, with half a dozen knife wounds in her body. Her husband, from whom she had been living apart, but who had called on her Sunday night, has been arrested.

Three Burn to Death.

Newark, N. J., June 4.—Three lives were lost and thousands of dollars' damage was done in a fire which started early yesterday morning in Newark Turn Verenin Hall, in William street. The dead are Joseph Hoenecke, janitor of Turn Hall, his wife and child.

FARMER SHOT, HOUSE ROBBED.

Apparent Case of Murder Near South Mountain.

Cornwall, June 4.—The authorities here think they are on the track of a murder supposed to have been committed some time Saturday night or Sunday morning.

The victim is a man by the name of James Lashway, a well-to-do farmer of Mountain Township, who was found dead in his home Sunday night with a bullet wound in his brain.

It was at first thought that it was a case of suicide, but further investigation revealed a few details which set the authorities thinking.

Lashway was found in his house Sunday night by a woman who did housework for him since his separation from his wife. He was laying on the floor and had a revolver in his left hand, but from the fact that the deceased was right-handed it seems doubtful if he would have fired the fatal shot with his left hand. Furthermore the position of the wound does not seem to indicate that it was self-inflicted.

Work of Burglars.

The theory that it was the work of burglars has also certain ground for belief. The door of the house appears to have been forced open and the whole place ransacked. Trunks were broken into, and their contents scattered about in all directions, and Lashway's watch and money are missing.

There has of late been considerable work done through the country by desperadoes, and it is not thought improbable that one of the gangs is responsible for the death of Lashway.

Deceased had visited his brother on Saturday and told him that he would return on Sunday. He was 50 years of age.

An inquest has been opened by the coroner, and the investigation will be continued on Friday. County Attorney Dingwall of Cornwall has been requested to attend the inquest.

HAYWOOD JURY READY.

After Two Weeks Twelve Men Are Selected—The States' Charge.

Boise, Idaho, June 4.—Twelve men to try Wm. D. Haywood on the charge that he murdered ex-Governor Frank Steunenberg, have been chosen and sworn. Haywood yesterday heard the indictment accusing him of the crime, and to-day after the state has recited its case and made promise of proof, the first chapter of the legal account of the crime at Caldwell Dec. 30, 1905, will be told.

The state will charge that Haywood, conspiring with Moyer, Pettibone, Simpkins and others of the alleged "inner circle" of the Western Federation of Miners, plotted a campaign of terrorism which had the double purpose of the removal by assassination of those opposed to the organization and increase of power within the organization.

It will be charged that Haywood was the genius of, and the strength behind the great plot, and that Steunenberg was added to the list because of his part during the labor troubles in North Idaho.

It will be alleged that Haywood and his associates, standing and working in the background, planned the long list of crimes and sent Harry Orchard and Steve Adams forth as hired executioners.

In the work of procuring the jury, the court has been in session fifteen days, and 156 talesmen have been examined.

MASKED MEN HOLD UP AUTO.

Demand Money and Valuables In Old-Fashioned Way.

Toronto, June 4.—What looked like a well-planned hold-up took place just east of the Hunt Club premises on the Kingston road last night at 9.30 o'clock. John H. Richardson and his son, Fred, who is connected with Scarboro Beach Park, were going to their home at Highland Creek in an automobile, when they noticed two men with a lantern in the roadway.

The Richardsons stopped the auto to see what was the matter, when the men, who were masked, drew revolvers and demanded their money.

One of the men held them at the revolver point until his companion went through their pockets and searched the automobile.

Everything of value was taken, and the stripped autoists proceeded to the Half-Way House, where they notified the city police by 'phone. These communicated with County Constable J. T. Brown, who hurried to the scene, arriving there three-quarters of an hour after the robbery. He believes that he knows the perpetrators of the deed. Constable Burns was also engaged on the case.

Alone In a Strange Country.

Montreal, June 4.—A destitute young English woman, Mrs. Alford, whose husband fell overboard during a fog and was never found, arrived here yesterday on the Virginian. He carried in his pocket their sole possessions, twenty pounds sterling, and tickets to Calgary, where the two were to try their fortune.

A collection amounting to 34 pounds was taken up in the young woman's behalf among the passengers of the steamer.

Bad Fire at Lindsay.

Lindsay, June 4.—A heap of smoldering ruins is all that is left of the Kennedy & Davis saw mill, one of Lindsay's leading industries, which was burned yesterday morning at one o'clock. Over fifty men are out of work as a result.

Joseph Bell was hit on the head by a falling timber and was unconscious for over an hour.

Yesterday's Wreck.

Rochester, N. Y., June 4.—Two men were killed in a freight wreck on the Western New York and Pennsylvania Railroad early yesterday at Severance, seven miles from Rochester.

Electrocuted.

Helena, Mont., June 4.—Chas. Bothwell, expert for the Westinghouse Co., went inside of a transformer at the power plant at Lake Mauser Sunday and was electrocuted.

Henry Johnston, a middle aged negro, was lynched at Echo, La., by about 150 men who took him from gaol. He was accused of assault.

ELUDED SECRET POLICE

Leader of Finnish Revolution Has Reached America.

Women Played Important Part—Proved to Be Best Soldiers in the Red Guards—Heavy Price on His Head—Capt. Kock Says More Terrible Uprisings Still Confront the Russian Government.

New York, June 4.—Capt. J. Kock, leader of the famous Finnish Red Guard, the revolutionary militia of Finland, although searched for by the secret police of Russia over all Europe, has arrived safely and is staying with friends on the east side.

There is a price of many thousand rubles on his head, but Capt. Kock declares that he will continue his work for the liberation of Finland, and that uprisings greater and more terrible than those of the past will confront the Russian Government.

The Finnish Red Guard consists of 10,000 men and 5,000 women, all armed with the latest model Mauser rifles, well drilled and capable of being mobilized at a moment's notice.

In an interview Capt. Kock said: "The best soldiers in my army were the women. I had a division of women, led by women officers, and they did splendid service and were sometimes braver than the men. I rejoice to think of my women troops. They were the best shots and runners.

"The women soldiers in the Red Guard were the working women, domestic servants and peasant girls."

CAPTAIN PROTECTED DESERTER.

U. S. Colonel Wants Fugitive Arrested and Captain Punished.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Col. Henry A. Greene of the 10th United States Infantry, commanding at Fort William H. Seward, Alaska, has appealed to the War Department to cause the arrest and return of a deserter, and, incidentally, to punish the captain of a British ship, who perhaps has created an international issue.

According to Col. Greene, Sergeant Buell, a member of the post band, deserted from Fort Seward and made his way on board the British steamer Princess May. When the ship touched at Katchikan, Alaska, May 14, the city marshal, under instructions from the military authorities, sought to arrest Buell. The latter locked himself in his cabin, and the captain of the ship refused to allow him to be forcibly arrested, and sailed away to a Canadian port, where the deserter landed and disappeared.

Col. Greene asks the Department to have the State Department make a demand on the British Government for the return of the deserter to Fort Seward and for the punishment of the captain.

The acting judge advocate general, however, has taken the ground that the military has no such authority, and if the effort is made to punish the British captain, it must be through the civil authorities, who were derelict in the first place, in not arresting both the deserter and the captain, if he resisted process within territorial waters.

RUSH AT LAND OFFICE.

Homeseekers Have Strenuous Time In the West.

Prince Albert, Sask., June 4.—The scene at the land office yesterday morning was disgraceful. A mounted constable of the Mounted Police rode up and down through the crowd in front of the steps endangering the lives and limbs of those who were only following out the Government instructions and seeking to be first at the counter when the doors were opened. When the doors were opened some of these who had sat on the steps since Saturday got in. About 8 o'clock a raid was made on the tired top-step sitters and they were ousted. Some were forced through the door into the building from which they were promptly fired.

At 9 o'clock two mounted police and two police constables raided the crowd at the doors and made a road in for Mr. Cook and Commissioner McDougall. The latter has charge of the distribution of the Doukhobor lands. A mounted policeman then rode his horse through the crowd, but as they dispersed before the horse they fell in behind again. Both Mr. Cook and Mr. McDougall appealed to the crowd to let in the five who were ousted from the top steps, but the crowd would not listen to it.

Just at this juncture a wagon was driven up close to the curb, and the spectators on the outside rushed in and tipped the wagon over on the crowd in from the steps. Fortunately nobody was hurt.

Robert Holmes Nominated.

Goderich, Ont., June 4.—The Liberals of West Huron yesterday nominated Robert Holmes, ex-M.P., editor of The Clinton New Era, for the federal House. No other name was mentioned. A resolution condemned electoral corruption and deprecated the Opposition attacks upon Hon. C. S. Hyman and Hon. H. R. Emmerson in their private capacities.

Young Man Suicides.

Brockville, June 4.—Charles Moore of the Town of Martinsburg committed suicide at the home of his sister, Mrs. George Stoffle, by shooting himself with a 44 caliber Winchester rifle. Moore was 22 years of age.

ASK BRITISH SEAMEN'S AID.

Striking French Sailors Seek to Prevent Passage of Emigrants.

Havre, June 4.—The striking seamen here have sent an urgent appeal to their English comrades at Southampton not to allow the emigrants from Havre to go on board British vessels at that port for transportation to the United States and assurances have been obtained that the strikers at Cherbourg will try to prevent their embarkation there.

There was a lively riot here yesterday between striking men and fisher-women and non-striking fisher-women and fishermen. The latter were assailed by the former, who after the struggle emptied their fish baskets. A number of arrests were made.

Dufferin Conservatives.

Orangeville, June 4.—The Conservatives of Dufferin will likely meet on June 21, to select a candidate for the Legislature, and the date for the election will, it is thought, be during the last week in July, to accommodate the farmers. Stewart is picked on as the probable successful candidate.

POLICE AND C. P. R.

Lively Time Over the Closing of a Railway Crossing.

Calgary, Alta., June 4.—A general mix-up between the Northwest Mounted Police, the authorities of the Town of Olds, and the C.P.R. officials, was yesterday the result of the railway officials trying to close up a crossing in the town, backed up by a posse of police.

The first conflict took place between the town officials and the police, who were guarding the men at work on the railway crossing. The C.P.R. had threatened to block up the crossing before, but had always met with severe opposition on the part of the citizens and the authorities at Olds.

This time, however, the company had determined to carry their decision to a successful issue, and obtained the assistance of a squad of Mounted Police to guard their workmen.

The precaution was not unwisely taken, for the men had done but little work when the trouble started. Both sides were determined to carry their point, the town to have the crossing left open, and the C.P.R. to close it, and the police had been detailed to protect the C.P.R. workmen, and were placed in the awkward position of taking the defence of a corporation against the authorities of a town.

There was a conflict, and the Riot Act was read. Arrests were made on both sides on warrants signed by the mayor of the town, and among those placed under arrest were several C.P.R. officials, and warrants were issued for Police Inspector Duffs and C.P.R. Superintendent Niblock.

The Mounted Police patrolled the streets last night.

AUTO DASHES INTO TEAM.

One Killed, One Injured — Wreckage Carried 200 Feet.

Buffalo, June 4.—Harry Hamlin, one of Buffalo's best known and wealthiest citizens, was killed in an automobile accident on the Williamsville road, a mile north of the city line, late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hamlin's automobile collided with a light wagon driven by Jacob Schaller, a retired butcher of Buffalo. Hamlin was hurled to the roadside and instantly killed. Schaller was badly hurt, but will recover. John Neckel, a 12-year-old boy, who was in Schaller's rig, was fatally injured. Both his legs were broken, and his skull fractured.

In the automobile with Mr. Hamlin were Anthony Gavin, a member of the Buffalo police force, and two of Hamlin's employes, one of them acting as chauffeur. Opposite the Country Club two automobiles going in the same direction passed the Hamlin party. The road was covered with a heavy coating of dust, and the two rapidly-moving machines left a dense cloud of dust in their trail.

Schaller and the boy were driving toward Buffalo, and the automobiles were going in the opposite direction toward Williamsville.

The first two machines passed them well to the right, and Schaller was peering ahead through the dust cloud when Hamlin's machine flashed directly in front of him. There was no time to turn out. The automobile struck the horse, tearing off its front legs and carrying the wreckage of the wagon 200 feet down the road. Schaller was tossed to one side, but the boy was jammed into the wreckage of the rig and the front of the automobile.

There is a great rush at Yorkton for homesteads in the Doukhobor reserve just thrown open.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

"Oh! they're perfectly lovely!" gasped Gertie, gazing at the sparkling treasures with wistful, longing eyes. "What a lucky girl you are, Reine, to have such a liberal lover. I almost envy you—upon my word I do."

"Envy me—the most miserable creature the smiling earth holds! Oh! if Gertie only knew," she thought, repressing a tremulous sigh.

"Do you know, Reine," her friend went on, with all a young girl's thoughtlessness, "I quite fancied, last summer, that you rather liked our handsome blonde neighbor, Mr. Waldron, of Waldron Towers. By the way, I wonder what took him off so suddenly."

Reine tried to speak, but her voice died away in a gasp.

"When I missed him, I sent over to know if he were ill; and the answer the servant brought back was, that he was called away hurriedly; that he might be back the following week, or perhaps he might remain away long months—his movements were pretty uncertain. Rather uncivil of Mr. Waldron to treat us with such scant courtesy as to leave without even saying good-by," laughed Gertie.

"Did they tell you where he had gone?" inquired Reine, with painful interest.

Gertie shook her curls back, and said:

"No. The thought occurred to me, however that perhaps he went off to get married. In fact, I am very much inclined to think he was wedded long since."

The glittering diamonds, Bernard's gift, fell from her lap to the floor unheeded.

"Why should you think he is married, Gertie?" she asked, faintly. "Tell me why you think that."

"It is only a surmise of mine," smiled Gertie, pleased at her companion's apparent interest in her gossip. "Why, when one of my friends was in New York lately, who should he see entering one of the large dry goods stores but Mr. Waldemar Waldron, with a young and beautiful lady leaning on his arm. He purchased her an elegant plush dolman. Now, that certainly looks as if he was married, doesn't it?"

Reine Hastings rose to her feet with a suppressed cry. She took one step forward, then, without a word of warning, sank down in a dead faint at Gertie's feet.

CHAPTER VIII.

Gertie Traverse did not call one of the maids when Reine sank in a dead faint at her feet, but set about restoring her by laving her face freely with water which was close at hand.

At last she was rewarded by seeing Reine open wide her blue, dazed eyes.

"Are you ill, dear?" she inquired, anxiously. "Or perhaps the room is too warm for you. I did not know you were subject to swooning away like this. You frightened me."

It never once occurred to Gertie that the subject under discussion between them had anything to do with her friend's sudden indisposition.

For long hours after Reine Hastings found herself alone she sat with her hands closely locked together in her lap, gazing steadily into the glaring flames of the sea-coal fire.

Was it true that the lover whose loss she had mourned so keenly had found consolation with another love whom he had made his bride? How the thought tortured her!

It mattered little enough then what became of her. Life was all over for her long since.

Gertie had gathered up the fallen jewels. Placing them in their casket upon the table, Reine pushed them from her with trembling hands. She would have thought more of one simple flower given her by Waldemar Waldron than of all the precious jewels the man whom she was so soon to marry could have bestowed upon her.

It mattered little enough to Reine Hastings how rapidly or slowly the weeks rolled on now. Her love and her faith had received a cruel blow.

Because Reine no longer mentioned Waldemar Waldron's name both the general and Bernard Chesleigh confidently hoped that she had learned to forget him. Neither of them was versed in the ways of woman's love or woman's pride.

At last the eventful day of Reine's life dawned amid the pealing of the Christmas bells. It was her wedding day, yet Reine opened her eyes to the morning light with a shudder and a sob of pain.

The golden sunlight blinded the eyes that were swollen with weeping, and the chiming of the joy-bells made her heart flutter with pain.

Fairlawn was thronged with guests who were to witness the ceremony on this eventful Christmas evening. Many had come from afar and were making the most of the festive occasion.

All day Reine kept her room, with Mrs. Dent, the housekeeper, for a maid and companion. Even the bridesmaids, who were juse dying to catch a glimpse of her, were rigorously excluded from her boudoir; yet nothing was thought of this, as it has been the custom of many a bride from time immemorial.

"She wants to come forth at the proper time such a vision of loveliness as will startle us," laughed Gertie Traverse, twining a fresh cluster of pale rosebuds in her curly locks. "I have seen Reine's diamonds, girls," she pursued, breathlessly, "and I warn you to prepare yourselves to see something just grand. Just think of it! A whole necklace that encircles her neck twice, of superb solitaire diamonds, every one of 'em larger than these earrings in my ears. And her dress is perfectly lovely. You never saw such a veil. And as for slippers, why, dear me! they are cuteness itself—white satin, embroidered in pearls. Reine will look as beautiful as a poet's dream."

All the young girls were more than longing to catch a glimpse of all this finery, and could scarcely wait in patience for the hour to arrive when Reine should make her appearance.

At that moment Mrs. Dent was putting the last touches to Reine's toilet. Was there ever a fairer little bride? If it were not too old a subject, I would describe how lovely she looked in the shimmering gleaming satin robe, and the cloud-like veil that enveloped her, with its crown of snowy orange blossoms resting on her golden hair.

There was a feverish glow on her cheeks, and a strange brightness in her eyes, and the little hands that grasped the bridal bouquet were burning hot through the dainty white gloves as Mrs. Dent touched them.

She grew strangely restless as the evening wore on. The ceremony was to be performed exactly at eight; it wanted a quarter to that time now, as Reine stood dressed and ready.

Within the hour she was to be Bernard Chesleigh's wife. How strange it seemed to her! The very thought seemed to make her grow faint and dizzy. She walked over to the long French window and threw up the sash. Although it was Christmas night, the wind that fanned her heated cheek was balmy.

Mrs. Dent called to her anxiously:

"Reine, my dear, you must not stand at an open window," she said. "You will take your death of cold; or, if you insist upon standing there, do let me throw your fur wrap about you?"

Reine shook her head, dreamily.

"Do not disturb me, Mrs. Dent," she replied: "let me have my own thoughts. Bernard will not come for me for fifteen minutes yet. I will spend ten of them in my own way."

She drew the velvet curtain about her, and Mrs. Dent walked into an inner apartment, leaving the youthful bride to her own reveries.

Reine gazed wistfully down into the ground. Ah, if she might rest for a few brief moments on the old bench beneath the fir-trees yonder, where the ceaseless murmur of voices would not reach her. Mechanically she stepped out upon the moonlit balcony, gathering up her white train and veil in one little gloved hand.

A private stairway led from the balcony down into the grounds, and Reine gained the shadows of the fir-trees unobserved, sinking down wearily upon the bench.

The snow had been carefully brushed from the grounds and from the rustic seats, yet had it been lying deep about her, she would not have felt its chill, so feverish was the fire that burned in her veins.

What was it stealing so softly and cautiously toward her among the dense shadows of the pines and moaning fir-trees? Once she almost fancied she heard a cautious, stealthy footstep, but it must have been only fancy, or the bare rustling branches of the trees above her head, as the night-wind sighed among them.

She turned her blue eyes in the direction of Waldron Towers—standing like a sentinel on the brow of a distant hill—its ivy-covered turrets plainly discernible in the bright white moonlight.

Yet Reine would not think of its owner—no, she would not give one thought to him—for she was to be another's bride in a few short fleeting moments.

Time seemed to fly swift-winged by her, and it flew by with equal rapidity to the inmates of the spacious villa.

Laborer Had His Back Injured

By Plank Striking Him—Course of Creek in Ashburnham Being Changed

The work of changing the course of the creek running through east city to run into the river at Wilson street is going ahead rapidly. There are about fifteen men excavating under the direction of Mr. R. Tivey. They are engaged on the west side of the railroad track, and the high river bank has been cut through to the depth of thirty feet. From the track to the river, three more feet will have to be excavated. This has been an exceedingly arduous task as the ground is very rocky. To prevent the banks of the excavated part from falling in the sides have all been shored in until the digging is fully completed. Mr. Tivey expects to have some difficulty in preventing the earth caving in when the boards are taken away.

MAN INJURED.

Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock Geo. Hayward, one of the laborers, had the misfortune to have his back injured by a plank falling and striking him. He was not seriously hurt and will be able to resume his work tomorrow.

The new creek, now being excavated, will connect with the old creek in a field on the east side of Rogers street.

Excursion From Uxbridge To-day

Sons of England and Their Friends Spending Pleasant Time Here

About two hundred members and friends of Buckingham Lodge, No. 40, Sons of England, of Uxbridge, are in the city, viewing the many places of interest. They arrived by special train about nine o'clock this morning. The train started at Markham and a large number got on at every station along the route. At Lindsay, some left the train and will spend the day there, but the majority of the excursionists came on to Peterborough. The society would have liked to have held the excursion later in the season, but suitable arrangements could not be made for a later date.

Mr. Albert Walters of Uxbridge, has charge of the excursion, assisted by an energetic committee and they are looking after the pleasure of the visitors.

This afternoon, the Steamer Water Lily is making three trips over the lift lock, and all the excursionists are taking this opportunity of seeing the wonderful piece of mechanism. A large number also visited the city parks, the Victoria Museum, and other places of interest in the city.

4167.—A SMALLL DRESS OF PERSIAN LAWN.

We find the bolero in little folk's dresses as well as in those of grown-ups and pretty gown in which this is very pleasing is shown. Here it serves the purpose of a yoke and from it depends the full skirt portion. The dress is intended for development in washing stuffs, but a supple cloth might be used with success. The sleeves may be long or in short puff style, the latter being appropriate for party frocks. Bands of insertion adorn the dress shown as well as allover embroidery which forms the yoke and collar and a ruffle to match finishing the bottom. If greater simplicity is desired, the latter may be plain material hemstitched or machine stitched. The pattern calls for 2 3-4 yards of 27 inch goods.

The strong undertone which has prevailed in the market for cattle during the past three weeks still continues to be the main feature of the situation and prices this morning scored another advance of ⅛c to ¼c per lb. and the indications at present are that they will go still higher in the near future. The high prices are solely on account of short supplies here and the scarcity of good to choice stock.

Choice beeves sold to-day at 6¼c to 6⅜c; good, at 5¾c to 6c; fair, at 5½c to 5¾c; milkmen's strippers, at 4¼c to 4¾c, and lower grades at 4c to 4½c per lb.

There was no further change in the hog situation. Supplies were large, with over 2000 on the market, but a number of these had been contracted for by packers last week. Sales of selected lots were made freely at $7.75.

Receipts of sheep are commencing to increase. Prices to-day were 1c per lb. lower than a week ago. Sales for export account were made at 4½c to 5c per lb. The demand for spring lambs is good at $4 to $6 each, and an active trade continues in calves at from $2 to $8 each.

KING RECEIVES VETERANS.

Bobs and Other Heroes of Indian Mutiny at the Levee.

London, June 4.—The third levee of the season was held by King Edward at St. James' Palace yesterday afternoon, and was more than usually interesting because of the presence of a large contingent of officers who served during the mutiny in India half a century ago.

Some 50 veteran officers, headed by Field Marshal Lord Roberts, about a dozen of whom wore the Victoria Cross, formed the most interesting group at the function, with them being a handful of civilians whose gallant deeds in 1857 led to the first bestowal of the Victoria Cross on non-military men.

The King drove to St. James' Palace from Buckingham Palace, in state, escorted, by a detachment of Life Guards. The throne room formed a brilliant scene.

COMMEND AND CONDEMN.

Hamilton Methodist Conference on Government License Policy.

Berlin, June 4.—The committees of conference reported at yesterday afternoon's session. Among the most important was that of the temperance and moral reform committee.

Regret was expressed that local inspectors and commissions have shown much remissness in duty, and so far as they are concerned complaints of defective enforcement and improper administration are very general in conference territory. The action of the Government in not granting licenses in New Ontario was considered a great boon.

With painful regret the committee pronounced itself on refusal of the Whitney Government to withdraw the three-fifths clause of the Local Option Act.

CROCKETT GOES TO TRIAL.

Editor of The Fredericton Gleaner Will Be Tried This Month.

Fredericton, N. B., June 4.—Jas. H. Crockett, editor of The Fredericton Gleaner, recently arrested on a charge of defamatory libel, preferred by Hon. H. R. Emmerson, was yesterday afternoon committed for trial at the next term of the York County Court, which opens on June 18. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $800.

They Remain In Jail.

New Orleans, June 4.—The sentence of the Savannah court in the Gaynor and Greene case was affirmed in an opinion handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals yesterday.

IRISH BILL WITHDRAWN.

Measure Dropped Owing to Opposition of Nationalist Convention.

London, June 4.—In the House of Commons yesterday Premier Campbell-Bannerman formally announced that the Government, in view of the action of the Irish Nationalist convention at Dublin in rejecting the Irish bill, had decided to drop the measure.

The Premier said the Irish people would have done well to give the details of the measure more attention than appeared to have been the case at the recent convention at Dublin, but in view of the unanimous decision to reject the bill, the Government could not go any further. He added that the decision of the representatives of the Irish people was a source of sincere regret and disappointment to the Ministers.

Now that the Irish bill was dropped, the Government intended to introduce an "evicted tenants' restoration bill" with powers of compulsory purchase. The licensing bill would be dropped, as also would be the case with the measure designed to relieve the "passive registers" from paying education rates for religious instruction, but the Government was determined to introduce next session a comprehensive education bill, putting the whole educational system of the country in order.

In regard to the proposed restriction of the powers of the House of Lords, the Premier said it was proposed later in the session to introduce a resolution on the subject, when the Government would fully set forth its views.

Was Arrested for Child Desertion

Laura Gillies Arraigned in the Police Court To-day

At the police court today Laura Gillies was charged with abandoning her infant child, under two years, on September 18th last. The police have been looking for her for some time past and last night they found her. Since last September she had been out of the city, until a few days ago, when she returned. At the time of the desertion she was not married but since then she has been. She is now Mrs. Ferguson. It appears that on September 18th last she took the child only a few days old, to a lady in the north end of the city and asked her to keep it for a little time. In the meantime the young unmarried mother got out of the city. Arrangements were made between the Children's Aid Society and the lady who was keeping the child that she was to be paid for her trouble.

Mr F. D. Kerr appeared for the prisoner this morning, but did not elect how she would be tried.

His Worship will be out of the city for a few days and the case was enlarged until Friday.

The woman was allowed out on two sureties of $100 each. Her brother-in-law went bail for her.

WEDDING BELLS

CARROLL—HEFFERNAN

St. Peter's cathedral was the scene of a very pretty but quiet wedding this morning when Miss Annie Heffernan, eldest daughter of the late Patrick Heffernan, Hunter-st., became the bride of Mr. John J. Carroll, one of Peterborough's prominent young business men. The interesting ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by the Rev. Father McColl in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride who is known among her friends and acquaintances as one of the city's most estimable young ladies, was attired in a beautiful costume of white muslin de soie with lace and satin trimmings. She was attended by Miss Adelaide Doris, who was similarly attired. The groomsman was Mr. Jas. O'Brien.

After the ceremony at the cathedral the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's mother where a sumptuous wedding repast was spread.

Many gifts were presented to the bride and groom, testifying to their popularity a number of them coming from a distance. Telegrams of congratulations were also received from friends outside the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll left on the 11.45 G.T.R. train for a honeymoon trip embracing Toronto, Niagara, Buffalo and other western points. The bride's going away dress was a navy blue ladies' cloth with hat to match. On their return to the city they will reside in their new residence at 57 Bolivar street.

SHORT SKETCH OF NEW PASTOR

Rev. C. H. Coon Who Will Succeed Rev. J. G. Lewis.

Rev C. H. Coon of Bobcaygeon, who will succeed Rev. J. G. Lewis, as pastor of Mark street church, is well-known in the city, having preached at Mark Street Church, on several occasions. He is an earnest and helpful preacher, and what is Mark Street congregation's gain will be Bobcaygeon's loss. He has spent two year's there, and largely owing to him, the church is in a healthy condition both financially and otherwise. Mr. Coon has been engaged in the ministry for many years. In 1889 he was ordained with Rev. J. G. Lewis. He has always been on the Bay of Quinte Conference, and his first charge was at Cavanville and Janetville and afterwards at Havelock. Previous to going to Bobcaygeon, he spent a four year's pastorate at Cherry Valley, in Prince Edward County. Mr. Coon is also assistant secretary of the Bay of Quinte Conference. His pastorate at Bobcaygeon has been a most successful one, and no doubt Mark street church will continue to prosper under his guidance, as it has under Mr. Lewis.

Sareholders of Sugar Beet Co.

Accepted Offer of Mr. T. E. Bradburn M. P. P. at a Meeting This Morning

There were thirty shareholders at the meeting of the Peterborough Sugar Beet Company, Limited, held in the Foresters' Hall, George street, this morning.

The meeting was called for the purpose of considering the offer of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P. to take over the assets of the company and pay all creditors' claims, as settled by the local master, and pay five cents on the dollar to the shareholders.

There were 230 shares represented by the thirty shareholders present, and 36 shares by proxy, making a total of 266 shares. The offer of Mr. Bradburn was explained and the vote taken resulted in 261 being in favor of accepting the offer and 56 against it. Therefore, the report of the meeting will be submitted to the Local Master, His Honor Judge Weller, who will decide what is to be done.

Romaine Street Sewer Will be Examined by the City Engineer

If it is Going to be of no Use Another Sewer Will be Laid—If it is Alright it Will be Cleaned Out at Once---Routine Business Put Through.

The Romaine street sewer is in trouble again. The aldermen are getting anxious to know whether it is going to be of any use. If not a new sewer will have to be built. This matter was brought up by Ald. Morrow, who is also secretary of the Board of Education and naturally is interested in it on account of King Edward school.

The council also put through a lot of routine business and did not get finished until a quarter past twelve o'clock.

It was moved by Ald. Bradburn and Ald. Stevenson that the finance committee be authorized to purchase a duplicating machine for use in the city clerk's office. This machine will cost from $25 to $50 and will enable the clerk to furnish the aldermen with a copy of the reports of the different committees.

Moved by Ald. Morgan and Ald. Elliott that the Board of Works be authorized to lay a plank walk on the north side of Hunter street from the bridge to connect with the cement walk on Roger street.—Carried

ROMAINE-ST. SEWER

Moved by Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. Phelan that the Board of Works take immediate steps to put the sewer connection to the King Edward school in order.

This was a very strict order and the chairman of the committee did not like it altogether. He did not think it was physically possible to do it at present.

Ald Wilson moved and Ald. Bradburn seconded, that the engineer be instructed to investigate the condition of the sewer now and report to the Board of Works on Wednesday night.

Ald. Morrow withdrew his motion and the amendment carried.

The council wants the engineer to state at once whether the Romaine street sewer will be any good and if not a new sewer will have to be constructed this summer. The engineer will attend the meeting next Monday night.

4,000 Persons Crushed to Death In Awful Earthquake in China

Vast Number of Houses Destroyed and Many Persons Left Starving—Urgent Instructions Sent to Relieve the Distress.

Special to the Review.

Victoria, B.C., June 4.—The steamer Shawmut has just brought news of disastrous loss of life following an earthquake at Haing Kiang, China.

A telegram received from Peking at Tokio shortly before the Shawmut sailed, reported that four thousand persons were crushed to death, vast numbers of houses destroyed and many persons left starving.

The Empress Dowager has telegraphed instructions to the local governors to take measures to relieve the distress.

Peterborough Man Explains Causes of Earthquakes

Thoughtful and Instructive Paper Read Before Local Astronomical Society by Mr. S. W. Lowry—Able Treatment of a Live Subject.

At the last regular meeting of the Astronomical Society, Mr. S W Lowry read an interesting and instructive paper on "Earthquakes."

In the course of his remarks Mr. Lowry said;

The subject with which I am to deal is one of which comparatively little is known. What information we have has all been obtained within the last sixty years, principally through the efforts of Mr. R. Mallet, who spent several months investigating on the site of the great Neapolitan earthquake of 1857.

There are few subjects less understood than earthquakes. Among the many theories advanced to explain them, there are none, to my mind not open to serious objections. The theory here presented, I believe, to be in the main new.

The three recent seismic disturbances at San Francisco, Valparaiso, and Kingston, following the eruptions of Mt. Pelee and Vesuvius, forcibly remind us that there is a tremendous terrestrial power of some kind underlying the deep foundations wherein we build our cities and our hope. The most common explanation is that the earth shrinkage from loss of heat sets up stress in the earth's crust, which becomes greater and greater until the crust yields along old faults or lines of weakness. Few people have any idea how enormous are deep earth pressures, or know that these pressures must be taken into serious account in studying seismic phenomena.

It matters not whether the earth be considered as a solid all the way through or as consisting of a great molten interior, with a relatively thin crust upon it, for solid rock and molten lava behave the same at depths of a few miles. Granite flows like wax at a depth of fifty miles, and the earth is eight thousand miles in diameter. If the molten interior were to be removed and the space filled with air under a pressure sufficient to sustain the crust, this air, were it not to liquify, would immediately under the crust, have a density greater than gold.

If two tempered solid steel balls the size of the earth, hard as the harveyized face of armor-plate, were to be taken in two jovian hands and placed gently together in space, what would happen? They would behave exactly as if they were liquid, and would fall together and coalesce with each other like two drops of water, while the highest prominence or mountain on the new globe thus formed would not have a height of fifty miles, because it would flatten out under its own weight.

If we take a tank, say five hundred miles in height, made of material strong enough and refactory enough, provided with a faucet at the bottom, and should fill it to the brim with cannon balls, hard files and steel rails, we could without the application of any heat, draw the molten steel from this enormous tank, because, under its own weight the steel would be forced to flow in a stream through the faucet.

TWO CAUSES

There are two causes which work together to produce earthquakes; first the escape of pent up steam and molten matter, followed by the settling of the crust to fill the voids, second, the tension in the earth's crust set up by contraction from loss of heat, the shrinkage of the earth from loss of heat is so slow however, that this factor is not so important; besides, the weight of the earth's crust is so great that the bedrock flows, and adjusts itself to the stresses produced by mere shrinkage without producing earthquakes or volcanic eruptions. This shrinkage, however, holds the ledges under tension and the tension aids in the earth movements produced by the disturbing element of water. Water heated to incandescence in a space where it cannot expand, exerts a pressure equal to that which would be produced by the most powerful dynamite exploded in the same space; the effect is the same as though many portions of the earth's crust were actually resting upon gases of exploded dynamite trying to escape. The theory is frequently advanced that the planets, and even suns, sometimes explode, and that the earth may some day blow up like a bomb-shell. No celestial body the size of the earth, could possibly explode. If the entire molten interior of our globe could be replaced with nitro-glycerine and detonated, the explosion would not lift the earth's crust. In other words, if we assume that the crust of the earth is from fifty to one hundred miles in thickness, it would require something much more powerful than even nitro-glycerine to burst this shell. It is necessary only to do a little figuring to see that the pressure of the earth's crust at a depth of fifty to a hundred miles far exceeds the pressure exerted by the most powerful high explosive.

EXTREME PRESSURE

If we assume that the thickness of the earth's crust is fifty miles and that its average density is about five times that of water, then we may also assume that the pressure at a depth of fifty miles is somewhat in excess of half a million pounds to the square inch. It is a safe assumption that within a large portion of the earth's crust there are pent-up gases, particularly steam under a pressure, exceeded by the most powerful high explosive. High explosives probably exert pressures ranging from 200,000 to 350,000 lbs. to the square inch. When a high explosive is detonated, the amount of pressure depends on volume of gases liberated and temperature of gases. Nitroglycerine exploded in a space where it could not expand would exert a pressure of from 300,000 to 350,000 pounds to the square inch. The pressure would certainly be less than half a million pounds to the square inch, although the temperature of the gases would equal the boiling point of steel. As the density of the water is not quite so great as that of nitroglycerine, the pressure which incandescent water exerts is not so great as would be exerted by pure nitroglycerine, volume for volume. But weight for weight, the energy would be virtually equal. In deep subterranean chambers there are necessarily large quantities of water heated to a temperature representing a pressure equal to that of exploded dynamite.

BUILDER AND DESTROYER.

Through all geologic time, water, always water, has been both builder and destroyer. Water has piled the mountains up and ground them down again with storm and glacier, pulverizing the debris, sifting and separating sand from pebble, stone from boulder; cutting deep canyons in the rock, laying out the plain, throwing islands into the sea, and giving continents new coast lines. Water, too, was the original architect of the earth's crust. In Genesis the first chapter and the 6th and 7th verses we read, "And God said, let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the water from the waters. And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament, and it was so."

There was a time when the globe was too hot to allow water to remain on the surface in a liquid state. Then the ocean hung in the sky in the shape of steam, mixed with a vast amount of carbonic acid gas, for then the great beds of coal and peat had not been formed. From this great vaporous envelope the heat was quickly radiated into the cold of outer space, producing rapid condensation. Through long ages Niagaras of rain flowed from sky to earth, in a continual downpour over the entire terrestial surface. The pressure of superincumbent atmosphere was then many thousands of pounds to the square inch, instead of but fifteen pounds to the square inch as now. Under such enormous pressures the boiling point of water was not as we know it, 212 degrees Fahrenheit, but was red heat. The first rivers that flowed upon the earth's surface were red hot. Granite dissolved in those rivers like sugar in a cup of tea. The granite bedrock was formed through the precipitation of mica, quartz, and feldspar from aqueous solution. Deep down under the earth's crust today, where water has entered through faults to be entrapped and highly heated, with no room for expansion it dissolves the rock, and as under the enormous pressures, it forces its way through narrow crevices to new positions, it cuts new channels in the granite floors, just as in glacial times, subglacial streams cut passages through the ice. Consequently, when the eruption of a volcano takes place, relieving the pressures in the deep passages under it, there is a rush toward the outlet of streams of incandescent water made syrupy with stone in solution. As these streams of silica charged water find vent at the volcano, the expansion of pent up steam takes place with explosive violence, forming volcanic dust and pumice stone, which are belched forth in tremendous quantities. Then portions of the earth's crust which have been resting upon a support of steam under dynamite pressures, naturally sag and shift when these pressures are removed or materially lessened.

It matters not whether under deep subterranean pressures and temperatures the incandescent water be actually liquid or gaseous; its density is the same. Under such conditions there can be no finely drawn line between the liquid and the gas.

SUBTERRANEAN STREAMS

The pressure exerted by water under these conditions is sufficient to cause subterranean streams of lava and quartz charged with water to flow long distances, even thousands of miles, leaving vast voids behind. The bedrock then settles and closes the passages, just as in glaciers, the ice yields and closes the courses of subglacial streams. A granite glacier fifty miles high would flow exactly like a glacier a mile thick. The bedrock is a vast glacier threaded by numerous waterways, which erode and cut passages through it, and the waterways are again closed by yielding walls of granite under the awful pressure just as the glacial waterways are closed by the ice. The earth's surface thus assumes new levels, this adjustment resulting in earthquakes. The vast amount of water at times ejected from volcanoes is difficult of comprehension. The great Volcano Krakatoa had been extinct for many ages, when in 1883, its top blew off with a shock, felt clear through the earth, and with a blast that sent waves of air around the earth three times, while the fine volcanic dust did not entirely settle out of the atmosphere for more than two years, as was indicated by the unusually brilliant displays of red sunsets. It is estimated that more mud was ejected from the mountain on that occasion than the Mississippi river discharges in two hundred and fifty years. The distance is not too great nor the time too remote for the eruption of Mount Pelee to have caused the earthquakes of San Francisco, Valpariaso and Kingston, while probably Vesuvius may have played a material part.

For anything contained in this brief review of the subject, I am indebted to the writings of Mr. Robt. Mallet, the Encyclopedia Britannica and Mr. Hudson Maxim.

And now, Mr. President, you have listened patiently to what was intended to be precursor of the stirring address which has just been delivered. It was meant to be like low rumblings before the shock a premonition of the coming disturbance. But the order of things have been reversed, and you have been treated to the earthquake first and the warning afterward. The paper that is to follow, however, will come no doubt like the great tidal wave sweeping everything before it.

Headquarters Will be Here

Mr. Thomas Benny is Conducting Tests at Various Factories

Mr. Thomas Binnie, who has charge of the Cow Testing Associations in the Peterborough Association, will make this city his headquarters in connection with the work to be carried on by him. Mr. D. E. MacKenzie, of Cannington, now has charge of the associations in the Lindsay district.

Mr. Binnie and Mr. C. F. Whitley, of Ottawa, who is at the head of the Cow Testing department in connection with the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, visited the factory at Central Smith on Monday, in company with Mr. George A. Gillespie, where Mr. Binnie made tests of the samples of milk sent in. Mr. Whitley left today for Kinmount and other places before returning to Ottawa.

Mr. Binnie will gladly make tests in connection with any factory in this district, where a group of six patrons express a willingness to send in regularly samples of milk from their herds. It is hoped that by next season many more Cow Testing Associations will be formed in connection with the factories in the Peterborough district.

BOUGHT LAND FOR AYLMER ST.

The special committee appointed last night by the council to purchase the property for the extension of Aylmer street, met this afternoon, and interviewed the different owners and closed the deals. The city's valuator, Mr. John McKee, did a lot of good work in securing options, and now there is nothing to prevent the council proceeding with the extension work.

G.T.R. CHANGES IN TIME TABLE

Several changes are contemplated by the Grand Trunk Railway in its time table for the summer. Two changes, according to the Mail & Empire today, will effect Peterborough. That paper referred to these as follows;

A new train will leave Port Huron at 9.40 a.m., Stratford at 1.35 p.m., and arrive at Toronto 4.55 p.m. daily. This train will connect at Toronto with trains for Belleville, Lindsay, Peterborough, Barrie, Orillia, etc. At present, while five passenger trains are operated eastward from Stratford to Toronto, it has not been possible on account of connections, etc., which have to be made with branch lines, to provide a train from Stratford between 8.45 in the moning an d4.30 in the afternoon. The new train, leaving Stratford after lunch, and arriving at Toronto at the hour stated, will get travellers to Toronto at a most convenient hour and will give them an opportunity, if they so desire, of spending the entire evening in Toronto, and of returning by the new late train at 11.00 p.m. This new train will have direct connections at Stratford and Guelph with trains from the north — Palmerston, Southampton, Kincardine, etc.

Other important changes will be made affecting the line between Belleville, Peterborough and Port Hope and connecting at the latter point with main line trains, improving very much the morning service in the district referred to.

MR. WHITHAM HERE TO-DAY

Mr John Whitham of Brantford, contractor for the new Normal school is in the city today, and inspected the work being done at Dixon Park. Good progress is being made on the foundation for the new school and everything is coming along satisfactorily. Mr. Whitham will likely visit Peterborough one day each week in future.

NATIONAL BUS IN A RUNAWAY

There was a rather exciting time at the C.P.R. station last night shortly after the arrival of the midnight train. During a moment's absence of the driver, the team attached to the National Bus made a dash for liberty and were never headed off until they had reached the hotel stables. Two travellers were in the vehicle at the time, but they made a hasty exit when the horses started to run away. Several grips were scattered along the route of the speeding equines, but they were recovered and no damage was done.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

Miss Margret Merkley

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing-down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination said I had a female trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect yourself: try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Three Boys Fined for Misbehaviour on Sunday Night

Three lads by the names of Roy Schreiber, O'Hearn and Wright, were arraigned before His Worship this morning in police court, charged with being disorderly on Sunday evening last.

They pleaded not guilty. The magistrate, however, found them guilty and each was fined two dollars to be paid forthwith or ten days in gaol. Schreiber was locked up while the other two were having the money brought to them, they were allowed to sit in the station until it arrived.

P. C. McDonald stated that these three lads were going up and down George street Sunday evening linked arms. They were knocking people off the sidewalk and yelling at every lady they met. He arrested them at Simcoe street and brought them to the station, where he took their names. They were very impertinent and used abusive language to the officer. They gather around the corner at Hunter and Aylmer streets, and their conduct is most disgraceful. They are a great annoyance to a large number of people.

GOT SIX MONTHS.

Andy Fawcett, who is without a home or friends was again in police court this morning. He just got out of gaol and came down to see if His Worship would not send him to the House of Refuge at Lakefield. He said that he was in hopes he would be sent there. His Worship gave him six months on the hill, informing him that the city had made no arrangements that he might send him to the county House of Refuge.

Two Young Men Caught Fishing

Inspector Watt Got Them in the Creek and He Will Have Two More Soon

Illegal fishing must stop and if punishment will stop it, Fishery Inspector Watt is going to enforce the law. On Monday morning he made a nice haul and the chances are that four young men will pay the penalty of their sport. The inspector went over his route on Little Lake in the morning and in one of the creeks which empty into it he caught two boys with spears waiting for the fish. This is an old game and a most destructive one, as far as the fish are concerned. Besides getting the two young fellows, the inspector secured sufficient information to warrant him taking proceedings against two more.

Can a Citizen Hold the City Responsible for Fire Loss

Provided He Can Show That Such Loss Would Have Been Avoided Had the Fire Department Been in Every Way Efficient—Interesting Action About to be Tried in Montreal.

The last issue of the Insurance Chronicle contains the following interesting article on municipal responsibility for loss by fire;

"It is very doubtful if a point of such great and far-reaching importance to fire insurance circles has ever been raised as that which is evidently at issue in the suit threatened by Mr. J. N. Greenshields, K. C., against the city of Montreal, for loss sustained by fire some weeks since. The essence of the action about to be taken seems to be; Can a citizen hold the city responsible for financial loss occasioned by fire, provided he can show that such loss would have been avoided had the fire department been in every way efficient.

Should the city be condemned to reimburse the plaintiff, the effects, indeed, would be far reaching; in fact, something in the nature of a revolution would take place in the relationship of the insurer, the insured, and civic governments.

Mr Greenshields is a lawyer—not a young lawyer seeking fame and notoriety, but a King's Counsel, and the head of one of the best known legal firms in Montreal, or in Canada. Otherwise, much less attention would be aroused in the action than is sure to be the case. He is a prominent and wealthy citizen, and a shrewd lawyer.

Some few weeks ago Mr. Greenshield's fine residence on Peel street was burned. Statements were made at the time reflecting no particular credit on the efficiency of the city fire department, but as such statements have been very frequent in Montreal of late years, no particular importance was attached to them. On Thursday week Mr. Greenshields served notice on the fire committee that he would sue the city if the city council did not award him the sum of $15,000, being the amount of his loss, over and above his insurance arising from the recent fire. He claimed that one cause of the destruction of the premises was that the fire brigade was not efficient upon that occasion, another being that the fire alarm box in the vicinity was not in good working order

The members of the fire committee naturally were astonished to receive such a communication. They did not see how the city could be held responsible for the reasons alleged. The fire brigade had done its best, and there was apparently no negligence. It was decided to send the claim to the Claims Department, where it is quite certain to be contested

The important point is not whether the brigade was inefficient or the alarm box out of order, but whether the city could be held responsible for such inefficiency, provided it existed, As a matter of fact, insurance men do not remember this point ever having been raised in Montreal before. In the issue of the Monetary Times of April 27th reference was made to a case somewhat similar which is now passing through the courts. This case arose out of fire in the town of St. Louis, Montreal, in which a number of residences were burned. These were partially insured, and the owners have taken action against the town for the amount of their losses over and above the amount of the insurance. The water service was supplied by a private company, so that the town has called the company in warranty, and is practically disinterested in the case. The water company, it would appear, contracted to give a water supply of a certain pressure. It is alleged that this pressure was not given, so that the company might be held responsible for not living up to the terms of the alleged contract. The insurance company also is interested in the case, as the plaintiffs, subrogated their rights to them the company, in turn, then entering action against defendants.

In the Greenshields case, the city itself is supplying the water, as well as the fire protection services. It is to be assumed that no contract exists as to the standard of service to be rendered ,and it has not been supposed in the past that under such circumstances the city can be held responsible.

Fire insurance companies have a deep interest in this matter for the reason that they have power to call upon those whose claims they pay to subrogate their rights to them. So that apparently, should Mr Greenshields succeed in his suit, the companies in which he was insured and which paid his claim, would have the right to call upon the city to reimburse them for their loss in the same fire. Neither would there seem to be any reason why they should not recover losses incurred in fires which have taken place in the past. For instance, it was claimed that the recent destruction of the McGill Engineering Building might have been avoided had the fire service been efficient. If such a precedent were established in Montreal, apparently it would apply equally to other places. This certainly would give aldermen a realization of their responsibilities, which they do not all seem to feel at present, and would result, unquestionably, in an enormous improvement in the water and fire services.

It is precisely because of the enormous liability which thus might be fastened upon city governments, from time to time, that one reasonably might conclude that the courts will hesitate long before committing themselves to a precedent of such importance. It must not be forgotten, though, that assertion and proof differ vastly, and that in many of the instances in which the fire service has been blamed, the evidence would fall short of convicting. But this has nothing to do with the justice or injustice of holding cities responsible where proof is certain; in fact, the law would be deprived of half its existenance, if uncertainties were withdrawn. Should the Greenshields case proceed ,the arguments and conclusion will be of the utmost interest to fire insurance men everywhere.

Manufacturers' Committee Will Deal With Colonial Weaving Co.

Application for Fixed Assessment of $3,500 to be Placed on the Proposed New Factory—Isolation Hospital Matter Referred to Committee.

The first business taken up by the City Council was to hear deputations from the Board of Health, and from the Colonial Weaving Co.

On motion, the regular business of of the council was deferred until after the deputations were heard. The first matter taken was the isolation hospital. Mr. Wm. Eyres, chairman of the Board of Health, pointed out the great necessity of an isolation hospital. There is absolutely no place at the present time, in which to treat contagious diseases. The matter has been before the Council for several years and the danger of the city suffering from an epidemic is increasing every year. The Board of Health is in a position to meet an epidemic when it comes, and can provide temporary accommodation. It would be much better, however, for the city to erect a permanent building. The Board has submitted plans which will cost about $6,000, and provision has been made so that it can be enlarged without injuring the main building.

The matter was referred to the Committee of the Whole and will be taken up at the earliest possible date.

COLONIAL WEAVING CO.

Mr. R. R. Hall, on behalf of the Colonial Weaving Co., stated that he had addressed a communication to the City Clerk setting forth the fact that the company had an option on land for the erection of a new factory. His letter appeared in last night's Review, and is familiar to all readers. The present factory is far too small and is not nearly strong enough. The new factory will include a dye house and the company is anxious to proceed at once. The market is large and there is every opportunity for the company to grow. Then there is the business of ribbon manufacturing, which can be done in connection with factory. They will employ sixty hands, and are employing forty hands now. What the company asked, was that their assessment be fixed at $ 3,500 (the price of the land) for all purposes, and to embody the same conditions as the Cordage bylaw.

Mr A. E. Coulthard said that they had just been compelled to turn down an order of 500,000 tables from New Brunswick, because they had not the machinery. It is this kind of machinery that has been ordered for the new factory.

On motion of Ald. Morrow and Ald Phelan the application has referrred to the Manufacturers Committee.

Garbage By-law Stands Over Until the People Vote on it

Council Sanctioned te By-law as it Was Amended and Will Now Go to the People—Long Discussion on the Subject.

The garbage by-law will not come into effect this The Property committee, the committee of the whole and the individual aldermen spent a great deal of time in getting the information together, and it was decided by the committee of the whole to sanction the present by-law and then hold it over until the people are given an opportunity to vote on it, either at the January election or at a special election.

When the matter was taken up there was a great difference of opinion in reference to this matter. An hour and a half was taken up and several changes were made in it to make it more satisfactory. Several other motions were also moved to change the by-law but most of them were defeated.

Members present were Mayor McWilliams. Ald. McIntyre, Johnston, Bradburn, Phelan. Elliott, Wilson, Morrow. Stevenson, Duncan, Morgan, Tovey.

A petition was received from 125 property owners objecting to the garbage by-law which provides that in case of a tenant moving out of a house without paying his tax for the removal of garbage that it be charged to the property. This was very objectionable as the property owners claimed that they were taxed for enough already.

Ald. Bradburn moved and Ald. Duncan seconded, that clause 15 of the Garbage by-law be amended so that the tax will be collected half yearly, viz., October 1st and April 1st. Also that the tenant must pay the tax and the landlord will be free of any liability.—Carried.

Ald. Morgan moved that the income to be derived from the garbage removal be raised on the assessed value instead of by special tax as now provided by the by-law. No one seconded the motion and it was not put.

Ald. Johnston stated that he had talked with several merchants who were very strongly in favor of the by-law and said that they could afford to pay double the amount they are charged, 45c per month, and still be money ahead. If this was so Ald. Johnston would like to see the tarriff changed so that the mercantile district pay more and that to the people in the outlying districts be charged less.

Ald. Morrow said he was very much of the same opinion as Ald. Johnston. But he would like to see it left over until the end of the year. In the meantime the sanitary inspector, who is a new official, proceed with his work and see how he gets along with it and then decide whether there is any necessity to enforce the by-law.

Ald. Johnston said there was a lot of business before the Council and he did not propose to stay until twelve o'clock every night. He would move therefore that the by-law be left over and that the Council take a special night for the discussion. He named next Monday night and Ald. Morrow seconded it, and it was lost. Ald. Morrow did not vote.

Ald. Morgan moved that the by-law be left over until the end of the year and put it to the people at the general elections, and ask them wheather it be paid for by a general tax or a special tax. Ald. Elliott seconded it and it was lost.

Ald. Johnston said that the 15c rate should be changed to 10c a month and that the difference be charged up to the mercantile section.

Moved by Ald. Wilson that the by-law be accepted as it stands and be put to the people at the first opportunity. Ald. Duncan seconded the motion, and it was carried.

Plumbing Contract for the Armouries

Awarded to F. J. R. MacPherson New Department Added to His Business

Mr F. R. J. MacPherson, George street, has been awarded the contract for the plumbing in connection with the new armories. It is understood the figure is in the neighborhood of $4,500. Mr. MacPherson has also been given the contract for the re-heating system to be installed in the enlarged Lake street school. It is a new combined system of heating and ventilating, and a Pease furnace will be installed. The system is said to be one of the most modern extant and will cost about $2,500. It will be ready when the school reopens in September.

NEW DEPARTMENT.

Mr. MacPherson has introduced a new department in connection with his business. He has installed machinery and tools for die manufacturing and machine work. Mr. David Holt, formerly foreman of the C.G.E. tool room, is in charge, and already a good business is being done, with prospects of enlargement in the near future.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country, than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case, it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WILL BE GREAT CIRCUS DAY

June 25 is the Date of Forepaugh-Sells Bros.' Show

The greatest circus day in the history of Peterborough, is promised for June 25, when Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' famous shows exhibit in this city. The management of this enterprise have made such extensive improvements by the addition of European novelties, that they are, presenting this season a street display and programme of acts under canvas, that are a revelation in circus methods.

To begin with, the parade is something new in conception and twice as long as any other, while one million dollars has been spent to give it splendor and distinction Another fortune has been devoted to the production of the greatest dramatic spectacle ever offered to the people. This is the great fire-play, "Fighting the Flames," filling the entire arena with scenery, 1,200 people and 300 vehicles, representing a city in all the action of metropolitan life. The thrilling sight of a burning skyscraper, and the rescue of women and children by a battalion of professional firemen, affords a half-hour of most thrilling interest. The regular facts following the spectacle abound in sensations that are new to this country, nearly all of the 300 performers being Europeans.

PERMISSION IS NOW NECESSARY

Before Anyone Can Put a Pick into the City's Streets—No More Neglect Will be Permitted

For a long time past there has been more or less unfavorable comment on the streets, and in the press about the condition of the city streets. Ald. Stevenson has heard and read a great many of the comments and he considers it very unfair to the Board of Works and to the Council. The trouble is all due to the negligence of contractors and corporations, in carrying out their work. With the object of overcoming this unfair criticism, Ald. Stevenson and Ald. Bradburn moved the following motion, which was unanimously carried—

Moved by Ald. Stevenson, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that hereafter no person or persons or corporation shall be permitted to make an excavation of any kind on the streets of the city until he or they shall have first made application to and received from the committee of the Board of Works of the City Council, consent to such proposed excavation, and that a blank form of application shall be printed and supplied to the various companies, which shall contain provisions for and consent by the applicant, to replace the streets in as good a condition as they were in before the excavation; provision being made that when the road to be opened has been covered with broken stone and rolled; the applicant shall be allowed three months in which to permit the filling to settle, and that at the expiration of that time, he shall level the road and pay the corporation the cost of replacing the road metal and rolling the same.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Morrow and Ald. Johnston, that Ald. Stevenson be a committee to draft a form to carry out the above motion.

Water Tower May Be Purchased

Fire Water and Light Committee to Get Information as to Cost

The Fire, Water and Light Committee reported that a new combined hose and chemical waggon be purchased for the fire department. At this point Ald. Morrow raised the question of a water tower, and asked if the committee had considered it at all.

Ald. Johnston, replied that the comittee had gone carefully into the matter and had ordered an extension ladder and other ladders, and a new hook and ladder truck, and a new hose waggon. He could not give any information in reference to the water tower.

Moved by Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be instructed to get the information in regard to cost of a water tower for the Fire Department.

It was considered by many of the aldermen, that a water tower was one of the most important things the city needed for fighting fires, in high buildings. Had there been one at the Peter Hamilton fire a week ago, it would have been put out in a few minutes. As it was the brigade had no way of getting at the roof, and had to wait until it burned through. If the cost of the water tower is within reason, it is quite probable that one will be purchased.

All the attractions will be in full swing and the park is looking very pretty and inviting.

There will be no bowling alley this year, but instead the premises will be occupied by Scott's Colliseum, which has closed on George street, and will be seen at the park this season.—The same high-class moving pictures and illustrated songs will be presented each afternoon and evening.

There will be the Ocean Wave, an open air picture gallery, an automatic vaudeville stand, and many other attractions to amuse the people. Mr. Thomas Hooper, the well-known caterer, will again have charge of the ice cream and refreshment booths, which will open for the season this week.

Truant Officer Has Been Busy

Investigated Cases of Non-attendance at School—Little Cause for Complaint

Truant Inspector Cochrane is on the lookout for truants these days, and yesterday investigated a number of cases of non-attendance of children at school. In the majority of instances he found that there were reasons for the youngsters remaining at home, but there were one or two cases where there was no justification for the children not being at school. Mr. Cochrane investigated several more cases today.

The attendance at the schools is very satisfactory at present, and there are not nearly as many children running the streets as before the truant officer was appointed. The large attendance of pupils at the present time is very gratifying in view of the fact that this is the season of the year when the boys are in the habit of playing "hookey" in order to play ball and indulge in other outdoor sports dear to the juvenile heart.

A PROPER STEP

The thanks of the citizens of Peterborough are due to Police Magistrate Dumble for resolving to put an end to young girls and boys strutting about the streets when they should be at home. In most cases it is due to the silly vanity of the girls that they fall victims to the youth who are ever to wait for their prey. Societies for the rescue and aiding of the young are useless unless backed up by a rigid enforcement of the law. A laxity of morals is something that cannot be permitted to exist for a moment. If good advice and timely hints are not appreciated by parents and children, then something else of a more effective nature must be substituted. The mealy-mouthed indulgence of the last few years has pretty nearly ruined the country, and it is gratifying to find that it is to be put to a stop. It is not an exaggeration to say that five hundred girls and boys under thirteen have been roaming the streets of this city after dark this spring. Their conduct has been just what we would expect. Their language when spoken to has been uniformly vile.

THE GARBAGE BY-LAW

The city Council has decided to submit the garbage by-law to the ratepayers for approval, or disapproval, at the municipal elections in January next.

Opinions on the proposed measure seem at present to be so divided that the city fathers have agreed to let the people pronounce as to whether or not Peterborough shall have such a service. It is probably too late, had the bylaw been passed this year, to get the system fully under way, and if the residents sanction the matter next January, contracts can be at once called for, and the collection and removal of garbage start as soon as the snow and frost have disappeared.

It is satisfactory to learn that an amendment has been made whereby the garbage tax will be collected twice a year and not placed on the assessment roll. This means that the tenant or occupant of a house—the one who reaps the direct benefit of such a service—will have to assume the outlay. This is perfectly fair and just.

There is no doubt that the city city needs a scavenging system for the benefit of many residents. It will add greatly to the healthfulness and attractiveness of the city, and increase its prestige as a desirable residential place. The cost, considering the thoroughness and frequency of the service, will be small. There seems no doubt that if the by-law is presented in a fair, clear and reasonable light, that it will carry by a substantial majority.

PEN POINTS.

Just watch the building permits climb up in Peterborough. This promises to be a record year.

Summer must be here at last for the band is announced to play in Jackson Park this evening.

Have you registered your dog yet? If not do not be surprised if you have to interview the magistrate.

The "Lion and the Mouse," may be seen at the opera house tomorrow night, while hundreds of dande-lions may be seen in the city parks.

There is such a mad rush for the Doukhobor vacant homesteads in the west that the crowds stood out all night in the rain to secure an early entrance to the Dominion lands offices at Yorkton, Regina, and Prince Albert. Apparently the flood tide of prosperity and the reign of splendid opportunities are not over yet in spite of the unusually backward season in the western provinces.

The Ministerial press is just now trying to boom Clifford Sifton as the champion of the projected "Red Line," of steamship communication between England and Australia. This is no doubt to cover up the past peccadilloes of the ex-Minister and rehabilitate him for re-entry into the Cabinet. The Opposition could not wish a better thing.

The Toronto Telegram says: Victoria county is to be made a paradise for frogs. In response to the request of a deputation, submitted a short time ago, the Ontario Government has passed an order-in-council providing that no frogs shall be taken or destroyed during the months of May and June in each year in that favored county. Sing on, gentle warblers, sing on!

John Lloyd, for over thirty-five years night-clerk at the St. Lawrence Hall, and who figured prominently as a witness in the libel case of Hon. Mr. Emmerson against the Fredericton Gleaner, has lost his position at the Hall. Manager Higgins says that Lloyd's evidence in the libel case has nothing to do with the matter. Lloyd, who was one of the late Mr. Hogan's oldest employees is known to the travelling public all over the Dominion.

The Provincial Government proposes to establish in every county a Teachers' Institute, which will meet for a few days in September of each year. All teachers will be asked to attend these institutes which will be conducted on professional lines by professional men from the staffs of the new Normal Schools. Third-class teachers' certificates are to be abandoned, and teachers holding these qualifications are to be given opportunity to secure advanced certificates by an examination divided into four annual parts.

Miss Askwith Gave an Able Address

Tells of the Good Mark of the Blind Schools in India

A large and appreciative audience was present last night at St. John's School House, attending the lecture given by Miss Askwith, manager of the Blind Schools in connection with the C.M.S. Sarah Tucker College, Palamcottah, South India. The W. A. of St. Luke's and All Saint's were largely represented, as was also Sunnyside branch of St. Luke's W. A.

Rev. Wm. Major acted as chairman and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, illustrated the lecture with excellent lime-light views.

After the devotional exercises, the lecturer of the evening, was introduced. Miss Askwith has devoted 28 years of most devoted service in the interest of education in India. The Sarah Tucker Home in which are educated about 250 boys and girls is a noble monument, not only to her consecration to God's work, but also to her splendid abilities as teacher and executive officer. At this school the pupils are advanced to High School and University Graduation. The teachers of the forty village schools connected with the Sarah Tucker College, are graduates of the college. Miss Askwith believed that the Gospel must be preached by the natives, to the natives to have the best results. She spoke of wonderful results in her spiritual work among the girls. Many conversions taking place, and of the best and most sincere type. Confirmation classes of sixty girls at a time are received into the church every year. The pupils are mostly the children of Devil Worshippers, and are taken into the College, where in infancy, the sincerity of the conversion of the pupils has been frequently tested by persecution and death. The lecture was made very real by the views shown, which brought the great work clearly before the audience.

After celebrating the silver jubilee as head of the Sarah Tucker College, Miss Askwith has decided to retire to quieter and less fatiguing work, and has assumed charge of the Blind Schools, to which she has dedicated the rest of her life. Blindness is a frequent malady in India, and in some cases the disease is so acute that the eyes of the patients have to be taken out entirely. The children at this school are taught exactly the same subjects as at the other schools, and at the examinations, the blind pupils have on many occasions outdone the seeing children. To aid this noble work, Miss Askwith has come to Canada and is appealing for money to enlarge the school, because almost every day, applications are made for more children, and to be enabled to print the word of God in embossed type for the blind. The care of one child for one year requires $15.00, and Miss Askwith would be glad if the people would be stirred up to see this great need, as she sees and knows it, and to aid substantially in bringing light to these poor children, whose lives are doubly dark, because blind and without God.

The collection taken up in aid of this work was generous. The local clergy and Mrs. Palmer will be glad to receive contributions at any time. Miss Askwith goes to Kingston today, where she will speak at the annual meeting of the W. A. of the Diocese of Ontario.

Unfortunately the rector of St. John's church could not be present on account of being absent from the city.

COW KILLED.

A cow belonging to Mr. A. Carmichael of town, which had strayed onto the track west of the village was killed on Saturday night by the midnight train.

It seems that the same disease that has played havoc with the dogs of Peterborough for the past two months has reached Havelock. Mr. Russel of town, had a valuable collie dog poisoned during the past week in an unknown way.

Mr. Davidson of Trent Bridge, who has had his moveable saw mill at work in a field at the west end of the town for the past six weeks cutting several hundred logs for Messrs. Alex. and Andrew Mathison, will finish the work there the latter part of this week.

Master James White, son of Mr. Jno. White, of town, who had his head severely cut and bruised by falling off the merry-go-round at Norwood on the 24th, is recovering from his injuries.

CHANGES IN TIME TABLE.

A change has taken place in the C.P.R. time table whereby the noon train will arrive in Havelock at five minutes to twelve and the evening train going west at five minutes after four. There will be no change in the time of the local train which will continue to arrive here at 8.25 p. m.

THE AUDIENCE WAS DELIGHTED

Splendid Programme Given at Concert of St. Paul's Choir

An appreciative audience at St. Paul's church last night listened to a splendid programme, provided by the choir and the Sunday school orchestra. The function was held in the Sunday school room, which was comfortably filled with a musical loving audience, to whom the splendidly rendered numbers appealed with special force. The programme consisted of selections by the choir and orchestra, vocal solos and duets, and was of such a nature as to sustain the excellent reputation St. Paul's church choir has gained in the past for furnishing high class musical entertainments. Under Mr. John Crane's capable leadership, the choir has been brought to a high state of efficiency, and a concert by them is certainly a rare treat.

Two of the numbers on last night's programme were contributed by the Sunday school orchestra, which is now in charge of Mr. Louis Mendel. There are thirteen members in the orchestra, and after hearing them play one has no doubt as to them being a high class musical organization. Mr. Mendel has done good work since taking charge of the orchestra, and deserves credit for what has been accomplished. The first number given last night was "The Bridal Rose," and the second the overture, "Maritana." Both were rendered with exquisite blending of tone, correct phrasing and artistic finish. The hearty applause which greeted the two selections was ample evidence that they were appreciated.

Miss Helen Davies, as usual, sang in magnificent style, and was accorded a warm reception. Her rich, well controlled voice was heard to excellent advantage last night, and her numbers were received with enthusiasm. She sang "The Angels' Song," with violin obligato by Mr. Howarth, in a manner that left nothing to be desired, and was also heard with fine effect in the solo parts of "Jubilate Amen," by the choir. The other numbers by the choir were "Jerusalem," in which the solo part was splendidly taken by Mr. W. McIlroy, and "By Babylon's Wave," the latter piece being sung without accompaniment. As already stated, the singing of the choir was above criticism, everything being done in a finished manner, and with the sweetest harmony.

A duet, "The Battle Eve," by Mr. Morphet and Mr. Crane, was one of the best numbers on the programme, and a piano duet by Misses Mattie Robertson and Gladys Crane was given in a brilliant manner, yet with the sympathetic touch of the skilled pianist.

Mr Gill gave a vocal solo, "Curfew," and so well was it sung that an encore would not be denied, and in response he gave "The Skipper," another pleasing selection. Mr. Gill has a voice of unusual range, and the audience was charmed by his vocalism.

A vocal solo by Miss Lillian Moore, rendered in her usual charming manner, completed the programme, with the exception, of course, of the National Anthem.

The accompanists during the evening were Mr. Crane and Miss Gladys Crane, both of whom are accomplished pianists.

The programme was without doubt one of the best ever given St. Paul's, and those responsible for it deserve every credit.

Advertising Car Arrived To-day

Forerunner of Forepaugh & Sells Bros. Circus

The advertising car of Forepaugh & Sells Bros.' circus, which will appear in Peterborough on Tuesday, June 25th, arrived in the city today. The car is under the direction of Mr. Graham, and at once a large force of men were set to work, putting up advertising matter. About two hundred large posters were placarded at various points in the city today. Mr. Walter Stocker's bill boards are now well filled by circus publicity matter.

STOP BURNING YOUR RUBBISH

Merchants Can no Longer Allow Waste Material to Accumilate

The merchants and other business people will no longer be allowed to burn rubbish in their back yards nor yet to allow waste paper and other inflammable material to accumulate. This practice is very dangerous from the standpoint of fires, and the Canadian Fire Insurance Underwriters have taken steps to have it stopped. As a result the Chief of Police will be instructed to enforce the city's bylaw covering this matter.

A letter was received as follows from Mr. John A. Robertson, secretary of the Canadian Fire Underwriters Association.;

Dear Sir; Complaints at different times have been received by members of this Association of the conditions in which the lanes in the rear of the main streets in the central business portion are allowed to be kept. It has been stated that this condition, from the quantity of boxes, shavings, straw, etc. left lying about, is extremely dangerous, and in consequence of this report, one of our inspectors visited Peterborough and found the statements that we have received entirely confirmed. He states in his report that the conditions in the rear of business blocks are extremely bad. Boxes, shavings, straw, old crates of waste paper, have been allowed to accumulate during the whole of the winter months and form a serious menace to the blocks generally. He states further that during summer months it is customary to burn waste in the lanes and the yards which it should be unnecessary to point out, is a very undesirable practice. In one instance, the inspector saw, in an enclosed driveway, with a wooden ceiling, a fire of straw and waste burning. I understand that your bylaws allow this accumulation of rubbish during the winter months and until the beginning of May, but if this is the case, there is something radically wrong in your municipal system and I shall of course, have to bring this matter to the special attention of the committee dealing with such questions. In the meantime, however, I shall be very pleased to have your advice on the whole subject and to know whether any improvement is to be looked for, or is contemplated by your council.

Moved by Ald. Morrow and Ald. Duncan, that the Chief of Police be instructed to have the bylaw prohibiting the accumulation of waste material enforced, and that this letter be referred to the Legal Committee to enquire whether further provision is necessary, and that the Underwriters' Association be informed of this action.—Carried.

First Excursion for Homeseekers

Special to the Review.

Toronto, June 4.—The first homeseekers' excursion via the C.P.R. to Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, left the Union Station today by special train. There were a large number of coaches on the train and everyone was filled, including the following from Peterborough, who reached the city early this morning—Mr. W. C. Austin for Edmonton; Miss Aiken for Winnipeg; Mrs. Ward and her father, Mr. Francis Weir, for Calgary; Mrs. Sarah Miller, for Oxbow; Miss O'Brien, for Calgary; Mr. L. O'Connor for Winnipeg, and Messrs. J. and George Buchanan, for Winnipeg. The last two named are young fellows who intend to stay in the West.

The excursions for homeseekers started this year, much earlier than usual and in order to accommodate the anticipated heavy traffic the C.P.R. have arranged for three excursions more than usual. The dates fixed are June 4, and 18, July 2, 16 and 30, August 13 and 27, September 10 and 24.

FIRE BRIGADE WILL ANSWER

Calls From Box No. 12 Although it is Outside the Corporation

As a result of a letter written to the Council by Chief Rutherford, the firemen will in future answer all calls from fire alarm box No. 12. The box is situated near the Brinton Carpet Co's factory, and is in the township of North Monaghan. That the Carpet Co. should have protection is all right, but there are a large number of people living in that neighborhood who are in the township, and pay no city taxes, and who refused to come into the city a year ago. These people are not entitled to fire protection, and the Chief did not care to take the responsibility upon himself to answer the alarm, in case another fire broke out within the city limits. In such a case a great deal of time would be lost gathering up the hose and getting back to the city, and the city would be held responsible for damages. The Chief therefore wrote the following letter:—

To the Mayor and Council of the City of Peterborough:—

Now that we are perfecting the fire alarm system and apparatus, we wish to bring in the question of attending fires outside the city limits. Box 12 of the new system is in North Monaghan. Although we are well satisfied to assist our neighbors, I believe it would place the city in a responsible position. For instance, if we had from 1,200 to 1,500 feet of hose out, the hydrants being placed at a greater distance apart than in the centre of the city, a loss accruing inside the corporation might be chargeable to the city.

Another question I wish to put to your honorable body is police protection at fires, especially in the day time, as crowds of people gather, and are continually an annoyance and in the way. In all other cities the police rope off the streets and give the firemen a chance to work. Hoping this will meet with your immediate consideration.

Yours truly,
THOS. RUTHERFORD,
Chief of Fire Dept.

Drug Stores to Close at Seven

Shorter Hours for the Summer Months

Commencing tonight the druggists of the city close at seven o'clock p.m. during the summer months. Heretofore they have been keeping open until eight o'clock, but the change has been made for the summer season. As usual, however, one of the stores will remain open until late at night. The change to the shorter hours will be greatly appreciated by the drug clerks. The public are asked to govern themselves to conform with the early closing.

Angling Club's Cottage Will Soon be Completed

Splendid progress is being made on the erection of the C.G.E. Angling Club's new cottage on the east shore of the Olonabee, near Rice Lake. It is expected that the handsome new summer home will be completed by the end of this week, in fact, it is already sufficiently advanced to be occupied and the finishing touches are now being put on. The cottage is large and in every respect well fitted for the purpose for which it is being built, and the members of the club are looking forward with pleasure to their first outing. Of course the cottage will be given a name, but what it will be has not been decided. The cottage will be formally opened with a "house warming," which will no doubt prove a most enjoyable event. It will likely be held next week.

It is seldom that an idea is carried into effect with such rapidity as was the case in connection with the suggestion that the Angling Club should have a cottage down the river. The matter was discussed at a meeting about a month ago and a committee was appointed to complete arrangements, everyone being of the opinion that the scheme was an excellent one. There was no delay and now the cottage is almost ready to be occupied. The Angling Club is certainly an organization that does things.

Frank Mosley Badly Crushed At the Shovel Works Yesterday

A very serious and unfortunate accident happened at the Peterborough Shovel factory yesterday afternoon, and as a result Mr. Frank Mosley is lying in a very critical condition.

Mr. Mosley is one of the oldest employees of the works, having been with the firm since it started. He was always a very careful man and never before had a mishap. At the time he was hurt he was repairing the big screw press and the lever was accidentally thrown on. Before the man could get out of the way he was jammed between the pillar and the butterfly. His hip bone was broken and he was injured internally, as well as being badly bruised and shocked. He was immediately removed to the Nicholls hospital, and Dr. Boucher was called, but he cannot say for a few days what are the full extent of the injuries.

Enquiry at the hospital today brought forth the information that the patient is doing as well as can be expected. It is not often that an accident happens at the Shovel Works and the company regret exceedingly this one.

Two More Games Are Under Way in Intermediate League

The West Ends and the Strathconas were the victors last night in two more exciting struggles in the Intermediate Baseball League.

The West Ends defeated the Excelsiors at Nicholls Oval by four runs to two. Only four innings of the game were played, the remaining three to be played on Wednesday night.

The Straths. and the Lillies aggregations only played three innings, the former winning by ten runs to six.

The game at the Oval was an interesting contest, and a good exhibition of ball. Neither team scored in their first two sessions, but the West Ends broke the spell in the third and McNern and Dobson each registered a run. They repeated the same in the fourth, and Belleghem allowed Cameron to walk to first, and he succeeded in completing the rounds. Moore also scored for the West Enders, while Billington and Russell were the only Excelsiors who made the rounds, and when darkness came on the West Enders were leading by two. But the match is not over yet and the Excelsiors have still a chance to redeem themselves and win out on Wednesday night.

Both teams put up a great game of ball, as is evidenced by the close score. Neither team had very much over the other. Belleghem occupied the stand for the Excelsiors. He was in fine form and fanned three men in one innings. In this respect he has Butcher beaten as he fanned very few. Belleghem had the boys from the West End guessing and heavy hits were not common last night. Butcher has lots of speed, but his opponent twirled the best game. The Excelsiors lost the first half by a few costly fumbles, while the West Ender's fielders never failed to get at the right time.

Mr. W. Stacey proved a very satisfactory umpire.

The teams were;

West Enders.—Ed King 1b, J McNern c, Dobson cf, Grange lf, Cameron 3b, Rose ss, Halpin 2b, Moore rf, Butcher p.

Excelsiors. — Belleghem p, Billington c, Claney ss, Russell lf, Heaslop 2b, O'Shea cf, Guerin 3b, Tobin rf, Coughlin 1b.

STRATHS WON

In the first three innings of the Strathcona-Lillies contest at the Patterson street grounds, the Lillies were again defeated by four runs. Errors were numerous in this match several being chalked down to both teams. Parnell pitched a steadier game than on Saturday and Graham twirled his initial game for the Lillies bunch. Weatherstone played the best on the field, making some great plays and catching a dandy with one hand. The batting honors go to Foley of the Lillies, who hit a home run and thus got the first in the series. A handsome baseball glove has been very kindly donated by Mr. C. R. Banks of this city, for the one making the first home run hit in the league, and Foley put the leather over a couple of fences last night and wins the mit.

Mr. Tom. Carson handled the indicator in this contest.

The teams were;

Strathconas —F Parnell p, Wilson c, Allison 1b, Dormer 2b, Weatherstone ss, Curtis 3b, Delaney cf, E Parnell lf, Heard rf.

Lillies —Hillier c, Graham p, Price 1b, Ryan 2b, Shepherd 3b, Foley ss, Barclay cf, Connors rf, Pilling lf.

St. Andrew's of Toronto Junction Here Saturday

Will Stack Up Against the Local Baseball Nine at the Driving Park—Game Will be Fast One.

Peterborough baseball fans will have an opportunity of seeing a fine exhibition of their favorite game on Saturday afternoon of this week when the local nine will stack up against the St. Andrew's champions of the Toronto Junction league, at the Driving Park. The visitors are even a stronger team than the Arctics who performed on the local ward on May 24th and 25th, and the homesters will have to hit a lively clip to pull out a victory. However, they are in good shape and should be able to take the measure of the Saints. The local nine will be in much better condition than when they met the Arctics and as the Junction team will bring down a strong nine a great game should be the result.

Burridge will of course do the receiving for the Peterborough team, while Flaherty and Burns will be on the rubber, each twirling for half the game. Both are pitching great ball and should make the visitors do some tall guessing.

The grounds at the Driving Park are being put in excellent shape and arrangements are being made for a special car service so that there will be no delay in reaching and coming home from the grounds. Bleachers will be erected in the near future. Nothing will be left undone towards looking after the patrons of the matches.

The Strathconas, of Toronto, will play here on Saturday, June 15th, and the Port Hope nine on Wednesday, June 19th.

The baseball club had arranged the game with the St. Andrew's before they were notified that the lacrosse team had Riverside Park engaged for Saturday. As a result it has been necessary to leave the game at the exhibition grounds. They are well suited for baseball purposes, however, and with a special car service, no inconvenience should be experienced. No doubt there will be a big crowd on hand.

The Harriers Will Hold Weekly Run

The Y.M.C.A. Harrier Club meets for their regular run as usual on Wednesday night at 8.15. The club is growing and the boys are all running well. All the members and any wishing to join, are requested to turn out.

FOOTBALL

A COMING GAME.

The B.A.C. boys are out after the scalps of the intermediate Quaker football team and will endeavor to wrest victory from the Midland league team on Wednesday night of next week. The club team will likely line up as follows:

Goal, W. Warne; backs, Hutchison and Ray Best; half backs, Sisson, Dobbin and Richardson; forwards, E. Best, MacRae, Huston, Robertson and Hetherington.

A great game is being looked forward to.

QUAKERS AT PRACTICE.

The Quakers had two full teams out at practice at the Driving Park last night, nearly every man belonging to the senior and intermediate teams being present. The teams lined up with the senior forwards playing against the senior defence and the intermediate defence beating off the attacks of the intermediate forwards. It was a rattling practice and will help both elevens greatly.

The Maitlands Refuse to Come

Word has been received from the Maitland Lacrosse Club of Toronto, that they will be unable to fill their engagement at Peterborough next Saturday and consequently there will be no game at Riverside Park, as was announced. The Maitlands do not say why they are unable to come but it looks as if they were suffering from cold feet.

The locals had a rattling practice last night and travelled at a lively clip. Judging from the way the boys are showing up, Peterborough this year will have one of the best lacrosse teams in its history. During the past three weeks the management has offered good inducements to several intermediate teams to play exhibition games here, but for some reason or other none of them will come.

The Peterborough team's first game is against the Young Torontos in Toronto, a week from Saturday. They will be in fine shape by that time and expect to open the season with a victory. The first home game is on June 22nd, when Orillia plays here.

First Sidewalk on Hunter Street

Was Found 5 Feet 6 Inches Below the Present

Ancient history was revived at noon today when the laborers constructing the Chamber street sewer, struck one of the original sidewalks laid over fifty years ago. There are few people in the city who will remember when the business section of Peterborough was a swamp, and when the Bank of Toronto's present site was sold for a jar of whiskey. It was in those days that sidewalks were made out of logs instead of boards or concrete. The walk discovered was just outside the Review office at the corner of Chamber-st. It is 5 feet 6 inches below the level of the present roadway, and it consists of two good-sized pine logs. The logs are still in excellent condition and the laborers had no snap in cutting through them. The Hunter street of fifty years ago was nearly six feet lower than it is today and when one begins to figure what it has cost to draw that gravel in, dump it on the streets, roll grade and water-table, it is enormous.

6800.—A DRESSY WAIST IN NET.

Every woman who touches so much as the hem of society life needs a dainty waist which she may don with the suit of another skirt and be presentable for any sort of afternoon or evening function. The woman of moderate means will find the simple waist of embroidered net or crepe de chine in some delicate color like champagne, pink or blue exceedingly becoming and very serviceable, not to mention its inexpensiveness. A suggestion for such a waist is shown but any number of variations may be added. The yoke which extends out a bit over the shoulders, giving that broad effect so much sought for this season, may be of tucked chiffon or silk or even tucked organdie with a simple lace galon as finishing. No other trimming material for the waist is needed except a girdle of velvet if desired. The sleeves are pleasing with their soft fulness shirred in to arm size above the elbow. The long cuff may be attached and the sleeves finished to the wrist. A veiling, chiffon, soft silk or Swiss may be developed in this way, the medium size calling for 2 3-4 yards of 27 inch goods.

6800.—Sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure. The price of this pattern is 10c.

Splendid Entertainment Given in in St. Peter's Hall Last Evening

The operetta "The May Queen," which was presented at St. Peter's school room on Friday night of last week by the pupils of St. Mary's convent, was repeated last evening by special request. The girls certainly scored a distinct success and the singing, dancing around the May pole, the drills and other movements were most cleverly given.

JANITOR OF NEW SCHOOL

Mr. Wm. Henry Given Appointment—Text Books and Chemicals

At the meeting of the Board of Education last night Mr. Wm. Henry was given the appointment of janitor for the new King Edward school at a salary of $450 per annum. Mr. Henry will commence work at once, and until September 1st will be under the direction of the chairman of the Board, but commencing September 1st he will be under the supervision of the Property Committee. There were a large number of applicants—so many, in fact, that it was hard to pick one from the list. Mr. Henry is considered a good man for the position, and no doubt his work will give every satisfaction.

Mr. Pringle, chairman of the Supervision Committee, reported recommending that the contract for the supply of text books, be awarded to R. J. Soden, and that for chemicals for the laboratory at the Collegiate Institute to McDermid & Jury. The report was adopted and the contracts will be let accordingly. The tenders of the above firms were the lowest.

Clever Organist Crosses Border

Death of Mr. A. Ingham Who Re-opened George St. Church Organ

Many friends in Peterborough will regret to learn of the death of Mr. Arthur Ingham, of Toronto, the widely known organist.

At the reopening of the rebuilt George street Methodist church organ a year ago last January, Mr. Ingham visited this city and gave a most delightful recital. The Toronto World says;

Arthur Ingham, organist of the Central Methodist church, died in the General Hospital on Monday night of acute pneumonia, after an illness of less than 24 hours. He presided at the organ on Sunday night, and at three o'clock Monday morning was taken suddenly ill and a physician ordered his removal to the hospital.

Mr Ingham was 40 years of age. He was a native of Bradford, England and came to Canada in 1897, after studying under Best and Charles Halley. His first Canadian position was that of organist of St. George's Church, Kingston. Then he became organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Redeemer, Avenue Road, Toronto, and later he went to the Central Methodist church.

In 1901 he opened the largest organ in the world in St. Louis and last spring, by invitation, he gave two recitals in Carnegie Hall, Pittsburg as one of four candidates to become permanent organist there. During the winter he gave a series of Saturday afternoon organ recitals in the Central Church, which were largely attended.

His wife and four children survive him.

Haywood Now Faces the Jury; Sensational Case Going on Trial of Miners For Alleged Murder Commenced Yesterday.

Case For the State Opened by Hawley—Says Crime Was Result of Conspiracy — Cannot Prove Haywood Threw Bomb—Will Prove He Was an Accessory, and as Such, a Principal.

Boise, June 5.—Boise turned out a crowd for the real opening of the Haywood trial. At 9.45 Hawley began without flourish.

"It is now my duty," he said, "to state the theory on which this case rests. I shall not go into details, because we believe that the jury should weigh the evidence as it is presented."

After reciting the crime committed at Caldwell, Hawley began dealing with the persons involved.

"Frank Steunenberg was the best known man in the State of Idaho," said Hawley. "He had been Governor of this state."

W. D. Haywood, C. H. Moyer, Geo. A. Pettibone and Harry Orchard were members of the western faction of miners.

"I wish to call attention to the charge. The indictment charges that the defendant, Haywood, exploded the bomb that killed Frank Steunenberg. But we do not expect to prove that he or his associates were present in Caldwell or that he actually threw that bomb."

Accessory Is a Principal.

The chief prosecutor explained the law of Idaho which makes an accessory a principal, and said that the law compelled the direct charge. As Hawley was reaching the substance of his case, Haywood gave strict attention to his remarks and never removed his eyes from the lawyer.

"We expect to prove," continued Hawley, "that this crime was the result of a conspiracy in the Western Federation of Miners and that the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners are responsible to the law.

"We will show that the Western Federation of Miners, as an organization, became a fact in 1893. Prior to that time throughout the west there were various labor organizations in the mining camps. In that year these unions we reconsolidated. The headquarters of this federation is in Denver. Ostensibly the organization is governed by a convention which meets only once a year. The absolute control of the entire body is placed in the hands of a few men and the chief officers are the president and secretary-treasurer."

Witnesses Examined.

Eight witnesses were examined before adjournment.

C. F. Wayne, who passed outward through the gate 20 minutes before Steunenburg was blown up, told of the explosion and the shocking condition of the victim when he, responding to Mrs. Steunenberg's calls, had ran to him.

John C. Rice, N. S. Ellis and A. Ballentine, residents of Caldwell, traced Orchard about the town at various times before and after the crime.

Julian Steunenberg, son of the dead governor, told of meeting Orchard, then known as Richard, at the railroad station at Caldwell, three days before the crime, and telling him in answer to his enqiry, that his father would be home on the following Friday. He said that he was on his way home with his uncle, and was two blocks behind his father when the explosion occurred.

The defence objected to practically all the day's testimony except that relating to the death of Steunenberg, on the ground that it was immaterial and in no way connected with the defendant.

It is expected that Orchard will be brought from the penitentiary to take the stand to-day.

VICTIM OF BLACK HAND.

Refused to Respond to Demand For Five Hundred Dollars.

Mount Vernon, N.Y., June 5.—Because he refused to respond to two letters demanding $500, a Black Hand agent yesterday went into the apartment of Joseph Marroney, over his hotel, and put a stick of dynamite in the stove, which exploded with terrific effect, terribly mangling Marroney's aged mother and injuring his wife and ten-year-old daughter.

The explosion was heard for several blocks, and the force was so great that nearby windows were shattered.

Court Stenographer Reprimanded.

Fredericton, N. B., June 5.—For the second time during the last few months Seth Barry, court stenographer, came in for severe criticism from Supreme Court judges. Yesterday afternoon the Trinity term Supreme Court opened and when an important case was called it was found that Barry failed to make a return of the record in the case. Mr. Phinney, K. C., moved to make absolute rule of attachment against Barry, and after caustic remarks by the judges the rule was made absolute.

Calgary, June 5.—Thomas Rife, the negro cowboy, who brutally assaulted a little Galician girl, after decoying her out into the hills, yesterday received a fitting punishment for the crime. He was sentenced to a life term in the Edmonton Penitentiary.

Erie, Pa., June 5.—A freight train on the Nickel Plate Railroad was wrecked at Harbor Creek, six miles east of here, shortly after midnight. The wreck took fire, and three cars of naphtha are reported to have exploded. Details are meagre.

Boy's Awful Condition.

Montreal, June 5.—The police yesterday arrested a 15-year-old French-Canadian boy named Henri Tremblay, on a charge of stealing stamps and money. He was found to be literally rotting away from disease and vermin, his extremities and body were in an unprecedented state of filth.

Driven from a motherless home by the alleged cruelty of his father, the boy took refuge in a stable, where he spent last winter suffering incredible hardships.

Morena Captain Exonerated.

Halifax, June 5.—Capt. McKinnon of the wrecked steamer Morena, which struck on Brandy Rocks May 18, while on the way with a cargo to Toronto, has been completely exonerated from all blame by the court of enquiry.

The wrecking of the steamer was simply the result of the steering-gear becoming suddenly deranged.

Commercial Traveler Killed.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 5.—A man, identified by papers in his pocket as H. S. Hurd of Burlington, Vt., a commercial traveler, employed by a North Tonawanda house, was crushed to death by a hoist bridge over the Erie Canal.

To Go Home In Battleship.

Victoria, B.C., June 5.—The British admiralty have ordered the battleship Monmouth for Prince Fushimi.

ROUND-UP AT COBALT.

Smart Capture of Silver Thieves—Eleven Men Arrested.

Cobalt, June 5.—Detectives Kirkwood and McDonald of the Canadian Detective Bureau of Toronto rounded up, in arrests made Monday night and yesterday morning, what is supposed to be a gang of thieves who, since Cobalt has been known as a mining centre, have committed thefts aggregating to about $100,000.

Each theft was what might be called a petty one, but before their operations were stopped mine owners lost large sums.

Wild Cat Promoters.

Men have been known to remain in town without any visible means of support who were suspected of living on the sales of stolen silver. Wild-cat promoters have been known to pay as much as $100 for an extra fine sample. Certain resorts in Cobalt have long been watched, and an occasional example has been made. Frequently samples are openly sold on the streets of Cobalt, and the purchasers must be well aware they were buying stolen samples.

The Capture.

Monday night, however, Detective Kirkwood and McDonald, disguising themselves as workmen, made the acquaintance and got the confidence of suspected parties, and as a result three men were arrested during the night, and eight in the morning. Two of the men taken had twenty-seven pounds of leaf silver, and the third one had about one hundred pounds of rock and ore.

Four houses were raided, including a boarding-house kept by one Phillips, where ore and rock were found to the extent of about four hundred pounds hidden in sacks and boxes under a stairway.

The Nipissing bunkhouses were raided at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Every bunk and every trunk was searched, and over one hundred and fifty pounds were found stowed away in trunks, mattresses and old socks. Eight men were arrested at the Nipissing mines.

Eleven men appeared yesterday afternoon for trial before Magistrate Brown. John A. Walsh got one year in Central Prison; Walter Pindley got six months in jail, and Alexander MacRae a similar dose. Two more were remanded until to-day, and six were discharged. Barrister Howand acted for the prosecution.

DYING MAN DIRECTS DOCTOR.

With His Skull Fractured Tells How to Get Him Out.

New York, June 5.—Terribly crushed under a car and his body tied up in the motor underneath, Timothy Walsh of Boston road and 180th street yesterday afternoon directed the efforts of Dr. Bickelhaupt of Fordham Hospital to extricate him.

His skull was fractured, both legs severed and one eye burned out, and he gave directions to the surgeon who crept in under the car after it had been jacked up, as to the easiest way to dislodge his maimed body.

Walsh had dumped a load of cement at Bryant street and West Farms road, and was directly in the path of a southbound West Farms car. Before it could be stopped, Walsh was knocked under the wheels and wedged in about the motor box. He will likely die.

MEN BLOWN TO PIECES.

Powder Car Explodes Killing Five Persons Who Were Looking On.

Kankakee, Ill., June 5.—At least five persons are dead as the result of an explosion of a carload of giant powder on the Chicago, Indiana & Southern Railroad at Reddick, Ill., 20 miles west of here, yesterday.

The car, loaded with matches, caught fire, and a crowd gathered.

It is supposed that the burning matches set off the powder in the adjoining car.

The bodies of the dead were torn to fragments.

The explosion was felt for twenty miles, and many windows were broken.

Probably the Infantry.

Madrid, June 5.—The Queen is doing well.

The baby's name has been entered on the roll of a regiment, and he wears the number of it, in gold, pinned upon his bib.

Places of Interest in Far Off India

Interestingly Described by Rev. H. J. Keith in Knox Church Last Evening

Despite the unfavorable and disagreeable weather last night, a large number gathered at Knox church to hear Rev. H. J. Keith's lecture on "India" given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of Knox church.

Mr. Keith spent two years in Y.M.C.A. work in that far eastern country and is in a position to talk in an interesting manner on the subject.

Sheriff Hall occupied the chair and expressed pleasure at seeing so large an attendance on such a disagreeable evening.

Rev. Mr. Keith's address was not so much on the missionary work being carried on in India, as on his trip and numerous visits to different parts of the country. His narration of the sojourn in the far eastern country was brought to the minds of his audience more vividly by a number of views. In beginning his lecture he started with the ship leaving the west for the east. He contrasted Wm. Carey, the first missionary's trip to India, with that of the present day. Then travelling was done in a sailing boat, at a cost of about £600, where now one may go for about $200. Mr. Keith stated that many tourists did not care to go by way of the Bay of Biscay, by reason of the severe sea sickness. They usually went by way of Marseilles, France. But the speaker travelled by way of the Bay of Biscay and the Mediterranean Sea. Here an interesting description was given of Mt. Vesuvius, as seen from the ship. A picture of it was shown and also of Port Said, on the Mediterranean. Then a clear and distinct view of the Suez Canal, was displayed. The Suez Canal cuts through a vast area of desert land. It has no locks or other such pieces of mechanism, as is seen in locks in this country. It takes eighteen hours to go through it, and it is so narrow that a ship has to pull up along the shore to allow another one to pass. The speaker then vividly traced his voyage until they reached Ceylon. Here they took a trip in a mail coach to the northern part of the island. The north of Ceylon was once occupied by the Dutch and several beautiful churches were erected, and the inhabitants for a time gave up heathenism, but after the British took possession they went back to their old religion. From Ceylon, Mr. Keith crossed to India. Travelling along the railway in India, one notices at every stop, a large number of children begging. Begging is considered a profession in that country, and is considered as no disgrace. The scene at the railroad station is always a busy one. The Indians are great people to travel. Pictures of scenes at the railroad stations, and also of Mr. Keith and party, having a picnic on the mountain side, were thrown on the canvas. Mr. Keith stated that they left early in the morning for their picnic, so as to be back at the house by nine o'clock. This was necessary on account of the excessive heat. Pictures of several beautiful temples situated in different towns of the south of India were shown, and then the lecturer in his travel talk came to Calcutta. There are some very pretty spots in this famous old place. A monument occupies the spot where the historical black hole of Calcutta was situated. Then there are very beautiful parks where all kinds of games are played. The market is very fine and a very busy place.

REV. H. J. KEITH

The streets are beautiful. Pictures of the Y.M.C.A. buildings at Calcutta, and also of the Hindoo buildings were shown. The speaker referred briefly to the work of the Y.M.C.A. over there. Y.M.C.A. conventions are held in India, and they are the means of a great national union. The lecturer went on to show views, where the late Wm. Carey first started his work, and also the place where he is buried. Several other views of different places of interest in the northern part of India were thrown on the canvas and described.

He referred to the four classes of people in India. There were first, the Brahmas, secondly the soldiers and merchants, thirdly the agriculturists, and lastly the laboring class who are denied all social pleasures and things of luxury. Very few horses are seen in India. Men and oxen do all the drawing.

Many other interesting features of the life in the east were spoken of. The address was replete with much valuable information, concerning that far-away country. Mr. G. H. Williamson very kindly attended to the views.

During the evening vocal solos were given by Miss J. McMurray and Mr. D. Campbell. They were well rendered and loudly applauded.

The pleasant and profitable evening was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

Dr. Forbes Godfrey (Conservative) was on Saturday elected to represent West York in the Ontario Legislature by a large vote.

VANISHING HAPPINESS.

Once he was tender, and loyal and true,
Never a word of reproach I knew;
Daily he gave me a loving embrace,
Pressed his red whiskers close up to my face.
Murmured: "I love you, my dear little wife,
You are the glorious star of my life."

Once he was home every evening at four,
Soon as his toil at the office was o'er
He was exceedingly anxious to see
Tommie and Mary, baby and me.
Ever was cheerful and happy and bright,
Wished he could see us from morning till night.

Once he would help me at housecleaning time,
Fixed up the walls of the cellar with lime.
Beat all the carpets and mended the fence,
Hung up the pictures with int'rest intense.
Never was angry and started to swear,
Cheerfully lightened my sorrow and care.

Once he would dig in the garden at night,
Tie up the raspberry bushes so tight,
Pull up the weeds in the candytuft bed,
"I am so proud of my garden" he said.
Mowing the lawn was a pleasure to him,
Ah, but the place was exceedingly trim.

Once—but why dwell on the joys of the past.
I might have known that they never could last.
Now he comes home at a quarter to eight,
Swears if I ask him what kept him so late.
Never goes out in the garden at all.
It is neglected, the burdocks are tall.

Even refuses to bring up the coal.
—Curst be the day that he started to bowl.
—J. E. Middleton in Toronto News.

CONFERENCE DEBATES.

Premier Bond's Belligerency Not Seen In Blue Book.

London, June 5.—(C. A. P.)—The blue book containing the report of the imperial conference is a bulky volume of 622 pages. It was issued late last night.

It is noticeable that, according to the report, there is no ground for sensational description of the scene in which Permier Bond, after making his speech on the Newfouhdland fisheries question, is reported to have declared that the treatment of Newfoundland had been a gross huniliation.

Occasionally one or other delegates made a neat home thrust at one another. Thus Laurier had been speaking eloquently against the restrictions on the importation of Canadian cattle when Lloyd-George remarked: "We fought it very hard when we were in opposition," and Laurier retorted: "Fight it hard then now you are in the Government."

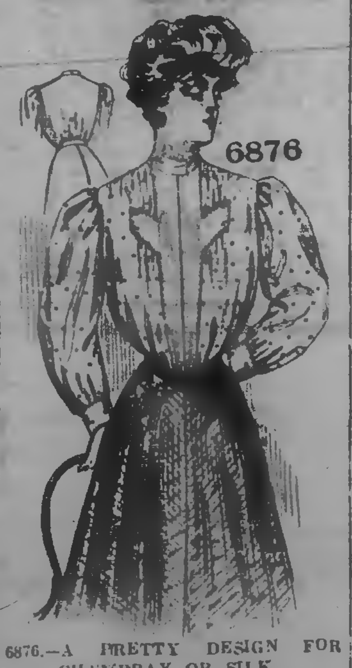
It appears Laurier was the mouthpiece of the opposition to Deakin's proposal for full publicity, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stating that "if everything is recorded here and at the end the conference is published with resolutions, I think the object desired will be satisfactorily served."

Laurier also emphasized the right of minister other than Premiers to participate in the proceedings.

Deakin's speech takes up a huge proportion of the debate on the preference question.

With reference to the all-red route Laurier spoke of the necessity of a liberal subsidy, adding: "I am prepared to say that the Government of Canada would have to contribute liberally, perhaps more liberally than others, because it would have to contribute both to the Atlantic and the Pacific routes."

LATEST DEAN PATTERNS



6876.—A PRETTY DESIGN FOR CHAMBRAY OR SILK.

Every woman who fashions her own shirt waists is glad of designs which are adaptable to a variety of materials, for often one pattern may serve for several waists by a little variation in the trimming. The waist shown is simple to construct and needs no trimming though small buttons might be very pretty on the front bands which close in duchess style. For madras or chambray the model is excellent while the dotted pongee would prove very smart developed in this way. For the medium size 3 3-8 yards of 27 inch material are needed.

6876.—Sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6 sizes.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c at The REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

SEIZE BRITISH SEALER

Charged by Capt. Ainsworth With Poaching On Sealing Grounds.

Schooner Cox Illegally Catching Seals—Had Seventy-Seven Skins on Board—Was During Close Season—Will Be Handed Over to Authorities at Nearest Canadian Port—Japs Are Also Offenders.

Washington, June 5.—The Secretary of the Treasury has received a telegram from Capt. Ainsworth of the revenue cutter Rush, stating that he had seized the British sealing schooner Charlotta G. Cox, which was found illegally catching seals in Fairweather grounds off Alaska.

The Cox, it is said, evidently was taking seals during the closed season within the area of the award in violation of the articles of the tribunal of arbitration agreed to by the Governments of Great Britain and the United States. She had seventy-seven fur seal skins on board.

The Department has directed the commander of the Rush to deliver the Cox to the British authorities at the nearest port in British Columbia in accordance with the joint recommendation of the two Governments in case of seizure.

The Rush also reported the presence of Japanese sealers in the same vicinity with a large number of sealskins on board. The Japanese sealers, however, are not subject to seizure outside of territorial waters.

CANADIAN FISH TRADE.

Government Will Endeavor to Build It Up.

Ottawa, June 5.—The Department of Railways and Canals is convinced that if some system of co-operation can be devised between the fishermen and the consumers of fish, there is no reason why a very remunerative trade should not be built up between the Maritime Provinces and Ontario. The Department of Marine and Fisheries has been asked to send an expert to the fish consuming sections of western Ontario, with a view of ascertaining how much fish the market can take care of and what the prospects are for the development of the trade.

In view of the fact that New York State has within a few years built up a trade in fish by means of cold storage on the railways, which totals six millions dollars a year, it is felt that there is no reason why the Maritime Provinces of Canada, which produce a much better article, should not be able to secure a very valuable market in Ontario, and eventually as far as Manitoba.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE OVER.

Men Will Resume Work Within Twenty-Four Hours.

Paris, June 5.—The seamen's strike is regarded as being virtually ended, and the men are expected to resume work within 24 hours. The navigation companies have accepted the Government's recommendations and will restore the officers and crews without insisting on any penalties. The French transatlantic line hopes to enable La Provence to sail from Havre to-day.

The only discord appears to be at Bordeaux, where some of the delegates, notably a man named Buscaillet, finding that the local organization is discontented with the proposed compromise arrangement, are attempting to secure a reversal of the decision to resume work, but apparently without any chance of success.

HALIFAX STRIKE SETTLED

Board of Labor Will Enquire Into Whole Dispute.

Ottawa, June 5. The Department of Labor has been advised by Victor Dubreuil that the strike of longshoremen at Halifax has been settled, the demands of the men having been granted.

Philip Ring, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council of Halifax, has been nominated by the men as their representative upon the board of conciliation, which will enquire into the whole dispute, with a view to reaching a settlement to extend over a term of years.

Insurgent Chinese Forces.

Amoy, China, June 5.—The leaders of the insurgent Chinese forces have issued an address exhorting the people to support the movement and to confine themselves for the present to guerilla tactics. It appears that the attack on the officials at Juan precipitated the outbreak against the Government, the date fixed for the uprising being June 24.

Shanghai, June 5.—The Viceroy of Canton has reported to the Government at Pekin that the disorders at Lienchow and Pakhoi have been suppressed, and that all the missionaries are safe.

Attacked by Chinese.

London, June 6.—A special despatch received here from Hong Kong says that Mr. Pollard, a Methodist missionary at Chaotungfu, has been mercilessly beaten by the Chinese. His lungs were pierced by a weapon.

The missionaries are flocking into Hong Kong from the Swatow and Pakhoi districts.

ONE FOUND, ONE MISSING.

Boy's Body Recovered But No Trace of Companion.

St. John, N.B., June 5.—After a search of hours the body of John Lobb, aged 13, was found in the upper end of the harbor Monday night, but no trace was found of Harry Ougler, aged 15, his companion, who was with him. Lobb was playing on logs in a small cove, when it is supposed he fell off in deep water. His hat was found floating near by, and a search begun, with the result that the body was recovered in a short time. Ougler was seen with Lobb during the afternoon, and has not yet returned to his home. It is thought that the boy fell into the water, possibly while trying to get Lobb out. Searchers are still at work.

Two Youths Drown.

New Liskeard, June 5.—Orpin Orr and Jeff Thompson, of Toronto, were drowned at Temiskaming Falls, near New Liskeard, yesterday morning.

Several weeks ago Orr had obtained leave of absence from work for six months. With his brother-in-law, Frank Orr, and his companion, Jeff Thompson, he went to Cobalt district for his vacation.

The Temiskaming Falls are situated between Outlet Bay and Cross Lake, bodies of water directly south of the Islands in the Temagami Lake.

Two Men Drowned.

Widler, Vt., June 5.—Jeremiah O'Meara and Stephen Hall were drowned in the Connecticut River here yesterday, while the men were towing a cable. The boat capsized near a dam, and both men were swept over the falls. Hall was 28 years of age and married. O'Meara was 35. He came from Boston.

COURSE FOR INSPECTORS.

Changes In Education of Teachers At Toronto University.

Toronto, June 5.—A course for school inspectors will be a feature in the program for the faculty of education of the university. The study for this course will include modern systems and tendencies in education, school economy, history of public education in Ontario, school administration and law, and school inspection and supervision, including supervision of all subjects in the public school course.

Another change is that it will be possible for those in attendance to get certificates for teaching only in high schools. Another certificate will be valid in both high and public schools, with special attention to public school work. For the teachers now employed the senior teaching examination is to be divided into four parts, or the subjects may be taken in two parts, one in May and one in September, or both in September.

The requirements on the departmental examinations will still be 40 per cent. on each subject, and 60 per cent on the total.

LUMBER CAMPS CLOSE.

Two Thousand Men Affected With Big Loss of Salaries.

Vancouver, B.C., June 5.—At a largely-attended meeting of the British Columbia Loggers' Association Monday, it was decided to close down the logging camps, the shut-down to take effect June 20 and last indefinitely.

It will affect sixty-nine camps, having a total output of 34,250,000 feet per month. The action was taken on account of the small demand, high wages and the increased cost of supplies. It will throw out of employment 2,000 men, $125,000 to $175,000 per month. The camps will start again whenever the market warrants it.

EDNA MAY MARRIED.

Becomes Bride of Oscar Lewisohn of New York.

London, June 5.—Edna May, the American actress, was married yesterday morning at the Registry Office at Windsor to Oscar Lewisohn, son of Adolph Lewisohn, of New York, in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The honeymoon will be spent in a motoring tour on the continent.

Presbyterians to Meet.

Montreal, June 5.—To-morrow evening, in Erskine Church, this city, the supreme court of Canadian Presbyterianism begins its annual session. The first sederunt will be devoted to public worship, conducted by the moderator, Dr. Alexander Falconer of Pictou, N.S.

The assembly is then formally constituted, and a new presiding officer elected. For ten days the well-organized body will grapple with the business of a great Canadian church.

Farmers' Convention.

Ottawa, June 5.—A farmers' convention is to be held here on June 12, for the purpose of gathering the ideas of Eastern Ontario farmers on the Assessment Act.

The farmers allege that improvements of property mean increased taxes and that only land should be taxed, not farm buildings and lands, as well as assessing them in summer alone.

These are points that will be discussed.

A young men's municipal league is to be formed in London.

Two Soldiers and Three Other Persons Wounded In Outrage at Lodz—Infantry Patrol Fire Into the Crowd and Wound Thirteen More—Thirty Arrests In Connection With the Affair.

Lodz, Russian Poland, June 5.—Two detectives were killed and two soldiers and three other persons were wounded in a street here yesterday by a bomb thrown at the police officials by terrorists.

A patrol of infantry, attracted by the explosion, appeared on the scene soon afterwards, and opened fire on the crowd, wounding 13 persons.

Thirty arrests were made in connection with the affair.

WON'T STAND FOR CRUELTY.

Two of Premier Stolypin's Temporary Laws Rejected By Douma.

St. Petersburg, June 5.—The Lower House of Parliament yesterday rejected two more of Premier Stolypin's temporary laws, one providing for increased punishment and trial exclusively before military and naval courts martial of persons charged with conducting a revolutionary propaganda among the troops or sailors, and the other authorizing the police to fetter political prisoners.

M.M. Dzhaparikze, Dzhugholi and Kandeliaki, Social Democratic members of Parliament who participated in the London Congress, reappeared in the Lower House yesterday. They have constantly been shadowed by detectives since landing at Helsingfors, Finland, and were searched on arrival in St. Petersburg, despite their strong protests, the officers informing them that they acted under the personal order of the prefect of police.

WEDDING BELLS

O'DONOGHUE—GALVIN

A pretty wedding was celebrated recently in St. Martin's church, Ennismore, when Mr. John O'Donoghue was married to Miss Ida Galvin, daughter of Mr. J. K. Galvin, both the bride and bridegroom being popular residents of Ennismore township.

The bride was attired in white silk, trimmed with valenciennes lace and insertion, and white picture hat. The bridesmaid, Miss Vivian Galvin, sister of the bride, was similarly attired. Mr. Ed. O'Donoghue, supported the groom. Miss Gertrude Moloney presided at the organ and played the wedding march, while the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick performed the ceremony.

After the nuptials, the wedding party drove to the home of the bride where a choice wedding breakfast was partaken of. Many useful and valuable presents were received. The bride was until a few months ago, organist of the St. Martin's church, and at the time of her resignation, was presented with a well-filled purse.

Many friends join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. O'Donoghue, every success and prosperity in their wedded life.

PRATT—POLLOCK

A very pretty house wedding was solemnized last evening at the residence of Mr. Robt. Pollock, Dufferin street, East City, when his second daughter, Miss Jean W., was united in marriage to Mr. Robt. A. Pratt, of Toronto, formerly of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's church, in the drawing room, which was tastefully decorated with palms and cut flowers. Shortly after six o'clock, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Elsie Pollock, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered. She was beautifully attired in cream voile with silk trimmings, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her sister, Miss Christina Pollock, acted as bridesmaid and looked charming in a dress of cream voile. She carried pink roses. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Harold Graham, of this city.

After the ceremony hearty congratulations were bestowed upon the bride and groom and about thirty guests sat down to a choice wedding repast.

Among the guests from out of town were Mrs. Horsburg and Miss Auna, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Swan of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Havery of Fenelon Falls.

The bride received a large number of beautiful and costly presents, including a handsome set of dishes from the dressing room of the Auburn Woollen Mills, where she was formerly engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt left on the nine o'clock G.T.R. train for Port Hope, Toronto, Niagara and Buffalo, and on their return will reside in Toronto. Mrs. Pratt travelled in a pretty navy blue suit with hat to match. Many friends will wish them every success and prosperity and a long life of connubial bliss.

HEIDERMAN—MAGRAW

An event of unusual interest to a very large number of friends, both in the city and in other places, took place this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. F. Boswell, 575 Aylmer street when Miss Emily Wilson-Hopkins Magraw became the bride of Mr. Robert C. Heiderman.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, rector of St. Luke's church, at 3.30 o'clock in the drawing room. The bride, who was very becomingly gowned in a travelling suit of blue, was attended by Miss Helen Hay and Miss Fannie Boswell, while Mr. W. Maurice van der Water supported the groom. The home was very prettily decorated with apple blossoms, ferns and trilliums. The wedding was of a very quiet nature, there being no invited guests, and after the ceremony the little party partook of a dainty luncheon, which was served in the dining room, and Mr. and Mrs. Heiderman left on the 4.48 C.P.R. train for a week's visit in Western Ontario. They were joined at the station by a large number of friends who extended hearty wishes for a long, happy life.

The bride and groom are both young people, well known and very highly thought of in the city, as was evidenced by the large number of very handsome gifts received. Among the presents was a beautiful clock from the 57th Regiment Band of which Mr. Heiderman has long been a member. When the newly married couple return they will take up their residence at 575 Aylmer street.

KENNEDY—JUBY

A very pretty June wedding was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, Park street, this morning, by Rev. A. H. Bruce. Miss Julia Juby was united in marriage to Mr. Edward John Kennedy. The bride looked charming in a blue-grey tailor-made suit, over white silk blouse with hat to match. Mrs. J. J. Pollock the bride's sister, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Pollock attended the groom. The happy pair left on the morning train for Belleville and will visit Kingston and Watertown N.Y. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will reside in Peterborough.

Trumpet Band for the Rangers

A trumpet band will soon be a feature of the equipment of the 57th Regiment. Twelve trumpets have been ordered and soon, under the direction of Sergt. Walter Hughes, leader of the bugle band, the boys will be proficient on the trumpet. The trumpet band will be a decidedly attractive feature in connection with the regiment, especially on the occasion of marchouts.

Top Price for Cheese To-day On Local Board Was $11\frac{5}{8}$c

2,987 Boxes Were Offered for Sale and Practically All Were Disposed of—Bidding Was Lively and Board Was Cleared Early.

The top price for cheese at this morning's meeting of the local board was 11 5-8c, the bulk of the offerings going at this figure. A number of factories sold at 11 9-16c., which was the price offered for the first selection. The total registration was 2,987 boxes as compared with 809 boxes at the first sale of the season three weeks ago, when 11 1-2c was the highest price.

The bidding opened today at 11c by Mr. Squires. Mr. Kerr advanced to 11 1-16c and Mr. G. Gillespie made it 11 1-8c. Mr. Morton then came into the ring with 11 3-16c and Mr. B. Gillespie outbid him with 11 1-4c. Mr. G. Gillespie offered 11 5-16c. Mr. Squires made an offer of 11 3-8c and G. Gillespie came back with 11 7-16c. B. Gillespie outbid him with 11 1-2c and then Mr. Squires offered 11 9-16c and secured the first choice, no one offering any higher at the time.

Mr. Squires got the first call at 11 9-16c and secured the following factories; Norwood, Ormonde, Brickley, Oakdale, Killarney and Warminster.

The second choice went to Mr. Morton at 11 5-8c and he named the following selection; Lang, Shearer, Indian River, Warsaw, Pine Grove, Fleetwood and Keene.

At 11 5-8c Mr. Kerr took the following, Bensfort, Maple Leaf, Lakefield, Young's Point, Treewern, Cedardale, East Emily, Crown, Cavanville, Myrtle, Fraserville, Mt. Pleasant. Otonabee Union and Central Smith Selwyn refused this offer.

Mr. G. Gillespie's offer of 11 5-8c took the next call and he secured the following; Buckhorn, Westwood, Villiers and Selwyn.

North Dummer sold to Mr. Drinton at 11 9-16c without inspection.

South Burleigh was the only factory that did not sell.

GREEN CHEESE

Before the sale commenced, Mr. Riddell, the president, referred to the pernicious habit of manufacturing green cheese that existed in some districts. As Peterborough was not guilty in this respect he thought it would be well if something was done to apprise the large wholesale firms that no green cheese was manufactured in the Peterborough district and in this connection he considered it would be a good scheme if every factory in the district had a brand with the words "Peterborough District" or "Peterborough Cheese" upon it and to stamp all cheese with this brand.

Owing to lack of time the matter was not discussed but it will likely be taken up later.

In future the board will meet sharp at ten o'clock. All cheese must be boarded and ready for sale at 10.15. This change has been made necessary by the change in the C.P.R. time table, the train, which formerly passed through Peterborough at 11.35 a.m., going through at 11.16. The buyers and salesmen from the east wish to be through in time to catch this train, for failing to do so they will have to remain in Peterborough until night, and thereby lose much valuable time.

On motion it was decided to meet sharp at ten o'clock and have everything ready to commence the sale of cheese at 10.15 o'clock.

The next meeting of the board will be held on Wednesday, June 19th.

The boarding of cheese today was as follows;

Coffin Name Plate Unearthed On Site of the New Armouries

Bore the Name of Mr. Cornelius Crowley Who Was Buried in the Year 1844—The Plate Handed Over to His Grandson, Mr. Jas. Crowley, Water Street.

Since the work of excavation on the new armories has commenced there have been several finds of bones, skulls and other remains of persons who were buried there, when the property was once a cemetery. A coffin in a good state of preservation was also found, but yesterday forenoon the most important discovery was made, in as much as it reveals the name of the man who was interred there. The plate of a coffin was picked up in the south-eastern corner of the excavated part, by Mr. Jas. D. Dafoe, who is engaged in the work of excavation. The plate was almost as good as the day it was made, save for a little rust. The name and dates on it were quite clear. They read: "Died September 7th, 1844, Cornelius Crowley, aged 74 years." This is rather a rare find, and the plate has been given to Mr. Jas. Crowley, 788 Water street, who is a grandson of the late Mr. Cornelius Crowley. Mr. Jas. Crowley prizes this plate very highly and will look upon it as a memento of the years long ago. It will also be historically connected with the erection of the new armories.

It had been in the ground for nearly 63 years, and, though the coffin and the body have all decayed away, the metal changed very little, and remains as a relic of the past.

Another one was also found, but it was all rusty and was beginning to fall to pieces.

Sudden Death of David Fisher At His Home Yesterday Morning

David Fisher, of Millbrook, came to a very sudden end early yesterday morning. He was sleeping the last forty winks while his wife prepared his breakfast. When the meal was ready Mrs. Fisher went to her husband's room and called him, and then returned to the kitchen. She waited for a few minutes, and as she heard no sound of him getting up, she went to call him again, but when she reached the bedside he was dead, having passed away without a struggle, and without the slightest warning.

Mrs. Fisher was horrified, and it was some time before she recovered sufficiently to call for assistance, and by the time it arrived all possible hope of restoring life was gone.

The deceased was about 40 years of age, and leaves a wife and several small children to mourn his loss. He has a sister, Miss Fisher, residing at 229 1-2 Hunter street. He was a laborer, and was well known to the people of Millbrook and was highly respected. Coroner Dr. Gray was notified of the death, and as the cause was due to heart failure, an inquest was not considered necessary.

The funeral will be held on Thursday.

Young Man's Celluloid Collar Took Fire From Lighted Match

Was Lighting Cigarette When the Accident Occurred—C.G.E. Employee's Narrow Escape From Serious Injury.

A young man employed at the C.G.E. Works and who boards at a house in the south end of the city was the victim of a most peculiar accident on Monday night. After tea the young man and his room-mate were in their room dressing themselves to go out and call upon some friends—young ladies, it is said—but this cannot be vouched for. The victim of the accident had put on a celluloid collar and standing with his coat off went to light a cigarette. In some way or other the lighted match came in contact with the celluloid collar and before one could say Jack Robinson, the highly inflammable article was on fire. Celluloid burns with great rapidity and before the young man knew what had happened the flames were circling round his neck. His room-mate, noticing the peril the man with the celluloid collar was in, grasped him at the back of the neck and with one quick jerk pulled collar and a good part of the shirt from off his body. Had it not been for the prompt action of his friend the young man would no doubt have been seriously burned as he was too much surprised to know what to do. The flames were spreading rapidly to the rest of his clothes and had he been alone he would have been in a serious plight. As it was his neck was badly burned, and he had to have it bandaged up before he could go to work next day.

It is said that the call on the young ladies was postponed until another night. The victim of the accident has forever renounced celluloid collars and in future his neckwear will consist of linen goods.

PRICE OF MEAT STILL SOARING

Cause of the Present Advance—Best Cuts Now 17 cents

In Peterborough the best cuts of steak are now 17 cents per pound, and it is possible the figure will go to 19 or 20, for at least a month or six weeks before conditions again become normal. It will be necessary to charge this sum if the quality of the best cuts is not to suffer, and the meat merchants are not increasing their profit either. Mr. H. P. Kennedy stated to the Review today that the prices were not as high here as in Toronto, where sirloin steak is selling at 18 to 20, and porterhouse 22 to 24, while the local price is 17. Spring lamb in Toronto is $1.25 to $2.00 a front quarter, while here it is $1.25 to $1.50. On the hind quarter the quotation in Toronto is $2.25 to $3.00, while in Peterborough the figure is $1.75 to $2.00. Veal is also sold at a lower price here. The same reasons for the advance in other cities apply with equal force to Peterborough.

Speaking of meat prices, the Toronto News last night said:

The festive housekeeper has been paying some unusual prices for beef during the past few days.

In his butcher's bills he must have noticed that sirloin steak, which formerly cost eighteen cents per pound, cannot now be bought for less than twenty cents, that round steak for which the butcher charged twelve cents the pound, now costs fourteen, and that shoulder roasts have soared from eight to ten cents the pound.

The butchers blame it on the late spring and the scarcity of cattle. The farmers, they say, had good prices for their grain last fall and they were therefore not in a position to pay as much attention to the stall-feeding of cattle for the market as would have been the case, had their been plenty of feed at low prices. The late spring and the consequent scarcity of grass has also had an effect upon the meat situation. Retailers state that they expect to be paying as high as $10 per hundredweight for their beef within the next couple of weeks. Prices have gradually increased from $6.55 and $7.50, until today, $9.25 is the price demanded by the wholesalers. It is predicted that it will be about five weeks before prices begin to show a tendency to take their former level. Veal and pork have remained firm at 10 and 11 and 10 cents per pound respectively.

The Toronto Star also contains the following reference to the situation.

"Yes," said the butcher, as he lifted a hindquarter of beef from the hook, slammed it down on the block and prepared to cut it, "you may well say it's a terror the way beef prices are going up. You customers can buy it or leave it as you like; but what do you suppose the butcher's going to do? There's many a one in a small business that might just as well shut up for the summer, and for the rest of us, the less we sell the better off we'll be; and that's the truth." But the customer, all the same, felt much sorrier for herself than for the butcher, when she found that she had to pay 20 cents for sirloin, instead of 18 as she had been going lately, though she had hardly got used to that, after getting it for 15 and 16 cents for years. But that wasn't the worst, the poor cuts have gone up even more in proportion, and the chuck and shoulder roasts which she used to get for 9 and 10 cents a pound, were now 11 and 12 cents.

The loss of so much cattle, and the late spring and consequent poor pasturage were the causes given for this condition of affairs.

"Beef is costing us a cent and a half to two cents a pound more now than this time last year," went on the butcher, "and pretty soon it'll be a cent higher. The only cheap thing now-a-days is veal."

Round is selling now at 15 to 15 cents a pound, rib roasts, 14 to 15 cents, sirloin, 18 to 20 cents, porterhouse 22 to 24 cents, beef heart 20 cents, chuck and shoulder 10 to 12 cents.

Spring lamb is $1.25 to 2.00 a front quarter, 2.25 to 3.00 for hind. Last year's lamb is 18 cents a pound, for front quarter, and 25 cents for hind.

Veal is 12 1-2 cents per pound for shoulder, 16 cents for loin chops, and 20 cents for cutlets. Fillet is 16 cents a pound, tenderloin 18 cents, and loin 14 to 15 cents.

The following despatch from Manistee, Mich., referring to Captain May, will be read with local interest Captain May being a brother-in-law of Mrs. H. Castle, Maria street, Peterborough. Both Captain and Mrs. May met death in the steamer. The despatch reads,—

Manistee, Mich., May 30. — About dusk last evening a bottle was picked up on the shore of Lake Michigan, near Cedar Brook, this county, containing a message from the master of the ill-fated steamer, Arcadia, which sailed from here, April 12, and was lost with all on board.

This message reads, "Steamer going down—have not much time to write. We are going down about twenty miles out, steering gear out of order.—Captain May."

The handwriting of the captain was verified at the local customs house.

"I should say so! Everyone who tries it says there's nothing like St. George's."

"I know—but wouldn't you rather get a Baking-Powder you are sure is good?"

"St. George's is really less expensive—it goes farther and does better work—and never wastes flour in failures."

"No, indeed! There's not an atom of adulteration in St. George's Baking Powder—and the Cream of Tartar is 100% pure."

"Never! It makes the biscuits deliciously light."

"Yes, yes! Just try St. George's on my recommendation—if they're not good, I'll eat them all myself—at one sitting."

"Yes—the manufacturers guarantee it—and I guarantee it too."

"Certainly! Money back, if it's not just as I say it is."

Board of Education Had Many Matters to Deal With

Transacted Large Amount of Business at the Regular Meeting Last Night—Many Reports Presented—Government Will be Appealed to Regarding Grade for New Armoury.

The Board of Education met in regular session last night, and were exceedingly busy for over an hour. During that time a large amount of business was transacted and several important matters cleared off the slate. When it comes to doing business and avoiding outbursts of heated atmosphere, the Board is a good example for other public bodies. While everything is fully considered, there is no verbosity of language, and as a consequence, a saving of much valuable time.

Those present were: Chairman Fair, and Messrs. Hill, Pringle, Morrison, Burnham, Robinson, Ackerman and Secretary Morrow.

The Board first met in Committee of the Whole to consider matters, and when they assembled in regular session the reading of the communications was first taken up.

J. J. Turner & Sons wrote making an offer to the Board in connection with a flag pole for the new King Edward school.—Referred to Property Committee.

The city clerk wrote, stating that the superintendent had been instructed by the Water Commissioners to lay a water main on Barnardo Ave., from George street to Conger, which will serve the Barnardo Ave. school.

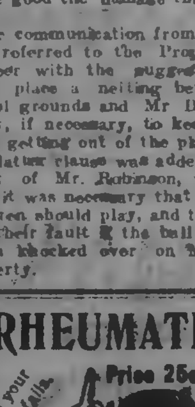
Miss G. Florence Bell, of Peterborough wrote asking for a position on the kindergarten staff of the Public schools.—Referred to Committee on Appointments.

Mr. Jas. Drain, in a communication to the Board, stated that the boys attending the east ward school, while playing ball in the school grounds, frequently hit the ball over the fence into the garden at his house on Robinson street, at present occupied by Mr. E. J. Fredenburg. He also complained that the boys remove boards from the fence between the school grounds and the garden, and causing other injury. Mr. Drain wanted to know if the Board would make good the damage that has been done.

The communication from Mr. Drain was referred to the Property Committee with the suggestion that they place a netting betwen the school grounds and Mr Drain's property, if necessary, to keep the ball from getting out of the play grounds. The latter clause was added at the request of Mr. Robinson, who stated that it was necessary that the school children should play, and that it was not their fault if the ball was sometimes knocked over on Mr. Drain's property.

RHEUMATISM

Price 25c.



I will refund your money if it fails.

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure seldom fails to relieve pains in legs, arms, back, stiff or swollen joints in a few hours. Positively cures in a few days. It does not put the disease to sleep, but drives it from the system. —MUNYON.

Applications for re-appointment to the public school staff were received from the teachers in the West Ward, Barnardo Avenue and George street schools.

Mr. Williams, scavenger, waited on the board and made a statement regarding a delay in the payment of his account for scavenging in connection with the public schools. He informed the Board that in the past he had been paid without having any certificate from the janitors that the work was properly done. A few days ago he presented a bill to Mr. Ackerman, chairman of The Property Committee, but was informed that it could not be paid until the janitors certified that the work was properly done. Mr. Williams did not think that this was necessary, as it entailed considerable work to get a certificate from each janitor. He stated that he had been doing this work for the Board for the past fifteen years, and had never had to get his work certified to by the janitors before.

Mr. Fair informed him that the Board, being a public body, it was impossible to pay out money before the work done had been certified to as being satisfactory, and that Mr. Williams must have been mistaken as regards having done so in the past. Mr. Williams stoutly maintained otherwise with a volubility of language, but was informed that he would have to have his work certified to as being properly done before he could be paid. It was moved by Dr. Morrison and seconded, that the scavenging at the schools be left in the hands of the janitors, they to call in a scavenger when necessary, and to certify to his work being done properly before he would be paid.

"Well, I'm through with the Board," said Mr. Williams as he put on his hat and left the room. "The Board isn't giving me a square deal."

CHANGE IN GRADE

Mr Robinson brought up the question of the difference in grade between the new Collegiate Institute and the new armory ground, and pointed out that something should be done to make the two symmetrical. He considered that the Government should be approached and have the grade of the armory raised to conform with that of the school.

It was moved by Dr. Burnham that the matter of grade be left in the hands of the Collegiate Institute Building Committee. This was seconded and carried. The committee will interview Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., regarding the matter. This is the matter that was referred to at length in a recent issue of the Review. The Government promised the Board of Education that they would have the armories the same grade as the Collegiate Institute, but apparently they are not keeping to the agreement.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The chairman of the Property committee, Mr. Ackerman, reported that this committee had visited the different schools in the city and found that there was considerable repairing to be done, but in view of the large expenditures incurred this year in connection with school purposes, the committee felt that only such repairs as are absolutely necessary should be undertaken this year. The members of the Board agreed with this and this will be the course followed.

CHAIRMAN PRO TEM.

Mr. Fair announced that he would be absent from the city during the months of June, July and August, and that it would be necessary to appoint a chairman for this period. On motion Dr. Burnham was unanimously elected to fill the position o chairman during Mr. Fair's absence. Mr. Fair's fellow-members of the Board wished him an enjoyable trip while abroad, and a safe return home again.

Mr. Ackerman, chairman of the Property Committee, stated that he would be absent during the months of July and August, and Mr. Crane was elected to act as chairman of this committee while Mr. Ackerman was away.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country, than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

HAVE SECURED LARGE CONTRACT

Messrs. Turner & Sons Will Decorate Ottawa for Old Boys' Re-union

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons have secured the contract for decorating the streets of the City of Ottawa for the Old Boys' Reunion and big summer carnival, which will be held at the Capital during the last week in July and the first week in August. The demonstration will be the greatest event ever held in the history of the Capital and the contract amounts to several thousand dollars.

Messrs. Turner & Sons secured the work in a fierce contest, and the fact that they won the day speaks well for the name and fame of Peterborough decorators. Many other firms put in tenders but the local firm's figure was accepted, and it goes without saying, that the job will be attended to in a prompt and praiseworthy manner.

Made Organist Play at Revolver Point

Mr. Blakeley of Sherbourne St. Church Had Exciting Experience

A Toronto despatch says:—A half drunken man, handling an ugly looking revolver, a church organ and its player form the basis of a story that is being told in some musical circles in this city. One evening last week Mr. Arthur T. Blakely, organist of the Sherburne st. Methodist church, entered that edifice to practice his music. It appears that Mr. Blakeley's habit to go alone to these practices, when he can make the huge instrument pour forth its melody with only himself as critic.

Upon the evening in question he had finished his practice about 11 o'clock and was preparing to turn out the lights and go home. Suddenly a voice from under the gallery interrupted. The organist turned to see a well dressed man, obviously quite tipsy, pointing a revolver with an unsteady hand. Mr. Blakeley was rudely told to continue playing, and again and again the organ sounded the sacred airs. Still holding the revolver, the stranger advanced to a position immediately behind the organist. His appetite for music seemed insatiable. At every pause Mr. Blakely was commanded to continue. The programme changed from the usual church music to waltzes, two-steps, and even the popular melodies of the day.

An hour passed, with the organ ceaselessly playing. The midnight bells were ringing, while the organ pealed out "Where is My Wanderin Boy To-night." Afterwards there came some "repeats" to this wonderful programme. At last the music, now soft and low, now reverberating through the church, seemed to be having its effect. The expression on the face of the man changed, finally he broke down and cried, thanked the organist and said he might stop. It was then 1 o'clock in the morning.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

CEASE THE PRACTICE

cease the practice

It is satisfactory to learn that the civic authorities will put a stop to the dangerous practice of burning rubbish near business premises. It is a practice which should have been checked long ago. It is a menace to the business interest of the city, and in the case of a high wind prevailing, a blaze might easily break out which would sweep away a large portion of the mercantile section of the city. The attention of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association has been called to the matter, and the Association recently sent an inspector here to investigate. He reports that he found a large quantity of papers, shavings, straw, boxes and other collections in many of the lanes, alleys, and yards. This state of affairs does not reflect much credit on certain merchants who should consider their own best interest, as well as those of others. The bylaw against the accumulation of waste material must be rigidly enforced. The practice is unsanitary, undesirable and hazardous—and all efforts to stamp it out are worthy of encouragement and endorsation.

THAT SEWER TO THE NEW SCHOOL

Board of Education Want Action Taken at Once—A Resolution Passed

The Board of Education is anxious that something should be done towards providing proper sewage for the new King Edward school in the South Ward. As is generally known the sewer put in a short time ago is not working as it should and the school cannot be opened until something is done towards remedying the defect. The City Council will be strongly urged to do something at once as it is almost imperative that the new school be opened on September 1st, and there is no time to be lost. At last night's meeting of the Board a resolution was passed, dealing with the matter.

It was moved by Mr. Pringle, seconded by Mr. Robinson, "That the King Edward School will be complete and ready for occupation after the midsummer vacation, but by reason of the want of a suitable sewer it will be impossible to use. This board respectfully but urgently submits the position of affairs and asks that immediate action be taken to provide adequate sewers. The adjustment of the whole public school system is dependent upon the opening of this school, and any delay in opening it will be fraught with serious consequences. This board, therefore urges immediate action."—Carried.

There will be no retreat of the Asselin case at Quebec.

Brantford will contribute $5,000 to the Bell memorial scheme bringing the fund up to $32,000.

CANON DAVIDSON AT KINGSTON

Delivered Two Impressive Sermons in St. George's Cathedral

The Kingston Whig says; Canon Davidson, Peterborough, preached sermons of value and helpfulness in St. George's Cathedral on Sunday. For the sermon at high celebration at eleven o'clock he took his text from the epistle for the day; "Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God." After pointing out the fact that the church year is divided into halves, the first half dealing with the gospel, or the chief events of our Lord's earthly life, followed by the feast of the coming of the Holy Ghost, the second half devoted to the Christian's duty, he enlarged upon his theme. Right at the outset of the second half of the year the church has put that which is and which must be the mainspring of all good, love to God and love to man. In whomsoever is the germ of loving kindness, in that man, whether he be church-goer or not, is the life of God, who is love. He instanced the man who made little or no religious profession, yet who was generous to the poor, kind to the sick, doing his good deeds in a careless, offhand way. In him is love, the motive power of God. Again, the railroad man, possibly never darkening the doors of a church; the crucial test of an accident comes. The man might jump and save his life. He sticks at his post and lays his own life down for the lover of others, following his Master's example. In him is love, therefore the life of God.

At evensong Canon Davidson preached from the text; "I speak concerning Christ and the church," saying the church at large was failing because she failed to realize that she was to be a school for the development of character, a sphere in which to exercise the love of God to all. He touched on the question of unity and the hopeful signs concerning it.

WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS

The Special Order Department of the Big Montreal Concern.

"Semi-ready" physique type proportions are not a cure-all. They will meet every requirement that comes within the sphere of normal and disproportionate man. They are so arranged to provide for unequal heights of shoulder and unequal lengths of leg. There is no man who can be fitted with clothes who cannot be fitted at a Semi-ready tailoring store. For the Special Order Department of the Semi-ready steps in when the odd man in a thousand fails to find his fond pattern. Semi-ready made a pair of trousers for a Sherbrooke man who weighed 450 pounds. In two months they filled twelve special measurement orders from the Yukon. Gressman's can always show the Special Order samples.

Mayor to Open New Fire Hall

Short Addresses From Mayor and Aldermen and Refreshments—Smoker at Night

The formal opening of the new fire hall will take place in July although the exact date has not yet been set. But the fire brigade met in their hall last night and considered the proposition. There were many suggestions as to what the nature of the event should be, one of which was that several outside brigades be invited to join the boys in a demonstration and celebration. This met with great favor, but could not be entertained because the local brigade has absolutely no uniform in which to turn out. It is thirteen years ago since the council purchased uniforms and now there is hardly a sign of them left. Five years ago the boys were given a white coat and vest and were promised a uniform, but that was the end of it. If they were able to make a respectable appearance and would not be outshone by the firemen of a little town, the boys would be only too glad to get up big celebration.

It was finally decided, however, to have the fire hall thrown open to the public at about nine or ten o'clock in the morning and at either eleven o'clock or at two o'clock have it formally opened by the mayor and aldermen who would give short addresses; this to be followed by light refreshments to all present. Then in the evening it is proposed to hold a smoking concert upstairs when the men of the city could gather to spend a jolly, free and easy evening.

This programme will be sent as a report to the next meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, for acceptance.

Build a Metal Home

In every way metal is superior to wood or plaster for the interior of homes. Classified Metal Ceilings and Walls, designed and manufactured by the Metal Shingle & Siding Co., Limited, of Preston, Ont., are to be preferred over all others for their beautiful and harmonious finish. They are made in a great variety of designs to suit all tastes, and are classified according to the prevailing styles of architecture.

Metal ceilings and walls are fire-proof and vermin-proof, are sanitary and easily cleaned. They may be beautifully decorated at small cost.

Those, who are tired of the yearly expense of re-plastering, re-painting and re-papering, should make a change to metal ceilings and walls. They may be put on over the old plaster, without dirt or muss, and in much less time than plastering would require. They last a lifetime, and never need repairs, so that the first cost is the only cost.

Life insurance companies recognize the security which metal ceilings and walls afford, by making their rates one-third less on homes constructed of this material.

Illustrated catalogues and complete information as to cost may be obtained by writing the Metal Shingle & Siding Co., Limited, Preston, Ont. 57

Free Methodists Gather in Great Camp Meeting

Journey to the Camp Ground Near Jackson Park—Visitors Sleep, Eat and Worship in the Pine Grove—Some of the Features of the Gathering—Progress of the Denomination—District Elder Burnham Speaks on the Work—Five Services Held Daily.

The big camp meeting of the Free Methodists is now in full swing in the pine grove near Jackson Park. Meetings will be held every day and every night for a week. The big gospel tent will seat two hundred people. It is 35 by 55 feet in dimensions. Surrounding the central tent are about fifteen smaller ones, where those attending are encamped.

The scene, which is only three minutes walk from the street railway line is an ideal one for camp meeting purposes and will doubtless be the Mecca of many citizens before the services are over.

Each district holds a camp meeting annually. Rev. R. Burnham of Uxbridge, is the district elder, and on the five districts are located nine churches. The districts represent Toronto circuit, the Armadale and Scarboro Junction circuits, the Uxbridge circuit, the Baldwin, Belhaven and Ravenshoe circuit, and the Peterborough circuit of which Rev. H. B. Luck, is pastor.

There are, as stated, nine churches, and the ministers in attendance are Rev. R. Burnham, district elder, Rev. Charles Goodrich, Belhaven, Rev. Emmerson Snyder, Uxbridge, Rev. Wilmott Harden, Armadale, and Scarboro, Rev. A. Sims, Toronto, and Rev. H. B. Luck, Peterborough. Rev. Mr. Sims is a writer of note, and is the editor of "The Lamp of Life," and other periodicals.

Five meetings will be held each day and the camp meeting will be in progress until Tuesday evening next.

In the morning at six o'clock, a holiness gathering is held, followed by a love feast or fellowship service, and then at 10.30 o'clock there is a preaching service. In the afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, there is another preaching service and in the evening at eight o'clock, a similar service is held. The public is cordially invited to all and will be accorded a hearty welcome.

About seventy-five persons are encamped on the ground. They come from the different circuits already referred to. The rain last night interfered with the attendance and only a short service was held conducted by Rev. R. Burnham, the district elder.

THE DENOMINATION.

Speaking to the Review last night Rev. Mr. Burnham gave some interesting facts connected with the history of the denomination. "We have," said he, "thirty annual conferences including three in Canada. There are the Eastern Ontario conference, the West Ontario conference and the Saskatchewan conference. In the Toronto district we have about 300 members and our denomination is growing. Each district has its own camp meeting each year. Last June it was held on the town park, Uxbridge, but this year it was felt we should meet in Peterborough to help the work along. There is only a mission here yet, at the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, which was opened about two years ago, under the guidance of Rev. H. B. Luck. The object of the camp meeting is to arouse all spiritually and further the work of our Lord and Master. Our general conference will meet on June 12th, in Greenville, Ill., and I am the delegate to the conference. We have several schools and seminaries. The Free Methodists have been in existence since 1860, the denomination being formed in Pekin, Niagara County, New York, by Rev. Benjamin Titus Roberts. We claim to adhere closely to the early teachings, methods and doctrines of John Wesley and many aged persons who attend our camp meetings, say that it reminds them of the glorious revivals and services held many years ago. It seems to them like the good old times. We do not believe in restraining the spirit, which if moved with power from on high should be free to express itself. In all our conferences the laity have equal representatives with the clergy. We transact no business at these camp meetings. They are held solely for the spiritual welfare, and a deepening of the interest of the soul. We are glad to welcome all to our meetings and visitors will find them free and open in every respect."

Mr. Burnham was converted 27 years ago. He has been in the ministry nearly nineteen years, and is district elder of the Toronto and Muskoka districts. He is an earnest, active speaker, and a pleasant conversationalist. He says the denomination is to help all who care to attend, and, while their methods may be somewhat different from others, they feel that God is with them and will bless them in their work.

A number of visitors are expected during the week from the Havelock and Marmora district of which Rev. Mr Cunningham of Kingston, is district elder.

The Free Methodists do not believe in ostentatious or vain display of dress. Their churches are plain but comfortable structures, and they desire to do all good. They are thoroughly democratic and endeavor to preach the old fashioned gospel in a plain simple way.

Regiment to Drill Twice Each Week During Month

Bad Weather on Drill Nights Has Greatly Hampered the Corps—Church Parade Next Sunday—Officers Posted for Two Companies for Composite Regiment.

The weather and the 57th Regiment do not seem to be pulling well this year. Since the opening of the drill season there have only been two Tuesday nights in which it was feasible to take the men out on the park for their exercises. On the other nights it was either cold or rainy and sometimes both. Last night was drill night and last night it rained. Despite this, however, there was a good turnout, over two hundred men being on parade. They were unable to leave the drill shed, but Sergt. Major Brittain managed to put them through some valuable work within the confine of the building. About an hour and a half was spent in practicing different exercises and the work was performed in a very satisfactory manner.

Owing to the bad weather on drill nights the regiment is not in as good shape as the officers would like and in order to bring about an improvement before the trip to St. Catharines on July 1st, an extra drill will be held tomorrow night at eight o'clock. Every man who can possibly do so is asked to turn out. It is likely that two drills per week will be held until inspection is over. This will be necessary in order to bring the regiment into shape. This has been one of the most backward seasons in the history of the regiment, owing to the bad weather, not from a lack of enthusiasm.

The annual church parade will take place to St. Paul's church on Sunday evening. The regiment will parade at the armories at 6.30 o'clock and a special sermon will be preached at the church by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

As will be noted in the orders, which appear below, arrangements have been completed for the organization of the two companies from Peterborough, which will form part of the composite regiment at Kingston camp at the end of June. The total strength of the two companies will be forty-four and they will leave Peterborough on Tuesday, June 25, and remain in camp until Friday of the same week. Capt. Mills will command Co. A, and Capt. McWilliams will be in charge of Co. B.

The complete list of officers will be found below:

Canoeists Have Trouble Again

No Attempt Made Yet to Remove Obstacles in the Canal

The canoe and skiff men are again in trouble. They have been ever since the improvements were made at the lower locks. Previous to that there was a good canoe slide, which made it comparatively easy for the fellows to get their canoes up and down. It was also safe, and young ladies had no fear of an upset. But since the improvements were made, the slide has been practically useless. Only expert paddlers dare attempt to make the grade and they are in constant danger. The amount of water coming over the dam is much greater than it was a few years ago, and there is a heavy current and strong rapids. Then a lot of stones taken out of the channel were dumped almost in the path of the canoeists, creating a stronger and more dangerous current than ever.

The only way that it is at all possible to get up to the slide is to come up the channel to the end of the pier and then go around the pier. This route is a particularly hazardous one as there is a very strong cross current and unless a person strikes the exact course, his boat is sure to be capsized and the paddler probably drowned.

The above is no exaggeration of the facts and last year a petition, very largely signed was presented to the authorities, but so far as is known nothing was ever done, and no attempt has been made to remove the obstacles or to assist the canoeists. This is a rank injustice. There are at the present time, several hundred young men, all hard working fellows, many of them taxpayers, and all are voters, and they feel that they should be shown some consideration. Previous to the improvements to the canal, there was no complaint, whatever, and the boys had no trouble in getting over the locks. To put the thing into shape again is a very small matter, so far as the Dominion Government is concerned, or even the superintendent of the canal. Dredges are going up and down the canal from time to time and it would cost very little to have these stones and rocks removed so that the canoeists could get up and down the locks without putting their lives in danger.

The City Clerk Dispensed Justice

At This Morning's Session of the Police Court

In the absence of Magistrate Dumble from the city, City Clerk S. R. Armstrong, presided at the mill of justice this morning. No money was made as a result of this morning's court.

Harry Raymond was again remanded on the charge of assaulting Chas Stevens, and inflicting bodily harm. Stevens is not yet able to get out of bed. The case was enlarged until next Wednesday.

Robert C. Newman, who was arrested over a week ago for vagrancy was again remanded for a week, this morning. He is a stranger in this city and in order that Chief Rozel may make enquiries concerning his past, His Worship saw fit to let him spend another week on the hill.

Jas McDonald, an Englishman, just out a fortnight from the Old Country was found drunk last night. He pleaded guilty, but Mr. Armstrong allowed him to go, informing him that this city would not allow him to hang around the streets.

MANY PEOPLE HAVE CATARRH OF KIDNEYS AND DON'T KNOW IT.

Backache, a Warning Symptom of Kidney Trouble.

Pe-ru-na Is Invaluable in Such Cases.

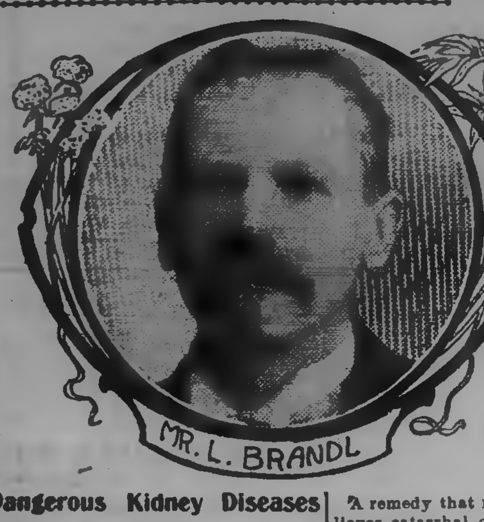
Prominent Persons Who Have Been Cured.

Mr. J. Blyler, 1505 Ohio street, Des Moines, Ia., writes:

"I wish to state my appreciation of your excellent remedy.

"I have always enjoyed excellent health, except frequent and painful attacks of bladder trouble, which doctors failed to relieve or cure.

"Upon recommendation I used Peruna to my utter satisfaction, not having had an attack now for four or five years."—J. Blyler.



Catarrh of Kidneys Caused Much Suffering.

Mr. Leopold Brandl, 246 Bleecker street. Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I was sick three months with catarrh of the kidneys and lungs. I was treated by my home physician and relieved to some extent, but after I had worked again for two weeks, my old suffering—backache and pains in the right lung—returned. The dreadful cough which bothered me day and night lasted six months and no one could help me.

"I tried three different patent medicines, without avail. I could scarcely eat anything and slept only a few hours each night.

"A friend told me to take Peruna. I did so and the second day my appetite had improved. I took a teaspoonful of Peruna every hour, day and night, for three weeks. Now I have taken five bottles. I can eat enough for two people and am able to sleep well.

"Whenever I meet a sick person, I advise him to take Peruna. I thank you a thousand times for your medicine, as it was the only remedy that saved me. We continue to keep it in our family."—Leopold Brandl.

Dangerous Kidney Diseases Cured.

WHEN the kidneys become affected by catarrh, either from colds, overwork, or an extension of catarrh from some other organ, they fail to perform their normal functions.

It is the work of the kidneys to excrete from the blood many of the poisons which accumulate in the body.

If the kidneys fail in their work, the poisons accumulate to such an extent as to cause convulsions, which often prove fatal.

Peruna, by relieving the kidneys of their congested and catarrhal conditions, leaves them free to act in a normal manner.

It also strengthens the action of the heart, equalising the circulation of the blood in all parts of the system.

A remedy that relieves catarrhal derangements of the kidneys should certainly be considered a household remedy. Peruna is such a remedy.

High Commendation For Pe-ru-na.

Mr. C. B. Fizer, Mt. Sterling, Ky., writes:

"I have suffered with kidney and bladder trouble for ten years past.

"Last March I commenced using your Peruna and continued for three months.

"I have not used it since, nor have I felt a pain.

"I believe that I am well and I therefore give my highest commendation to the curative qualities of Peruna."

Neglected catarrh of the kidneys is apt to develop into Bright's Disease or diabetes, when a cure is almost an impossibility.

We have on file many testimonials like the ones given here.

We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements we are receiving every month.

No other physician in the world has received such a volume of enthusiastic letters of thanks as Dr. Hartman for Peruna.

Peterborough's Position as Great Manufacturing Centre

Stands Seventh Among the Cities of the Dominion—Value Totalled Nearly $12,000,000 in 1905—While in 1900 Amount Was Less Than $4,000,000—Most Remarkable Expansion.

Special to the Review.

Ottawa, June 5th.—The census report of the total value of manufactured products of the towns and cities in Canada, having a population of 1,500 and over in 1901 and 1906, for the calendar years 1900 and 1905 was issued today and shows Peterborough to be in the proud position of being seventh in the list in Canada. Only Montreal, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Winnipeg and London lead it in point of value.

The report from Peterborough is really surprising. In 1901 the value was $3,789,164; in 1906 it was $11,566,805. The total for Canada rose from $481,053,375 to $712,664,835 and for Ontario $241,533,486 to $365,692,144.

Management of House of Refuge is Satisfactory

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Having visited the House of Refuge, I beg to state to the public what fell beneath my observation while there. In the first place, the inmates are apparently contented and seem willing to do any small amount of work allotted to them. The superintendent is very considerate of their several abilities to perform certain kinds of work, and uses good judgment, not only in his treatment of the old men, but has his work on the farm apace with the weather, and all stock in good condition. He is now undertaking, at the instance of the Board of Management, the levelling of grounds, which, if he can carry out as he hopes to, will mean a saving of many dollars to the county. On the other hand, the female inmates are not as a body able to perform as much work as the male inmates, which, of course, necessitates more attention of the matron, and I must say, as I have on former occasions, that no greater care and tenderness could be administered by the nearest relative. I might say also that the council during the June session intend making provision for the admittance from the city of the poor and old that have not such place provided for them due to lack of room in the institutions of the proper kind in the city.

Thanking you for space,
I remain yours, etc.,
ED. M. ELLIOTT,
County Treasurer.

PRICE OF HAY IS GOING UP

Baled Hay Sells at $18 per Ton and Loose Hay at $15—None to Buy

Hay is very scarce in Ontario, and the price is advancing rapidly. Ald. R. H. Leary returned last night from Enterprise, where he spent two days trying to puchase pressed hay. That district is one of the best in Eastern Ontario for hay, and usually there is any quantity of it. But on this trip Mr. Leary was able to get only fifty tons of baled hay, and he says the dealers are pretty well cleaned out. American buyers have invaded the district and bought up all they could get hold of.

This is a very gloomy outlook for city people who have horses. The farmers are able to put their stock out to pasture, and the situation so far as they are concerned, is relieved. But the people in the city have to pay $15 per ton for loose hay on the market, and 90c a hundred or $18 a ton for baled hay. There is very little hay left in the barns, around here and the price will not come down a cent until the new hay comes in. This will not be for several weeks yet on account of the late season.

Foresters Held Church Parade

Approaching Wedding—Regular Band Concerts—Stagnant Water Complaint

Lakefield, June 5.—Mrs. Tothill, who has been spending a few weeks with Mrs. Dela Fosse, returned to Kingston on Monday last.

The Foresters had their annual church parade to the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning last accompanied by the Citizens' Band. A most eloquent and appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. S. S. Burns, pastor of the church.

The Misses Lefevre, accompanied by Mr. W. Grieve were in Peterborough yesterday.

The marriage of Mr. T. B. Marling of Upper Canada College, Toronto to Miss H LeFevre, daughter of Mr. H J LeFevre, of this place will be solemnized on Wednesday, June 26th. Mr Marling has accepted the position of assistant master at the Grove school and his advent in Lakefield as a benedict will be cordially welcomed by his many old friends.

Mrs Butchart, who has been away for some time at Owen Sound, visiting friends and relatives, returned home a few days since.

Mrs Tate enters into residence in her new house on Queen street on Wednesday, June 5th.

Mr R. C. Strickland, accompanied by Mr W. H. Casement, went up to his cottage at Burleigh for two or three days' outing on Tuesday last.

Miss Penny, who has been spending some time at Haileybury, arrived in the village on Tuesday last on a visit to Mr and Mrs Dela Fosse.

Mr. Atwood and Miss Florence Atwood were in Peterborough Tuesday last.

Some indignation has been expressed in the village at the letter which appeared in the Review and the Lakefield News last week, signed "Northern Light." What "Northern Light" said, however, was quite true, and it appears to us that if the local authorities are unable to move in the matter, the Provincial Board of Health should be made acquainted with the true state of affairs. People living in the cottages on which the stagnant water stands are faced with a constant menace to their health. Where the fault lies we are unable to say, but wherever it is one thing is sure, that no individual or group of individuals have a right to endanger the public health by allowing such a state of affairs to exist in the village limits.

The band stand in the village square has been completed, and the residents will now be regaled once a week by open air concerts by the Citizens' Band.

For the benefit of such of our Peterborough friends as would like to drive out on a quiet evening and listen to the music we may add that Tuesday of each week has been decided on for the concerts.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayward and Miss Hayward, of Cobourg, who were welcome visitors in Lakefield during the past winter, are again here, staying at the Commercial House. Mr. and Mrs. Hayward intend, in a few days, to go to Stony Lake for the summer.

Mrs Mackenzie is, we are glad to say, recovering from her recent accident.

Lakefield is certainly progressing rapidly but, in its progress, there are certain drawbacks. About every other week a gang of telephone men come in to put in fresh wires. We are glad to see them as they are always courteous, obliging and genial. But they have an unhappy faculty, which they certainly cannot help in the pursuit of their duties, of putting local wires out of gear, this drawback has been productive of more profanity during the past year than could possibly have been produced by any other cause.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

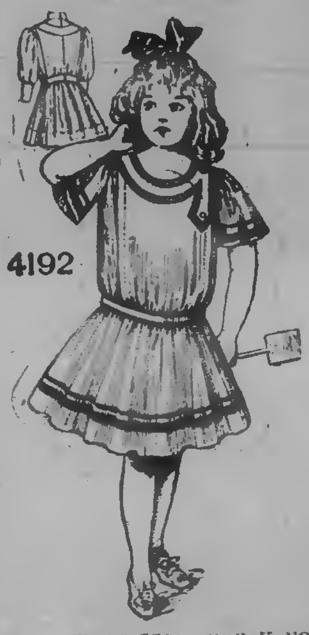
The Fire, Water and Light Committee will likely be called tomorrow night, when several questions will be considered, including the report from the firemen, in reference to the opening of the fire hall. The committee may also take up the matter of new uniforms for the brigade.

TABLETS FOUND

A bottle of tablets was found on the street this afternoon and left at the Review office. The owner may have the tablets by calling. If any person else is indisposed and would care to experiment with the little brown things, there is no doubt such a one would be greatly assisted if not entirely cured.

ADVERTISING THE CITY.

A meeting of the Manufacturers Committee, was called for this afternoon, when the proposition of the Colonial Weaving Co. was taken up. It was also expected that the scheme for advertising Peterborough as a manufacturing centre would be taken up. It will be remembered that last year the committee started a scheme which was not completed. This year an additional appropriation was made and the work can now be proceeded with.



4192.—A PRACTICAL FROCK FOR SUMMER WEAR.

A style of dress which adapted to changes is always more valuable than one which must be in one mode only. Here is shown a dress which may be finished in low round neck and long sleeves for any season. The waist with its tucks at either side is attached to the skirt by a narrow belt and closes in back. The fanciful trimming band which finishes the yoke on neck edge may be of a contrasting fabric or not as desired. The tub fabrics as well as cloths are suitable to this style of dress. The medium size calls for 2 yards of 44 inch material.

4192.—8 sizes, 3 to 10 years.

Mr. Lendrum Relieved of Three Cameras—Loss is About a Hundred Dollars

A daring robbery was committed sometime during last night and as a result the burglars succeeded in getting away with a considerable amount of goods. The store which was ransacked was Mr. W. G. Lendrum's photograph gallery, on Charlotte street, and the loss is estimated at about one hundred dollars

This morning, shortly after eight o'clock, when Mr. Lendrum went to unlock the door he was very much surprised to find that it had already been opened. He then entered the store and upon looking around to see if there was anything missing he found that there had been a robbery and that there were three cameras and a number of films missing. They were "Ansco" cameras. There was one four by five inches, and the other two were three and a quarter by four and a quarter inches. The largest one is valued at $18.50 and the other two were worth $14.50 each. There were numerous films taken, and the prices of these differ. The burglars must have had a key to the front door, as Mr. Lendrum states he locked it when he left last night. To make sure that it was locked, he returned the second time and tried it.

The police have been informed of the affair, but there is little if any clue for them to work on

German Visitors in Peterborough

Invetigating Canadian Machine Telephone—Were Well Pealsed With it.

Messrs. Frantz Gutzmann and Schnvesky, of Berlin, Germany, and E. Feyerabend, of Hamburg, were in the city last night. These gentlemen are distinguished personages in the German Government and have been touring the United States and Canada for the purpose of studying the American and Canadian systems of telephoning. They are especially interested in the automatic system. They examined the local plant of the Machine Telephone Co. last night and were favorably impressed. They have been travelling for some time and leave shortly for Germany where they will report to the Government the information they have secured.

Peterborough must certainly be widely known, when the German Government, having heard of its system of telephoning would send gentlemen out here to study it.

Lady Bagot Suing For Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

London, June 6.—Lady Bagot's suit against her husband, Lord Bagot of Rugeley, for restitution of her conjugal rights, will be heard in the divorce court at the end of this week.

Lady Bagot, who was Miss Lillian May, a great belle of Baltimore, was married less than four years ago.

A daughter was born to them in London on New Year's Day, 1906. Father Bernard Vaughan christened the little one Barbara.

Soon after the christening Lord Bagot, who had been ill for some time, separated himself entirely from his wife. He has allowed her an income of about $4,000 a year. Lady Bagot, claiming the amount is not sufficient to support herself and her daughter, brought the present suit, which society regards as of the highest importance.

BIGAMIST GETS TWO YEARS.

Committed Perjury In Order to Get Necessary License.

Toronto, June 6.—Franklin J. Harrison, found guilty of bigamy and perjury, was sentenced by Judge Winchester yesterday to two years in Kingston Penitentiary. He is in poor health and his counsel, Mr. Robinette, pleaded for a mitigation of the sentence.

Harrison is 52 years of age, and his home is in Buffalo. He had been married two or three times, but as a bachelor wedded Annie Ballantyne in Toronto. The first time he crossed the line into Canada she had him arrested. He was acquitted, both by Col. Denison in the police court, and by Judge Winchester of charges of bigamy. His swearing that he was unmarried when he got his last license in Toronto caused him to be convicted of perjury.

Orchard Confesses to Crimes Of Most Appaling Violence

Confessed Assassin Tells His Story in the Box.

Real Name Is Alfred Hansley—Was Born In Ontario—Brought From Penitentiary to Give Evidence—Tells How He Lighted Fuse That Killed Two Men—Counsel Objects to His Testimony.

Boise, Idaho, June 6.—The trial of Wm. D. Haywood, charged with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg was resumed yesterday at 10 a. m.

K. M. Brunzell of Nampa, a hotel-keeper, was the first witness. He testified as to the presence of Orchard and Simpkins in Nampa in 1905.

A. Tinkey, another hotel keeper of Silver City, Idaho, identified a register to show the presence of Simpkins at Silver City on November 8, 1905.

C. H. Wentz, bookkeeper for a mining company at Wardner, Idaho, identified a photograph of Simpkins and his handwriting on the register.

Guy Wright, of Nampa, testified that he met Orchard and Simpkins at Caldwell in the fall of 1905.

Orchard Takes Stand.

Orchard was called to the stand at 9.42 o'clock. Mr. Hawley at once began his direct examination. Orchard said that he had been held on a charge of murder since January 1, 1906. He said he was born in Ontario and had been known as Orchard for 11 years. His real name was Alfred Hansley.

He became a member of the Western Federation of Miners in 1899 while at work as a mucker at a mine in Burke.

Mr. Hawley took Orchard through a close examination, taking up the Coeur d'Alene mining troubles in 1899. It was at Wardner the first trouble occurred.

Two of the Murders.

The defence objected to the introduction of this evidence, as having no bearing on the case against Haywood.

Judge Wood admitted the testimony, saying "The court could easily see it might be important."

Orchard proceeded in narrative form to tell how he lighted one of the fuses that blew up the concentrator at Wardner in April, 1899, when two men were killed. The defence objected continually. Orchard evidently avoided Haywood's glances as he testified.

Born In Northumberland.

"I was born in Northumberland County, Canada, in 1866," said Orchard, "and am therefore 41 years old. Harry Orchard is not my true name. I have gone by that name for about eleven years. My true name is Alfred Horsley. I came to the United States in 1896, first to Spokane, where I remained a week. I went to Wallace, Idaho, in March or April, 1896. I first worked for Markel Brothers, driving a milk wagon, and remained there until about Christmas, 1896. I then went to a wood and coal yard in Burke, Idaho, and was engaged in that business until the spring of 1899, and on my own account for two years. In 1898 I sold a half interest in the business to Mr. McAlpine. My business in Canada was making cheese."

Union to Hang Superintendent.

"On the morning of April 29, 1899, when I got through breakfast, I was told there was a special meeting of the Miners' Union and everybody was expected to be present. I went to the meeting."

Mr. Richardson objected again and was overruled.

"The meeting was called to order," continued Orchard, "by the secretary, who said it had been decided that day to go to Wardner to bow up the mill at the Sullivan and Bunker Hill mines, and to hang the superintendent."

Orchard Leaves the Pen.

Boise, Idaho, June 6.—Harry Orchard, the self-confessed murderer of former Governor Steunenberg, and who was on the stand yesterday to give testimony in the case against William D. Haywood, was brought into Boise Monday evening from the Idaho Penitentiary. For some hours he was closeted with the attorneys for the prosecution. This is the first time that Orchard has been out of the penitentiary since he was brought from Caldwell immediately after the assassination of the former Governor.

Notwithstanding the report of possible violence to Orchard on the part of friends of Haywood, he was surrounded with but little precaution on the drive into the city. Orchard is looking well and shows little apprehension of the ordeal he will be called upon to face while he is on the stand.

Newspaper Publishers Arrested.

Chicago, June 6.—Eight representatives of four of the Chicago papers have been arrested on charges of conspiracy. It is alleged that in an effort to raise the price of Sunday editions from 5 cents to 7 cents, they threatened to cut off supplies to newsdealers who handled another journal that didn't agree to the increase.

Boy Killed By Lightning.

Kingston, June 6.—During yesterday's storm a lad named Heaney, the 15-year-old son of John Heaney, Cushendall, was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

The unfortunate boy was working outside the farm-house when the bolt struck him.

Official Gets Three Months.

Berlin, June 6.—Herr Poeplau, formerly an official of the Foreign Office, has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for giving information concerning the colonial administration to Herr Erzberger, a member of the Reichstag.

Lady Killed By Express.

Petrolea, Ont., June 6.—While standing at the M.C.R. crossing yesterday evening, Mrs. Barr was knocked down and killed by the evening express. She was talking with her companion and did not notice the train approach.

Sawmill Burned.

Wooler, Ont., June 6.—H. C. McCall's saw and planing mill was destroyed by fire here Tuesday. Several surrounding buildings were threatened, and had it not been for the good work of the volunteer fire brigade, a more disastrous conflagration would no doubt have resulted. Mr. McCall carried no insurance, and his loss will be great.

SEARCHLIGHT ON JUSTICE.

Attorney-General to Be Asked to Investigate Orangeville Case.

Orangeville, June 6.—The feeling of resentment over the result of the Jackson and Douglas cases has bubbled over, and the town council have unanimously resolved to make a direct appeal to the Attorney-General of the province.

The council appointed a committee of three to visit the Attorney-General and demand a searching investigation into the circumstances surrounding the trial of Jackson, the laundryman, and A. C. Douglas, both of whom were brought to trial in connection with the death, in July last, of Elizabeth Wells, and both of whom escaped scot free. The committee includes James Lynn, James Armstrong, warden and reeve, and Thomas Henderson.

The committee was given authority to formulate any charges necessary against officials, and they have prepared charges against at least two local officials, and have and are collecting evidence to substantiate these allegations. In addition, other old sores may be opened up, and the effect of the attempt to add another to the list of manipulated cases that have staggered this community will be to cause an investigation into the administration of justice here for the past 15 or 16 years.

The committee will go to Toronto early next week, in all probability. In the meantime it is probable that a public meeting will be held to give voice to opinions prevalent here.

MURDERERS BEING TRACED.

Detectives Looking for Them at Various Seaports.

Quebec, June 6.—Local police report that several American detectives are looking up a clue to the supposed murderers of Armenian Father Kaspar, believed to be in hiding, awaiting a steamer for Europe.

The Armenian colony here is believed to be loyally aiding the detectives, though the murderers are said to be traced to this neighborhood.

Pinkertons In St. John.

St. John, N. B., June 6.—Several Pinkerton detectives are in the city looking for the murderers of Father Kaspar, the Armenian priest, who was killed some days ago in New York, and whose body was found in a trunk which had been concealed in a lodging house.

Other parts of the province are also being watched.

BOY SHOOTS FRIEND.

Playing With Revolver Robert Scott Injures Companion.

Toronto, June 6.—Robert Scott, 13 years of age, shot his companion, Verney Mackie, in the calf of the right leg with a revolver. The lads were playing about a lane at 7.30 o'clock last night, and the shooting is thought to have been the result of an accident.

The injured boy was removed to his home, where Dr. W. C. Heggie dressed the wound. The bullet had passed clear through the leg. The injury is not serious.

Scott was much frightened at his act, and did not return to his home. At an early hour this morning he had not been located.

BIG FIRE IN UTICA.

Factories Burned and Railway Station In Danger.

Utica, N.Y., June 6.—Fire broke out in the elevator shaft of the Smith Table Company plant at Mohawk yesterday morning and is estimated to have caused about $100,000 damage before it was gotten under control. The table factory, the Bellinger box factory, and several smaller concerns and stores were destroyed. Both telephone stations are burned out, electric car cables are down, and the fire companies which have been secured to assist from other towns have had hard work to save railroad depot and freight shed.

NEW STEAMSHIP SERVICE.

British Capital Backs Line From 'Frisco to Australia.

New York, June 6.—A British steamship service is about to be started between San Francisco and Australasia, to take the place of the American Oceanic Line, which recently went out of operation. The first ship of the new service will sail on August 1. The new service, which is to be called the Australian Mail Line, is backed by the British shipping firm of Andrew Weir and Company, of London and Glasgow. A regular monthly service will be maintained.

Many Galicians Arrive.

Winnipeg, June 6.—The largest number of Galicians to come to western Canada at any one time arrived on two special immigration trains yesterday afternoon. The first train arrived at 1.10 o'clock, and the second half an hour later. There were 1,340 Galicians and 170 other nationalities. These latter, however, were hardly observed among the mob of Galicians, attired in their short sheepskin coats, with their bags strapped over their backs.

Most of the men were accompanied by their wives and children.

Last night 140 British and 80 French arrived.

Too Much Gambling.

Hanover, Prussia, June 6.—Owing to the recent gambling revelations, six officers, who were attending the Military Riding Institute, have been sent back to their regiments, a number of others have been ordered to their rooms under arrest, and all the others attending the institute, which is the most famous riding academy of the German army, have been forbidden to go to the best known hotels.

Canadian Nurses Best.

Ottawa, June 6.—Speaking at a graduation of hospital nurses at St. Luke's Hospital, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux told the audience that while in Washington President Roosevelt had said to him that of all nurses in the Washington hospitals, Canadian nurses were regarded as the best.

The postal department has reduced the price of one cent wrappers for newspapers from $12.50 per thousand to $12.

CZAR'S GUARDS MUTINY

Revolt of Squadron of Hussars at Tsarskoe-Selo.

Too Strict Discipline Was Cause of the Outbreak—Mutineers Disarmed By Other Troops—Ringleaders to Be Tried—Disloyalty Not a Factor—Rebellion was Not In Any Way Political.

St. Petersburg, June 6.—The Fourth Squadron of the Hussars of the Guard, stationed at Tsarskoe-Selo to which the imperial family had removed, revolted yesterday against the strict discipline which recently had been instituted by a new commander.

The trouble for a time threatened to spread through the entire regiment, but the mutinous troops were promptly surrounded and disarmed by other troops and order was restored without bloodshed. The ringleaders have already been turned over to a court-martial.

The news of the mutiny at Tsarskoe-Selo was received during Foreign Minister Iswolsky's weekly reception of the diplomats and caused considerable apprehension, the first news reporting the affair to be far more serious than the revolt of the soldiers of the Preobrajensky Regiment, in June, 1906.

The officers of the Hussar Regiment say that the outbreak was not political.

'FRISCO QUAKES AGAIN.

Shocks Also Felt In Ecuador and the Pyrenees.

San Francisco, June 6.—An earthquake shock lasting about 10 seconds was felt here at 12.27 yesterday morning. The oscillation was from the north to south.

No damage has been reported.

In Ecuador.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, June 6.—Two earthquakes were felt here at about 10 o'clock Tuesday night.

The first was slight, and the second, which last 25 seconds, was violent and made many families abandon their houses and remain in the streets for several hours.

In Pyrenees.

Pau, France, June 6.—A slight earthquake was felt in the Oloron region of the lower Pyrenees yesterday. No damage was done.

SETTLE IT BY LAW.

Suit Will Be Entered as Result of Jap Outrages.

Washington, June 6.—The Japanese trouble in San Francisco probably will be settled by a recourse to the law.

Information has been received here to the effect that the Japanese consul-general there is contemplating bringing suit against the city for damages incurred by the owners of the Horseshoe Restaurant and the Folsom Bathhouse, from the attack by a mob on May 29 last.

The action, if brought, will be under the state law and in the name of the owners of the places wrecked.

BOY DROWNED IN POND.

Playing With Sister Missed Footing and Lost Life.

Port Hope, June 6.—Herbert H. Taylor, the two-year-old son of Hirst Taylor, proprietor of the Hope Woollen Mills at Garden Hill, 10 miles north of here, was drowned yesterday afternoon in the stream near the mills. The little fellow was playing around the bank with his sister, when he missed his footing and fell into the pond. The body was promptly recovered, but all efforts to resuscitate it were without avail.

This is the first drowning accident at Garden Hill since it was settled about eighty years ago.

Can't Get Presents Back.

Windsor, June 6.—Judge Clement has decided that George Murray, a young man of this city, had no cause of action against a young woman against whom Murray brought suit to recover $44 worth of presents given her during their courtship, which ended in a quarrel.

The judge held that the girl is under age, and the fact that she wrote a letter, offering a reconciliation at the time of the quarrel was sufficient to show that she was willing to carry out her promise to marry Murray.

Sick of Orange River.

London, June 6.—At the meeting of the Rhodesian Co., Col. Weston Jarvis stated that he had received a letter from an Orange River Colony farmer to the effect that his sons and a group of other young Britishers were thinking of throwing up the results of their industry there in consequence of the political outlook.

Unless they go to Canada he (Jarvis) is going to try to get them to go to Rhodesia.

Encounters With Rebels.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, June 6.—It was officially announced yesterday that the Government troops had two encounters Tuesday with the main body of rebels, who fled to the heights betwen Ambate and La Tacunga.

It is generally believed here that the revolutionary movement will soon be crushed.

Young Brother Confesses.

Belleville, June 6.—William, George and Tracey Belch of this city were arrested, charged with stealing from a G. T. R. freight car.

Sanley Belch, a younger brother, acknowledged that he and his brothers did the stealing.

The prisoners were remanded.

Burned by Molten Metal.

Birmingham, Ala., June 6.—An electric car crashed into a train loaded with 15 tons of molten metal at North Birmingham early yesterday, overturning the pots on the car, which was entirely consumed, fatally burning two men.

The Bay of Quinte Conference of the Methodist church opened at Bowmanville yesterday.

No Insult Intended.

A London exquisite had gone into a west end restaurant and was far from pleased with the way in which his order was filled.

"Do you call that a veal cutlet?" he demanded of the waiter. "Why, such a cutlet as that is an insult to every self respecting calf in the British empire."

The waiter hung his head for a moment, but recovered himself and said in a tone of respectful apology:

"I really didn't intend to insult you, sir!"—London Answers.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

The bronze clock on the marble pedestal, in the alcove of the corridor, was almost on the stroke of eight as Bernard Chesleigh, followed by the general, hastened toward Reine's boudoir, surrounded by a group of merry bridemaids. How tall, handsome, and noble he looked! —a man any woman might have given her love to, and been proud of him.

Many a wistful, girlish glance followed the manly figure as he hurried down the corridor.

Gently he tapped at the boudoir door. Mrs. Dent opened it, standing back as she saw the handsome bridegroom standing flushed and expectant there, and the general following closely behind him.

"Is Reine quite ready?" he asked, pausing bashfully upon the threshold and gazing past her, eagerly, around the pretty pink and gold jewel case of a room. "It will be quite eight by the time we reach the reception room. I fear the guests are becoming impatient already," he said smilingly.

"Dear me," cried Mrs. Dent, gathering up the fragrant bouquet Reine had laid down, "how time flies! I did not dream it was so near time for the ceremony."

She disappeared quickly within the lace-draped inner apartment.

"Dear me!" she ejaculated in affright, noting the wind blowing against the banging velvet curtain. "If that child isn't standing at the open window yet; because I happened to forget her."

"Reine! Reine!" she cried. "Here is Mr. Chesleigh waiting for you. It's time for you to go down now. The clock is chiming eight, and the musicians are striking up the wedding march."

By this time she had reached the window and drew back the heavy crimson hangings.

But no white-robed form was there. The window still stood open, and the night wind blew into her white, startled face.

"Reine!" she cried in alarm, glancing about the room, then out onto the balcony. No Reine was there.

A cold horror fell upon her as she stood quite still in the young bride's deserted boudoir—a cold, awful terror that made her heart beat wildly. She looked carefully around the pretty white chamber. Perhaps roguish Reine was up to some girlish prank to frighten her.

"Reine!" she called again, in a weak, unsteady voice, waiting breathlessly for an answer. None came.

The tapping of the ~~ivy~~ against the casement was the only sound that broke the awful silence.

"Merciful Heaven!" she cried. "Am I dreaming or am I mad? Where is she gone?"

There was no sign of disarray. The fur wrap, which she would not have about her, lay on the arm-chair where she had tossed it. The light from the silver lamp fell upon the jewel case and the diamond necklace which reposed upon its velvet cushion.

She walked back to the boudior where the handsome bridegroom and the young bride's father awaited her, with unsteady steps and an ashen face.

Bernard Chesleigh started back, and the eager smile faded from his face; he had expected to see her leading by the hand his bonnie, beautiful bride.

She hurried past him and went up to the general, laying her shaking hand on his arm.

"General Hastings," she whispered, hoarsely. "I am frightened. Fifteen minutes ago I left your daughter standing by yonder window, dressed and ready for the ceremony, all save the diamonds and her bouquet. Now, the room is empty. She is not there. The window is open, but she is not on the balcony."

Bernard Chesleigh stood quite still and motionless. But the general pushed past him toward his daughter's room, followed by the frightened housekeeper. There was a terrible fear in his heart that he could not—dare not—shape into words.

CHAPTER IX.

With a white face, the general gazed breathlessly around the pretty room. No, she was not there. Loving voices called her, loving eyes searched for her—all in vain. Reine was not there.

"Chesleigh," cried the old general, "she is not here. Lock the door, to keep every one out, for they must not know. You and I will search the grounds for her."

Their eyes met. Then both turned away, sick with a terrible foreboding. They sprang through the open window, and went out into the grounds together, one taking the circuitous path that encircled the ground to the right; the other took the path to the left.

Not a servant was summoned. Merriment was at its height in the grand parlors and spacious drawing-rooms. No one must know. The time for the ceremony to begin was quite due. The minister stood in waiting, yet no one thought of hurrying the bridal pair that were soon to stand beneath the floral bell.

The moments dragged slowly by. Ten minutes passed—fifteen—then another ten.

There were no signs of the bridal party, and the minister, to appease the eager, expectant guests, sent up to see if the bride and groom would be ready shortly.

The bevy of bridesmaids stood in the corridor.

The door had been locked since the general and Bernard Chesleigh had passed into Reine's boudoir, they said, and no amount of tapping on the door brought so much as a word in response; and instead of laughing voices from within, not so much as a sound could be heard. It was indeed strange. Gertie Traverse had called Reine twice; but at length it was Mrs. Dent, the housekeeper, who had answered, begging her to tell the minister and guests below not to be impatient if a little more time for preparation was being given the bride.

So the mirth went on below, while the two white-faced men searched the grounds about the villa.

Carefully they searched every inch of the spacious park, meeting at last, beneath the identical fir tree beneath which Reine had sat.

The anxious old housekeeper, with eyes swollen with weeping, had followed them.

The general and the white-faced bridegroom looked into each other's eyes for a moment, and their terrible fear found vent in words as the whole sense of their calamity rushed over them.

"She has fled from me rather than marry me, general," he said hoarsely. "I might have foreseen this. She never loved me. When the last moment came she chose to face the cold, pitiless world rather than link her life with mine. Reine!" he cried, sinking down on the self-same bench and covering his face with his trembling hands—oh, little Reine!—if you had but told me, and spared me this!"

He was mad with wounded love, outraged honor, with sorrow and despair; yet he loved her too well to utter one word against her who had betrayed him so cruelly.

The general held up his hands with a passionate gesture.

"I will not believe that my Reine fled from you," he cried. "Something tells me we are misjudging her. Mrs. Dent tells us she was dressed and ready in her bridal robes fifteen minutes before the ceremony was to have been performed. If she had not intended to have wedded you, why need she have taken the pains of dressing? She would have fled in ordinary clothes hours before."

"She has not even taken her wraps with her. Mrs. Dent says," he went on, excitedly. "No, no, Chesleigh, as sure as you and I stand here, she intended wedding you to-night."

"Have you any suspicion of foul play?" asked Bernard Chesleigh, hoarsely—"any thought that she has been spirited away—abducted?" And as he spoke his eyes rested upon the ivy-covered walls of Waldron Towers, looming up darkly before him on a far off hill.

The greatest consternation prevailed when the announcement was made to the shocked guests that no marriage would take place; that the bride, robed in her bridal dress, had suddenly disappeared.

They did not know which to pity most, the white-haired old father or the handsome, pallid bridegroom, as the words fell from the minister's lips, and when he gravely voiced the father's grave fears, "that foul play had been done, if she had not wandered unconsciously away under temporary mental excitement."

Scouting parties were made up instantly; alarms were sent out; couriers scoured the country in all directions; telegrams were sent to all the near stations detailing the case. Was little Reine in peril? Who could stop to rest while her fate was clouded in such dark and terrible mystery!

Noiselessly the guests had taken their departure, and a gloom that was not destined to be lessened for many a long and weary day settled over Fairlawn Villa.

As the gray dawn broke over the hills and vales of Virginia the searching parties came in one by one without tidings. If the snow-clad earth had opened and swallowed her Reine Hastings could not have vanished more completely from their sight, leaving no trace, no clew, behind her.

The whole country about was aroused and joined in the search, headed by Bernard Chesleigh and the white-haired old general.

They could neither rest or sleep until some trace, some tidings of Reine could be found. A day passed; another night; and yet another day was born. But no trace of the missing bride could be found.

Servants went about Fairlawn Villa with noiseless footsteps and spoke in whispers. It almost seemed as if the general's lovely young daughter lay dead within those walls, the sorrowing for her was so bitter and so terrible.

What Bernard Chesleigh suffered no one will ever know. Lines of care and grief furrowed his grave, handsome face.

At the end of the third day an idea had occurred to him. He wondered greatly that he had not put it into execution long before.

He sent to Washington, asking that the cleverest and most successful detective that money could procure should be sent to him without delay.

The story had been printed in the journals of the great capital, and had aroused public sympathy and public interest.

The chief of the great detective bureau responded at once by sending on one of his most expert attaches—a man young as far as years went, but with a very old and fertile brain.

It was the chief's experience that the old detectives generally adopted the same methods for unearthing mysteries—traveling in the old, beaten rut. Young brains were quick and more ingenious.

He put the case in the hands of Donald Gray, who had never lost a case; his success was almost phenomenal. He would unearth the whereabouts of the missing young bride if any one could. He would soon track her down to the doom that had fallen upon her.

Mr. Gray was studying up the case from the printed account in the Washington paper all the way on the train, and was quite familiar with the details when the train slackened before the little depot half a mile from Fairlawn Villa.

There was nothing about the beardless young man's appearance to attract a second glance from a casual observer, and no one noticed him as he alighted from the car and stood for a moment on the platform looking about him.

At length he approached a gentleman who had just alighted from a spirited bay horse.

"Can you tell me, sir," he asked, "if the road to the right leads to the village and on to the suburbs?"

The gentleman started so suddenly forward that the cigar he held in his white fingers fell to the ground. He frowned and answered impatiently:

"It leads through the village, and as far to the right as Fairlawn Villa, then it branches westward to, and beyond Waldron Towers."

A sudden thought came to the young detective—that perhaps the gentleman before him was Bernard Chesleigh—the bridegroom from whom General Hastings' lovely young daughter had fled upon her wedding-night.

If it was, he did not blame her—for there was something in his face that he did not quite like.

He was dressed in the height of fashion; the seal overcoat he wore set off his figure to the best advantage. It was thrown open, revealing a magnificent diamond stud that gleamed like a star of fire on his immaculate shirt front.

He was faultless in appearance, yet the unerring detective did not quite like his looks, and the feeling of dislike grew upon him each moment the stranger stood before him.

He made a bold move.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he said, touching his hat, "may I inquire if you are Mr. Chesleigh?"

"Why do you ask?" retorted the young man, sharply.

"Simply from curiosity. I was wondering if you were the hero of the romance I read of which occurred hereabouts. Again I beg pardon, if my question was impertinent."

His companion laughed harshly, jeeringly, and a malignant light flashed into his slumbrous eyes.

He took a cigar from his pocket and proceeded to light it, striking the match on the sole of his polished boot before he deigned a reply.

"Mistaking me for the discarded bridegroom! That's decidedly rich!" he said, with another laugh. "No, young man, I am not Bernard Chesleigh—I am Waldemar Waldron, of Waldron Towers, which lies in the dense coppice wood about a mile from here."

CHAPTER X.

The detective made his way at once to Fairlawn Villa. He was immediately shown to the library, where Bernard Chesleigh sat with his face buried in his hands.

He placed a chair for his visitor very courteously, although inwardly he was greatly disappointed that so young a man had been sent to him to undertake such a difficult and highly important case; he would have chosen an older man of more experience.

Donald Gray listened very attentively to every minute detail concerning Reine's past.

"Ah! there is an old lover in the case," he ruminated, as they told had sent away long months before, and who had never visited the villim of the suitor whom the general lage since.

What the detective's thoughts were —if he had any—when they told him the name of the lover who had been so summarily dismissed, his face never betrayed.

In the writing-desk in Reine's boudoir Mr. Gray found a packet of letters tied with a violet ribbon. These he took possession of to peruse and study out at his leisure. They were Waldemar Waldron's letters to Reine.

"There shall be no lack of money in aiding you to work out the solution of this mystery, Mr. Gray," the general said to him "I am a man of means. Restore my darling daughter to me, and I will make you a rich man for life."

"I will do my best, sir," returned the young detective, earnestly.

And he did do his best. In less than a week's time he was thoroughly acquanited with every inch of the country for miles about Fairlawn Villa, and had been careful to cultivate the acquaintance of most of the people.

By his direction it was given out that he was a relative of Mrs. Dent, the housekeeper, and was paying her a short visit at Fairlawn Villa. No one would have dreamed that the beardless, boyish young fellow so bashful in appearance, was in reality one of the keenest and shrewdest detectives on the Washington force.

A week had passed since he had come to Fairlawn, and, for the first time in his life, he was completely baffled. The mystery which shrouded in deepest gloom the mysterious disappearance of beautiful Reine on her wedding night was as impenetrable as ever.

Each ingenious device for getting on the trail had turned out an ignominious failure.

One idea fixed itself firmly in the detective's mind, however. If Miss Hastings had contemplated flight or suicide—if it came to the worst—she would not have been likely to robe herself in her bridal dress and linger there until within a few short moments of the time for the ceremony to begin.

He had taken her picture from the album and carried it about in his pocket, studying the lovely, laughing face so well that he knew every feature by heart.

There was something peculiar about the saucy, smiling mouth and deep, pansy-blue eyes, and about the whole contour of the lovely, dimpled face, framed in its sheen of golden curls, that told him he would recognize the original instantly on sight if he ever beheld her.

The failure which met his every effort to trace Reine was a bitter blow to the young detective. He knew his reputation was at stake—for it was a great honor to be selected for so great a case; and last, but by no means least, he knew if success crowned his efforts he would receive as handsome an amount as the most experienced man on the force could have commanded. Ability could not be justly measured by age or experience. He spent most of the time out of doors—daily, hourly hoping, Micawber like, that something would turn up that might give him some kind of a clew.

He had haunted the groves and glens surrounding Waldron Towers, and on one of these rambles he had come face to face with its handsome, fair-haired owner.

Waldemar Waldron eyed the young stranger curiously, a brilliant idea occurring to him the while. Why not sound this youth who was stopping at Fairlawn Villa, and learn from him what the inmates were about, and what they thought and talked about concerning the disappearance of the general's daughter.

Waldemar Waldron possessed the unusual quality of making himself agreeably fascinating to men as well as to women when he chose.

He greeted the young stranger cordially enough, and as the days passed on it was no unusual thing for Donald Gray to find himself in Waldron's company. He smiled at the ingenious way in which his new-found friend plied him with questions, in roundabout ways which were certainly unique. His replies were wary enough. He always managed to rouse Waldemar's curiosity from day to day, and leave him when apparently on the point of making some disclosure.

A laugh, that was not pleasant to hear, fell from Waldron's lips when the sufferings of Bernard Chesleigh were portrayed to him and he seemed to triumph in the other's misery.

But he spoke never a word, and his brows darkened as he listened to the manner in which the old general met the terrible blow that had fallen upon him. He had said:

"If ill has befallen my darling, let the perpetrators of it beware, for they shall be hounded down, and a vengeance worthy of the mighty sorrow of an outraged and suffering father dealt out to them, just so surely as yonder sun shines.

"But if my child has deserted me of her own free will—ah, well, I cannot curse her—my dead wife's daughter—but I shall never forgive her. She shall never again cross my threshold. I will never again look upon her fair, false face, so help me God! and not a penny of my money shall be hers. I would sooner leave it to the paupers of the alms-house."

Waldemar Waldron frowned still more darkly.

"The general's daughter is his legal and only heir," he said, slowly. "Let him fume and fret as much as he will, she will get it at last, every dollar of it—that is, if she is alive," he added quickly.

"Long and almost endless litigation, together with the fat fees of lawyers, would dwindle the old millionaire's wealth down to a very small sum, I should fancy," retorted young Gray, carelessly; "and especially if he carries out the plan in regard to Bernard Chesleigh that he intends," he added, "his daughter would fare badly."

"What plan?" inquired Waldron eagerly. "What is it he proposes to do?"

"I haven't time to tell you about it now," replied the young detective, apologetically. "The fact is, I must leave you in order to reach Fairlawn Villa in time for tea; they don't like to keep things standing over to oblige 'only the housekeeper's nephew.'"

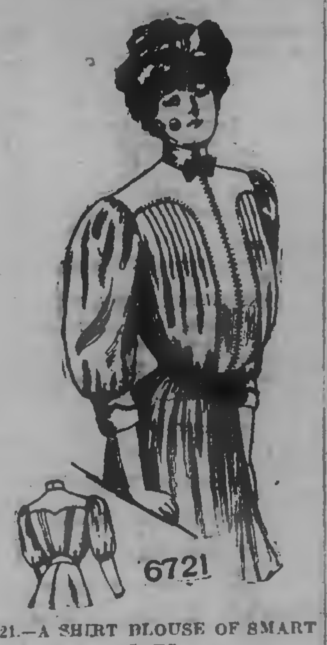
Waldemar Waldron stopped and studied a moment. He must know the general's plan.

"Suppose you come and take tea with me at Waldron Towers," he said, waxing hospitable, "and you shall tell me afterward, over our wine and cigars."

This was the very opening the delighted detective had been longing for—a visit within the walls of Waldron Towers.

To be continued.

THE LATEST DEAN PATTERNS

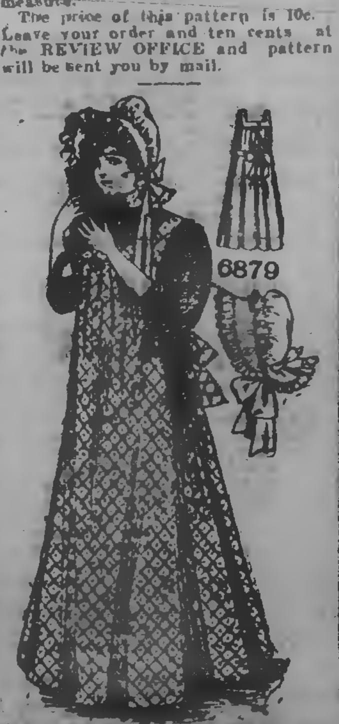


6721.—A SHIRT BLOUSE OF SMART LINES.

Now that the shirt blouse is so necessary to every woman and girl, the designs for this garment must be as varied as possible. A waist which will not fail to please the particular woman has a stole yoke which is completed at each side with tucks of becoming depth. The yoke appears in back and two groups of tucks lend further adornment and tapering lines. Together with the long sleeves those of three-quarter length are also provided for and may be finished with natty little cuffs of the same or a contrasting material. While simple, the waist is one of undeniably good style and for wear with the suit or odd skirt will prove most fetching. Any seasonable fabric may develop it. The medium size calls for 3 1-2 yards of 27 inch material.

6721.—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c. Leave your order and ten cents at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

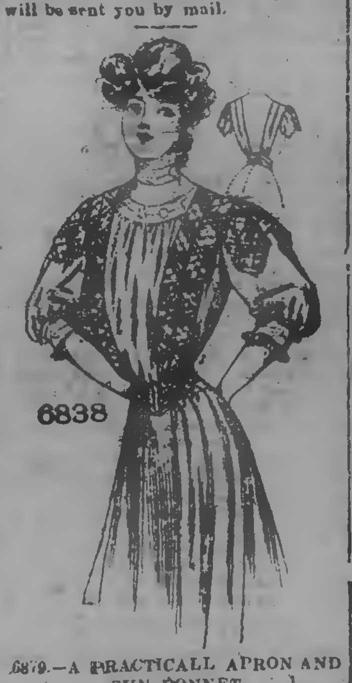


6838.—A PRETTY FASHION FOR DRESSING UP THE SHIRT BLOUSE.

Among the newest fads displayed by the young matrons and girls is the ribbon girdles and bretelles which go on over the shirt blouse and dress it up wonderfully. These accessories which are so easily made and so inexpensive, are most flattering in effect as they invariably broaden the shoulder line and lend taper to the waist. The bretelles shown are broad enough to be shirred a bit on the shoulder and at the belt so as to avoid the tendency to stiffness. The shoulder portions consist of two pointed tabs held together with narrow velvet straps and tiny pearl buttons. Not only ribbon, but soft silks, velvet and satins fabrics are employed in the making of them and whether they be elaborate or plain remains with the owner to decide. These accessories usually match in color the shirt with which they are worn. For the ladies' size 1 yards of ribbons 6 inches wide are needed.

6838.—Sizes, ladies' and misses'.

The price of this pattern is 10c. Leave your order and ten cents at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.



6879.—A PRACTICALL APRON AND SUN BONNET.

Now that the warm days are here and the glorious sunshine is finding its way to every nook and corner, the housewife finds more or less need ing her care out of doors and an apron and sunbonnet which will be just the thing for wearing on such occasions are shown. The apron is very simple, becoming and practicable, the yoke band serving as support for the full skirt portion and little labor being needed for its making or tubing. The sunbonnet is excellent because of the same characteristics the least experienced being able to fashion it. Percale, madras or gingham may serve as material of which 5 1-2 yards 36 inches wide are needed in the medium size.

6879.—Sizes 32, 36, 40 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c. Leave your order and 10 cents at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

New Hall to be Opened Sunday

Cold Springs Sunday School Hall Has Been Completed

Cold Springs, June 6. —The handsome new Union Sunday School at Cold Springs is now completed and will be opened next Sunday. The building of the new school was commenced last March. It is a frame structure, but later on those in charge intend having it bricked. There is a large school room with a nicely fitted up basement. The school house will seat about three hundred and the basement has a kitchen and pantry attached to make everything convenient when teas are being held. The Sunday school will meet at 2.45 on Sunday when Rev. J. R. Webb, of the Murray-st. Baptist church will give an address. On Monday evening a tea and concert will be held.

WEDDING BELLS

STABLER—DUNLOP

A June wedding under delightful auspices took place last night in North Monaghan, when Sadie, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Dunlop was united in marriage to Mr. Nathan E. Stabler in the presence of one hundred guests, by the Rev A H. Brace, of Park Street Baptist church. The drawing room was tastefully decorated for the occasion. Precisely at eight o'clock the bride appeared, leaning on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march. She was a typical bride and looked beautiful gowned in white dotted tulle over white silk drop skirt and bridal veil with orange blossoms; she carried a boquet of white roses and carnations.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Emma, who wore a white Panama suit, and carried pink roses and carnations. The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Roland S Garbutt. The picture was complete when the fairy-like flower girls, dressed in white silk appeared — Marrie Stabler and Eva Payne carrying baskets of gorgeous white roses

The groom's present to the bride was a gold watch and chain and to the bridesmaid a gold chain; to the groomsman a gold locket and to the flower girls gold diamond rings set in pearls.

The bride's presents were very numerous and valuable, that from Mr W A Stabler, father of the groom, being a horse and harness, with a rubber tire runabout.

The guests from a distance were Mr Wm. Dunlop, Bruce County, Mr and Mrs. Andrew Dunlop, Fenelon Falls and Mr. Robt. Graham, Fenelon Falls.

The bride's travelling dress was of heavy blue cloth tailor-made, with picture hat to match.

Mr and Mrs. Stabler will reside in Peterborough, he having purchased the pretty home, 546 Stewart street for their future residence.

McCALL—DIXON

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized last evening at the residence of Miss M. A. Robertson, 397 Reid Street, when Miss Kate Dixon was united in marriage to Mr. Thos. E. McCall of Bridgenorth, son of Mr. Geo. McCall of Mount Forest. Owing to recent bereavement in the family there were no invited guests. The bride has lived with Miss Robertson for several years. She is a very estimable young lady, and is popular in St. Paul's church of which she is a member. The ceremony took place at 5.30 o'clock, in the beautifully decorated drawing room, Rev. Dr. Torrance officiating. The bride entered, leaning on the arm of Mr. John Hutchison, East City, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Dr. Archer of Port Perry.

She was becomingly gowned in grey venetian poplin, trimmed with hand-made embroidery. She carried white carnations and lilies of the valley. The bride and groom were unattended. Little Miss Ethel Fowler acted as flower girl. She looked very pretty in a dress of straw colored silk, trimmed with lace and insertion, and carried a basket of roses.

After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was partaken of, and hearty congratulations bestowed upon the bride and groom. A large number of beautiful and costly presents were received by the bride, testifying to the high esteem in which she is held.

Mr. and Mrs. McCall will reside in Bridgenorth. Mrs. McCall's going-away costume was of navy blue chiffon, broadcloth with cream hat.

PAMMETT—HUSTON

Rev Dr. Torrance officiated at a quiet but pretty wedding last evening, at 7 o'clock, at his residence, when Miss Jennie Huston, only daughter of Mr. Thomas Huston, of Otonabee, became the bride of Mr. U. Pammett, also of Otonabee. The ceremony was performed in the presence of only a few friends of the bride and groom, the wedding supper taking place at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a cream colored dress and a bouquet of lily of the valley. A number of beautiful presents were received by the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Pammett will reside in Otonabee.

WEBSTER—CLARKE

A very pretty wedding took place at 3 p.m., on Wednesday, May 29th, 1907 at "Mapledale," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clarke, of Ennismore, when their eldest daughter, Miss Pearl Augusta Clarke, became the bride of Mr. Thomas James Franklin Webster, of Asphodel. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J H Teney, rector of Emily, in the presence of the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride looked very pretty in a dress of silk crepe de chene, trimmed with white silk ribbon and silk lace and bridal veil with wreath of lilies-of-the-valley. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her going-away gown was dark castor broadcloth trimmed with white lace, with cream hat trimmed with pink roses. The groom wore the conventional black. They were unattended.

The little maid of honor, Cora Clarke, sister of the bride, wore white muslin over pink and carried a basket of pink carnations. The wedding march was played by Miss Gladys E Teney.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a very sumptuous repast, prepared with all the skill of the culinary art.

The wedding presents were very numerous and costly, attesting to the popularity of the bride. Among others, was a purse of gold from the congregation of St. James' church, Emily, where Miss Clarke had officiated as organist for a number of years. The groom's present to the bride was a solid silver tea set, and to the maid of honor, a gold brooch with pearl setting.

The happy couple left the family residence at 6 p.m. to take the C. P.R. train at Peterborough for their home in Norwood. They carry with them the best wishes of a very large circle of friends.—Watchman-Warder.

John McDonald, per cubic yard, 23c.

F. J. Conroy, per cubic yard, 19c.

Former Lindsay Clergyman Speaks on "The New Theology"

In St. Andrew's church, Winnipeg, on Sunday morning, Rev. J. W. MacMillan, formerly of Lindsay, Ont., delivered a third discourse upon "The New Theology." His subject was "The Person of Christ." He said;

"Perhaps the most important question which any of us can ask is;—Who was Jesus Christ? It is the question He set His Disciples on the examination day when He would learn whether they were able to bear the news of His impending death. Whom do you say that I am? In all other religions the teaching is more than the teacher. In the Christian religion the teacher is the more important.

"The true doctrine of the being of God is a preparation for the doctrine of the incarnation. For it reveals the kinship between man and his Maker and shows how congruous a thing it is that Deity should be revealed through humanity. Indeed, long before Christ was born the foremost thought of the world had already discovered that the true interpretation of nature and the universe and human life is to be found in the perfect man. That perfect man the Greeks were unable to discover, but he came in the figure of the Son of Man.

DIVINITY IN MAN

"It is the same divinity which is in every man which is in Jesus. For there are not two kinds of Deity. It is the same spirit which is responsible for every virtue we possess and every conquest won, which was given to Jesus without measure. It is misleading to say that it destroys the reality of Christ's divine nature to admit that it is the same kind of nature which is in any man. Only more so, is a dangerous phrase. Sometimes the 'only' had better be left off. An ocean is the same as a cupful of water but more so. Christ's sinlessness is the same as the monetary sinlessness of any man—or else one or the other is not sinless—but more so. The 'more so' is absolute and almost infinite.

"It is important to hold to the identity of the spiritual birthright of Jesus and all men, in order to preserve the reality of his manhood But there was much in His character besides that. He thought of Himself as the Lord of mankind, whose commands were to be obeyed without question. He thought of Himself as the Judge of mankind, whose word was to settle the eternal destiny of every child of Adam. He thought of Himself as the Life-Giver, able to quicken dead instincts of love and duty into vigorous life And His disciples, within a few years of His death, paid Him divine honors and ascribed to Him all the prerogatives of the Supreme Deity. There is nothing like this anywhere else. Gautama was not apotheosized till centuries after His death. It leaves us with a dilemma on our hands; either He is to be accepted as divine, or we must find some other explanation for this unexampled phenomenon.

CHARACTER OF THE CHURCH

"The chief objections to the doctrine of the divinity of Jesus Christ arise from preconceived notions of the character of God. Some people think of God as a kind of 'immeasurable clergyman,' who must be careful, above all things, not to soil His broadcloth. And some think of Him as a kind of supernatural king who must preserve His carriage and dignity. If the King of England was on a railway train when it was wrecked, what more royal act could be perform than to attempt to save the passengers in danger? Is not the light of earth the pledge of the pity of heaven? And what nobler ideal of the King of Kings can we hold than that He is the Saviour of the needy.

"Similarly the chief objection from the side of unbelief arises from the idea that God is a kind of 'millionaire in worlds,' and must copy His conduct from terrestrial millionaires. It is a view of sectarian prejudice. In any case the incarnation asks no more credulity of those who believe it than does the doctrine that 'all emotion, intellect and will, and all their phenomena, were once latent in a fiery cloud.' But it is not a question, in either case, of antecedent probability. It is a question of evidence. There is no presumption against the Infinite taking trouble to help his finite wards. Man may be but a reed but, as Pascal said, he is a reed that thinks. He is superior to the universe that crushes him, for he knows that he is crushed, whereas the universe knows nothing.

"Yet the doctrine of the Person of Christ is far from being the living truth about Christ. The title-deeds of a piece of property are only a description of its boundaries, and give no notion of what loveliness and fertility may lie within their limits. No one can see the majesty of Niagara or Mount Blanc in the surveyors' account of their limits. So we know Christ rather than know about Him. It is by acquaintanceship rather than comprehension that the blessings of His life reach our souls."

REVIEW LETTER BOX

KIND WORDS SPOKEN

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I desire to draw the attention of the general public to an incident which took place at the Grand Opera House last night. A gentleman who was present at the production of "The Lion and the Mouse," one of the best plays ever seen in this city, by the bye, states that he and some friends, one a stranger, having paid for standing room only, were most courteously invited by Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., to take seats in one of the boxes. Attention to the patrons of the opera house of this nature cannot help but add appreciation to the proprietors and their mode of doing business. As far as the troupe, Mr. Editor, and the respective members thereof are concerned, only words of praise were heard. It certainly was a treat to hear the English language spoken in a way that only cultivated people can speak it.

Thanking you for this space, I remain,

Yours truly,
ONE WHO WAS THERE

MILITARY NOTES

DADDY TAYLOR'S HAND SQUASHED

The many friends of Daddy Taylor, the veteran caretaker of the Customs House block, will regret to learn that he met with a very painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was oiling the gates leading into the court yards, and the high winds blew one closed crushing his fingers very badly. Dr. Young was called and he dressed the wound. No bones were broken although Daddy will be laid up for a week or more.

TENTH Y.M.C.A. BOYS' CAMP.

Many of the Y.M.C.A. boys are already talking and that good and strong about the tenth annual camp at Clear Lake. GROWING WHEAT.

George Cumming, a traveller for the Massey-Harris company, brought into the city on Saturday samples of growing wheat plants from the farm of Russell Ross, one mile east of Emerson. Measurement showed that the plants were seven-and-one-half ins. high, and all appeared in the highest degree strong and vigorous. Mr. Ross has several hundred acres of wheat similar to that of which the sample was shown. The seed was planted during the second week of May. Mr. Cumming has been thirty years in the west and stated that he never saw grain looking better than it does this year.—Winnipeg Free Press.

THE RUMMAGE SALE.

For some days the committee of the Boys' Department have been gathering in rummage for the rummage sale, the proceeds of which will go towards the boys' camp lot fund. The idea is to have the friends of the work send into the building any articles of furniture, clothing, etc. that may not be in use in the home and which may be converted into cash. A number of persons have contributed, their names having been mentioned in the papers last week. It will be some days yet, before the sale takes place, and any other contributions will be very gratefully received and acknowledged by the committee. Any contributions will be received at the building or sent for if requested by phone—Machine or Bell No. 246. This is a good practical way of helping the boys.

Pastoral Address at Conference

At Bowmanville Delivered by Rev. Leonard Phelps

Bowmanville, June 5.—The ministerial session of the twenty-fourth Methodist annual conference of the Bay of Quinte was held here today with the president, Rev. Joseph J. Rae of Picton, in the chair, and Rev. H. V. Mounteer of Orono, acting as Secretary. Rev Alfred H. Reynar, M.A., LL.D., of Victoria University, Rev. W. G. Clark, B. A., of Stirling, and Rev. H. V. Mounteer of Orono took part in the opening exercises.

Rev. R. A. Pearson, B.A., a former minister of this conference, but now of Toronto Conference, was introduced and accorded a very hearty welcome. He has been invited to Peterborough.

THE PASTORAL ADDRESS.

Rev. Leonard Phelps of Lindsay, presented the pastoral address, which was most favorably received and adopted. After referring to the death of Revs. Neil A. McDiarmid, chairman of the Madoc district; C. Hiram Fusee, Campbellford, and W. J. Young, Seagrave, during the year, encouraging reference is made to the growing interest in the youth of the Church, which has in it the very greatest possibilities for the future. Sunday school reports show stability and a higher intelligence in methods of devotion. Ministers are exhorted to give all possible diligence to this branch of service. Conditions of life today, render necessary increased diligence and vigilance, as powerful influences are working, tending to disrupt society, and make all religious efforts ineffectual. The home life of a nation is so fundamental to its security that the right conduct of family life, is urgently important, as children are a public and continuous advertisement of the conditions of their early home life. Continuing, the letter suggested kindly warning against the tendency of the age to unsanctified athletics. The General Conference has by legislation endeavored to safeguard legitimate recreation by the recognition of athletic clubs as part of the church organization, the leader being a member of the Quarterly Official Board upon the endorsement of its members. Ministers are reminded of the increasing difficulty in distinguishing between legitimate recreation and professional sports of the tendency of the one to develop into the other, and are urged to encourage young men to dissociate themselves from forms of amusement which encourage professionalism, and which supply occasions for late hours, betting on the issues of the game and the general spirit of worldly life. The Church of Christ must stand for aggressive work for the service and saving of men. A strong plea is made for a better paid ministry. The time has come when the cost of equipment has grown out of all proportion to the emolument. Young men for this reason are no longer found offering themselves to the Church for service on account of the shackles of college debts and the depressing bondage which they entail. Christian use of the political franchise was enjoined. We must stand for a clean ballot and clean politics.

Sad Refrain of Woman Who Had Been Embibing too Freely

Where the Shamrock grows.

Singing the above refrain a woman about forty years of age created considerable amusement on Charlotte street this afternoon as she trudged along carrying an overload of the barley bree. She stopped several people on the street and gave them a couplet of an Irish song as it appears above.

When last seen she was travelling north along Bethune street at a sauntering gait.

Secret Held by Indians About Rich Gold Deposits

In Counties Adjoining Peterborough—Interesting Story About a Section Stated to Bear Rich Minerals—Matter Has Been Carefully Guarded.

There is good reason to believe that some day, and perhaps before long valuable deposits of gold will be found in Eastern Ontario. In the northern parts of Addington and Hastings counties, rumors that are much more than mere guesses have long indicated that there is gold there somewhere. The Indian tribes know its whereabouts and the great question is how to get them to reveal a secret that has been guarded almost with their very lives from one generation to another.

The following intensely interesting account of the alleged gold deposits and what tradition says regarding them has been sent to the Review. The story is interesting and is contained in the following special from Kaladar, a town on the C.P.R. in the locality mentioned.

"About the centre of Old Ontarioo there is a belt of rough country, extending across the counties of Frontenac, Addington and Hastings to Peterborough county. It is very rough, in fact, so much so that the Provincial Government has provided it for a reservation for reforestration.

"Across this, right through the four counties there is a well defined belt of mineralized rock and gold has been mined in each county, but the mother lode has never been satisfactorily located.

"In Addington county, just north of Kaladar station on the Canadian Pacific Railway—there is a beautiful lake—Massanago, with a river of the same name, flowing to the Mississippi. This lake and river have been the highway for Indian, hunter and lumbermen, and many and varied are the stories heard in connection with the Massanago, or "The Mazanaw," as it is pronounced.

"In the lake is a peculiar island having a high, almost perpendicular rock that at a distance looks like the form of a man.

FOR BEACONS.

"In olden times the Indians used this rock for beacon or signalling purposes, while the sides have borne inscriptions and proclamations to all travellers. What is written on them is very interesting and some of the treaties that were cut in the solid rock can yet be seen quite plainly.

"There is a phenomenal echo across this lake and no one can possibly visit the place without being struck by it. The name of the post office there is "Bon Echo" on this account.

"It is decidedly an interesting place to visit, but little of its really romantic history is known. If some of the Indians of that part of Canada, who from one generation to another have handed down traditions—many of them well established—would but talk, they could doubtless tell some remarkable stories.

UNEXPLORED CAVES

Surrounding the lake are immense caves, many of them unexplored, while some of them are only accessible when the tide is very low. One of these, "Meyer's Cave," has always been a place of intense interest to sightseers.

"The Indians there are peculiarly superstitious about revealing information regarding the mineral wealth of this part of Ontario. It is known beyond a doubt that they possess valuable knowledge not possessed by the white settlers there, and which years of special effort have failed to unearth. Neither threat nor bribe is successful. An Indian who will, when given a little "fire water," talk about anything else, cannot be induced to say a single word as to the mineral deposits of this part of the province.

HAVE FREE GOLD

"It is known that for many years certain Indians in these counties, particularly those living near the mineral belt referred to, have been plentifully supplied with free gold from this district, and many think that beneath the iron capping through one of these caves, the mother lode has been found, but so jealously and carefully has the secret been guarded that but one white man has ever seen it. This man was a trapper and hunter and tradition says he once rendered an Indian tribe a very special favor in saving the life of their chief.

VENGEANCE OR SUICIDE.

"In any event this story is well known in this district. It is known that he had many privileges denied to other people. He brought out to the front many fine samples of gold. But probably from fear — neither when drunk or sober,—would he reveal the secret. He closely guarded it, though when in an advanced state of intoxication he often hinted at a mysterious cave.

"Time and again attempts were made to follow him, and his sudden disappearance without revealing the important secret to man, woman or child is put down to these followers secretly tracking his footsteps and getting too close to the wonderful cave, and his removal the result of Indian vengeance.

"Some ascribe it to suicide at remorse and chagrin at having so much gold in sight, but being prevented by an oath from being able to use it.

"At all events hundreds firmly believe that but a few miles from where one of Canada's great steel highways pass by this mineral belt daily, there are rich deposits of gold and that Indian tribes know where they are. Many wonder who will be the first white man to accurately locate and announce to Canada and the world, where this wealth of gold is!"

Will Not Stop the Canoeing on Sunday

Lord's Day Alliance Has No Intention of Trying to Close the Boathouses.

The Toronto Star says,—A rumor has been circulating that the Lord's Day Alliance is to attack the practice of renting canoes and row boats on Sunday. Dr. Shearer of the Alliance was seen by the Star this morning and denied that such was the case.

"There need be no apprehension on the part of those who enjoy their Sunday paddle on the Humber or at the Island," said he. "Whatever my own personal opinion and practice may be the Alliance does not contemplate taking any steps in the matter. As the law stands, it is quite legal to rent boats for pleasure, but not for business of any sort. The stand which the Alliance takes on the question of Sunday amusements is that people may do exactly as they please as long as they do not interfere with the rest of the public nor force others to work for them in any way. And this in no way touches the renting of canoes or boats for pleasure."

MASSANOGA

A lake shaped something like a pair of spectacles, rather a pair of lakes joined by a passage some feet wide. A lake immensely deep in parts, with sunny bathing beaches, perfectly safe, along its shores. Beautiful woods all round, full of life, unspoil and largely untrodden. And, beetling over the water, just at the bridge of the spectacles, is the grand old rock, the crowning glory of Lake Massanoga. "The Gibraltar of Canada," it has been called, and fitly enough. A mile and more long, hundreds of feet high, rising sheer out of the calm waters of the lake, impressively beautiful by day, positively awe-inspiring in the moonlight, is this great stone mountain. In its shadows nestles Bon Echo Inn, as nearly perfect a summer hotel as one could wish to find. Hotel seems scarcely the word for Bon Echo, so home-like is it—the hotel feeling lasts no longer than it takes our genial host to express his welcome. Canoeing, sailing, rowing, swimming, all may be enjoyed at Massanoga, and down in the depths lurk gamey salmon trout. Massanoga is a resort recently discovered, and known to comparatively few Canadians. But for people who want to get near to nature, and yet not out of touch of civilization, who want to enjoy glorious air, brilliant sunshine, cool waters, and all the fascinations of a primitive region combined with the comforts of a modern summer resort, Massanoga is the place. The nearest railway station is Kaladar, 150 miles east of Toronto, on the C.P.R. Illustrated folder and full particulars will be gladly mailed upon request by C. B. Foster, district passenger agent, C.P.R., Toronto.3d

Wm. Irwin Interested in Big Deal in Pulp Wood Limits

Wisconsin Syndicate Acquires the Spanish River Pulp Property—Price Will Amount to $2,500,000—Supply of Timber on the Lands Will Last a Centuary.

Toronto, June 5.—An important transaction which has just been practically completed, is the sale of the properties of the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company to a syndicate with headquarters at Rhinelander, Wisconsin, for $2,500000. The purchasers are headed, it is said, by the Edmonds family, who are largely interested in the Rhinelander Paper Company. The Spanish River Company, it will be remembered, secured a concession from the late Government of the Province, which formed for a time a subject of considerable discussion in the legislature and throughout the country. The then opposition, now in power, disapproved of the grant, which brought into the provincial coffers only a rate of twenty cents a cord for pulpwood cut on the fifty square miles of territory in Algoma district, allowed for the operations of the company. Objection was taken to the placing of so large an area of the public domain in the hands of the company for so small a consideration. Nevertheless the grant was made, and the company was required to expend a certain sum on the development of the property. It has erected a dam and works to generate power at a water-power on the Spanish River. This is used in the operation of the pulp mill which it has constructed near Webbwood, and about a mile and a half distant from the tracks of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. from which a spur line has been constructed. The mill, it is said, is at present producing over a hundred tons of wet pulp a day. Moreover, the syndicate which is acquiring the property has had parties on the ground, and these report that there is enough wood on it, suitable for the manufacture of pulp papers, to keep the existing plant running for one hundred years.

PULPWOOD IS SCARCE.

Wisconsin paper manufacturers have of late experienced a good deal of difficulty in obtaining a sufficient supply of pulp for their mills. So great has been the shortage that they have been forced to buy this raw material of their industry in Canada. They have gone as far east as the Province of Quebec, whence they have purchased some 50,000 to 75,000 cords of late. Consequently the proprietors of Rhinelander mills and others have been glad to pay the sum mentioned for a permanent source of supply, and to make a substantial deposit. The directors of the Spanish River Company, too, have seen fit to practically close the bargain, which will be laid before a meeting of shareholders summoned to ratify the sale. The principal shareholders and directors include the following; W. K. Sheppard, of Waubashene; James R. Tudhope, M.P.P., of Orillia; James Playfair of Midland; Marshall Dodge of the Georgian Bay Lumber Company and John R. Barber, of Georgetown.

When the United States syndicate takes possession of the property the pulp which must be manufactured before it can be exported will be used by three mills. They are the Falls Manufacturing Company, Oconto Falls, Wis.; the Rhinelander Pulp and Paper Co., Rhinelander, Wis. and the Wausau Paper Mills, Wausau, Wis.

TERMS OF ORIGINAL GRANT.

The concession was originally granted under agreement dated September 21, 1899, to the following gentlemen, who were to be known as the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company;— Marshall J. Dodge, New York; A. R. Creelman, Toronto; William J. Sheppard, Waubashene, J. J. McNeil, Toronto; W. Irwin, Peterborough; Angus McLeod, Bracebridge; Thos. H. Sheppard, of Orillia; George McCormick, Orillia; Jas. Playfair, Midland; Chas. McCool, Ottawa, W. D. Cummins, Spragge, Algoma district. The company was given the right to cut spruce and other woods on Crown lands along the Spanish, Vermillion, and Onaping Rivers and their tributaries, with the exception of the Sauble branch of the Spanish River for a distance of five miles back from the shore. It was entitled to select in all fifty square miles of land as the scene of its operations. For the spruce cut the Government was to receive twenty cents a cord and for other woods ten cents a cord. In addition the company was required to erect a pulp mill and a paper mill in connection with the water power it proposed to develop. On the building and equipment of the industry $500,000 was to be expended of which $100,000 was to be dispersed in eighteen months, $250,000 in two years and the balance in three years. The mills were to employ 250 hands and produce in pulp and paper 25,000 tons annually. If these terms were carried out the company was to enjoy the rights conferred on it for twenty-one years, but in the event of failure to comply with them the concession might be cancelled by the Government.

The Lion and the Mouse Drew Big Crowd to the Opera House

A Beautiful Play Perfectly Put on, Large and Delighted Audience Were Strong Features—Great Praise for Miss Flora Juliet Bowley, the Star—Many Humorous Parts.

In spite of the threatening weather early in the evening, the "Lion and the Mouse" at the Grand Opera House proved a great drawing card. There was not a vacant seat in the place and when the production had concluded, there was not a person, who was not enthusiastic in its praise. It was a play written in the present and the characters were modern and true to life. Those taking part deserve great credit, especially Miss Flora Juliet Bowley, the star, who took the part of Shirley Rossmore, daughter of Judge Rossmore, Walter Edwards as John Burkett Ryder, and Charles H. Pitt, as Jefferson Ryder.

"The Lion and the Mouse" tells the story of "a woman who would not yield"; that is to say, a woman whose patience, courage, endurance and capacity for self-sacrifice yielded to no adversity, but was proof against overwhelming difficulties and enabled her to grandly triumph, emerging a heroine and splendid victor.

The characterization is that of a young and beautiful girl, the daughter of the judge who is being driven to the wall with impeachment and disgrace as the result of his righteous decision against the trusts. Associated in the portraiture of the "Octopus of Finance," who, stern in his attitude to all, even to his wife and children, is relentless to his enemy, treading under his golden heel all those who oppose him or his colossal schemes. These two characters move through the drama—the plot of which is faultless and its action clear and well sustained throughout —as opposing forces and there is presented in the conflict a striking exemplification of the influences of money and politics in the conduct of the national affairs. In the end indomitable will, couped with woman's wit, win out, and the girl shows as a bright and shining instance of the final ascendancy of good over evil, while the octopus reveals himself as after all, a being with heart and soul and genuine human sympathies in short, as a man, in the best sense of the term, ready to admit defeat, acknowledge a mistake and make what amend lies in his power.

The portrayal of Shirley Rossmore, the judge's brave daughter, who set herself to win the case for her persecuted father, was a marvellously fine piece of acting. Added to her personal charms of face, form and deportment, the young actress has an intensely sympathetic nature and a winsomeness as captivating as it was subtle in her every act and utterance. One might have judged her at the outset as almost too girlish and gleeful, too innocent and artless, too sweet and susceptible to carry out her championship to a successful issue, matched as she was against so forceful and imperious a personality as "the colossus." But as the play progressed and the wonderful resourcefulness of the girl developed, naturally and with exquisite cleverness the audience were quite prepared for the thrilling climax reached when she arraigned "Ready-money Ryder" in a torrent of virtuous vituperation and scathing denunciation, that fairly overwhelmed the man. Rising thus to a pitch of splendidly emotional warmth and impassioned utterance, Miss Bowley carried the great audience with her and scored such a triumph as never before was witnessed on the Opera House stage.

As "John Burkett Ryder," the great money magnate and controller in politics, Walter Edwards filled a difficult role, capably and creditably relieving the "villain" aspect of the character with just enough grim humor and sympathetic relaxation to save it from audible execration.

"Judge Rossmore" was admirably interpreted by Mr. H. R. Davis, and his wife met with excellent treatment at the hands of Mrs. Charles.

"Jefferson Ryder," son of the money king, and true blue, was delineated with fidelity and force by Mr. C. D. Pitt.

The character of the Hon. Fitzroy Bagley was given to one to the manner born, for off the stage Mr. Clifford Lee, is an Englishman whose style and accent, while that of a gentleman and man of culture, invest him with native aptitude for the travesty sketched.

Favorable mention could also be made of the others in the cast, but for the lack of space.

The company promise to return in the fall. If they do greeting will be given them by quite as large and brillinat an assembly as last night crowded the Opera House and evinced such unmistakable interest in "The Lion and the Mouse."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country, than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Mr. John E. Code Accepts Position With Royal Victoria Insurance Co.

Mr. John E. Code, who for some time has been connected with the local office of the London Life Insurance Company, has been appointed an Inspector for the eastern part of the province for the Royal Victoria Life Insurance Company of Montreal and has entered upon his duties. Mr. Code will have his headquarters at Peterborough and a large section is included in his inspectorship. The Royal Victoria has not previously been represented in this district, but as the company is a good one, and have now a good man in Mr. Code there is no doubt but that they will secure a large amount of business.

Mr. Code has had a successful career as an insurance man, and many friends will be pleased to hear of his important appointment.

ENNISMORE WILL GATHER

At Tara Grove on June 18th for Annual Congregation Picnic

Ennismore will be "en fete" on Tuesday, June 18th, the date of the annual picnic of St. Martin's congregation of which Rev. Father Fitzpatrick is the popular and progressive spiritual adviser. The picnic will be held in that ideal spot for an event of this kind, Tara Grove, and no doubt the attendance will be the largest in history. An energetic committee is now at work making arrangements the word has gone forth that the picnic will be bigger and better than ever.

The attractions will include addresses by prominent public men, athletic sports of various kinds and a commodious dancing platform. Of course the Ennismore ladies will provide the usual bounteous dinner and supper and this alone will be a great drawing card in itself. It is probable that Jos. Downey, M.L.A., for South Wellington, will be among those who will give addresses.

A big crowd from Peterborough will attend the picnic. There are many in the city who look forward to the Ennismore picnic as one of the events of the year and they would not miss it for anything. They will be on hand this year as usual.

He did not elect how he would be tried, nor he did not plead. The Crown was not ready to go on with the case, so the accused was remanded until Monday morning at nine o'clock. A PROBLEM SOLVED

Travellers from New Zealand tell land of milk and honey, that veritable national bower of bliss and peace; where there are no strikes and where old people do not have to work, but are supported by a benevolent government. The most wonderful fable that has come out of that far away Utopia, however, is the simple announcement that the servant problem has been solved in New Zealand, says the Rochester-Post-Express. It seems that the domestic servants have organized a union and formulated a list of demands and regulations affecting pay, hours, holidays, afternoons out, intervals for meals, rest and church, and so on. Having accomplished this much the leaders of the movement sent circular letters to the mistresses of the households inviting them to sign the contracts submitted, and thereby "obviate the unpleasantness of having to appear personally or by agent before the conciliation board or arbitration court," a worthy body of men who settle all disputes between employer and employee. An arbitration is compulsory in New Zealand, the housewives must take some action. They declare their intention to fight fire with fire, and will organize a housewives' union, registered under the arbitration act, and take the matter into court. The end, of course, must be peace; for in New Zealand the government does not allow such barbarous things as strikes. Whatever the judgment of the court of arbitration may be the the housewives and the maids must accept it or be trundled off to gaol. These are drastic measures, to be sure, but if peace in the kitchen is assured who shall say that the end does not justify the means? concludes the Post-Express.

The two-cent-a-mile passenger bill which has been passed by the Legislature of Illinois, seems destined to meet with the unrelenting hostility of the railroad corporations of that state. The trouble is, as the Chicago Record-Herald remarks, that all the railroads of the state are not operated under the same conditions, and that while some are no doubt amply able to give the two-cent rate, and in that case should be required to give it, others are probably not prosperous enough to be put on the same basis. The legislature passed a blanket law, in which justice and injustice are confounded. The matter should have been left, according to the Record-Herald, to the discretion of the state railroad commission.

The case of Trooper Mulloy, the Canadian who lost his eyesight in action in South Africa, is again to the front. This time in the form of an agitation that he should be assisted from the Patriotic Fund instituted for the benefit of the sufferers by the war, to pursue his education at Oxford. His is a conspicuous case, and justifies exceptional treatment. The Toronto News says the executive of this fund has become interested in the proposition, and, in response to a petition from fifty prominent military officers, has recommended that the association use a portion of the large balance of the fund to defray the expense of an Oxford course for the plucky trooper. It is hardly necessary to say that any such action as that suggested would be very generally endorsed.

The Bowmanville Statesman extends the following welcome to the Bay of Quinte Conference delegates; Ministers of the Bay of Quinte Conference, Bowmanville citizens greet you cordially and bid you feel right at home with us. Don't stand on ceremony or empty formalities. We don't. We are rather unconventional in our manners, but no people have ever accorded to you a truer or heartier welcome. We're glad you've come. Your visit here in 1897 was a benediction to us. Citizens generally were sorry when farewells were said. You told us the regret of leaving was mutual. May it prove so this conference. That your visit to "Beautiful Bowmanville" may be pleasant and satisfactory is our devout prayer. May your deliberations and business transactions prove beneficial to the whole church, and may you exemplify in your discussions and resolutions those sound virtues and principles you so often commend to your people. We hope a kind providence will smile on the Conference of 1907 and that good-fellowship, cheerfulness, earnest and Christian love may prevail throughout all the meetings. We repeat the good old Irish greeting, "You're Welcome Here."

Rev. Dr. Crothers Returned Home

From the Hamilton Conference in Berlin—Is Well Pleased With That City

Rev. Dr. Crothers, pastor of the George street Methodist church, returned home from Berlin last night. He had been attending the meeting of the Hamilton Conference there for several days, and was kept very busy. Rev. Dr. Crothers is leaving the Bay of Quinte Conference and will in future be connected with the Hamilton Conference. He will be stationed at St. Catharines, for which place he will leave on or about July 1st. He is due at his new church on Sunday, July 7th, to preach his first sermon.

In speaking of the Conference, the reverend gentleman said he was delighted with it. There was a great deal of work to do, but it was put through in splendid shape. He was elected to give the lecture for theological union at Conference next year. This is an honor highly prized by the ministers, and that Dr. Crothers was selected is a matter for congratulation.

Berlin is a fine city, said the doctor. It is very much like Peterborough, although a couple of thousand smaller. But the manufacturing interests there are important, the people are above the average and everyone is busy. He was greatly interested in the place and in the people, who seem to have been keeping a close watch on Peterborough, as they are very familiar with everything going on here. Two things the doctor noticed about Berlin, was that he did not see a person under the influence of liquor all the time he was there, and he was very forcibly struck with the very respectful manner of all the children on the streets. This is due largely to the excellent home training they receive. There are many things in these western cities which are very interesting, and Dr. Crothers would have liked to have stayed longer.

No Street Signs for This Year

A communication was received from Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons last night by the Board of Works, in which were quoted prices for name plates for street corners in the city. For a long time there has been a demand from citizens for these name plates, as the old ones are worn out, and it is very difficult for people to get around or to know where they are at. Several firms have sent prices to the Board of Works, and all are about the same. But the Board of Works has no more money this year than is absolutely necessary, and therefore, the matter was laid over for another time.

Premier Bond is Against Union With the Dominion

Newfoundland Will Not Blend Interests With Canada.

Federation Neither Desirable Or Practicable Says Premier—Hopes For Settlement of the Fisheries Question—Mr. Chamberlain's Good Wishes—Bond Repudiates Dramatic Incident At Conference.

London, June 6.—(C. A. P.)—Sir Robert Bond was entertained last night at dinner by the West Indian Club. Joseph Chamberlain wrote apologizing for non-attendance. He said that under Bond's wise administration he hoped Britain's oldest colony was fairly launched on a career of prosperity and trusted the recent differences about fisheries would be satisfactorily arranged, and that the settlement might be a prelude to that union with the great Dominion in the west, which he believed to be ultimately most conducive to the permanent interests of Newfoundland.

Responding to the toast to his health, Sir Robert said that while not prepared to challenge the correctness of Chamberlain's statement, that the permanent welfare of Newfoundland depended upon blending the colony's interests with those of Canada, he was constrained to say that such a union at present was not desirable, nor within the region of practical politics.

Alluding to the alleged dramatic incident at the Colonial Conference, Sir Robert Bond emphatically repudiated it, and denied he ever said the report was "substantially correct." He intimated, however, that if the colony had been treated with a little more courtesy in the preparation of the publication of the precis, the misrepresentation of facts by a section of the press would have been avoided. During the whole conference there had not been one hard expression or dramatic incident.

As to the fisheries question, he had told the British Government that a repetition of the action of last year would not only be regarded as humiliating to the colony, but would lead to a total disregard of all constituted authority within it. He was not unhopeful, but before he returned something satisfactory would be arrived at regarding the matters in which he was interested.

One Crossing Gang Disposed of; Other Gang Will be Enlarged

Connections on Cedar Street Sewer Unsatisfactory—Harvey Street Sewer Will be Laid When Petitioned for—City Engineer to Have Asistance.

It was a big session the Board of Works held last night, and they got through with a lot of work. One of the most important decisions arrived at was to run only one crossing gang. Two or three gangs cost more, and the individual crossing costs more. There are far too many gangs and the street commissioner cannot look after so much work and guarantee it to be done satisfactorily. The Harvey street sewer was also discussed.

Those present were Mayor R. F. McWilliams, Chairman Ald. Duncan, and Ald. Johnston, McIntyre and Wilson.

W. G. Green asked for a crossing across from his office to the works. The proposed concrete crossing on McDonnel street, at easterly side of Gilchrist street, will be located at spot requisitioned for by Mr. Green.

TO MOVE HYDRANT.

The mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the hydrant on Water street, opposite the Colonial Weaving Company's, be moved to the westerly side of the new line of Water street.—Carried.

ONE CROSSING GANG ONLY

On advice of Chairman Duncan but one gang will be employed on concrete crossing work in future. Foreman Hodgins' gang will be disbanded.

The street commissioner has never been satisfied with the work under Hodgins' supervision and the disgraceful crossing on Water street, from the post office to the Crown Hotel, was the last straw.

The board are anxious to push the concrete crossing work, but are of the opinion that by adding a few men to Kennedy's gang, this season's work arranged for, can be accomplished.

SEWER CONNECTION COMPLAINT

Mr. Angus McIntosh complained that the Cedar street sewer enters his premises four inches above his cellar floor, which he wished to lower. He asked that the connection be changed to enter below his cellar at a proper grade, for which there is plenty of fall.

Mr. McIntosh explained to the board that he had told Mr O'Brien that he wished to lower his cellar floor, and asked for a satisfactory connection, but he apparently ignored his request.

Ald. Johnston pointed out that the connection is even four inches above the present cellar floor.

The engineer was instructed to have this connection lowered to the proper level and report if the contractor is responsible for the expense of same.

A petition for a sewer on George from Argyle to Hillier streets, was not sufficiently signed.

TO INSPECT STREETS.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the Board of Works, next Wednesday, drive over the streets on which excavations have been made for sewers and gas mains, and see in what condition they have been left. This is with a view to having such streets put into satisfactory condition.

A PLANK CROSSING

A. E. Fitzgerald asked for a plank crossing to his coal and wood office. A plank crossing will be laid across to Fitzgerald's office.

A permanent crossing will be laid east of Bethune, across Brock, where new pavement is being constructed.

HARVEY STREET SEWER

Regarding the Harvey street sewer the Board of Works are willing to construct the same when sufficiently signed for. Council had given notice of their intention to lay a sewer on Harvey street, but the property owners petitioned against it. They were influenced in so doing by misunderstanding the engineer's remarks as to fall and possible depth of connections, the figures for which they in some manner transposed. Such misunderstanding led to the property owners concluding that the sewer would be unworkable. The engineer assured the board that the fall of said sewer would be 15 inches, and its lowest possible depth one foot nine inches. The sewer would be perfectly practicable.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by the mayor, that the sewer on Harvey street be laid when properly petitioned for.—Carried.

The engineer was instructed to report on the advisability and cost of laying a wooden walk from Hunter street east, north side, from end of present pavement to the bridge.

A plank crossing will be laid from Lake to Wescott street, west side.

A fence will be built on west side of Aylmer street, bounding the property purchased from Mr. LePlante by the city for extension purposes.

ASSISTANCE FOR MR. HAY.

The mayor advised that in order to keep up local improvement work it is necessary that the city engineer should have the assistance of a man who can do both outside and inside work. There are at present over a hundred men in the city's employ, distributed over eight pay lists.

The board agreed with this and an effort will be made to secure competent assistance for the summer.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Wilson, this matter was left in the hands of the mayor and city engineer.

Manufacturers' Committee Will Recommend a Fixed Assessment

For the Colonial Weaving Co's. New Plant of $3,500 for 10 Years—Will Advertise Peterborough by Folders—Books to be Published Later.

The proposition of the Colonial Weaving Company for a fixed assessment for ten years at $3,500 on the proposed new factory, was considered by the Manufacturers' Committee yesterday afternoon. The provisions and conditions of the company's request have been previously published in these columns. Briefly they are that the company proposes to purchase property in the south end of the city for $3,500 on which to erect a new factory, install new machinery, engage in more branches of work, and to double the number of hands employed. For this they ask the city to give them a fixed assessment for ten years on the price of the land.

The committee, after considering the matter, decided, on condition the Colonial Weaving Company engages sixty hands for ten months of the year the bylaw fixing the assessment for ten years at $3,500 for all purposes, except school and local improvements, was ordered to be drawn up and submitted to the council on Monday night. The bylaw will contain the same general terms and conditions as the Cordage Co.'s bylaw.

ADVERTISING CITY

For some time the necessity has been felt for a system of advertising Peterborough and for placing the advantages of the city as a manufacturing centre, before the world. It was proposed to get out a nicely printed book with cuts and full information, but as yet very little has been done about it. The manufacturers' committee considered it yesterday and passed the following motion.

It was moved by Ald. Leary and Ald. Tovey, that the chairman be authorized to have a number of the small folders advertising Peterborough, printed, and that the publication of a book be laid over until the next meeting.—Carried.

PURITY SOCIETY

Efforts Will be Made to Taboo Immoral Post-cards.

The Mail & Empire says;

The inclement weather kept many away who would doubtless have attended the public monthly meeting of the Canadian Purity Education Association. The meeting was purely executive. However, much business was gone through, and it is fully expected that the results of the session will be far-reaching. It was decided to make strict examination into all public exhibitions of any kind and to investigate thoroughly the sale of immoral picture post-cards, literature, etc. A committee was appointed to select some member of the association to support Staff Inspector Archibald in this work and a decision will be made before the next regular meeting of the society.

The league, though comparatively new, is fast growing, and many important and respected names are added to the list of members every day.

The next meeting will be held in Guild Hall on Tuesday, July 2nd.

FUSHIMI IS EXPECTED FRIDAY.

The passageway to the street has been richly carpeted and a triumphal arch of Japanese architecture has been erected on the wharf, bearing Japanese colors and greetings of welcome.

Two guards of honor are to receive the Governor-General, and Prince Fushimi. Hon. Mr. Templeman will represent the Dominion Government; Sir Louis Jetty the Lieutenant-Governor, and Premier Guoin the Province of Quebec, and Mayor Garneau the city, and welcome the party amid the booming of a royal salute from the citadel.

The party will be taken in carriages to Dufferin terrace. A large evening reception will follow a state dinner at Spencerwood, the prince leaving for Montreal by special Intercolonial train Saturday morning.

CANNOT SEIZE INSURANCE.

Important and Novel Ruling Given In Hull Superior Court.

Ottawa, June 6.—In the Hull Superior Court yesterday, Judge Robidoux of Montreal, ruled that insurance cannot be seized by a creditor.

The case in question was that by the Evans Bros.' Piano Co. v. Napoleon Perriere of Hull, to recover loss which had been sustained by the burning of a piano which the defendant had purchased on the instalment plan.

The instrument was bought last winter by Perriere, who made a small payment and was to have paid the remainder in instalments. In March Perriere's house was destroyed by fire with all its contents, including the piano, which, however, was insured for $300 with the Jacques Cartier Insurance Co.

Evans Bros. then claimed the insurance in payment of the piano, and Perriere contested that they had no right to do so. Judge Robidoux held that Perriere's claim was justifiable.

CREW'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Barge Goes Down In Storm, But No Lives Were Lost.

Providence, R. I., June 6.—The barge Pactolus was lost off Hogg Island on the New Jersey coast during a recent storm and Capt. James Deputy was badly hurt. Capt. Deputy and his crew of three men were saved. The barge was bound up the coast in tow of the tug Tormentor.

Off Hogg Island during a southeasterly gale and heavy sea, a big comber swept over the deck of the barge and knocked Capt. Deputy down. He was rendered half unconscious, but managed to grasp the bulwark and keep from being swept over.

The barge sprang a leak and a few hours later it sank. The captain and crew escaped in the tender and were taken aboard the tug, which arrived here late yesterday.

The woman came to Rochester in February, was arrested on a charge of vagrancy, and has been in the penitentiary since.

Belleville Man Coughed up Lizard

Yesterday afternoon, shortly after partaking of the noon meal, Mr. Harry Geary, well known in this city, says the Belleville Intelligencer, was seized with a fit of vomiting and brought up a lizard about four inches in length, which was alive and is still in that condition. In conversation with a representative of the Intelligencer, Mr. Geary stated that he had not felt any particular inconvenience through having the reptile in his interior and was much surprised when he coughed it up.

Some years ago he was engaged in working upon the river, and Mr. Geary is of the opinion that in drinking from spring along the river bank he became the host of the lizard, which was then of small dimensions. It had evidently remained in his stomach for some time and had grown to its present size. Today he feels no ill effects from the experience which he has passed through. The lizard has been preserved, and Mr. Geary, has it is said, shown it to a number of friends already.

Crop Conditions are Good Says Vice President of C.P.R.

Wm. Whyte Spoke Optimistically in Winnipeg After an Inspection Tour in the Agricultural Section of the West—Negotiations at Edmonton are Progressing.

Second Vice-President William Whyte of the Canadian Pacific, returned to the city last night from Edmonton, where he conferred with the council in reference to the entry of the C.P.R. into that city. On the way west and again on the way east special attention was paid by Mr. Whyte to the condition of the growing grain in the three provinces, and the statement made by him to the Winnipeg Free Press on his return was optimistic in the highest degree.

The trip west through Manitoba was made during the night and no observations could be made. On the return trip, however, Manitoba was traversed during the day, and the opportunity was secured to ascertain conditions at first hand. The wheat-growing areas of Saskatchewan and Alberta were similarly observed, those sections which were missed on the outward journey being seen on the return.

AREA REDUCED SOMEWHAT.

"The area sown in wheat this year in the province of Manitoba," said Mr. Whyte, "is somewhat less than that of last year, but the decrease in this province will be fully made up by the increase in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

"The acreage in Manitoba which would have been sown in wheat had the season been earlier was sown in coarse grains and the total acreage under crop in the province is in excess of last year.

"Before leaving for the west, I had already received the most reliable information obtainable in reference to seeding operations and the growth of grain sowed. I had the reports of our own agents, the reports made to grain dealers, millers and others, but I was anxious to see with my own eyes what the exact conditions were. I had an unexcelled opportunity to do this during the past few days, and I have returned to the city fully assured that there is every reason to expect a most excellent harvest.

"The weather throughout the three provinces is now all that could be desired. The rain has been general and it has been followed by warm days, very favorable to the growing of grain. I brought east with me in my car, samples of growing plants of the fall wheat of Alberta. The samples which I have are fully nine inches high, and the general prospect for the yield is excellent. The increase in the acreage of fall wheat this year, over that harvested last year, will amount to 300 per cent. North from Calgary to Edmonton, I saw the entire country. All this country gives excellent promise for the harvest of the present year, the prospects for the spring wheat being quite equal to that of the fall wheat of the south.

CATTLE LOSSES NOT HEAVY.

"The extent of the loss of cattle in the west has not yet been ascertained. I met many of the ranchers and cattlemen and they agreed that it would be July before an exact estimate could be made. They are now engaged in making the count of the cattle on the ranges.

"The negotiations between the company and the city of Edmonton, are proceeding in a satisfactory manner and I anticipate that within a short time a settlement will be reached which will be equally satisfactory to the city and the company."

J. A. M. Aikens, K.C., solicitor for the C.P.R., returned to the city with Mr. Whyte.

Strawberries Likely to be Scarce and High in Price

And the Same May be Said of Raspberries—Vines Are Only Blossoming Now and the Crop is Very Uncertain.

Judging from the remarks of local men engaged in the fruit business there is going to be a big shortage of strawberries and raspberries this season. It is not yet known what kind of a crop there will be in this locality, but at any rate, both strawberries and raspberries, and in fact all other fruits, will be much later than in other seasons. Strawberries were well on the way to maturity at this time last year, while this season they only blossomed a few days ago. The crop in the Niagara district will also be late, and as yet it cannot be ascertained whether the supply will be bountiful or not.

The strawberries now offered for sale in Peterborough, come from California and are so high in price that they are practically a luxury. And from present appearances there will be no native berries on the market for a long time to come.

In view of the shortage in berries local fruit men are putting in large supplies of other fruits. Mr. James R. Bell has just received a carload of pineapples and states that there is a strong demand for them. As berries are likely to be dear, and not likely to be on the market until late in the season, many householders will preserve pineapples, instead of the luscious product of the strawberry vine and raspberry bush.

Last year there were plenty of strawberries on the market at this time, but this season they are almost as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth.

Ennismore—$2,312; 100 miles.

Harvey—$3,131; 94 miles.
Monaghan, North—$10,586; 40 miles.

Total, $124,372; total miles, 1,492.

Fishery Inspector Watt Got A Box of Lunge at the Station

Fishery Inspector Watt made a good haul last night. He was at home when the telephone rang and an unknown voice informed him that a load of fish was going out on the evening train. Mr. Watt hurried down to the C.P.R. and found everything O. K. there. He then went to the G.T.R. and everything was apparently all right also. But the last parcel to arrive on the express waggon looked suspicious to the inspector. He did not fancy the handwriting on the box, and he also recognized the name of the party to whom the box was addressed. A hatchet was produced, and Mr. Watt made an investigation. He found a nice box full of fine lunge, well packed in saw dust. The box was sent from one of the local hotels and the chances are the proprietor will appear in police court in the morning, unless he settle it before. If he settles it out of court, one of the conditions will likely be that he divulge the name of the party from whom the fish were bought.

Hopi Indian Traditions.

The Hopi Indians of Arizona have no written literature, but an almost boundless store of oral traditions, which are handed down unimpaired to each generation in turn and which form the guiding principle of their religious belief and of their whole life, says the Craftsman. Every clan, and there are a number of family clans making up the various Hopi towns, has its own kiva, or underground ceremonial chamber, entered by a ladder through a square opening in the roof, which is but a foot or two above the general level of the ground. Here the education of the boys is carried on, beginning at the age of seven or eight years. They are instructed day by day in the literature, history and myths of the tribes, the priests being the teachers. Without writing and without books the Hopi have an extensive literature, and that the utmost accuracy is observed in its oral transmission from generation to generation is revealed by certain comparisons with the records made by the Spanish explorers in the sixteenth century.

Long Sieges In Congress.

Samuel J. Randall of Pennsylvania was an avowed protectionist Democrat and a man who, his colleagues had learned, usually was able to get his way. Randall had first entered congress in 1862. He was a quiet, persistent, hardworking person who attracted little attention for several years. Then the Republicans, sure of their majority and wishing to expedite business, undertook to adopt rules which would prevent obstruction. The quiet Mr. Randall set himself against the attempt. He led the small Democratic majority with a skill so unusual that more than once he blocked the Republicans' way until it was too late to pass the measure. His endurance seemed unlimited. From one session lasting forty-six hours and twenty-five minutes, where Randall had forced the roll to be called seventy-five times, he came out as fresh as he went in. At another time in the fight over the force bill he was on the floor for seventy-two consecutive hours.—Ida M. Tarbell in American Magazine.

How Piutes Catch Quail.

The Piutes have a unique way of getting quail. For them there is no closed season or, indeed, any game law whatever. Seasons when the quail come down from the mountains to the spring the Indians make great preparation for their capture. They build a bough house with a long slender opening in the front formed of tall straight sticks set closely together. Within the house an Indian sits concealed, holding a long limber rod, which he operates dexterously through the narrow opening. In the early morning when the birds flock down for water he picks them off one at a time, killing them instantly. There is no report in this manner of hunting to frighten the others away, and the Indian often gets enough game in a single morning for the whole settlement.

Went to Bed For Dinner.

An amusing incident is told of the absentmindedness of the late Justice William G. Keogh of Ireland. It was at a bar dinner at his own house, and he had excused himself from the guests, who had already assembled, to go up stairs to dress. Time went by, but he did not reappear. The company sat patiently for some time till at length, when their appetites were getting the better of their manners and they were about to send a messenger in quest of their absent host, he appeared and explained with many apologies that imagining that he was retiring for the night he had undressed and got into bed. After an hour's sleep he awoke, and it suddenly dawned on him that his guests were waiting to dine with him below.

A Hero.

A boatful of ladies and officers going to a picnic was swamped in crossing an East Indian river. A lady and an officer clung to an oar. "It is not enough for two," said the man. "Say goodby for me to the regiment." Then he left his hold of the oar and of life. It is easy to see that a romance might be founded on this, but these are the plain facts."

The Scope of Indigestion.

Indigestion is not only the most prevalent of all diseases, but is the most far reaching in its complications, says Dr. Latson in Health Culture. In recognition of this fact a brilliant medical man has said:

"There is but one disease—indigestion."

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

New York, June 6.—The London market was rather demoralized early in the day on heavy selling for Paris account and rumors of trouble in that quarter, and foreign houses had selling orders for London in this market, disposing of upwards of 40,000 shares. Notwithstanding this however, our market opened steady with scattered strength in the industrials, which has continued strong with heavy short covering and a fair amount of good buying.

The most marked improvement, however, took place in the Hill and Harriman issues, and Reading, which seemed to have been steadily oversold and notwithstanding profit taking on a fairly large scale. These stocks maintained their early rise of one or two points in good shape. A good feature also was the buoyancy in the railway equipment issues and in Steel Common.

We have called attention to the earnings of the Southwestern railroads and every report that is made seems to be increasingly favorable and this development will certainly lead to bullish sentiment in this section of the list.

In the afternoon, when wheat rose three cents a bushel on bad crop reports the market declined about a point from the high point, but the demand was good at the recession and closing prices were firm.

Quakers and Omemee Still Tied in District Standing

Played an Hour and a Half at Lindsay Last Evening But Game Ended in a Draw, 1-1—Will Meet Again Saturday Night.

For an hour and a half the intermediate Quakers and the Omemee team battled for the district championship of the intermediate series of the Midland Football league at Lindsay last night and when the darkness crept down and play had to be stopped on account of the lack of light the score was a tie, one all. The match was played on the exhibition grounds at Scugogville and rain fell constantly during the time the players were on the field. The wet sward and the water-soaked, greasy ball made good football impossible yet the contest was stubbornly contested and proved exciting from a spectator's point of view. It was the third time that Omemee and the Quakers had met in league fixtures. Before last night each team had a win to its credit and the players went on the field last night filled with determination. Shortly after play started Omemee got a dandy shot on goal and drove the ball by Laing. It was a pretty shot and no goal keeper could have stopped it. About ten minutes later the Quakers forward line combined nicely and scored their only goal. There was no further scoring during the match. The second half passed without the tie being broken and then overtime was commenced. Five minutes extra were played without any score; then the teams changed ends and played five minutes more, but still there was nothing doing. Then ten minutes more were played, but neither team could score. Play was kept up until darkness came down and it was almost impossible to see the ball. The referee at last called the game, but the Quakers wanted to stay and play off the tie if it took all night, but several of the Omemee players were not in favor of doing so and the match was over.

It was decided to play again in Lindsay on Saturday night and the game will no doubt be a great struggle. The Quakers will send up a strong team and will do their utmost to wrest a victory from the Omemee kickers.

The teams lined up as follows:

Quakers		Omemee
	Goal
Laing		Ingram
	Backs
Scrimshaw		MacPherson
Sullivan		Hayes
	Half backs
C. Fitzgerald		Rice
Dingman		C. Mitchell
Hamilton		McGee
	Forwards
Yates		Glennie
Canniff		Jardine
Hutchings		Nugent
Best		W. Mitchell
Grough		McGee

The referee was a Lindsay man and while he is accused of not knowing the rules of the game very thoroughly he was impartial in his decisions.

The game attracted a goodly number of spectators despite the rain and it is said that there will be a big crowd on hand Saturday night.

The Quakers had the lion's share of the play and Ingram, the Omemee goal tender, had a busy night. He did stellar work between the posts and turned aside all kind of hot shots. Laing in the Peterborough goal, had very little to do but the one shot that got by him was dead on the goal and couldn't be turned aside. All the Peterborough players showed up well and are confident that they can trim the Omemee aggregation.

Of course the Lindsay spectators cheered for Omemee last night. For some reason or other they do not seem to like Peterborough and never fail to apply the hammer when there is an opportunity.

Big Ball Game for Saturday

Saturday's ball game between the local nine and the St. Andrew's of Toronto Junction at the exhibition grounds, is attracting much interest among the local fans and they will be out in full force to see the match. The Peterborough team will practice at the Driving Park tonight and the team will be picked to meet the Saints. Flaherty and Burns will occupy the pitcher's box for the locals each twirling for half the game.

Arrangements have been made with the Radial Railway Company for a special car service, two extra cars being placed on the exhibition grounds route for the afternoon. The St. Andrew's are leading the Toronto West End Senior League and are bringing down their strongest team. It should be a great game. The visitors will line-up as follows,—

Sweetman, 3b.; Acherson, rf.; Smith, ss; Kion, rf; Currie, 2b; Copping, 2b; Hewer, lf; D'Eath, cf; Monteith, p; Hawkins, p; Acherson, c; Goulding, c.

West Ends Won From Excelsiors

Despite the unfavorable weather last evening a large crowd gathered at Nicholls Oval to witness the finish of the West End-Excelsior game. At the close of the four innings on Monday night the West Ends led by two. They retained their lead last night, and added two more to it, thus defeating the Excelsiors in the round by eight runs to three.

It was a fine exhibition and the fans who braved the nasty night were well repaid. The teams were the same as on Monday night and the losers owe their defeat to several costly fumbles.

Mr. W. Stacey proved a very satisfactory umpire.

The teams were:

West Enders.—Ed King 1b, J. McNern c, Dobson cf, Grange lf, Cameron 3b, Rose ss, Halpin 2b, Moore rf, Butcher p.

Excelsiors. — Bellegham p. Hillier Excelsiors. — Bellegham p, Billington c, Cloney ss, Russell lf, Heaslop 2b, O'Shea cf, Guerin 3b, Tobin rf, Coughlin 1b.

The West Ends have never lost a game yet, and they will give the other teams a good run for championship honors.

The Excelsiors play their next game with the Karenots on Saturday and will try hard to redeem themselves and win.

LACROSSE

Mr. W. H. Hall, secretary-treasurer of the C.L.A., has received instructions from President Harry Cameron, that under no consideration will permits be issued this year. Field captains must produce the players' certificates, duly signed, for every player.

A Child May be Abandoned If Life is Not Endangered

Such is the Peculiar Meaning of Recent Amendment to the Criminal Code as to the Term "Adandonment" —Defect of the Law Fully Brought Out in Case of Laura Gillespie at Police Court To-day The Defendant Allowed to Go.

The case of Laura Gillespie, who was remanded Wednesday last on a charge of child abandonment was proceeded with this morning before His Worship Magistrate Dumble.

The defendant was discharged owing to the peculiar meaning of the term "abandonment" as set forth in a recent amendment of the criminal code, whereby any one, who deserts a child, apparently cannot be punished, if it can be established that a child's life or health has not been permanently endangered thereby.

Mr F. D. Kerr appeared for the defendant, and Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the case for the Crown. Mr Kerr pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by jury.

Mrs. A. Loucks, of this city, at whose house the child was left, was the first witness called. She stated the accused left a male child about two months old at her door on the 17th of September last. Witness was not at home. The child was left with her daughter. Mrs. Loucks stated that she kept the child two weeks, then Mr. Cochrane took it to Mrs. Gorman, who kept it until the little one was adopted by Mrs. Cooke, of Harwood. Witness said that she went and saw the magistrate Mr. Dennistoun and Mr. Cochrane. They told her to keep it, and she would be paid for its keep. Witness also stated that she took the child to where the mother was staying, but she would not take it.

Miss Jennie Loucks was next called. She stated that she was at a friend's house when the defendant called and told them that she wanted them to adopt the baby. She told them she was married and that her husband had left her. Defendant said her name was Mrs. Gillespie. Witness told her she would keep it for a few days until she could get work.

Mr F. D. Kerr argued that within the meaning of the law the accused could not be sent up for trial. Under the new amendment of the criminal code, the defendant could not be convicted. Mr. Kerr stated that the new amendment was what the court had to go by and though he admitted that it could be improved upon, yet the court had to abide by it. The amendment states that any person abandoning a child under two years, and thereby endangering its life, or injuring its health permanently, commits an indictable offence and is liable to three years' imprisonment. Mr. Kerr stated that there was no evidence to show that the life of the child was in danger or its health injured in any way. On the other hand these kind-hearted people gave it the best of care and kept it better than it had been provided for before. Therefore, according to the law the defendant could not be convicted.

His Worship did not agree with Mr Kerr. He stated that it was no thanks to the child's mother that the child was taken care of. She did not know when she left it whether it would be properly taken care of. She did not even call to see it, and refused to take it back after three days. These people were not bound to keep the child. Had the authorities not promised to pay for its keep, they need not have kept it. Under that amendment His Worship stated that anyone could abandon a child and escape punishment. They leave it at a door and they do not know whether it will be looked after. They might as well throw it into the river. The infant could not do for itself and if his mother would not, who could be expected to. He said that he would leave it for someone else to decide.

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood expresses his opinion. He agreed with Mr. Kerr. It was an unfortunate amendment, but until it was changed the court would have to go by it.

His Worship said that he did not think it was meant to be understood in that way, but the responsibility of it would rest with the Crown.

His Worship, therefore, dismissed the case.

Mrs. Pearce Had a Narrow Escape

Lamp Exploded and the House Caught Fire.

"Oaksmere Place," the beautiful home of Ex-Warden J. B. Pearce, in Norwood, had a close call Tuesday night from being destroyed by fire, and Mrs. Pearce had a narrow escape, from serious injury by the explosion of a lamp in the sewing room, where she was sitting between eleven and twelve o'clock that night. The oil immediately burst into flames, and set fire to the carpet and curtains of the room. In trying to extinguish the flames, Mrs. Pearce had her hands severely burned. Her cries for aid brought the other members of the household to her assistance and they succeeded in smothering out the fire.

Need Not Bring Suffering and Misery

Change of LIFE

This perfectly natural change in a woman's life is too often accompanied by painful, distressing symptoms due to female troubles and slight irregularities in her delicate organism.

The woman who passes this change without the development of tumors, cancers, or chronic invalidism enters a new field of happiness and usefulness in the domestic circle and in social activity. Her physical system should receive the necessary assistance at this critical period.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

is exactly suited to woman's needs at this time. It strengthens and cures all derangements of the female organism, it overcomes the hot flashes and dizzy fainting spells, and all other distressing symptoms.

Woman's Friend During Change of Life

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I owe my splendid health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am the mother of three children, have safely passed the change of life, and feel as young and strong as I did twenty years ago, and this is all due to your friend of women, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it before my children were born, and it greatly assisted nature and saved me much pain, and during change of life I took it off and on for four years, and had but little trouble and sickness such as most women have to endure. MRS. JAMES K. MANN, 806 Bathhurst Street, Toronto, Canada.

The whole secret of safety at this time of life is thorough preparation before the change begins. Fortify the system with a course of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This wonderful medicine has carried thousands of women through this danger period.

No such helpful advice to women who are sick can be had anywhere as will be received free by addressing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for twenty-five years under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Orchard Tells of His Final Crimes and Domestic Life

Hired Assassin Tells of Attempts on Judge Gabbert's Life.

Recital of Cold-Blooded Crimes—Used Explosives Freely — Bomb That Killed Governor — Witness Tells How Steunenberg Murder Was Carried Out—Some of His Plans Failed—Formerly Lived in Canada.

Boise, June 7.—Harry Orchard, the man who says his true name is Albert Horsley, and who assassinated former Governor Frank Steunenberg at Caldwell, on the night of Dec. 30, 1905, resumed his gruesome story as a witness against William D. Haywood, secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, in the District Court yesterday morning. The fearsome relation of five years of crime has not been finished. The climax is yet to come, if indeed there can be a climax more terrible than the one already reached in the narrative told by the witness.

First Orchard gave the names of several persons he met in San Francisco when he went there to kill Fred Bradley, formerly manager of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mines, in the Coeur D'Alenes. Orchard part of the time was known as Barry. On returning to Denver, wearing a soldier's uniform, he called up Pettibone by telephone and told him Bradley was alive, but had lost his sight and probably would be deaf the remainder of his life.

A Living Example.

"Pettibone said that was better than if I had killed him outright—that Bradley would now be a living example," continued the witness. Orchard said he asked for money and received $125 from Pettibone.

Orchard said Haywood next asked him "to go to work on Judge Gabbert of the Supreme Court of Colorado."

"He said Judge Gabbert," Orchard went on, "had been rendering decisions against Moyer, whom we were trying to get out of Telluride on habeas corpus. I went to Judge Gabbert's house with Steve Adams and a shotgun, but we did not see the judge.

"Haywood also wanted us to try again at Governor Peabody, who was about to be re-elected, and to shoot Frank Hearne of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co., and Dave Moffatt, president of the First National Bank, who were behind the first against the federation.

He and Adams had no chance to kill these men.

Another Judge Named.

"We were also to get after Judge Goddard, who, Haywood said, was instrumental in defeating the eight-hour bill, which had been declared unconstitutional," Orchard continued.

Orchard said he prepared a bomb in [illegible] cellar, to place beneath Peabody's bedroom window at Canon City.

Orchard declared that Pettibone gave him $100 before he went to Canon City with the bomb, but that an explanation he had jokingly made in response to a question from a traveling companion, who had heard a clock ticking in the grip with the bomb, caused Pettibone to suggest that the attempt be deferred.

Something to Show.

As Pettibone wanted something pulled off before the convention, to show for the money spent, he and Orchard made a bomb for Judge Gabbert, and placed it in a vacant lot which the judge daily crossed. A wire was left outside of the bomb, to which a pocket book was to be attached, so that anyone picking up the purse would upset the sulphuric acid inside the bomb.

"Pettibone had to go next day to Salt Lake City to attend the convention of the federation. I was afraid to touch the old bomb, so I prepared a new one. As Judge Gabbert started out the next morning I rode ahead of him on a bicycle and fastened the pocket book to the wire. I rode away, heard an explosition an hour afterward. A man named Wally was killed. Judge Gabbert had passed without noticing the pocket book."

He said former Adjutant-General Sherman Bell, who had helped break up a strike, next was selected.

Wanted Too Much Money.

Orchard said Moyer told him they should get rid of Johnny Neville, "who knew too much about the Independence Depot affair and was demanding money." Haywood, Orchard continued, "said we ought to get ex-Governor Steunenberg. He thought that if we got him after letting him go seven or eight years, and then went back to Paterson, N. J., and wrote letters to Judge Gabbert, Judge Goddard, Peabory, Bell and the others, telling them they were not forgotten either, that would have a good effect. Moyer said it would better than killing them.

Ran Cheese Factory.

Brighton, June 7.—Alfred Horsley, alias Harry Orchard, the self-confessed assassin of ex-Governor Steunenberg now a witness in the trial at Boise, Idaho, ran a cheese factory about a mile west of here for a number of years. Not making much of a success at that, he left here for Vancouver about 1898, and has not been heard of since until the present trial opened.

ENGINEER COMMITTED.

C. P. R. Man Must Stand Trial on Charge of Manslaughter.

St. Thomas, Ont., June 7.—Magistrate Hunt yesterday committed Murray Stephens, former Wabash engineer, for trial on the charge of manslaughter, as the result of the death of Canadian Pacific Engineer John A. McKay, Toronto Junction, in the wreck at the diamond crossing last August.

James Potts, Stephens' fireman, swore that Stephens put on the brakes while approaching the semaphore, which was down, and released the air brake, but was forced to re-apply it when the signal was thrown up in his face. The second application of the brakes, although accompanied by the use of sand, failed to stop the train, owing to the charge having been used on the first application.

T. W. Crothers argued for non-committal on the grounds that the crossing watchman was incompetent, and the officials were to blame for not enforcing the rule which says all trains must stop on approaching diamonds.

TURKISH ARMY BEATEN.

Force of Six Battalions Defeated by the Arabs.

Constantinople, June 7.—According to the latest reports from Hodeida, a Turkish force of six battalions has suffered a severe defeat at the hands of the Arabs, near Sana, and after the retreat of the Turks the city itself mutinied. Rumors are current that the Arabs, taking advantage of the confusion resulting from the mutiny, succeeded in regaining possession of the capital.

It is not unlikely that the rumors will be confirmed, as the recent news from Yemen has been uniformly bad. It has been known that the communications between Hodeida and Sana were not very good, and that insubordination was rife among the troops. Even at Hodeida there has been trouble with the garrison, and quite recently the water supply of the town was cut off for nearly two days by the mutineers, who went so far as to threaten to bombard the city if their demands were not granted.

TO AVENGE BARILLA'S DEATH.

Two Morales Get Death Sentence For Murder.

Mexico City, June 7.—Florence Morales and Bernardo Morales were found guilty Wednesday night of murdering Manuel Barisalas of Guatemala, in this city on the night of April 7 last.

The jury which returned the verdict was out one hour and forty minutes.

Upon the announcement of the verdict the two defenders of the assassins asked for clemency, citing the provision for 20 years' imprisonment. The court took the matter under advisement, and in thirty minutes returned, pronouncing the death sentence.

FIRE BUGS START BLAZE

Deliberate Attempt to Destroy the Whole City.

Fires Break Out Simultaneously In Several Quarters of Allentown—Business Section Suffers Heavily—False Alarms Given From Suburbs—Three Men Arrested On Suspicion—Total Loss $125,000.

Allentown, Pa., June 7.—What was apparently an effort of incendiaries to destroy the City of Allentown occurred here early yesterday when firemen were called almost simultaneously to fight three fires in the business section of the city.

The first fire occurred in the stockhouse of Bitner, Hunsicker and Company, one of the largest dry goods houses in the Lehigh Valley, the second in the Prince Furniture Company building, and the third at the furniture factory of Helfrich, Bohner and Co. An effort was made to draw the firemen from the business section by turning in false alarms from remote residential sections of the city. Total loss was $125,000.

Three arrests on suspicion were made.

TWO RAILWAYMEN KILLED.

Disastrous Collision At Shawinigan Junction.

Montreal, June 7.—Further details of the train accident at Shawinigan Junction Wednesday night show that the special train in charge of Conductor Dicare ran into an engine engaged in shunting at Shawinigan Junction yard. Brakeman A. Desjardines was killed instantaneously, and Fireman A. Doyer was so seriously injured that he died shortly after the accident. No details as to the cause of the accident, which will form the subject of an official investigation and a coroner's inquest, have yet come to hand. Engineers of the train, locomotive and shunting engine escaped without hurt. Both engines were smashed up, and several cars were badly damaged. The line was blocked for many hours with the wreckage, but was cleared for traffic this morning. The two men who lost their lives were residents of Montreal.

FATAL AUTOMOBILE RACE.

Auto Crashes Into Car — One Man Killed and Two Injured.

Albany, N. Y., June 7.—The 200-mile endurance automobile race, run under the auspices of the New York Motor Club, ended in the loss of one life and the serious, if not fatal, injury to two other persons, about three miles east of Albany, shortly after 6 o'clock last night, when one of the automobiles crashed into an electric car.

Clarence McKenzie of New York, president of the Standard Brake Co., was killed instantly.

W. H. Mosher, a bicycle policeman, New York City, and W. J. Swan, New London, Conn., chauffeur, are in local hospitals.

Badly Injured by Fall.

Brockville, June 7.—Archie Kennedy, an Alexandria Bay lad, is in the hospital here, suffering from concussion of the brain and a fractured collar-bone, as the result of a fall. He was playing with several companions when some of them dared him to climb a telegraph pole. He reached the top safely, but when astride a cross-bar at the top grasped a live wire and fell to the ground, a distance of 40 feet.

No Trading on Bourse.

Genoa, Italy, June 7.—Trading on the local Bourse was suspended yesterday, owing to the heavy losses involved in the monthly settlement, amounting to about $2,400,000. The suspension of operations on the Bourse was followed by the announcement that the brokers declined to transact any further business, thus creating an exceptional position.

The newspapers are asking the Government to intervene.

Against Fake Medicine Ads.

Rochester, N.Y., June 7.—Mrs. Frank J. Shuller, Fort Erie, Ont., was yesterday elected president of the Federation of Women's Literary and Educational Organization of Western New York.

A resolution was passed that the organization pledges itself to a campaign against newspapers publishing fake medicine advertisements.

Police Force Arrested.

Halifax, June 7.—Four men, representing the entire police, Dominion, C. B., were arrested yesterday on warrants charging them with unlawfully entering the house of Richard O'Connell, to serve papers under a Scott Act case.

The policemen found the house locked and forced an entrance and arrested O'Connell.

Three Days In Penitentiary.

Kingston, June 7.—After three days' incarceration in the penitentiary Miss M. Barber of Sweetsburg, Que., was released by order of the Minister of Justice, who found the charge and conviction irregular. She was given three years for concealment of birth.

Sentenced For Stealing.

Belleville, June 7.—Two boys, Stanley and Charles Belch, who pleaded guilty to breaking into G.T.R. freight cars and stealing, were yesterday sentenced to indefinite terms in the Industrial School.

Fire at Belleville.

Belleville, June 7.—The livery and sale stables of I. A. Jenkins & Son were destroyed by fire at three o'clock yesterday morning. Loss about $3,000.

Col. Cartwright Resigns.

JAP PRESS OUTSPOKEN.

San Francisco Outrages May Cause Rupture of Traditional Friendship.

Tokio, June 7.—The Nichi-Nichi, commenting on Japanese and American relations yesterday, says:

"Even traditional friendship will not escape a rupture should incidents like these that have occurred in San Francisco be repeated. Whether the sufferers are school children or restaurant keepers, and the site of persecution be limited to California, it does not alter the fact that our compatriots are victims of anti-Japanese outrages.

"Japanese go there under treaty protection.

"President Roosevelt's enlightened message to the last Congress was received here with eminent satisfaction, but actual developments since are a total failure.

"What we want are not so many expressions of civilized sentiments, but one act of efficient protection of the treaty rights of Japanese.

"The waste paper box is no destination for a treaty between Japan and the United States."

The general tone of the Japanese press is becoming outspoken, and unless an assurance in some form is made to ensure the safety of Japanese in San Francisco, it is feared that the friendly relations between both nations will be endangered.

Count Okuma, leader of the Progressives, is outspoken as usual, but it should be remembered that, while deserving of consideration, his being out of office permits him a free expression of his opinions. Count Okuma generally occupies the position of critic. When in power his Cabinet lived only a few months.

CHARGES AGAINST SCHMITZ.

Investigation Started Into Charges Against San Francisco's Mayor.

San Francisco, June 7.—The opening address for the prosecution by Assistant District Attorney Heney, the partial examination of chief of ex-Police Commissioner Thomas Regan, the introduction as evidence of much data from the minute books of the Police Commission, for the years 1904 and 1905, and the questioning in relation thereto of the secretary of the commission, Officer Charles F. Skully, were the proceedings in the first day of the trial of Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz for alleged extortion of money from keepers of French restaurants.

Attorney Heney, in his statement to the jury, charged the Mayor and Abraham Ruef, jointly indicted with Schmitz on this charge, with plotting to "carrying on a systematic scheme of blackmail" through the Police Commission.

POPE RECEIVES LAURIER.

Premier, Brodeur and Families Given Private Audience.

Rome, June 7.—The Pope yesterday received in private audience Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, and L. P. Brodeur, the Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and their families.

The Pontiff informed his visitors that he followed with affectionate interest the progress made by the Dominion.

Sir Wilfrid afterwards had two private interviews with Cardinal Merry del Val.

May Be Girl Who Eloped.

New York, June 7.—The body of a girl, which the police believe may be that of Floretta Whaley, who eloped from Hempstead L.I., with Rev. Jere K. Coke, a former minister in that town, on April 30, was found in the Harlem River, near 162nd street yesterday. The body had been in the water about ten days. It was that of a girl about 16 years old, 130 pounds in weight, with blue eyes and brown hair. The police of Hempstead have been asked to come here to view the body.

Gets Government Position.

Halifax, June 7.—A. J. Boyd of River Bourgeoise, Cape Breton, has been appointed superintendent of Indian agencies for Nova Scotia by the Dominion Government. The position is a newly-created one. The salary is $2,000 a year.

Boyd was a successful Liberal candidate in a local bye-election in December, 1904.

Tried to Kill Grand Duke.

St. Petersburg, June 7.—An attempt to kill Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, younger brother of Emperor Nicholas, was made yesterday.

Piles of stones blocking the highway were placed on the road leading to Tsarskoe-Selo, on which the grand duke was automobiling. The obstruction was noticed in the nick of time.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

CHAPTER XI.

Waldemar Waldron led his companion silently through the deep green coppice wood until they reached the high stone wall that closed in the spacious grounds of Waldron Towers.

He swung open the massive gate, and together they entered the house.

The old butler who admitted them stared in amazement at the unusual sight of a visitor accompany his young master.

"Let us have tea at once in my rooms, Mason," he said to the servant. "The accommodations here are such as do not warrant guests," laughed Waldron. "The dining-room here is a luxury of the past. There are scarcely half a dozen inhabitable rooms about the place," he added, turning to his companion.

"I wonder you can content yourself stopping here," commented Donald Gray. "I should imagine you were a young gentleman who enjoyed gayety and plenty of life."

"So I do," asserted Waldron. "This place was left to me by the death of a relative two years ago, yet I did not trouble myself to look after it until last summer. I took a run down here from Washington then, and have paid visits off and on since."

By this time they had reached the western wing, in which were situated Waldron's suite of rooms, as he called it, and were soon doing justice to a hearty supper.

"Now then," said Waldron, as they sat over their wine, "what was the plan you were speaking of in reference to Chesleigh? You said the old general was about to put a new scheme into execution."

"I do not know that I ought to disclose affairs wh[illegible] were never destined for my e[illegible]ear," objected the detective, modestly.

Waldron was about to retort, but at that instant a strange sound echoed distinctly through the high vaulted rooms—a sound which brought the swift color into Waldemar Waldron's face, and a glance of uneasiness into his eyes.

"These old shutters creaking to and fro on their hinges make unearthly noises," he said, rising instantly and closing the door.

"I did not hear them," observed young Gray, innocently.

The master of the Towers looked, as he felt, wonderfully relieved at those words.

The detective had heard the unusual sound, however, and, quick as thought, had decided upon a plan of procedure. He must investigate it, if he had to explore the old Towers from top to bottom. Nothing must stand in his way.

An experienced detective is always prepared for such an emergency, and, quick as thought, when the master of the Towers turned toward the door to close it, he succeeded in dropping a few grains of a sleeping potion in his host's untasted wine.

The effect was—as he knew it would be—while he was explaining to Waldemar Waldron that it was the intention of General Hastings to make a will, leaving every dollar he possessed to Bernard Chesleigh, his host's eyes closed wearily, the fair Saxon head sank back among the velvet cushions of his arm-chair, and his deep breathing told Donald Gray the way was safe now from all intrusion to make the long-wished-for investigation of the Towers.

He must make the most of every moment, too, for the effects of the potion would not hold the young heir's senses in thraldom scarcely the hour out.

Snatching up a lighted taper, he hurriedly crossed the room and stepped out into the corridor.

If by chance he met one of the servants, he well knew his ready wit would stand him in good need. For half an hour or more the detective patiently investigated every nook and corner of the uncanny old ruins, finding, as a reward, little more than dust and emptiness.

"What occasioned the strange sound he had heard?" he asked himself, impatiently, as he traversed, one after the other, the subterranean passages.

Surely his senses had not been playing him false?

He was almost tempted to return to Waldron's apartments, and set this experiment down as another ignominious failure—when once again the same strange sound was repeated—this time with a startling clearness there was no mistaking, directly over his head.

He stood quite still for a moment to locate the exact place on the floor above, and as he raised his taper he saw—what had quite escaped his observation before, shrewd as he was—a narrow door, so like in color to the panels of the wall as to be hardly noticeable to those unaware of its existence there.

In an instant the young detective flung it open, and advanced carefully and cautiously up the narrow carpeted stairway which it revealed.

Zephra "At Home" Enjoyable Event

Jolly Time at Foresters' Hall Last Night—Little Folks Also Entertained

The "At Home" arranged by Mr. H. J. Booth for those who took part in the operatic spectacle, "Queen Zephra," which was presented here some time ago, was held in the Foresters' hall yesterday afternoon and evening, and proved a delightful event. The only regrettable feature was the unavoidable absence of Mr Booth, who was called away from the city owing to the illness of a near relative. Everyone would have been delighted to have Mr. Booth present, and regrets at his absence were expressed on all sids.

In the afternoon the children who took part in the presentation of "Queen Zephra" were entertained at the hall. Sumptuous refreshments were provided for the little folks, and there was a big demand for ice cream and other dishes that boys and girls are especially fond of. A number of ladies were present to see that everybody had a good time, and the children enjoyed themselves to their heart's content.

At night there was a short programme, followed by a jolly little dance, that was greatly enjoyed by those present. An interesting feature of the programme was the fact that several of the numbers were the same as those given in Zephra. The programme opened with a well rendered piano solo by Miss Kate Graham, followed by a solo dance by Miss Jessie Spence. This dance was one of the hits of Zephra, and it was no less popular last night. Miss Spence's dancing is grace personified, and was received with great enthusiasm. A vocal solo by Mr. J. Watt was sung in his usual charming manner. Then came the dance of the "Blackbirds," which was given with the same grace and beauty of movement as in "Queen Zephra." Those who took part in it showed that they had forgotten none of the cleverness that made the "Blackbirds" such a big success before. This completed the programme and the dance then took place. Excellent music was supplied by different pianists who were present, and everything passed off most successfully. About eleven o'clock refreshments were served, and afterwards dancing was kept up until twelve o'clock, when the gathering dispersed.

Neatly printed and artistic programmes were distributed to those present, and will no doubt be highly prized as souvenirs of the occasion. Each dance was named after one of the different exercises in Zephra, which tended to remind those present of the pleasant associations formed at the time of the presentation of the opera.

Mr. R Giddon was master of ceremonies, and saw that everything ran smoothly.

The "A. Home" was a great success in every respect, and will long be remembered by those present.

TWO APPEALS WERE DISMISSED

Kendry vs Richmond and Hastings vs Poussette in Court of Appeal

In the Court of Appeals at Osgoode Hall, yesterday, the following two cases were heard.—

Kendry vs. Richmond—A. P. Poussette, K. C., for defendant, appealed from judgment of Riddell, J., dated 8th April, 1907. The plaintiff, a factory superintendent, and the defendant, a photographer, both resided in Peterborough. In August, 1906, the plaintiff entered into an agreement to sell to the defendant certain property that plaintiff had been using as a chicken farm. Defendant at once entered into possession and shortly afterwards found that instead of eight hundred chickens on the farm as represented, there were less than five hundred. Defendant thereupon refused to carry out the provisions of the agreement and went out of possession in the following month. The plaintiff brought this action to recover $1,000 damages. At the trial at Peterborough on April 8th last judgment was given for the plaintiff for the full amount of claim and costs. D. O'Connell, Peterborough, for plaintiff, opposed appeal. Appeal dismissed with costs.

Hastings vs. Poussette—A. P. Poussette, K. C., defendant in person, appealed from judgment of Judge of County Court of York, in Chambers, dated 11th May, 1907, allowing plaintiff to enter summary judgment in an action upon a check for $300 made by defendant to one Friedman, and indorsed to plaintiff. Defendant set up that the check was to be cashed only upon a certain condition, which was not fulfilled. R. H. Greer, for plaintiff opposed appeal. By consent appeal dismissed without costs.

Placing Men in the Factories

Mr J. Dieltz, of Montreal, is in the city today and called upon all the large manufacturing concerns for the purpose of ascertaining the conditions of labor and whether or not more men could be placed here. Mr. Dieltz is registered at the National Hotel and came here from Hespeler and vicinity, where he secured employment for two hundred men. He expects to place quite a number here.

Washington, June 7.—Secretary of State Root has informed the Government of France that he is prepared to extend to the French Chambers of Commerce the same privileges relative to the certification of invoices in the case of goods exported to America as are accorded to the German Chambers of Commerce under the recent modus vivendi.

Small Catch This Year.

Halifax, June 7.—A wireless telegram from Prospect, near the mouth of Halifax harbor, last night, says:

Already they have seeded 125 acres in wheat and 54 acres in oats, besides a large acreage of hay. They report crop prospects very bright, and have every reason to believe that they will get along all right.

Surveyors Had Narrow Escape

While two of the Government surveyors, Messrs. McLaughlin and Birmingham, in company with two assistants were at work on the river, above Stephens' mill, their boat upset, throwing all the occupants out, says the Campbellford Herald. Three of the men reached shore with little difficulty. The other young man, Mr. Birmingham became in some way, entangled in a rope, and found difficulty in coming to the surface of the water. He reached shore however, very much exhausted, having had a narrow escape from being drowned. A valuable hydraulic instrument was also lost in the river.

4167.—A SMALLL DRESS OF PERSIAN LAWN.

We find the bolero in little folk's dresses as well as in those of grown-ups and pretty gown in which this is very pleasing is shown. Here it serves the purpose of a yoke and from it depends the full skirt portion. The dress is intended for development in washing stuffs, but a supple cloth might be used with success. The sleeves may be long or in short puff style, the latter being appropriate for party frocks. Bands of insertion adorn the dress shown as well as allover embroidery which forms the yoke and collar and a ruffle to match finishing the bottom. If greater simplicity is desired, the latter may be plain material hemstitched or machine stitched. The pattern calls for 2 3-4 yards of 27 inch goods.

4167.—Sizes 1-2, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Broughall, of St. Stephen's church, in the bow window of the drawing room, which was banked with palms and flowers. The bride, who was brought in and given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory Liberty satin, seeded with pearls, and berthe of handmade lace, the gift of the groom's mother. Her tulle veil was arranged over a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Florence Bell, the sister of the groom, wearing pink rajah silk, and carrying a shower of lilies of the valley. Mr. Norman Bell, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Marjorie Fitzgibbon played the wedding march, and during the service, Miss Gertrude Morrow sang "For All Eternity."

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs Bell left to spend their honeymoon in Montreal and Quebec, the bride travelling in golden brown voile, with bands of brown velvet, brown hat, adorned with lace and roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a triple diamond ring, to the bridesmaid, a pearl necklet, and to the best man gold cuff links.

Arranging for the New Office

W. J. Carmichael of the Bell Telephone Co. in the City To-day

Mr W. J. Carmichael, of Montreal, superintendent of construction for the Bell Telephone Company, is in the city today in consultation with Mr. F. W. Doan, the manager of the local branch. Mr. Carmichael came here from Brantford, arriving at noon, and he will take up the matter of erecting the new office building. This structure will be on Hunter street, just west of Belleghem's undertaking and furniture establishment, and the company are anxious to get things settled immediately, as they need the new office. Coupled with the building proposition is the underground work on the principal business streets in the city. There is little possibility of one without the other, and as long as the old office in the market building is occupied, no underground work will be done. Last year the company was very anxious to put its wires under ground, but a satisfactory arrangement could not be made with the City Council. This year the company will again make application to the Council, and there is every reason to believe that the work will be proceeded with, as the city is anxious to get the poles off the streets, and the company want to get into the new office.

The Battery is only entitled to take 105 men and it is expected that the full number will go this year. The only thing lacking is horses. A large number of animals are wanted and good prices will be paid for them.

Mr. Peter Simons Passes Away

Well Known George Street Merchant Tailor Dies From Pneumonia

A large number of people were shocked this morning to learn of the sudden and totally unexpected death of Mr. Peter Simons, the well-known George Street tailor, whose death occurred last night at 9.30 o'clock at his late residence, 311 Rubidge street. The late Mr. Simons was one of the most widely known business men of Peterborough. He was liked by everyone and was to be seen at nearly all hours of the day, standing in or near the doorway of his store on George street, pleasantly chatting to some one. He was always smiling and his attitude to his customers and friends was ever pleasant and courteous. He had been in business on George street for nearly twenty years and was a first-class tailor.

The deceased, although he had a cold for some time, had only been confined to his bed since Tuesday. His death was due to acute pneumonia. The last rites of his church were administered by Rev. Father Galvin. His nephew, Rev. Father Kelly was with him to the end. Mr Simons was sixty-three years of age and was born in Brockville, but had lived nearly all his life in this city. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Boyle, who survives him. Four boys and four girls are left to mourn his loss. One daughter, Mrs. E. White, predeceased him a year ago. The daughters are Mrs. F. A. Shannon of this city, Miss Lillie Simons of Thompson's Memorial hospital, Canandaigua, and Misses Annie and Nellie at home. The sons are Messrs Peter and James of this city, Daniel of Boston, and Dick of Altoona, Pa. The late Mr. Simons was a member of the C.M.B.A.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock from the family residence, 311 Rubidge street, to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

H. LeBRUN & CO., GEORGE and HUNTER STS. TWO ENTRANCES

City Council Should go Slow on Local Improvements This Year

Ald. Stevenson Draws Attention of the Alderman to the Stringency of the Money Market—Debentures Can no Longer be Sold at 4%—Even at 4 1-2% Will be Hard to Sell.

(A note of warning was thrown out to the aldermen at the Council meeting last Monday night by Ald. Arthur Stevenson, which should cause the aldermen to stop a few moments and consider. The question was raised when the Board of Works report was under discussion. As usual quite a number of items were included, such as new walks, sewers, etc, which were recommended to be built. Every week the Board of Works has recommended expenditure until now a large portion of the appropriation has been placed, and a very large increase in the debenture debt for local improvements is looked for.

Ald. Stevenson in rising to speak did not wish to discredit anything the Board of Works or any other committee had undertaken. He believe that for the most part all the work contemplated is necessary and will improve the appearance of the city. Neither did he wish to suggest that the credit of the city was not as good as it has been. The city's credit is just as good as ever and a great deal better than a great many places.

What Ald. Stevenson wished to bring to the attention of the aldermen was that the money market is anything but favorable and it is getting worse all the time. The demand for money has greatly increased during the past year or two and the banks and financial institutions are shoving up the rates of interest and discount, and it is going to be very difficult to dispose of the city's debentures.

Ald. Stevenson's remarks at the council meeting were, in effect, as follows, The city should spend this year in permanent improvements no more money than is absolutely necessary. Despite the fact that the credit of the city is high it cannot be expected that we can borrow money at less than the market prices, and this year the market price is exceptionally high. Now a high rate of interest for one year would be a small matter, but when it is considered that the debentures to be issued to pay for these improvements will extend over thirty years the matter of the interest becomes of more concern. Last year the current rate at which the city could issue its debentures was 4 per cent. Today they must bear 4 1-2 per cent. in order to be saleable, the meaning of which is that $1,000.00 debentures bearing 4 per cent would last year be sold for $1,000.00 while this year it will produce only $979.00, or in other words that this is a most inopportune year in which to push our improvements. Cities like Brantford last year sold their securities bearing 4 per cent. at par this year they are offered at 4 1-2 per cent and it is not safe to count on making sales at even these rates since the money market appears, if anything, to be getting more stringent. Gilt-edged bank stocks, such as Molsons, quite as good a security as any municipal debenture, are now quoted at a price to give a return of 5 per cent. on the money invested, and it is questionable whether money can be turned away from such alluring investments by the offer of even 4 1-2 per cent. on municipal securities. It is said that the expenditure being incurred is chargeable to the properties benefitted and that the owners of these properties have petitioned for the doing of the work. But it should not be forgotten that about half of all money expended on local improvements is not paid for by those petitioning but by the general public and that the ordinary taxpayer is interested to this proportion. A large amount of money will have to be provided—nearly $100,000—to pay for what has already been done, and for the expenditures of the School Board on their new building, and it would appear to be wise now to curtail our expenditures within the narrowest limits in the face of so palpable a stringency in money. We have heretofore borrowed money at 3, 3 1-2 and 4 per cent. Do not let us take any of the risk of having to pay nearly 5 per cent.

ANOTHER DOG FALLS A VICTIM

Mr. John Kerr, East City, has lost his valuable collie dog by poisoning. It passed away last night about six o'clock. It apparently was all right until a short time previous but suddenly became sick and soon after died. Mr. Kerr had this collie for a great many years, and he feels its loss very keenly. The canine was a fine looking animal. This is another dastardly act of the dog poisoner. It is hoped his work will soon be brought to an end.

Mrs. Richards Sent to County Gaol

Will Spend Fifteen Days on Hill —Is Regarded as Nuisance

Mrs. Susan Richards was fined five dollars to be paid forthwith, in police count this morning, for being drunk on the public streets. She had not the necessary so will have to spend fifteen days in gaol. She asked to be allowed until tomorrow to pay the fine. She is regarded as a public nuisance and it was thought the best place for her would be on the hill. As she came out of cell where she had spent the night, she reminded one of the favorite song hit in the Royal Chef, "But in the morning!" After her own case had been concluded she had a charge against her son, John Richards, for assaulting her on Wednesday evening last.

Mr F. D. HKerr appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty.

Mrs. Richards was the first to give evidence. She stated that she was at Mrs. Kerr's and her son came and ordered her away. He seized her by the throat and put her out. He had been the means of bringing her out to this country and then he turned her outdoors without any where to go. She said that he claims he does not drink, but Mrs. Richards says that he can drink her out of sight.

The son went into the box and denied everything.

His Worship dismissed the case.

Will be Opened on George Street Next to C. R. Banks

The demand for souvenir and fancy post cards in this city must be exceedingly great, as is evidenced by the fact that a local man is going to open a store on George street, which will be devoted entirely to the sale of souvenir post cards and pyrography outfits. The store is the one next to Mr. C. R. Banks' sporting goods' establishment. It is expeotde that it will be ready tomorrow, and will be known as the souvenir card store. All the latest and newest things in postals will be sold, and no doubt it will be largely patronized. It speaks well for the progressiveness of Peterborough, that a store devoted exclusively to these articles is to be opened.

The Church and the Cigarette

At the Bay of Quinte Conference —Rev. R. Duke Chosen President

Bowmanville, Ont., June 6.—At the morning session of the Bay of Quinte Methodist conference, the election for president took place, when Rev. R. Duke of Newburgh, was the conference's choice. Mr. Duke has been in this country thirty-one years and was born at Cork, Ireland. Before the union he was a Wesleyan Methodist. Rev. C. H. Coon was elected as secretary. He is the new pastor to the Mark Street Church, at Peterborough.

At the afternoon session, Rev. J. P. Wilson, chairman of the Nominating Committee, presented the report. Rev. J. G. Lewis, and Mr. J. J. Mason were elected as assistant secretaries, and Rev. M. E. Sexsmith, journal secretary, Rev. W. P. Rogers, statistical secretary, Rev. J. Garbutt and Mr. Deroche, letter writers.

The report of the Union Church Relief Fund was presented and adopted. Rev. W. J. Graham, assistant secretary of the General Board of Education, addressed the Conference at some length, urging upon the conference a united effort to raise the sum of $44,000, which amount was required. The Mayor and a deputation from the Town Council, extended the conference the freedom of the town. Rev. J. Butler was appointed chairman of the Union Church Relief Fund, instead of Rev. J. P. Berry, who has been transferred to the northwest.

A communication was read from Dr. Withrow, regarding the circulation of Sunday school literature. A communication from Flora York Miller, corresponding secretary of the Ontario Women's Christian Temperance Union was received. The letter suggested that the conference pass a strong resolution against the use of tobacco in the form of cigarettes, and that such resolution be forwarded to Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

A resolution of sympathy was passed to Rev. Dr. Potts, secretary of the Education Department on his ill health. The report from the statistical committee called forth considerable discussion and was finally on motion referred to the educational committee to ascertain the cause for the decrease in the Sabbath school attendance.

STOCK MARKET QUOTATIONS

New York, June 7.—Developments this morning were not unfavorable and there was further short covering, under the influence of bullish manipulation, throughout the general list. which gave firm undertone and indications of raised support from time to time, evidently with the intention of forcing a retreat shortage in leading stocks. There was a higher range produced, and the buying, while desultory, was persistent, and kept the shorts from covering, except at advancing prices. The rise was fought by a majority of the professionals, who are hoping for a break on the prospect of the bank statement tomorrow. The indications at this time are favorable to purchases of standard stocks on all moderate reactions, especially Southern Pacific and M.K. & T. issues. The closing was firm near the best of the day.

"Go to Guelph" the Watchward

June is the month of farmers' institutes and Guelph excursions. The young farmer who marries ought to make this trip a part of his wedding journey. Every farmer, old and young, ought to spend another day at the great agricultural university of North America. He should assemble his ideas at this great clearing house and carry back to his home farm the great and growing importance of making agriculture a science in fact as well as in theory

Her heart goes hand in hand with science, and they are both necessary to the generation of a profitable, instructive, helpful and useful life in our Canadian populace.

Don't be one of those humbugs who are constantly ranting, that theory has no place on the farm. Science is everything with the active farmer. The lazy man, the bull-headed man and the fool are in one class. That class stands foot in our school of farming.

CANADIAN GIRLS AND ZAM-BUK

Girls who are fond of canoeing, tennis, rowing, golf and other outdoor sports find Zam-Buk invaluable as well as do their male friends, who are engaged in the same sports, and baseball, etc. A smarting, blistered, hand from a rough paddle is at once relieved by a little Zam-Buk. A bruise, a "sunburn patch," the pain from insect stings, a sore foot caused by a chafing shoe, a burn at a picnic fire—for all these Zam-Buk is a quick cure.

Don't think because Zam-Buk is prescribed by doctors and used for the most serious skin diseases and injuries, that it is only useful for serious cases. What cures a serious skin injury can soon end a less serious one.

Mothers will find Zam-Buk useful for the heat rashes and skin troubles to which young children are subject in the hot weather. Remember always that Zam Buk is made from pure herbal essences, contains no mineral coloring matter and is thus best for the tender skins of infants.

All stores and druggists sell at 50c. a box, or post free, from the Zam Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 6 boxes for $2.50.

Range Lights for Scugog River

Will Greatly Aid Navigation—Steamboat Man Pleased

Superintendent J. H. McClelland, of the Trent Canal, was in town last evening, says the Lindsay Post, for a few hours, having arrived from Kirkfield lift lock, on the government tug Bob Hall. In conversation with a representative of the Evening Post, river matters, naturally came to the fore, when Supt. McClelland made the welcome announcement that in the course of a week or two the devious channel of the Scugog between this town and the lake would be marked out at its most dangerous points by means of twelve range lights, which will burn all night. The placing of these lights in their proper positions will be a matter of some little difficulty, but the advice of old mariners will be cheerfully given to the men appointed to erect the lights and in case of a difference of opinion, Mr. Rube Morgan will no doubt be willing to act as sole judge, although quite a few others have scraped intimate acquaintance with the shoals, weed beds, and nasty stumps found along the route when no one is looking for them. At any rate the lights will be a Godsend to all who make use of the river for business or pleasure, and Mr. R. J. McLaughlin of this town, who has pressed for and secured the promise of their erection, is entitled to the thanks of all boatmen.

BOARD OF WORKS HAS UNDERTAKEN AN IMMENSE AMOUNT OF WORK THIS YEAR

Rebuilding Water Street North—Widening and Straightening the Road—Opening Road to Lift Lock—Extension of George and Aylmer Streets—New Concrete Crossings—Sidewalks and Sewer Work and the Diversion of Streams.

Although the spring was very late in opening up and the usual work was late in starting, to say nothing of the many delays since the Board of Works department of the city has made great progress. There are now about one hundred men on the pay sheets and these are divided into some seven or eight gangs. They are engaged in road making, street extensions, sewers, granolithic sidewalks and granolithic crossings. Every man is working hard and the different undertakings are being pushed ahead very rapidly. For this the Board of Works, and especially Chairman Duncan, deserve great credit. These men have very little time to spare either night or day.

Among the very commendable jobs that have been undertaken this year is the repairs to Water street north.

For several years there have been very bitter complaints about that highway, which is one of the most important entrances to the city. From the gravel pit towards the city for a distance of about half a mile the road was worse than any stretch between here and Apsley. Farmers were kicking and the city people were kicking, until at last the Board of Works got busy and paid attention to the needs of the north end.

Last year the Board of Works undertook to put this street into proper condition. A stretch of the roadbed was torn up, new material was drawn on and the roller was run over it and made a splendid job of it But as the work had been taken up late in the season the money was limited. Many demands were made upon the Board and in order to fix up several smaller jobs the big undertaking had to be abandoned.

This year, however, the Board of Works was determined that Water street should be made to look what it was—the leading entrance to the city Therefore, the first thing undertaken was to get the stone crusher in operation and the crushed stone drawn onto the street. A large quantity of material has been taken from the pit and a first class job is being done. In building up the bed rough stone was used first, and this was covered with smaller stone and then another layer of fine stone was put on and the roller run over it, making it practically as solid and smooth as a regular macadam road. The work is nearly completed and in a short time the farmers coming in that way will not know the city.

CHANGE THE BOUNDARY

Another decided improvement to Water street is being made on the west side in front of the Colonial Weaving Co.'s mills. At this point the street makes a sharp curve and the road is very narrow. The Board has secured the consent of the City Trust Commissioners to take 10 feet off the Hilliard farm about five hundred feet long. This will provide a full width street and will straighten it out considerably. The fence around the farm will be moved back ten feet and a new walk will be laid along the west side, which will, when finished, make a very handsome street.

ROAD TO LIFT LOCK.

Ever since the lift lock was opened there has been a constant cry for a respectable roadway leading from the end of Hunter street east, through the Armour estate, to the locks. The Board of Works last year after great trouble succeeded in getting a deed from the "Armour's for a right-of-way. This year the Board of Works have continued this work and are now lowering the grade and putting the road into good shape so that visitors to the city and the citizens themselves will not be in danger of falling over stones, stumps, fences, etc. in getting to the locks which are one of the greatest advertising features the city has.

GEORGE AND AYLMER STS.

Another important work undertaken this year, which was left over from last year and from several years before, is the extension of George street from Lake street to the exhibition grounds, and the extension of Aylmer street from Lake street, past the new King Edward school to the driving park. These extensions have been urged in the council and negotiations have been carried on for the past four years, and the result has been that the price of the land required has been greatly increased. This year the Board of Works determined to end the play and at the same time to save money for the city.

The land has all been purchased for George street, and the work is about completed, and as soon as the difficulty in connection with crossing the G.T.R. tracks is settled, the whole street will be opened to the boundary line.

The building of the King Edward school and the very rapid development of the south and south-western part of the city, has made the opening of Aylmer street south from Lake street, a more urgent necessity than it otherwise would have been. This work, has, however, been advocated for years, and arrangements will soon be complete, unless the property owners prove too unreasonable in the prices they ask. It is the intention just now to have a good road and walk to the new school by September 1st.

NEW CROSSINGS

No work that the city has undertaken will prove so generally satisfactory as the new concrete crossings the Board of Works are laying. The whole central part of the city is being improved by new walks across the street, and if the Board has done nothing else, it has performed a public service in this respect.

For a short time the committee has had two gangs putting down crossings, but at the last meeting it was decided to work only one gang. It is quite probable that before the season closes, all the leading streets in the city will be furnished with permanent crossings.

DIVERSION OF CREEKS.

The Board of Works is also carrying on the diversion of the creeks for which the people voted the money last January and the Ashburnham creek is now being pushed forward, and when it has been finished, the other two will be undertaken

CONCRETE WALKS.

The work of laying concrete walks is being carried on vigorously, last year's committee made a record when it constructed six and one-third miles but so great was the demand that at the close of the season there were still four and a half miles of then authorized or petitioned for. This year the Board will endeavor to clean up the slate, although the city will not proceed with any walk on its own initiative until those petitioned for last year, and up to the first of May this year, have been done.

In order to avoid loss resulting from breaking the gang into small sections it has been divided into two sections, one large one to handle all long stretches and a small one to do the short stretches.

Street Commissioner Harry Evans has charge of the small gang so as to leave him free to oversee other kinds of work. Mr. Thirnbeck has charge of the large gang, and is working in Ashburnham, where no walks were built last year.

SEWER CONSTRUCTION

Two gangs are also working on the sewers. The necessities of health call for the construction of many sewers and also as property owners find it impossible to dispose of property unless sewer connections are made. The Board will endeavor to complete all sewers petitioned for this year, and especially those that were asked for previous to May 1st.

If the Board of Works completes the above programme they will indeed make a record run. But it will cost a lot of money and the city's debenture debt will be greatly increased. Money, just, now, is very high, and the city will find it hard to sell debentures, even at 4 1-2 per cent

Chief Witness in Haywood Case

Alfred Horsley Alias Harry Orchard Born Near Cobourg —His Career

Harry Orchard, the principal witness against William D. Haywood, charged with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, yesterday at Boise, Idaho, continued his story of almost unparalleled crimes.

A Cobourg despatch says,—Alfred Horsley, cheesemaker at a factory north of Brighton, left this part of the country about 1896. His name is that to which Orchard confesses, and though the published picture is not a good likeness to Horsley, there is no doubt here as to his identity.

Horsley was born of respectable parents who kept a garden farm about two miles from Wooler. Wooler is a small place about eight miles from Brighton.

After working on the farm in his younger days, Horsley became a cheesemaker at Wooler, going afterwards to the Brighton factory.

Up to this time his record had been good, but he is said to have left the factory, after the occurrence of a fire. There was some investigation of the incident, but nothing proved.

Horsley was looked upon as a good cheesemaker, and is described as a hustler. He had an off-hand manner, and made friends easily, but, as one who knew him says, "He did not improve upon acquaintance."

Horsley left the country, but not alone. It is said he went with a woman who later returned to her husband. His wife was left deserted and has lived at Wooler up to this spring, where she has supported herself by working in an evaporator factory, and for farmers. She has one little girl. Horsley's parents are both dead. One brother lives at Wooler, where he is highly respected.

A telephone message from Brighton indicates that Horsley has a married sister living there. "Even as a boy" said a resident of Brighton, "Horsley showed the spirit of a gambler, and he was always very fond of gambling. Wooler was quite a place for playing cards, and Horsley was passionately fond of them." It is said the woman with whom Horsley disappeared belonged to Campbellford. She was away only a month.

County Councillor Henry Belford, who is in town today, has clinched the identity of the Idaho murderer. He knew Horsley as a barefoot boy says his name is Albert, not Alfred, and that he left this vicinity, about a dozen years ago. Mr. Belford had heard since of his being in the mining region, where Orchard became notorious.

As a boy he was quiet and unassuming. His mother was a good Christian woman, declared the councillor, and his father a hard-working man. They did not have the easiest struggle for existence. Mr. Belford thinks that Mrs. Horsley is in New Ontario. Others believe that she went to Campbellford.

San Francisco a Storm Centre; Existing Labor Conditions

San Francisco is bound to make United States history. Having contributed several interesting chapters, and one or two lamentable ones, heretofore, it has no intention of ceasing its efforts in that direction. A gigantic, overbearing, brutish labor organization, a trust in all its significance, now darkens the portals of San Francisco and threatens that stricken city with violence, and, mayhap, bloodshed. We have been given illustrations repeatedly of the brutality and excess of western strikers, and with Abe Rueff's classic epigram in mind anent the labor unionists of San Francisco; "They would eat the paint off the walls," we have no doubt that license unbridled will characterize their doings should trouble be precipitated. Looting and grafting have reigned undisturbed and unmolested, until recently, in San Francisco, and the chief participants in this orgie of public and private plunder were the labor unionists of San Francisco. There is an element of savagery, of vandalism in their doings since the earthquake, quite unparalleled by labor heretofore in any other section of the United States.

Arrogant, lawless and violent, they have shown a contempt not alone for their employers and for the citizens of San Francisco, but for the authority of the United States, even to the extent of involving us with a friendly foreign power, which necessitated the negotiation of a special treaty to avert most embarrassing results. Not content with this, the labor element in San Francisco has given the authorities at Washington renewed cause for uneasiness in its defiant attitude against the rights of Japanese subjects, resident in San Francisco, under the treaty aforementioned. We do not believe the situation will lead to hostilities between the United States and Japan Despite the vaporings of this effect in certain newspapers, the damage, if any, sustained by Japanese residents in the City of the Golden State, is not such that the arbitrament of war will be requisite to determine; and, trying as it must be to Japan's patience and restraint, when Japan is correctly informed of the riotous and lawless condition now prevalent in San Francisco, which the State of California is endeavoring to suppress, and learns that the Mayor of San Francisco, whose former associates are the cause of this trouble, is a self-confessed criminal already in the shadow of the penitentiary, it is not at all unlikely that Japan's sympathy will be evoked instead of her anger.

It is certainly a painful and humiliating situation for this great nation to be called upon to face; and it shows that the mining camp spirit and the Kearney "sand lot agitation," with its tenets of class hatred, leading to all kinds of violence and recklessness, is still rampant in San Francisco. The issue has already shifted from the Chinese to the Japanese, and it is to be hoped that a crushing defeat is in store for the men who are thus disgracing our Republic. A regular trust has been organized with the most unreasonable and exorbitant demands, and, in turn, this has given to the buildings erected fictitious and excessive valuations. Savings banks holding mortgages on same are now in trepidation lest the buildings depreciate—as, morally, they must—and their investments shrink in proportion No need to exaggerate the loss that this implies to thousands of persons. To prevent this inflation in values an attempt is to be made to reduce the price of labor to a reasonable basis. If labor refuses, the conflict will be on, and will not soon end It is the fruit of the graft-sowing of the Ruef and Schmitz gangsters, and we trust that when the end is reached the lesson will not be without its economic value to every community in America.—Wall Street Summary.

THE DIVORCE LAW

The laxity of the marriage law is eating into the heart of the American people. The sanctity of the marriage vow is lost under conditions which admit of divorce, under the most trivial pretexts. Notwithstanding all the agitation that there has been against the present practices of divorce, the evil steadily gains ground. With its present growth, there is required no stretch of imagination when marriage in the States will become a mere formality, the binding nature of which becomes wholly a matter of convenience with the contracting parties.

In comparing conditions in the Republic with those which prevail in Great Britain and Canada, one cannot but be struck with the tremendous difference that exists, and impressed with a feeling of gratification that in the matter of the marriage vow our laws demand an observance thereof with a rigidity that makes the securing of divorce a very difficult matter indeed. In discussing the question of divorce, an exchange says:—

"During the past twenty years a divorce has been granted every three minutes of the working hours of court officials. The record shows that during the twenty years prior to 1887 there were 33 divorces for every 1,000,000 inhabitants; for the subsequent twenty-four year period the number increased to 70 per 1,000,000 the total number being 1,200,000. To about two-thirds of the applicants are divorces issued. The report mentions as a remarkable fact that while the cities still furnish the most cases, the greatest increase in divorce is in the rural districts.

"Compared with these figures the record of Great Britain is striking, and that of Canada much more so. In the former, with a population of about 42,000,000, 787 divorces were granted last year; in Canada, whose population is probably over 6,000,000, the total number was 19.

"It has long been recognized that the greater the ease with which annulment of the marriage tie can be obtained, the less the sanctity of that tie is regarded, and the greater the frequency of recourse to the divorce court. It is notorious that in many states of the neighboring Republic decrees can be secured for the most trivial causes. Only this week the American papers recorded a case where a wife had made application for the reason that her husband was not of gentlemanly manners, and it would not be surprising to hear that her application was successful. These, too, collusion between ill-mated couples—husband and wife growing tired of each other, and for no other reason mutually agreeing to an easy passage of a decree—is responsible for much of the divorce in the United States. In Great Britain far greater difficulty is experienced. There the law provides power to grant a divorce at the suit of proof infidelity, and the suit of similar proofs coupled with cruelty or desertion without reasonable cause for over two years. In addition there must be corroboration of the petitioner's evidence of cruelty. But in Canada there is but one cause for divorce—that of infidelity. Indeed, there never was a law governing marriage placed on a British statute book as strict as the Dominion. Nor is there any demand for a loosening of that law, Canadians as a class preferring that ill-assorted couples grin and bear it to the bitter end, rather than have the law changed in a direction that would bring out conditions in any way approaching those which have become a crying evil in the United States."

"He that is not for us is against us," is as true of politics as of religion. No man can clap both candidates and both leaders on the back. In short, no man can be a man and a "mouse at the same time," as a genial son of Erin puts it, "The man who is trying that game on," says Dooley, "is not playin' fair. He's votin' fur himself." In the Roman army a soldier caught deserting to the enemy with the Roman colors on was hanged. If he had taken off the colors he got off with a few lashes. Elections are regarded as a necessary evil. They are not half so bad if they show up the weaklings and the crooks. Like Vesuvius, they rid the body of an odious burden.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country, than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case, it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MASSANOGA

A lake shaped something like a pair of spectacles, rather a pair of lakes joined by a passage some feet wide. A lake immensely deep in parts, with sunny bathing beaches, perfectly safe, along its shores. Beautiful woods all round, full of life, unspoil and largely untrodden. And, beetling over the water, just at the bridge of the spectacles, is the grand old rock, the crowning glory of Lake Massanoga. "The Gibraltar of Canada," it has been called, and fitly enough. A mile and more long, hundreds of feet high, rising sheer out of the calm waters of the lake, impressively beautiful by day, positively awe-inspiring in the moonlight, is this great stone mountain. In its shadows nestles Bon Echo Inn, as nearly perfect a summer hotel as one could wish to find. Hotel seems scarcely the word for Bon Echo, so home-like is it—the hotel feeling lasts no longer than it takes our genial host to express his welcome. Canoeing, sailing, rowing, swimming, all may be enjoyed at Massanoga, and down in the depths lurk gamey salmon trout. Massanoga is a resort recently discovered, and known to comparatively few Canadians. But for people who want to get near to nature, and yet not out of touch of civilization, who want to enjoy glorious air, brilliant sunshine, cool waters, and all the fascinations of a primitive region combined with the comforts of a modern summer resort, Massanoga is the place. The nearest railway station is Kaladar, 150 miles east of Toronto, on the C. P.R. Illustrated folder and full particulars will be gladly mailed upon request by C. B. Foster, district passenger agent, C.P.R., Toronto.3d

License Board to be Permanent

Free From Political Influence—Rumored Contents of Mr. Starr's Report

Toronto, June 6—The report of Mr. J. R. L. Starr, License Inquiry Commissioner, now in the hands of Government, promises to make some radical recommendations.

It is said that Mr. Starr has advised that the granting of licenses in Toronto be put in the hands of a board that will not be appointed from year to year, but will be clear of all political influences, and have a free hand in the granting and cancelling of licenses.

It is also recommended that no brewer or distiller, or wholesale dealer in liquors be granted a license for a place where they hold one dollar of equity and that the retail sale of liquor be separated entirely from the wholesale or manufacturing end of the business.

Another important recommendation deals with the apportionment of the license fees. The Commissioner advises the Government to return at least two-thirds of all money received from the license fees to the people, and while it is not made clear in what way the money will be spent, it is inferred that it would go to public institutions of various kinds.

Graft Evil in Canada is Greater Than Intemperance

Presbyterian General Assembly Discuss Social Problems.

Religion, Temperance and Sabbath Observance Dealt With—Drunkenness on Increase Out West—Vice Flaunts Itself Declares "Ralph Connor"—Church Not Doing All It Might, He Says.

Montreal, June 7.—A high and stirring note was sounded yesterday afternoon in the Presbyterian general assembly in connection with the report on church life and work. Along with it were taken up overtures from Halifax, Lunenburg and Yarmouth, Toronto and Kingston and Winnipeg presbyteries, all desiring a reversion to the former system by which religion and temperance, Sabbath observance and systematic giving were dealt with by different committees. The words may read coldly, but the great intellectual weight and influence of the men who took part in the discussion, and their intense earnestness produced an unwonted effect on those present. The whole matter was referred to a committee.

Dr. Pidgeon spoke of the need of leadership in moral reform. The Methodist Church was ahead in organization.

"Ralph Connor" declared that intemperance was on the increase west of the Great Lakes. He instanced a western brewery turning over $100,000 a month, 75 per cent. of which was profit. A friend had asked him what was the matter with Winnipeg. He had spent the previous half-hour refusing drinks. Canadians held down their heads on account of some in public life who were not a credit to us. Was the church doing all it could to improve the situation?

He instanced a western town where vice flaunted itself in silks and satins and the best customers of the merchants were representatives of vice. A Presbyterian missionary came on the scene and declared that those signs of vice must disappear, and they did. If they had a man or a committee to mass their forces they might do almost anything.

G. M. Macdonnell, K. C., Kingston, declared that Canada was not suffering a hundred part as much from intemperance as from graft.

Sixty-Five Miles by Water; Annual Olympic Excursion

Delightful Trip From Lakefield to Lindsay Through the Kawartha Lakes—Some of the Beauties and Scenes Along the Route—Summer Resorts all Ready and Only Waiting for Warmer Weather—A Most Picturesque Sail.

Eighteen years of continuous success is a record to review with pride. Such is the history of the Olympic excursion held yesterday, through the lakes from Lakefield to Lindsay,—a distance of sixty-five miles—by the staunch steamer Stony Lake.

It takes more than a cool day to keep those who attend this, the first outing of the season, at home. They always look back with pleasure on the annual jaunt the first week in the month of June, ever since 1889, when the excursion was instituted.

It is true that June, leafy, lovely June, misbehaved herself yesterday—has in fact all the week—and gave everybody a cold reception, whether on land or water, but that did not deter more than sixty persons gathering at the G. T. R. station yesterday morning and taking the train for Lakefield, where the splendid steamer Stony Lake was boarded.

A pleasant sail then began up the lakes, and, although the water was a bit choppy, good progress was made. The first stop was at Young's Point. Here the visitors were much surprised with the changes that have taken place. The new entrance pier on the south side of the lock adds much to the appearance of the spot, while the attractive steel bridge was much admired. It has been moved so that vehicles may pass over, without waiting for a boat to lock through as was the case with the old structure. Entering Clear Lake, the sail is certainly enjoyed, even if the scenery cannot be viewed with comfort from the deck, owing to climatic conditions.

A few minutes after eleven o'clock Burleigh is reached and the boat is locked through on its way from Stony Lake to Lovesick Lake. At the Burleigh locks there is a decided improvement. Modern lock gates have been installed and the latest appliances, while the surroundings generally are attractive. A number of the excursionists walked over from the wharf to the locks. Mine Host Darcy is preparing for a big summer business and already has had many inquiries from various parties. Some improvements are being made to the hotel, in the nature of concrete steps, painting, etc.

After leaving Burleigh and entering Lovesick Lake, the party is soon conveyed to the Lovesick locks, where Lock Master McFarlane has everything neat and natty—but not the usual quantity of bright flowers. He says weather is too cold. Then a sail through Deer Bay, brings the excursionists to Buckhorn of splendid fishing fame. The party soon make their way to Mine Host Tom Eastwood's place for dinner. He gives all a cordial welcome, and had everything in readiness. It is long after one o'clock, and the invaders are hungry. After satisfying the inner man, having a look around the village, and viewing the spot where the new concrete dam and bridge are to be placed, several hundred feet in front of the present one, the whistle of the steamer toots, and the sight seers must be off, after having a final view of Buckhorn, in which considerable building is going on. Tom Eastwood proved to be a genial boniface. The boat now enters little Buckhorn Lake, and then emerges into big Buckhorn Lake. She is heading for Bobcaygeon and the distance from Buckhorn to 'Caygeon is 18 miles, but good time is being made. Soon Gannons Narrows are reached, the floating bridge is viewed and the barque passes through the swing. Soon all are out on Pigeon Lake, the splendid shores and charming wooded spots along the banks are indeed picturesque. The boat moved along at a lively speed. Oak Orchard, Jacobs Landing and other interesting spots are passed and Bobcaygeon begins to loom in sight. On the left is Boyd's old mill, now the electric light station for the village, and the light house is seen as the boat turns to go up the 'Caygeon river, through the locks. The party pass an old lime-kiln and the handsome residences of the Messrs. Boyd. At "Bob" several old friends are met, and a stay of about twenty minutes is made. The village boasts of two good hotels—the Rockland and the Royal, which were burned and rebuilt, one being visited by the fiery element one summer and the other the next. A few called in to see Brer Smiff, editor-in-chief of the great family journal, the Independent, and were accorded a hearty greeting. Bobcaygeon is a clean, pretty village, has excellent tennis grounds and generally a thriving, prosperous look. The sail is resumed and into Sturgeon Lake the boat plows its way. It is 22 miles to Lindsay, but what matters? On an Olympic trip it is better on before, and the journey is always pleasant. The run to Lindsay is made in a couple of hours. After going through Sturgeon Lake and passing that well known resort,—Sturgeon Point—where several new cottages are being erected, the party meander up the Scugog River and pass a number of dredges, tugs, and other craft.

On reaching Lindsay a busy scene presents itself. The company view the sad havoc wrought in a sawmill by fire the other morning, and also several new factories in course of construction. The Government tug "Bob Hall," is at the dock, and a number of Peterborough faces are espied.

In Lindsay the streets, at present are pretty muddy. The visitors are soon on their way to the Benson, Simpson and other hotels for tea, and afterwards there is an hour to view the sights of Scugogville. The Lindsay Post's attractive and rather massive looking quarters on William street, are among the finest to be seen. The Bell Telephone Company of which Mr. T. J. Tillie, formerly of Peterborough, is local manager, is about to have a fine, well equipped office on William-st., not far from Kent. Nine o'clock approaches and the Peterborough gentlemen make for the G.T.R. station. The flyer arrives on time, a special coach is attached, and the visitors enter, and after about forty minutes run they are home at Peterborough,—a little tired, perhaps, but well pleased with the outing and unanimously voting the eighteenth annual Olympic trip, a rare treat and a decided success. Very few had ever been over this route of the lakes and were glad to be afforded such a splendid opportunity. The boat and railway service were all that could possibly be desired. Mr Wm Bunton took good care of all by rail and Capt. Stoddard and Purser Young of the Stony Lake, by the water route. They deserve much credit.

The success of the Olympic outing can be attributed this year—as well as for the previous seventeen years, to Mr. W. E. Lech, who is its moving spirit and controlling power. He is the originator of the outing, which is always first in the season and is attended by many citizens, who perhaps do not go on any other during the year. It is well conducted and well managed throughout and Mr. Lech was voted a jolly good fellow and an ideal manager. There was plenty of good music on board and an Edison phonograph provided all the latest songs. A number of Lakefield gentlemen were on board as well as Mr. A. C. Turpin, of Toronto, the popular travelling freight and passenger agent for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway. He has taken in the trip for several years.

The sail from Lakefield to Lindsay is just sixty-five miles and the scenic grandeur of the entire route cannot be surpassed. The Kawartha Lakes are certainly growing more popular every summer and a large number of new cottages and summer homes are in evidence all along the route.

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY.

The steamboat men and the proprietors of the summer resorts are desirous of warm weather. It cannot come too soon.

Mr A. L. Davis' handsome summer home is nearing completion. It is one of the most palatial in the Dominion, and possesses all the conveniences of any city dwelling. A log cabin is also being built on the property.

The store at Juniper Island, which will be opened by Mr. T. W. Robinson, about June 15th, has now telephone connection with Peterborough.

Much building is going on at Buckhorn. Mr. John Jones is completing a fine, comfortable dwelling, while Mr. John Purser has a new store and dwelling that would do credit to a much larger burg.

At Bobcaygeon two splendid house boats were passed, one belonging to Mr. McGill, a wealthy American.

Mr John Crane went up to his cottage, Gladhalken, yesterday, which he is having enlarged and improved in many ways.

Many Excursions are Arranged

Outings Which Will be Held on the Steamer, Stoney Lake

The steamer Stony Lake has already booked many excursions for June. The boat cannot be chartered during July and August, except in connection with her regular trips. The following excursions will take place during June,—

Tuesday, June 11—McKenzie School, Lakefield to Stony Lake.

Thursday, June 20.—St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild excursion.

Friday, June 21.—Union Sunday School excursion of Warsaw, starting at McCracken's Landing, and going to Crawford's Grove on the Otonabee river.

Saturday, June 22.—Colonial Weaving Co.'s employees trip around the lake.

Tuesday, June 25.—Lakefield Methodist Church Sunday School.

Thursday, June 27th.—Selwyn Court, Canadian Order of Foresters.

July 1st.—Auburn Sunday School picnic.

The dining room on the boat will be opened on June 15th. The prospects for a good season's passenger traffic are very bright and already quite a number of persons have visited their cottages and summer homes up the lakes.

MR. BUTCHER EXPLAINS

Says That He is Still Seeking the Best Interest of Salvation Army.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—Please allow me space to make plain some facts in connection with my dismissal from the Salvation Army. In the first place I was dismissed from soldiership in my endeavors to do my duty to the corps as treasurer of the same. I was dismissed publicly through the city press. The public and myself have never been informed as to why I was dismissed. The stand I have taken, in doing my duty as treasurer, is easily seen, was not for any personal gain or easy pathway. My object in not allowing wrong doing to be covered up, was solely for the corps best interests, as well as the interests of all concerned. The present officer in charge of the Peterborough corps made a statement to me today that I had acknowledged doing wrong in my efforts to have S. A. financial irregularities looked into and investigated, but that I refused to apologize. This statement repeated to me by the officer in charge is utterly untrue, and speaks for itself, as the officer is a stranger here. I state most emphatically I have not one single regret to make, in regard to any act done, or any steps taken, in my efforts to have this wrong righted. Further I have sought Divine guidance in this matter, from the first to the present time. My work as corps treasurer was to see that all finances connected with the corps were honestly handled and rightly appropriated. I was under bonds to that effect. I am not fighting against the Salvation Army, but with heart and mind seeking its best interests. I would be an ingrate if I acted otherwise. I am at the service of the S.A. authorities to help them to take steps to bring about confession of wrong done, and a return to the old lines of honesty and holiness. Until this return is made, time, strength and money, in endeavoring to advance the interests of the corps, are spent in vain.

Yours, etc.,
M. T. BUTCHER.

Peterborough, June 6th.

Not Opposed to Garbage By-law

Mr. Todd Objects Only to Proposed Method of Raising Funds

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir.—Allow me a few words of explanation concerning my letter on the garbage bylaw, which appeared in your paper last Saturday. An impression seems to be abroad that I am opposed to the garbage system. I am not opposed to anything that is for the benefit of our city as a whole. I only object to the method of raising the necessary funds to carry it out. Ald. Johnston remarks at the meeting Monday night show that my contention is right. He is reported as saying that "certain business men are willing to pay double the amount the bylaw calls for." No good business man wants to pay more than is just and right. One alderman tells me the cases I refer to in my letter are extreme cases. Similar cases can be found, all over this city. Certainly it is the privilege of some of our aldermen to say "he is a Christian Science crank, it will have no weight with the people."

Yes, I am a Christian Scientist, and proud to be one of such cranks, and I am grateful to God that there is such a religion to belong to. A religion that gives to me health and peace of mind, daily, with a brighter prospect for the future, is just the religion I want, and of which I am not ashamed. It has enabled me to enjoy life for eighteen years, and has not so demented me that I cannot detect a weak spot in a garbage bylaw. And, sir, if this bylaw comes before the people as it is, next January, I shall accept the verdict of the people on it, whether I am capable of judging or not. Some of our city fathers took occasion in January 1906, to call the 'Ministerial Association, and others, religious cranks, and bigots"; in January, 1907 when the ballot was counted they found a great many people had thought as the religious cranks thought, and left them to look after their own business instead of the city's.

I believe the time to oppose is before a law is passed; after it is in force, it is our duty to obey. I further believe, in framing a law, the first thing to consider, after deciding that it is necessary, is to see that it is just, giving equal rights and justice to all—the masses, not the classes.

I have spent too many nights around the School Board and Council Board, to be ignorant of the tactics, and wire-pulling of the money-grabbers, to have everything fixed to suit them. I have great sympathy for our public men whom I believe, invariably accept the duties of their office with pure, honest motives, but find themselves hounded by suckers or hangers-on, who are all the time wanting something for nothing. On the other hand I have neither sympathy nor respect for public officials who will belittle a ratepayer's opinions because of his religion, except my sympathy with his egotism. Because a man is in the minority is no proof that he is wrong. It might be to the interests of the public as well as themselves if some of our public men were to think that other very wise men like themselves have preceded them, and found that they had made mistakes. — signed decrees and laws to gratify mad ambition, against the poor, and sometimes against an innocent minority afterwards to learn that the persecuted was right, such as King Darius and his counsellors.

Thanking you in advance,

Sincerely yours,
R. J. TODD.

Several in Peterborough Who Once Knew Orchard

Man, Who is Telling Story of Unparalleled Crimes at Boise, Idaho, Frequently Visited Campbellford and Many Knew Him There.

Harry Orchard, who is the central figure in the sensational murder trial now going on at Boise, Idaho, is known to several persons in Peterborough. This was the interesting statement made to the Review today by a gentleman who at once recognized the Northumberland county man from the pictures which are now appearing in the papers. Orchard's right name is Horsley, and he is a native of Wooler, Northumberland county. Wooler is located about 16 miles from Campbellford and eight miles from Brighton. Orchard, or Horsley, was born of respectable parents, who kept a farm garden about two miles from Wooler. After growing up he became a cheesemaker and worked in the factories at Wooler and Brighton.

A gentleman from Campbelford who now resides in Peterborough, states that after Horsley quit making cheese he was agent for sewing machines and frequently visited Campbellford, in this connection. He remembers seeing him quite frequently and at once recognized the picture of the notorious criminal, which appeared in a Toronto paper today. Two or three people from Campbellford, who now reside in Peterborough, remember having seen Orchard, or Horsley, as he was then called. They also remember the burning of the cheese factory at Brighton, which occurred just before the now famous criminal skipped the country, taking another man's wife along with him.

Great interest centres in the case in Peterborough, especially since it became known that Orchard came from a portion of the country so near home as Northumberland county.

The Responsibility Rests With Parents of the City

Complaints are reaching the Children's Aid Society, the Police Magistrate and the Chief of Police, that there exists in the city a shocking state of depravity on the part of little girls especially. They are met on the streets in company with boys and the language of the girls in many cases and their conduct are such as to leave little doubt, that they are utterly degraded. Stronger proof of this is not wanted. It has become an evil of such magnitude that it is receiving serious consideration and the difficulty is to provide a remedy. It may be suggested that there should be more police around the suburbs and places where boys and girls congregate, but the difficulty is that it would call for too many policemen, and the fact that an officer in buttons is almost useless. The fact is there and to reach the cause and abolish it is the matter to be dealt with. The criminal law hardly meets the case. The curfew law was intended to meet just such conditions. It is in force in Peterborough, but it is not enforced, the bell does not ring and it is not acted on because it would take scores of policemen to arrest children, bring them home, etc. The conclusion arrived at is, that the responsibility for the conditions that exist is with the parents, that any mother who will allow her daughter to be out on the streets at night, cannot but realize that she is endangering the moral life of the child. The remedy is with the mothers.

There are many homes that are disreputable, and parents who are oblivious to their duty, nevertheless there is hardly a mother, who wants to see her child go down to destruction. They cannot be enjoined too strongly that they must keep their girls in at night or else sup the sorrow that will result from their indifference.

The legal authorities in Toronto are being consulted and serious consideration is being given the matter, as it is decided that the strongest action which can be taken will be necessary to stop this evil which is presenting itself before us in such coarseness of aspect as to be shocking. We call upon the pulpit to enjoin upon the people their duty, to insist that the children shall not be allowed on the streets at night.

The Best Mica Mine in Canada

Is Located in Methuen Township and Owned by Mr. J. B. McWilliams

A Stony Lake correspondent writes the Norwood Register as follows:—

We had a call from Mr. J. B. McWilliams last week. He was away back in Burleigh and Methuen looking over his mines there. He had an American expert with him, who said his mica mine in Methuen was the best in Canada.

There is some prospect of opening up the Leason copper mine near the head of Stony Lake. He has a lead mine, too, in Burleigh about 4 miles from the Lake.

The Lillies and Strathconas Tied

Score Last Night Was 16-16 in Interesting Game

In the concluding innings of the Lillie-Strathcona game, commenced on Monday night at Patterson field, last evening, they broke even, the final score being 1—15. It was an exciting contest, and created a good impression on the fans, who were present in large numbers. At the start last night the Straths were leading by five runs. In the first session the Straths tallied another run leading by six. When the Lillies went to bat in the second they took the lead. They scored six runs in this session. The Straths went up in the air and by wild throws and other errors the Lillies took the lead. In the third the Lillie aggregation registered four more, while the Straths failed to do the same. The Lillies did not continue their good work in the fourth, no runs being tallied. In the Straths fourth the first two men up to bat fanned, and things were looking blue for them, but Wilson, who came third hit a two-bagger and succeeded in getting around, as did several other Straths, and the Lillies big lead was overcome, and when the last man was out, the game was 15—15.

Mr. Tom Carson handled the indicator in this contest.

The teams were;

Strathconas—F. Parnell p, Wilson c, Allison, 1b, Dormer, 2b, Weatherstone ss, Curtis 3b, Delaney cf, E. Parnell lf, Heard rf.

Lillies—Hillier c, Graham p, Price 1b, Ryan 2b, Shepherd 3b, Foley ss, Barclay cf, Connors rf, Pilling lf.

Field Day for the Junior Boys

A field day is being arranged for the Y.M.C.A. junior school boys, and will probably be held the last Saturday in June. The events to be put on will be named later on. All the boys wishing to enter are asked to begin to prepare for it as soon as possible.

LOCAL TEAM TO BE STRONG

Peterborough Nine to Meet the St. Andrew's To-morrow Has Been Selected

The Peterborough Baseball Team to meet the St. Andrew's of Toronto Junction at the Driving Park tomorrow afternoon has been selected and will be as follows:—

Burns, 2b; Callaghan lf, Burridge c, Connors cf, Sheridan rf, Quinlan 3b, Johnson, ss, Graham 1b, Flaherty p.

The above will be the batting order and the lineup looks good for a victory. The game will start at 3.30 o'clock sharp, and as great interest centres in the game, there will no doubt be a big crowd in attendance. There will be a special car service to the park, and no inconvenience will be experienced in reaching or coming away from the grounds.

The St. Andrew's will arrive on the noon G.T.R. train from Toronto, and are bringing down a strong aggregation. They have two able pitchers in Hawkins and Monteith, while Atchison, who does the receiving is a top notcher in that position.

The admission to the grounds is 25c., ladies and children, 10c.

Weather permitting, the Peterborough team will practice at the Driving Park tonight, and a full turnout of the players is requested.

CRICKET

WILL PLAY T.C.S. TEAM.

The Peterborough Cricket team leave tonight for Port Hope, where they play the crack T.C.S. team tomorrow. The boys are in fine form. They have been practicing regularly and though the T.C.S. team has seldom been beaten, the local boys expect to return victorious. Mr Cyril Hill will accompany the boys.

Senior Quakers Look Good For League Championship

Defeated Cobourg Kickers in Lake Ontario Town Last Night, 2 Goals to 1—Led at Half Time by 2 Goals to Nil.

The senior Quakers got away to a good start for the championship of the Midland Football League last night when they defeated the Cobourg team in the Lake Ontario town by two goals to one. It was the first match of the home and home series to decide the senior championship and, as the Quakers should win their home game, it looks as if they would be at the top of the heap when the season is over. They deserve great credit for defeating the Cobourg aggregation on their own award and should be given every encouragement.

The boys left for Cobourg on the noon G.T.R. train and the match was played at Victoria Park, commencing at 7 o'clock. Cobourg has a fast, husky team, and the visitors had to travel a great pace all the time in order to win out. The bulk of the Cobourg eleven are Old Country players, and they could boot the ball in great shape and had speed to burn. The Quakers put it over them, however, in the fine points of the game and the forwards frequently dribbled the pigskin right in on the Cobourg goal. Huston and Crough were prominent in this respect.

The Quakers were the first to score, Huston putting the ball through about the middle of the first half, after a scrimmage in front of the home team's goal. A few minutes before the half was over, Crough secured the ball near centre field, and made one of his famous dashes down the field. He went through the Cobourg half back and full back line and scored on a pretty shot. Cobourg scored their only goal in the second half, on a long but well placed kick by one of the half backs.

M Sherin, of Omemee, acted as referee, and his rulings were fair and impartial and if anything, were in favor of the home team. However, the spectators and Cobourg players did not see things in that light and complained that they were given a raw deal. To knock the referee is usually the pastime of the losing team and their supporters, and is not taken seriously by the public.

All the Quaker team showed up to good advantage and man for man were superior to the home eleven. Baker, Archibald, Huston, Crough and Hagley made a great forward line and swept down the field in fine shape. For a half back line, Deforge, P. Fitzgerald and Ray Best would be hard to beat. Doris and Evans did great work at full back and proved stumbling blocks for the Cobourg forwards. McFadden did good work in goal, but did not have a great deal to do. The game was not exactly a love feast and many hard jolts were handed out. Several of the Quakers are carrying souvenirs of the gentle taps they received.

The lineup of the Quakers was as follows:

Goal McFadden.
Backs, Doris and Evans.
Halves, Deforge, P Fitzgerald and R Best.
Forwards, Baker, Archibald, Huston, Crough and Hagley.

The return match is scheduled for Saturday, June 15th, but it is not likely that the game will be played on this date, as the baseball clubs have the grounds for that Saturday.

Last night's game at Cobourg was witnessed by a large number of spectators. The Quakers returned home this morning. They had great difficulty in securing sufficient hotel accommodation at Cobourg.

STILL ANOTHER MEETS DEATH
Dog Poisoner is Continuing His Dastardly Work

Mr. Thomas White, Victoria Ave., lost a valuable collie dog last night from poisoning. The query arises, when is the dog poisoner going to cease his nefarious work? He has been following it for fully two months now, and at least 30 dogs have gone to premature deaths as a result of his work. But he will be caught one of these days, and the punishment which will be meted out to him will be particularly severe.

METHODISM IN NEW ONTARIO

The Methodist Church in New Ontario is going ahead. New Liskeard not long ago was a home mission. It is now independent and pays its pastor a salary of $1,200. Haileybury was on the mission list last year; this year it pays a salary of $1,000 to the Rev. A. O. Hudson, B.A., whose work there has been highly appreciated. They have recently paid off $8,000 on their church property, all of which is out of debt. The Methodist church has been placing strong and scholarly men at these points in New Ontario and the North-West, and the policy is bearing fruit in a splendid independence everywhere.

More Crimes Added to The Orchard Atrocities

Defence Tries Hard to Discredit Evidence Against Haywood.

Assassin Was Treacherous to His Companions — "Simple Job of Train-Wrecking" — More Crimes Added to the Record—Stole Ore and Powder—Blood Money Was Gambled Away Soon As Received

Boise, Idaho, June 8.—Counsel for Wm. D. Haywood continued their attack on the testimony of Harry Orchard at both sessions of the trial yesterday. They made their strongest assault on the witness' connection with events beginning with the explosion in the Vindicator mine and ending with the earlier meetings between him and the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners in Denver. To the extent that traffic with "the other side" in the war between labor and capital in Colorado was discreditable, they succeeded in discrediting the witness.

Taking up the admission that Orchard made in direct examination that he was treacherous to his comrades in Cripple Creek by disclosing a train-wrecking plot, they developed that Orchard entered the employ of D. C. Scott, who had charge of the railway detectives. Orchard said that, with Scott, he met K. C. Sterling, a detective in the employ of the Mine Owners' Association, and that Scott paid his expenses and accompanied him to Denver on the trip when he first met Moyer and Haywood. He said that he had agreed to report to Scott, but that he lied to him, never intended to report to him, and never did report. The defence also tried to show that, because he stood well with the mine owners, Orchard was never molested by the militia in Cripple Creek during the strike. Orchard admitted that Scott had told him that if the militia interfered with him he was to send for him, and that the militia did not interfere with him nor search his house.

Orchard Became Jealous.

Orchard said he went to Scott first because he had not been paid for his work at the Vindicator mine, and he was jealous because he was given hard work like the Vindicator mine job, whereas other men were assigned the simple job of train-wrecking by displacing rails. More crimes, great and small, were added to Orchard's record yesterday. The Cripple Creek woman with whom he committed bigamy had three sons; Orchard stole high-grade ore from a messmate; he stole two cases of powder from the Vindicator mine; he stole powder to make one of the bombs thrown into the Vindicator coal pile, and he lied.

The defence endeavored in various ways to throw doubt and improbability around Orchard's whole Vindicator mine story, and the alleged connection of W. F. Davis and William Easterly with the affair, and the circumstances under which Orchard testified that he met Moyer and Haywood, and was paid for the commission of the crime. It also tried to discredit Orchard's story, that he was sent back to Cripple Creek with unlimited credit and orders to commit any act of violence that he cared to. They confronted Orchard with Easterly and Owen Barnes and paved the way for the contradiction by them of the story told by Orchard.

Counsel flared up several times during the day, and in the last passage-at-arms Mr. Hawley said that Mr. Richardson told a falsehood when he intimated that Orchard was a fixed witness.

The trial will go on to-day, and cross-examination of Orchard, who has been on the stand three days, will be concluded.

When Orchard again took the stand yesterday he said he had neglected to give the name of his sixth sister, Minnie Horsley, who married a man named Rogers and who lived in New York State. Orchard also said that he stated Thursday he had no partners in the wood business in Burke, Idaho. He remembered yesterday that there were two men to whom he owed money and to whom he had promised an interest in the business.

Orchard admitted that while he was in Idaho he became quite a gambler, playing poker most of the time. He was asked how he voted the day the unions decided to go down to Wardner and blow the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mills, and said he didn't remember.

E. F. Richardson, for the defence, took the witness through a description of the make-up of the train which took the rioting miners to Wardner. Orchard said it was composed of 13 cars, some being freight and others passenger coaches.

"I am sure," he said, "I lit one of the fuses which fired powder under the mill."

Went of Own Accord.

"Did you know Haywood, Moyer or Pettibone at this time?"

"No, sir."

"They were not with you at Wardner when the mill was blown up, were they?"

"No, sir; not that I know of."

Orchard said he left Idaho after the blowing up of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mills to avoid arrest. He was taken over the years from 1899 to 1903 in detail, explaining where he worked, where he got his money and where he went from time to time. Orchard said he worked on an average of 10 or 11 months a year in the mines of Utah, Nevada and Arizona. He gambled part of the time.

Orchard traced his journeyings from place to place. Orchard supplied the information, admitting that a large percentage of his wages went over the gambling table. He seldom remained more than from one to three months in any mining camp.

Up to the time he went to Colorado in 1902, Orchard said he had never heard of Haywood, Pettibone, Moyer or Simpkins.

Orchard said he did not hear of Governor Steunenberg's action in suppressing the Cœur D'Alene troubles until some time after he left Idaho.

Did Not Know Chiefs Then.

The witness said it was his own initiative which took him to Colorado. At that time, July or August of 1902, there was no trouble at Cripple Creek. Arriving in Colorado he went to work in the Trachite mine and renewed his membership in the federation, joining a local headed by W. F. Davis, who had been in charge of the party which blew up Bunker Hill and Sullivan mines.

Attorney Richardson asked the witness repeatedly about his gambling experience.

GOVERNMENT TELEPHONES.

Will Be Constructed In Brandon In the Near Future.

Brandon, Man., June 8.—It is the intention of the Provincial Government to proceed immediately with the construction of a telephone system in the City of Brandon within the next few days.

Hon. J. H. Howden, Minister of Railways, who has charge of the telephone construction of the province, will visit Brandon, accompanied by a department engineer, to look over the ground to decide upon various matters of importance in connection with the construction of the Brandon system.

It is probable that the first long-distance line for the Government system will be built from Brandon to Virden, and from there to Hamiota and Birtle, connecting up with the various municipalities' systems which will be in operation along the route.

MAY EXTEND THE IDEA.

Premier Whitney Watching Agricultural Classes In High Schools.

Toronto, June 8.—Premier Whitney announced at a conference yesterday of representatives of high schools of six towns, in which agricultural classes are to be established, that if the experiment proves a success, the idea would be extended.

Premier Whitney said he was satisfied the classes would prove a success, and would lead to the establishment of agricultural schools as advocated by him in opposition. He hoped the schools all over the province would take advantage of the experiment now being launched, and he promised the Government grant would be continued and extended. If additional grants were needed the Government would be generous.

FUSHIMI IS WELCOMED.

Canadians Give Hearty Reception to Japanese Visitor.

Quebec, June 8.—In spite of the weather, the reception of His Imperial Highness Prince Fushimi in Quebec yesterday morning was enthusiastic and very impressive. Prince Fushimi, with his suite, landed at the King's Wharf at 11.14 o'clock. A salute of seventeen guns was fired from the Citadel. Prince Fushimi was met at the King's Wharf by His Excellency, Earl Grey; Sir Louis Jette, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec; Hon. Mr. Templeman, Minister of Inland Revenue; Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Postmaster-General; Hon. Mr. Nosse, Consul-General of Japan; Sir Fred Borden, Minister of Militia, and several others, and escorted to his hotel by a guard of honor.

Rich Man Declared Insane.

Lebanon, Ind., June 8.—Judge Artman yesterday declared George Rhodius of Indianapolis to be insane and appointed James M. Berry Hill of that city as his guardian. Rhodius owns real estate in Indianapolis worth $800,000. On Jan. 21 Rhodius was married at Louisville, in office of a justice of the peace, to Elma Dare, keeper of an Indianapolis resort. It was charged that the Dare woman kidnapped Rhodius.

Judge Artman says he considers that Rhodius never married Elma Dare at all.

Torpedo Meets With Accident.

Washington, June 8.—The commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet has reported to the navy department by wire that the torpedo boat destroyer Hopkins broke a propeller strut off Hog Island light and is now in tow of the Whipple, bound for the Norfolk navy yard. Tugs have been sent from the Norfolk navy yard.

Orby Wins English Derby.

London, June 8.—Richard Croker yesterday won the Derby at Epsom and gained the ambition of his life, his colt Orby, bred from an American dam, ridden by Johnny Reiff, having beaten all the British cracks and captured the blue ribbon of the world's turf by two lengths.

The enthusiasm of the Americans can be easier imagined than described, and Mr. Croker, his white-bearded face beaming with happiness, was congratulated on all sides.

The Derby stakes amount to 6,500 sovereigns ($32,500), and the distance is a little over a mile and a half.

Woolwinder, ridden by Madden, the English jockey, was second, and Slieve Gallion, an Irish horse, ridden by Higgs, also an English jockey, was third. Orby's time was 2.44.

Charged Woman Motorist.

Royston, Eng., June 8.—On May 1 Miss Elsie Fox, an American, was motoring down to the Newmarket races and her car struck and killed a laborer. The magistrate decided there was not sufficient evidence of manslaughter to send the case to trial.

Canadian Age Limit Right.

London, June 8.—Lady Carlisle, at the British Women's Temperance Association conference, urged the adoption of the Canadian age limit for serving persons with drink.

Origin of the Cross Bun.

The exact significance or origin of the cross bun is not too certain. A superstition regarding baked bread on Good Friday appears to have existed from an early period. Bread so baked was kept by a family all through the ensuing year under the belief that a few gratings of it in water would prove a specific for any ailment.—Leeds and Yorkshire Mercury.

Suspiciously Cheap.

Mrs. Schoppen—The price seems low, but I'm afraid of antique rugs. You know the old saying, "Snug as a"— Salesman—"As a bug in a rug." Ha! Ha! But there are no bugs about this rug. Mrs. Schoppen (shrewdly)—No? I half suspect the presence of a little humbug.

Her Troubles.

Teacher—Who was the most patient person that ever lived? Student—Mrs. Job. Teacher—How do you make that out? Student—Why, Job endured a whole lot, but she had to endure Job.—Judge.

He who seeks a brother without a fault will have to remain without a brother.—Talmud.

When Cleveland Said "By Gosh!"

"A long legged friend of mine, who may be called Bill Jennings as well as anything else," says Emerson Hough in Appleton's Magazine, "always insisted that he was responsible for the opening of the Cherokee country. 'I went down to Washington,' said he, 'to see Cleveland about it. I went up to the door of Cleveland's house—right at the front door—and I knocked, and I heard Cleveland holler out to me, "Come in!" I went in, and there was Cleveland sittin' in the parlor, with all his cabinet there too. I says to Cleveland, "Cleveland, them Injuns has got to go and them cow men too." I put it to him right plain. Cleveland he listened, and by and by he got up and come and put his hand on my shoulder, and says he, "Bill, by gosh, she pops!"'"

A Wonderful Fish.

The Bohemians have a proverb, "Every fish has another for prey." The wels (silurus) has them all. This is the largest fresh water fish found in the rivers of Europe except the sturgeon. It often reaches five or six feet in length. It destroys many aquatic birds, and we are assured that it does not spare the human species. On the 3d of July, 1700, a peasant took one near Thorn that had an infant entire in its stomach. They tell in Hungary of children and young girls being devoured on going to draw water, and they even relate that on the frontiers of Turkey a poor fisherman took one that had in its stomach the body of a woman, her purse containing gold and a ring. The fish is even reputed to have been taken sixteen feet long.

The Carlyles' Maid.

The Carlyles had a maid who was untidy, useless in all ways, but "abounding in grace" and in consequent censure of every one above or below her and of everything she could not understand. After a long apostrophe one day as she was bringing in dinner Carlyle ended with, "And this I can tell you—that if you do not carry the dishes straight, so as not to spill the gravy, so far from being tolerated in heaven, you won't be even tolerated on earth."

The Dressmaker's Diploma.

Many New York women who patronize a new dressmaker for the first time propound an embarrassing question.

"Have you a diploma?" they ask.

"I didn't know what answer to make to the first customer that put that question to me," said one dressmaker. "I certainly did not have a diploma. I knew how to sew, but I had no certificate to that effect. Finally I found that many women have suffered so grievously at the hands of incompetents that they were unwilling to trust their work to a person who could not show some guarantee of experience and efficiency, so, although I knew more about sewing than half the fashionable dressmakers in town, I actually worked in one such establishment for four months so that I could point to a printed diploma which says, 'Formerly with Mme. A. of Fifth avenue.' It pays any dressmaker to arm herself with credentials of that kind. She ought to have her diploma framed and hung on the wall like a doctor's diploma, so as to give confidence to doubting customers."—New York Sun.

Great Schemers.

"These traveling men are great schemers when it comes to getting rooms assigned to them ahead of other guests who registered first," said a hotel clerk. "There were several guests on the waiting list for rooms yesterday. One traveling man came up to the desk holding his hand to his stomach, saying he was so sick he must have a room at once. He was accommodated. In a few minutes another traveling man who was among the list of guests waiting for rooms, came up and said he had boarded a sleeper at 2 o'clock in the morning and tried to get some sleep, but that it ran into an open switch and gave him such a shaking up he couldn't sleep. He said he was almost dead with exhaustion and loss of sleep and must have a room at once. Hardly had he gone to his room when a third one came up and said he, too, must have a room immediately. What do you suppose his reason was? He said a horse fell on him the day before, and he thought he was injured internally."

Heart, Throat, Liver and Skin

DR. AGNEW'S FOUR FAMOUS SPECIFICS CURE COMPLETELY THE WORST DISEASES OF THESE PARTS—DREADFUL HEART DISEASE RELIEVED IN THIRTY MINUTES.

Heart disease will affect people differently, but in all cases it must be viewed with great alarm. Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is the one remedy that can be safely depended upon in times of trouble. It will give relief in thirty minutes.

Mr. Thomas Petry, of Aylmer, Que., was troubled with severe heart complaint for five years, the pain, at times, being so severe that he could not attend to business. Every other remedy failed until he tried Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, which gave immediate relief, and his words are these: "I have now taken four bottles of the remedy and am entirely free from every symptom of heart disease."

A cold in the head need not be trifled with, for it is catarrh in an incipient condition, and catarrh is not to be trifled with. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, as scores of clergymen, members of parliament, and prominent citizens in the Dominion have borne testimony, drives away a cold in the head like magic, and where this has assumed the shape of aggravated catarrh, producing deafness and throat trouble, it effects a permanent cure.

It is not always safe to take pills for liver trouble. They not unfrequently create other troubles that are serious. Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills, whilst thoroughly certain of removing all liver trouble, give no difficulty either at the time or afterwards. They are pleasant to take and cost only 10 cents.

The faculty that Dr. Agnew has displayed in getting at the seat of trouble is manifest in his Ointment, as in the other three remedies. This contains the elements that give speedy and permanent relief in all skin diseases and is peculiarly effective in curing piles. 35 cents. 12

Fruit-a-tives

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" differ from any other remedy in the world.

They cure, absolutely, Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bowel and Skin Troubles.

Because none of the usual remedies have given you relief, is no reason why you should not give "Fruit-a-tives" a good, honest trial.

Fresh fruit acts directly on the three great eliminating organs—Bowels, Kidneys and Skin. But fruit contains only a minute quantity of the medicinal principles and in order to receive any marked benefit from fruit, one would be compelled to eat more than could be assimilated by the system.

"Fruit-a-tives" contain all the curative virtues of fruit in a wonderfully concentrated form.

In making "Fruit-a-tives," the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes are combined—and, by a wonderful discovery of a famous physician, a chemical change takes place in the juices, by which the medicinal action is many times increased. Then tonics are added, and the whole compressed into tablets.

"Fruit-a-tives" contain no Calomel—no Cascara—no Senna—no Morphine—no violent purgatives—only fruit juices and tonics.

"Fruit-a-tives" act directly on the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—strengthening them—and arousing them to vigorous action.

With the Kidneys healthy—the Bowels moving regularly every day—the Liver active—and the pores of the skin doing their full share towards ridding the system of waste—there can be no disease. "Fruit-a-tives" mean health for every member of the family.

WHO KILLED TASHWAY?

Inquest on South Mountain Farmer Opened Yesterday.

Conflict of Evidence In Mysterious Case—Dead Man's Housekeeper Tells of Finding His Body—Niece Says He Spoke of Being a Disgrace—Thought He Intended Suicide—Jury Not Unanimous.

Southampton, June 8.—The adjourned inquest on the death of the late James Taushway was begun yesterday in the town hall here. A tremendous crowd was in attendance and in their efforts to get in the hall almost mobbed the officials.

W. C. Whittaker, M.D., of North Williamsburg, coroner, had charge of the inquest, and Crown Attorney James Dingwall of Cornwall acted for the crown. Provincial Detective Reburn of Toronto is assisting the case.

Mrs. William Major, a niece, heard Taushway say he was a disgrace to his friends and always would be so. These words appeared to her to mean that he had committed suicide.

Albert Taushway swore positively that the quilts were drawn up over the shoulders, and thought that his brother had met foul play.

Thomas Taushway, another brother, told his story, and was pretty well questioned by Crown Attorney Dingwall. He told about the same story as the others, except that he had seen Taushway drawing a large amount of money in bills. He thought that it was suicide, because deceased had told him that he would like to show the people that he had courage enough to blow out his brains.

Dr. Porter created a sensation by swearing that it was impossible, as far as he knew, for deceased to kill himself in the position found. He had performed the post-mortem, and thought death was instantaneous. Therefore, it was impossible for Taushway to pull the quilts up over his shoulder after the shot. The bullet found in Taushway's brain was placed in evidence.

Dr. Ferrier was a little more emphatic in his opinion regarding the case as murder.

"That said James E. Taushway came to his death by a bullet through his head from a revolver in the hands of some unknown person or persons."

Jury was not unanimous. The vote was 14 in favor of a verdict of murder, and one opposed.

PROVISION FOR MINISTERS.

General Assembly Discusses Question of Providing Adequate Incomes.

Montreal, June 8.—The temper of the general assembly so far has been directed towards a practical effort to deal with pressing administrative questions, and to bring the church into line with changing social conditions. The morning was spent on thoroughly up-to-date matter of employing women in the work of the church.

Principal Patrick said the employment of women had excited the attention of the whole Christian world, and their services had returned a thousand fold. The Church of Scotland had employed deaconesses for years.

A motion approving the principle of the employment of women in church work was adopted, and a committee appointed to report at next assembly.

Ministerial Hardships.

Dr. Lyle pressed the necessity of making the minimum stipend $1,000. The great heresy of the church in the twentieth century was in having one standard for the minister and another for the laity. Principal Patrick pleaded earnestly for adequate incomes. The children of ministers were driven from the church by the treatment accorded their parents.

Rev. A. J. McGillivray, Vancouver, compared the wages paid to artisans with what was paid to ministers in the west. He found men in the Yukon pitying the condition of the men in augmented charges.

Principal Scrimger moved that the minimum be fixed at $900 for all augmented charges, and this was finally carried.

Sir Thomas Taylor in seconding Dr. Scrimger's motion, declared it was a matter the elders should take up.

JAIL GOVERNOR DISMISSED.

Gov't Receives Adverse Report From Commissioner, Who Investigated.

Toronto, June 8.—Governor Vanzant of Toronto jail has been dismissed because of the charges which were brought against him, and which were investigated a couple of months ago by Mayor Judd of London, acting as a commissioner at the request of the Ontario Government.

It was known some days ago that Mr. Judd had his report prepared, but it was not until yesterday that his finding was received by the Government. The commissioner finds himself compelled to say that he believes that Mr. Vanzant was guilty of improper conduct with female prisoners, of incompetence, of irregularities, and of favoritism. In addition to this the commissioner declares that the discipline of the jail has been extremely bad, and while he exonerates Mr. Vanzant from taking bribes, he considers that in every other respect almost he is unfit to be the head of such an institution.

Prodigal Son Returns.

Cincinnati, June 8.—A broken-hearted lad, in the custody of a detective, boarded a train at the Central Union Depot yesterday afternoon, bound for Kingsville, Ont. There his mother is dying, and it will be the detective's object to get there with his charge in time that the woman may see and forgive her son before death comes to her.

The boy is Russell Loundsberry, aged 16.

Ten days ago he is said to have forged his father's name to a draft for $330. Most of the money he spent in Detroit. Then he came to Cincinnati, where the rest was dissipated. Now his mother is at the point of death, and the boy is begging that he be hurried to her side that he may beg her forgiveness.

BUY

LUCKY BOYS

LARDER LAKE.

6 CENTS PER SHARE.

REMEMBER we sold 2,500,000 shares of Blue Bell in 25 days at 10 cents per share. We have 1,000,000 shares of Lucky Boys at 6 cents per share. It won't last long.

This will probably be the last opportunity to purchase Larder Lake shares of inside properties at such a low price.

We recently made a most successful flotation of the wonderful Blue Bell Gold Mines, Limited. We offered to investors half of the capital stock, amounting to 2,500,000 shares, at 10 cents per share. We stated to our clients and investors in general that the shares of Blue Bell were a great purchase, and that the amount offered would be fully subscribed. Our predictions in this respect were fulfilled—the full amount of shares offered have been subscribed for. We have had to return money and turn back many applications. Some of our clients and many investors were very much disappointed at not being able to obtain these shares.

We now offer what we believe to be an investment equally as inviting and one that also is as good an investment and which we believe will prove equally as profitable. The LUCKY BOYS shares at 6 cents per share will come within the reach of many more investors on account of the price and also on account of not so large an amount of money being required to be invested therein in order to obtain some of the shares. We will say with every confidence that the One Million shares of Lucky Boys which we now offer will be largely over-subscribed.

We want to serve every investor the same and advise all who want to make a safe, profitable investment, and one that will make you many times the amount that you invest, to PLACE YOUR RESERVATIONS AT ONCE. We will file all reservations in the order received, whether received by mail, telephone or telegraph, and will hold all such reservations for a sufficient length of time to enable the remittance for same to reach us.

The Lucky Boys claims were staked last summer and were well selected. Gold-bearing quartz is found upon each and every claim. Some of the claims adjoin the famous Reddick claims; others adjoin the well-known Proprietary Gold Fields Company, and others adjoin the wonderful Blue Bell properties. We can advise investors truthfully that there are no better claims in the Larder Lake gold fields than those of the Lucky Boys. We do not believe it is necessary for us to go into as much detail regarding Larder Lake, its possibilities and resources, as we have heretofore done in our advertisements pertaining thereto. All Canada must have heard of Larder Lake—the new Eldorado of northern Ontario—and of its wonderful gold deposits.

Our own expert miners and mining engineers who are now in the field are sending out reports to us almost daily of the great gold finds that are being made and of the wonderful extent of the gold veins and their remarkable widths. Mining men of experience and mining engineers of reputation and standing declare that there is nothing in the world that has ever been known to excel what is found there in the great lodes that lie open and are exposed to the surface, many feet in width and extending for miles.

The gold which is found at Larder Lake is most marvellously and equally distributed throughout the quartz. Of course it is only guess work at this time for anyone to say what quantity of gold will be taken out within the next year or two, but it is safe, from present indications, to count upon many millions. Cobalt is a wonder and has made a number of millionaires in the past three or four years, but the number of millionaires that will be made in Larder Lake gold district within the next year will be many times that which Cobalt has produced. There are many men to-day who have not more than several hundred dollars, or perhaps less, who will possess within the next year as many hundred thousands as they have hundreds of dollars to-day. The production of gold last year exceeded FOUR HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS. Somebody got this money. Most of it went to the people in ordinary circumstances. By investors placing their money in Larder Lake NOW, they will reap great profits. Many millions will be returned to those who have the courage and the judgment to invest their money now in Larder Lake. The secret of profitable investment in mining is the careful selection of a brokerage house which will first go to the pains and expense of finding out for an absolute certainty if the proposition they offer is reliable and has merit, and LAW & COMPANY HAVE DONE THIS and our facilities are such as to keep in close touch and know the actual conditions surrounding the properties which we advertise and recommend. We do not claim to have the only gold property in the Larder Lake district, or the only one that has merit. We do not claim that we are the only brokerage firm that is honest and reliable. We do not caution you not to buy other shares or of other brokers. We are not trying to build up our own reputation upon the ruination of others, but by upright, straight-forward business methods.

WE DO CLAIM, however, that we are sincere in what we offer—that we are honest and reliable, and that we have used every method and have obtained reliable information from the Larder Lake district as to its being a substantial gold field. We are satisfied that the Lucky Boys property is a good, safe investment, and one that will prove highly profitable. We know that the gold is on the Lucky Boys property, and we know that it is a very easy and a very simple matter to extract the same—that it is free milling ore, and that all that will be required is to place the machinery upon the properties, and we believe the results therefrom will pay millions of dollars in dividends to stockholders.

6 CENTS PER SHARE

Remember that we have but ONE MILLION shares of the Lucky Boys to offer at 6 cents per share. This is not half the number we offered in Blue Bell, and does not represent a total investment of one-fourth the amount to bring about an over-subscription.

We therefore urge IMMEDIATE ACTION by all those that failed to be in time to secure Blue Bell, and we further advise that investors should have no hesitation whatever; that Lucky Boys is absolutely as good an investment in every way as any Larder Lake mining company, regardless of price, location or results obtained.

The Directors, Officers and Management of the Lucky Boys are among the most successful mining men in Northern Ontario—men whose standing and reputation are beyond reproach—and every investor may feel assured that their interests will be looked after by these gentlemen properly and in a thorough and businesslike manner.

The entire country is waking up to the wonderful opportunities offered in the Larder Lake gold district. The opportunities offered now to make safe and enormously profitable investments will have passed within a very short time. Men representing millions are in the field looking over properties and purchasing. The opportunity offered now of buying Lucky Boys at six cents per share will undoubtedly be the last chance that investors will have of getting in on the very rock bottom, in the very heart of the wonderful Larder Lake district. It should be remembered that these properties are just as valuable and have just as good showing and with as much gold in sight, and are in every other way as good as the properties of other companies whose shares are selling to-day at $1.00 and $1.50 per share. We sincerely believe, and have every reason to make the assertion that Lucky Boys, which can be purchased to-day at six cents, will in a very short time be selling at $1.00 or more.

Merchants Must Not Burn Rubbish in Their Back Yards

The man from Toronto Junction who fell on Aylmer street near the fire hall some time ago, will be allowed to enter suit against the city if he so chooses. The fellow claimed the city had been negligent while conditions were in reality the reverse. a letter had been received from the Toronto Junction man's lawyer looking for a few hundred dollars for the privilege of having him fall on the city streets. The legal committee, however, could not hear nor yet could they comprehend such a proposition.

The next matter taken up was the letter which had been received from the Canadian Fire Insurance Underwriter's Association in reference to the merchants burning rubbish in the lanes to the rear of their premises. There is a by-law in existence but has evidently been forgotten for several years, which cover the matter, and the committee have instructed the police to put it into force. A copy has also been sent to the Underwriter's Association for their inspection and if they have any suggestions they would like to make the committee will be pleased to consider them.

The Legal committee which is also joint with the county, will meet the County Council shortly for the purpose of arranging for poor and aged persons to be cared for at the county House of Refuge. The building has lots of accommodation and the county would be glad to get some of the people from the city who cannot be looked after in the institutions here.

Samuel Elden, aged 28, of London, was drowned on Sunday night in the flats near Detroit.

The Alberta Railway and Irrigation Company's strike has been settled by the conciliation board.

A Record Year for Building Operations in Peterborough

Over a Hundred and Fifty Houses Being Erected or Enlarged—Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars on Schools and Factories—Laboring Men are all Satisfied.

Unless the population of the city increases several hundred the demand for houses in the city should soon be lessened. Last year a very large number of dwellings were erected, the majority going to the west and south-western parts of the city. This year permits have been taken out for one hundred and ten dwellings ranging all the way in price from $1,200 to $3,500 or $4,000. The greater number, however, will cost from $1,200 to $2,000. This class of a house with sewer connectin, water works and electric light, are most in demand. The better class of mechanics and laboring men are all getting good money and are working steady. They are willing to spend their money and they want all modern conveniences and comforts. The contractors are aware of this demand and they are only too willing to put up the larger houses. There is more profit in them and as a speculation they are very easily turned over. Sometimes a single house changes owners three or four times in one week and goes up in price $100 or $200 each time.

As an investment houses that cost from $1,600 to $2,000 and rent from $12 to $18 per month, are profitable and tenants can always be found for them. Speaking to one of the real estate agents yesterday it was learned that they are all very busy. During the past year or year and a half the number of agents has nearly doubled, and they are all making money in spite of the keen competition.

Besides the large number of new houses going up a great many owners are enlarging and improving their dwellings. Every day permits are taken out for repairs and enlargements, and the carpenters are all kept busy.

BIG BUILDINGS.

Besides the hundred and fifty new houses and repaired houses, hundreds of thousands of dollars are being spent for educational and industrial purposes. Among some of the large contracts are the Southern hotel, the Normal School, Collegiate Institute, North Ward school, South Ward Separate school, the armouries, the the Canadian General's new works, Geo. Matthews Co's. main factory, Geo. Matthews Co's new store, Green's foundry, Peter Hamilton Co., the Toronto Savings & Loan Co., and the Ashburnham Furniture factory.

This is a very good start and unless something unforseen happens this year will be a record one in the building line. But one of the best features is the fact that the season is now well under way and the carpenters, masons, laborers and all classes of building mechanics are well satisfied with thier lot. There has not been a single strike and there has been no signs of one. The contractors pay high wages and the men work short hours so that there is little else they could ask.

First Band Concert of Season in Victoria Park

With the same big crowd as of yore, and the same grassy carpeted park, but with a supply of brand new music, and a somewhat unusual non-display of electric lights, the 57th regiment band gave the first concert of the season in Victoria Park last night. The night was ideal for an event of this kind, and people thronged every portion of the park to hear the excellent music provided. The clouds that had been threatening rain all day were driven from the sky as evening approached and a beautiful starlit night followed.

It was practically the band's first appearance in public since last year, and judging by the way they played last night, the organization has been improved since last year. New instruments and new players have been added to strengthen several departments and these added to the general efficiency of the band. Of course there will be further improvement as the season progresses, and the band has more practice together, but it is acknowledged by the music loving public of the city that last night's performance was a highly creditable one and Bandmaster Gliddon is to be congratulated on the high standard of efficiency he maintains in the band of which he is in charge.

For some reason or other the electric lights in the park were not in working order last night, and darkness pervaded while the concert was in progress. When the bandsmen arrived they found that there was no lights in the bandstand, and a delay ensued, while messengers were sent to the bandhall to secure the lamps which are used for night parades, and other times when the electric lights are not available. It was nine o'clock when the concert started and as a result it was a few minutes after ten before the last selection was played.

The programme rendered by the band was as follows,—

March—Stars and Stripes Forever.
Overture—Zampa.
Cornet Solo—Dream of Paradise.—Bandsman Hughes.
March—Lenti.
Characteristic—'Mumblin' Mose.
Mazurka—La Czerina.
Serenade—D'Amour.
Lullaby—Sweet and Low.
Medley—Remwick's Hits.
God Save the King.

It will be seen that the programme was a good one and the rendition of each selection left nothing to be desired. There were frequent encores, the playing of the band arousing much enthusiasm. The closing number "Remwick's hits," was one of the most popular of the evening and there were repeated encores.

Excellent order was kept during the evening and it is to be hoped that this will be the rule, during the season.

Burglar Entered Residence Of Richard Nimmo, Harvey St.

Was Discovered by Miss Nimmo and Forced to Make His Escape Through a Window—No Artice Stolen by the Intruder.

The household of Mr. Richard Nimmo, 44 Harvey street, were startled about half-past three o'clock this morning by several screams from one of the girls. It appears that a little after three o'clock Miss Nimmo was awakened by her bed room door being pushed slowly open. At first she thought it was the wind but the first peep of dawn enabled her to see the door and that it opened too far to be caused by the wind. She waited a moment or two and then turned on the light which was just at the head of her bed She could see nothing nor hear nothing, so she turned the light off. Then, thinking some one might be sick, she turned the lamp on and went into the hall. Just at the head of the back stairs she saw a man on his knees and was for the minute startled. Thinking it might be that her father had fallen she took a step forward and then saw that the intruder was dressed and had on a Christie hat.

Being unable to do anything else Miss Nimmo screamed four of five times and awakened her mother, who got up and went into the hall. The would-be burglar immediately made his adieu and disappeared down the back stairs. He was evidently much excited upon being discovered, and he ran to the front door, but it was locked. He heard Mrs. Nimmo coming down the back stairs and he rushed to the side window in the parlor, broke a large pane of glass and made his escape.

Upon examination this morning it was discovered that the midnight visitor had gained entrance through the cellar at the rear and up into the dining room. Then he made his way up the back stairs, intending evidently to get money or jewels from the bed-rooms. The only trace of the burglar was a few burned matches about the floor, the entrance, and the exit.

A peculiar incident was that on the side-board, which the fellow passed several times, were several dollars exposed to full view, and a large amount of silverware. None of this was disturbed, and as far as can be made out the intruder got nothing for his trouble.

As far as Miss Nimmo could make out the fellow was medium height, bright fair hair, and wore a Christy hat, and judging from the noise he made getting out, he wore very heavy shoes.

Large Crowds are Attending Free Methodist Camp Meeting

Enthusiastic Gathering Last Night—Real Old Fashioned Revival in Progress—Lively Open Air Meeting Held—Scenes and Incidents on the Tented Field.

The camp meetings of the Free Methodists, who are congregated at Pine Grove, near Jackson park, are drawing large attendances nightly and great enthusiasm is displayed.

Last evening a street meeting was held at the corner of George and Hunter streets at seven o'clock. A great crowd gathered to hear these people. It was principally a testimony meeting, each member giving the story of his or her conversion. All spoke out boldly and with such a ready flow of language quite an impression was made. It was a good old fashioned revival meeting and the earnest and outspoken manner in which the Free Methodists speak show that their whole lives are wrapped up in the one thing, that of the conversion of souls. Their meetings are attractive, the bright and hearty singing drawing large numbers especially those who never think of putting a foot inside a church. The whole-heartedness of their prayers is another thing worthy of commendation. Great liberty of speech is given this religious sect and through the sermon and the prayers such expressions as "Amen," "Praise the Lord," "That's true," and several others are heard, which show that they glory in singing of the praises of God.

The meetings are of the most primitive character, their belief being that they are the only Methodists following the example of John Wesley. The Free Methodists dress is also different from others. The men do not wear neckties nor do the ladies don any beautifully trimmed headgear. After the bright and happy ring meeting at the corner the little band boarded the street cars and proceeded for the grove, followed by a large number of people, where the preaching service was held. With every window in the car open they sang at the top of their voices and beckoned and shouted to the people on the streets to come along to the meeting. Previous to every service a bell is rung to bring the people together. The first bell is rung at five o'clock in the morning. There are in all twenty tents in the grove and a prettier and more attractive spot could not be found for such an assembly. The families who have come from different parts of the district live in these tents and several stoves are seen in the grove where they do their cooking. The services are held in the large tent. The seats are of planks and the reading desk is made of a board nailed on two posts. No organ is used for the hymns, but the singing is very hearty. Seated on the platform are the pastors of the district.

The service last night was opened with a hymn, followed by prayer, full of earnestness and devotion, imploring God for forgiveness of the sins of the world, by Rev. Mr. Burnham, who presided. Another hymn was sung after which Rev. Mr. Reynolds of Bracebridge, delivered an heart to heart address from the words, "Behold I stand at the door and knock." His remarks were closely followed. He pleaded for lost souls and urged all to turn to Christ, in whom the only true happiness was to be found. Among many assertions made by the reverend gentleman he stated that pride and vanity ruled in the pulpits nowadays. People were too vain to speak of Christ, and ministers, instead of going after lost souls were running to places of amusement. After the able and spirited address, several told of what Christ had done for them, and how they had lived for the world and its many temptations, but now they lived for their Saviour. Six meetings are held during the day beginning at six o'clock in the morning.

The camp meeting will close on Tuesday night next. The following is the order of service each day and it is expected that many citizens will visit the grounds on Sunday:—

6 a.m.—Holiness meeting.
9 a.m.—Love feast.
10.30 a.m.—Preaching.
1.30 p.m.—Children's meeting.
2.30 p.m.—Preaching.
6.30 p.m.—Ring meeting.
8 p.m.—Preaching.

REVIEW LETTER BOX

EARLIER BAND CONCERTS

Editor Review.—As a lover of music and admirer of our splendid musical organization, the 57th regiment band, I would like to make a suggestion, regarding the weekly Friday Evening band concert in Victoria Park. I believe that when the weather is fine every married man in the city should take his wife and children to hear the band play. I always make an effort to do so and in this connection I would like to offer a suggestion. If the band does not start to play until nearly nine o'clock, the concert is not over until ten or a few minutes afterwards. This is a rather late hour to have children out and it would be much better if the concert started sharp at eight o'clock, and would as a result be over about nine. I know that many parents in the city would appreciate such action and I hope that the leader of the band will give it his consideration.

Yours, etc.,
PARENT.

The Board regretfully accepted the resignation, for Mr Coon has been exceptionally popular with all his large parish. The yearly conference is in session this week, and the new appointments will be made at once.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

H. A. McCollum Will Sell by Auction on June 18th Six Hacks and Teams

The large hack business carried on for some time by McCollum Bros., and lately by Mr. H. A. McCollum, will be sold by public auction on June 18th. Mr. McCollum finds that since he took over the whole business there is too much for one man to look after, and he has decided to dispose of his six hacks, hack teams and harness, and the Victoria. These rigs are all very handsome and are in splendid condition. The sale will be held on June 18th at the barns, and after that date no hack orders will be received. From now until June 18th only hack orders will be filled for funerals and weddings.

Mr. McCollum intends to devote his whole attention in future to straight livery business. This branch of the business has grown so rapidly the past year or two, that he is crowded for stable room and for floor space. There is also less worry and expense and more profit.

The announcement will be greatly regretted by the general public, as Mr. McCollum has always been very prompt, courteous and obliging.

You have No Reason for Not Using

Zutoo

Some people think that all headache cures are alike—that they all undermine the health, even if not perceived at the time of taking them.

Well, we'll admit that the drug cures do this, but that is no reason why you should not take Zutoo.

Zutoo is a harmless vegetable remedy. One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda that our grandmothers used to take to settle the stomach, when they had sick headache. And there is nothing better.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

There is absolutely no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

If you suffer from headache there is every reason why you should.

Taken in time, two tablets will ward off a headache. Taken later, they will stop it in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time.

If you are using a drug remedy, why not discard it?

Zutoo will cure just as quickly and will save you the penalty, that all must sometime pay, who take the drugs which these cures contain.

If you will give Zutoo one trial, you will never take any other headache remedy again.

Some Things That are Badly Needed

Along the Route of Trent Canal —Dredging and Buoys

Although there seems to be a great deal of fuss and feathers about what is going to be done on canal construction in this vicinity, there is not very much being done to make the river itself safe for the navigation of steamers of any size, says the Hastings Star.

From Rice Lake to Healey Falls are several places which need dredging very badly to make the river so that a good size power boat would not be in danger of grounding but what is needed most is that the most navigable channel should be properly buoyed. Between Hastings and Healey Falls there are not half a dozen buoys to mark the channel, whereas four times that number are needed.

POTATOES GO UP IN PRICE

Sold at $1.25 per Bag on Today's Market—Good Ones Were Scarce

Potatoes $1.25 per bag.

This was the unpleasant intelligence that greeted householders on the market this morning and there were many complaints about how desperately high everything is getting. During the past week or so tubers have been getting scarce and there was a big demand for them today. Good ones were scarce too, and holders had no difficulty in getting $1.25 for 90 pound bags. The market was cleared early in this line and there were some disappointed ones who were not able to secure good potatoes. Seed potatoes sold at 90c per bag, but there was not much of a demand for these.

Eggs were fairly plentiful and sold at 17c and 18c per dozen, while butter changed hands at 22c to 25c per pound according to quality.

Poultry was dear and not at all plentiful. Turkeys sold around $2 to $2.50 each, while chickens went at 80c to $1.25 per pair, according to size.

The market was well supplied with green stuff and there was a ready sale for it. Prices for this line showed little change, being practically the same as last week.

More Donations For New Church

Park-st. Baptist church building committee met last night with the pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, in the chair. A letter from Belleville was read. The committee are deciding between the plans of the Belleville church and that of their own.

The architect question was left over until Friday next.

Considerable discussion on the depth of foundation and the kind of stone up to brick work connections took place.

The pledging committee are at work and reported considerable progress, several hundred additional donations during the week being received.

Through press of business one of the pledging committee was relieved of duty and his book transferred.

Crop Conditions in Ontario The Wheat and Clover Suffer

Season is Very Backward all Over—Cold Weather Has Made Growth Slow—Farm Supplies are Dear—Spring Seeding.

The following information regarding agricultural conditions in the Province about the middle of May, has been issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture;

Fall Wheat.—While a few correspondents report good fields of fall wheat, the bulk of the returns are more or less unfavorable. The crop looked promising in the late fall, and came through the winter in good condition, more especially where early sown; but the trying weather of April, with alternate freezing and thawing, resulted in the killing out of a considerable portion of the crop, there being much heaving on heavy clayy soils, and injury from ice on low-lying spots. More fall wheat than usual has been plowed up, and much more would be turned under, were it not that grass has been seeded down with the wheat. A considerable quantity of barley and oats, however, is being drilled into the bare spots for mixed feed. But little injury from insects has been reported the white grub being most in evidence. The backward state of spring growth has prevented as accurate an opinion of the prospects of the crop as is generally available at this time of the year, but the conditions above described are more or less general in every district where fall wheat is grown.

Winter Rye. —This crop came through the winter better than even fall wheat or clover, and is regarded as being in fair condition. Most of the rye grown in Ontario is used for soiling or for turning under as manure.

Clover.—Like fall wheat, clover suffered greatly from the trying weather of April, many fields being badly heaved by frost, or injured by ice forming. On warm, sandy soils, and well-drained clays, some excellent fields are reported, but on the whole the crop came through the winter and spring in poorer condition than for years, and no section of the province has been exempt. The backward spring has made it hard for correspondents to estimate the extent of the loss, some holding that a large area would have to be plowed up, while others state that a timely and vigorous use of the land roller would restore fields to a promising condition when growth got well started.

Vegetation. — Reports were returnable on May 16th, and at that time vegetation was nearly 2 weeks behind its usual record. Only the earliest trees had started to leaf, and grass had made so slow a growth that there was a rather close bite for live stock on pastures.

Live Stock. — When live stock went into winter quarters, it was felt that more than ordinary care would have to be exercised in their feeding and handling, as hay was not so plentiful as usual, and mill feed was high in price. The early part of the winter was favorable, and the warm weather of March augured an early season upon the grass—but the keen, raw weather of April, and the backward growth of the first half of May, upset all calculations, and when correspondents wrote, fodder supplies were short with many, and in some cases live stock had to be turned out on pastures that were hardly forward enough to sustain them. Cattle are not in as good spring condition as usual, being on the lean side as a rule, although, with the exception of some losses from scouring, and a few local cases of abortion in dairy cows, they are generally free from disease. The fact that they were put on grass later than usual also told against them. Horses, owing to the high prices now being paid for them, are being better cared for than ever. Some distemper has been reported, but generally in a mild form. The cool weather during spring work was in their favor. Sheep are gaining in favor, and are doing well although the usual losses in lambing are reported. The fatalities in spring litters of pigs have been serious, but otherwise this popular class of live stock is favorably spoken of, and shipments are being regularly made to the packing houses. The unusually long confinement of farm animals told heavily on fodder stores, and skilful husbandry will be required to maintain live stock in good shape should the summer be at all unfavorable.

Farm Supplies. — Hay is scarce and dear in most quarters, as a large quantity was pressed and shipped early in the winter and a good deal had to be fed to live stock during the late spring. Oats also had to be fed in larger quantity than was anticipated, and the surplus on hand is comparatively small. Wheat has been largely disposed of, and, taken all together, fodder supplies have been more closely drawn upon than for years. Of course, there are individual farmers, who have still a good supply of some or all of these commodities on hand. Fat cattle have been pretty well cleared off, exports having gone on regularly during the season. Store cattle are plentiful, but are late in getting on the grass. This, with the comparative scarcity of feed, is making the handling of beef cattle a more interesting problem than ever, this year.

Fruit. — The very backward state of the weather has prevented correspondents from reporting fully and accurately regarding the condition of orchards, as the stage of growth is nearly two weeks later than usual, and in most parts of the Province fruit trees had not got into leaf or blossom when reports were sent in. Several correspondents speak of plum trees dying, but some attribute this to the severe winter of 1903-4 having told on the vitality of the trees. Other fruit trees have have come through in good condition and give fair promise of fruiting should spring frosts be escaped. Complaints are made of injury from the san jose scale and the oyster shell bark louse, but more spraying than ever is being resorted to in order to overcome these and other orchard pests. Several correspondents report injury to small fruits by the winter.

Spring Seeding.—Except on low land, or on very stiff clays, there was an excellent seed bed for spring grain; many reports say "never better." The cold weather, however, made growth so slow that it has been difficult to estimate the extent of the catch, but the general opinion is favorable. A large number of the returns reported seeding as being practically completed, while others stated that there was yet much to do. Owing to the comparatively poor outlook for fall wheat and clover, more oats and barley have been sown, and a greater acreage of corn will likely be planted. The poorest reports regarding spring seeding came from some of the Lake Ontario and St. Lawrence and Ottawa counties, where wet land was delaying work.

A WEIRD RACING TALE

How a Horse That Couldn't Run Came In a Winner.

PULLED OFF AT GUTTENBERG.

The Story of the Way That Jockey Hugh Penny Repaid an Impecunious Owner Who Had In Days Gone by Helped Him on In His Career.

St. Louis, long a center for merry-go-round tracks, having at various times fostered the East Side, Madison, Sportsman's park and South Side tracks, has had many a weird racing tale unloaded upon it. Stories of horses at the night track being run in on the last lap under cover of semidarkness and the like have been common.

Here's one, however, that comes from the days of the old Guttenberg course, which seems able to hold its head up in almost any disreputable turf company:

When prosperity commenced shining on the Gut a little rat faced jockey began to attract the attention of men who wanted to get their horses home in front. He was quick at the post, had fair judgment, did not know what fear was and was willing to take all sorts of advantages, whether fair or not. This was Hugh Penny.

Penny had another virtue that is rare in jockeys in these days. He was grateful. When he was making a reputation a certain owner went out of his way to give him a mount.

This was the making of the jockey. The experience he got on this man's horses taught him a whole lot, and finally his services were in such demand he was able to pick his own mounts. Money was flowing into his pockets. He wore diamonds, drove fast trotters and was one of the few visitors to the hill able to afford fur overcoats.

In the meantime the man who had given him his start had fallen into a ruck and could not win a race. He owed every one who would trust him, the feed box was empty, and his stable consisted of one plug that could run a bit in the mud, but on a fast track couldn't beat a ten-year-old maiden.

This was the state of affairs when one night after the races he approached Penny and asked him to ride his horse in a six furlong race the next day. "What's the use, Bill?" asked the diminutive jockey. "He can't run fast enough to keep himself warm."

"You're right, Jock, but I've just got to take a chance. I'm down and out, and it is possible the old horse will be lucky enough to squeeze into third money."

The next day came. There was a fog surrounding the course that you could cut with a knife. In fact, it was so bad a bugler went to the post with the horses and with a loud blast announced when the flag fell. There was not a foot of the track that could be seen from the grand stand, and the judges had to leave the stand and go out on the track to tell which horse had won.

As Penny was mounting his horse in the paddock he was greatly excited.

"How much have you bet?" he asked the owner.

"Not a cent, son," was the reply. "I haven't got a cent to bet with, and, besides, the old horse can't win."

"Yes, he can," said Penny. "He'll win by a block. Here's a hundred. Hurry up and get it down."

The hundred was bet, and the horses went to the post. In a few moments there was a loud blast of a bugle, and the race was on. It was a half mile track, you understand, and the start was about where the mile and a quarter would be on a full mile track.

In a few seconds the splash of horses' feet could be heard from the grand stand and a few shadowy forms seen passing along the stretch. Then everything was silent until again came the faint patter of horses' feet. These grew louder and louder until finally they were right in front of the stand. Then it was seen that one horse was ten to fifteen lengths in front of the field. In a few moments it was announced that Penny's mount was the one that was so far in front, and the race was given to him.

Penny dismounted and made his way back to the paddock. He did not have a speck of mud on his clothes.

"The old horse was a runner today, wasn't he, jock?"

"Runner nothing," answered Penny. "Why, he couldn't run fast enough to beat me."

"How in blazes did he manage to beat that field, then?" was the query.

"He didn't," replied Penny. "I stood still when the flag fell, and when I heard the field coming after making the circuit of the track I drew the whip on the old dog, and even then it was all he could do to get home in front."

And that was one way of winning races at the hilltop track.

Antiquity of Slavery.

Slavery is pretty nearly as old as the race. It began so far back that the memory of man, assisted by the still greater memory of history, can recall no time when it did not exist. It would be difficult to say who were the first slaves. In all the nations around the Mediterranean, where civilization is supposed to have started, the institution began early to flourish and held on right down through feudalism to modern times.

Meet the pessimist with a smile. It is his worst medicine; but, bitter as it is, it usually does him good.—Oklahoma State Capital.

The fifteen-year-old son of John Heaney, Cushendall, Ont., was killed by lightning.

ROQUEFORT CHEESE.

How the Green Mold and the Flavor Are Produced.

A cheese expert has the following to say about Roquefort cheese:

"To make Roquefort cheese we must have the proper raw material—sheep's milk. Of course we have sheep in America, but show me a Yankee farmer who would go to the trouble of milking sheep! It is even too much for him to milk cows, and it is the standard lamentation of all our farmers that the boys, even if they stay on the farm, do not want to do any milking. Before they do such kind of work they would rather go to a business school or a college where they study agriculture, chemistry, etc.

"How is Roquefort cheese cured? The mold in the cheese is produced by moldy breadcrumbs which are ground to a green dust and mixed in the cheese curd. The country around Roquefort is very rocky. The limestone rocks are full of crevices and caves, which draw in the warm air in summer, give it out in winter, and vice versa.

"These caves have been provided by nature and improved by cellars that have been built in such a way that these natural currents of warm and cold air pass through them, where Roquefort cheese is cured. This is the way that Roquefort cheese is ripened and gets its peculiar flavor and character. It is all very well for the scientists to study the chemical process which the cheese is undergoing, but to produce this process in an artificial way is another question. Nature is the best chemist.

"The manufacture of Roquefort cheese has been tried in America, but the manufacturers did not make much of a success. Nobody manufactures Roquefort in America at present. We know of one manufacturer who tried to make Roquefort cheese of goats' milk. He boasted especially that he would use only the milk of 'imported' goats. Just think of the idea! Imported goats grazing on American pastures were expected to give better flavored milk than domestic goats. It is the climate, the special soil, atmospheric influences, etc., which produce the fine fragrant grass. The milk of the cows or goats or sheep is naturally the product of the grass they are eating, the water they are drinking, and neither this nor the climate nor the country can be imported to America—only the product which the climate or country produces. That is why neither the American Camembert nor Roquefort ever has the flavor or fragrance of the imported article in spite of all the imported goats or imported cattle or even of imported microbes."

BOOMERANG INVENTIONS.

Clisthenes introduced the custom of ostracism and was the first to be banished thereby.

Matthew Hopkins, the witch finder, was himself tried by his own tests and put to death as a wizard.

Ludovico Sforza, who invented the iron shroud, was the first to suffer death by this horrible torture.

Perillos, who invented the brazen bull for Phalaris, tyrant of Agrigentum, was the first person baked to death in the horrible monster.

The Regent Morton of Scotland, who invented the maiden, a sort of guillotine, was the first to be beheaded thereby. This was in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The bishop of Verdun, who invented the iron cages, too small to allow the person confined in them to stand upright or lie at full length, was the first to be shut up in one.

The perriere was an instrument for throwing stones of 3,000 pounds in weight, and the inventor fell a victim to his own invention by the accidental discharge of a perriere against a wall.

Old Time Bank Sinecures.

In the old days the Bank of England was paternal in its treatment of its clerks. One young fellow was distinguished only for his zeal as a member of the volunteer corps which now is defunct. His clerkly services were negligible and neglected, but when it was brought to the notice of the directors they remembered his martial ardor and gave him a nice little sinecure. Another clerk was reported to them as a really clever amateur painter. They saw his pictures. "It is a pity that such talent should be wasted over ledgers," was the kindly verdict. So they gave him a room at the bank for use as a studio and appointed him to the post of superintending the burning of canceled bank notes every Friday afternoon.—London Chronicle.

The Greek Figure.

Greek figures of men appear taller and more graceful than those of moderns. Modern artists make the upright figure seven and one-half times the length of the head. The Greeks made it eight times, lengthening the shin, and the longer sweep from knee to heel gave the figure increased grace and dignity. The same plan was frequently adopted by Lord Leighton, in whose paintings the same effect is obtained.

Made a Difference.

Teacher—If one servant girl could clean two rooms in two hours, how long would it take two servant girls to do it? Little Girl—Four hours. Teacher—Wrong. It would only take one hour. Little Girl—Oh, I didn't know you was talking about servant girls that wasn't on speaking terms!—London Tit-Bits.

Kept His Contract.

Patient—I thought you extracted teeth without pain. Dentist—Well, you still have the pain, haven't you?—Life.

Herbert H. Taylor the two-year-old son of Hirst Taylor, of Garden Hill, was drowned.

Navigation for the Small Boats

Otonabee River Promises to be More Popular Than Ever

Navigation for small boats this year is very backward. So far there have been only occasional days and evenings that the weather would permit the pleasure of a paddle, but on those few occasions the young people in the city took every advantage. Nearly every fine evening, it has been almost impossible to buy, rent or borrow a canoe or a skiff. Then the weather changes and no one wants a boat for several days. But there are great possibilities for a big season if the weather ever turns warm.

There are more boats on the river now than ever before, and there are more people to use them. A great many small houses are to be seen on all shores of the river, and Little Lake, and there is nearly as much boating in the lake, as there is below the locks. But on account of the very dangerous condition at the locks and the determination of the canal officials to ignore the canoeists very existence, a large number of them have been forced to move their boats down near the end of the street car line. The Otonabee Boat House is now full to the roof, and twelve or fifteen addition racks have been built. It is also rumored that many more boats will be taken down to the Otonabee Boat House. If this is correct, then Mr. Rye will be forced to put another addition to his building.

At the floating wharfs and dry docks at the Otonabee Boat House, there are now ten power launches. Eight are in the water and in good running order and two are still on dry dock. The boats all wintered well and are running better this year than ever. Those in the water are Mr. G. P. Breen's new speed boat, Thos. Meredith's and E. Mitchell's yacht, Flirt; W. E. Talbot's, Jeanette; Dr. Greer's Wawa; The Quaker Oats boys' Aletha; Rock Gordon's Rambler; Anderson and Fakenham's Buster; Martin and Wesley's launch, the Gypsy; and H. Allen's Tootsie. It is expected that the Eko Camp boys will have their's down soon, and Mr. F. H. Dobbin has also secured a wharf. The only two not in the water are the Molly and the Strathmore.

Yesterday two young men were severely called down in front of the Otonabee Boat House for rocking a boat. There were quite a number of young people on the wharf, and the boys were giving an exhibition of their bravery, but Mr. Rye told them that if they wanted a cradle they had better go home to their mother and get one. Every year a few fools have to be combed down before the season gets well under way.

If Sunday is a nice warm day like the last two Sundays there will be a big crowd down the river. The groves and little parks down stream are very attractive this spring, and it is so seldom that an opportunity is offered that the novelty of the woods has not yet worn off.

Dickson Bros. have closed the bargain with Mr. Andrew Hubble for five acres of land at the south side of the G.T.R. tracks just opposite the station. There is no prospect of either raising the track or moving the station. It was merely idle rumor.—Campbellford Herald.

MR. BORDEN'S STATEMENT

At the Council meeting of the Carleton County Conservative Association on Wednesday, Mr. R. L. Borden delivered a vigorous address, in which he scored the government scathingly on the matter of corruption. He devoted special attention to the "wine, women and graft" charges, and pointed out how Mr. Fowler had been provoked into making the charges by the continual thrusts at his private feelings, says the Woodstock Express. After he had made his sensational statements, however, Mr. Fowler was treated with the utmost courtesy and respect by the Government members. "It was remarkable, and, indeed, laughable, to observe the respect and consideration extended to Mr. Fowler from the Government side after his celebrated declaration to which I have alluded," said Mr. Borden in the course of his speech. Up to that time he had been subjected to every possible attack, and insinuations from various government members. After the explosion not a word of criticism was heard with regard to him or his private business affairs, but the most courteous and respectful words and tones were employed on all occasions whenever reference was made to the member for King's and Albert. A government which places itself in such a position before the country must bear the brunt, if inferences of a most damaging character are drawn by the people as to its motives and its fears.

"The attitude of the government has done them little credit. The impression created throughout the country is that an investigation would promptly have been challenged if the interests of the Administration had not made it desirable to pass over the incident in silence." Mr. Borden went on to say that he would challenge enquiry into the conduct of any member on the Conservative side, but the challenge was ignored by the government.

Mr. Borden was right when he said that the attitude which the government had assumed had done them little credit. They have lost the confidence of many people as a result of their failure to provide investigation into Mr. Fowler's charges. There may have been nothing in the charges, but that was not for Sir Wilfrid Laurier or any other individual member to say. No man was in a position to deny them. Where there is so much smoke there is more or less fire. That is an old adage, but it was equally applicable to this incident, for it must be conceded that there was lots of smoke.

Then, too, why should a member of parliament be allowed to hand out such statements without being pressed for an explanation.

The general feeling is that there was more truth than fiction in the charges, and the government feared investigation. No man with a clear conscience will fear enquiry into his conduct, nor should he refuse investigation into the conduct of others which might savor of wrong and indecency.

The whole affair has the appearance of a deep laid scheme to burk enquiry because of the fear of the consequences. Honest men would want an enquiry, but the action of the Laurier Government has placed them in a cloud of suspicion, and people are at liberty to accept the charges as they were given.

PEN POINTS

During the month of May, the receipts of the Provincial Treasury from succession duties amount to $83,835. In the course of the five months of the year which have elapsed the province has received $491,200 from that source, as compared with $217,486 during the same period in 1906, an increase of $273,714, or over one hundred per cent.

Local vocalists who indulge in an objectionable fad, may find the following interesting. It is only one of the many cruel blows the "wobble" gets occasionally. A musical journal says: "Speaking at the Bala choir eisteddford, Harry Evans, adjudicator said that Welsh tenors were degenerating and becoming a positive nuisance at many eisteddfodau, through the objectionable vibrato characteristics of their performances. A few years ago, they had tenors who shouted themselves red in the face, and then they had the high collared tenor, with a finicking tone in the back of his head but nowadays the tenor was a sort of bad bleat. Welsh choirs failed in competitions through tenors playing around the correct notes with a vibrato voice. The introduction of the vibrato, was a vanity causing utter ruin to the voice. It was becoming a musical disease in Wales, and the sooner they stamped it out the better it would be for Welsh singing.

The special correspondent of the Montreal Star, who reported the Emmerson-Crockett libel case at Fredericton, N. B., thus refers to the defendant:

James H. Crockett, the defendant, goes about as blithely as if criminal cases were an item of daily routine. He is a bright, jolly kind of a man, who seems to have been built mentally if not physically upon somewhat the same lines as George Ham, always full of good spirits, and with a joke or a kind word for everybody. It is said openly here in Fredericton that Mr. Emmerson has a great personal liking for him. Mr. Crockett is the managing editor of the Fredericton Gleaner, the local daily standard-bearer of the Conservative party.

To show the sort of a man Mr. Crockett, is, it is worth mentioning that he has been strenuously fighting with his lawyer ever since his return to keep the names of the women implicated out of the case, and even today he still hopes that he will succeed, but his legal advisors seem convinced that this is impossible. It was even rumored early in the morning here that the prosecution would bring them in as witnesses at the afternoon session of the court. This is a point which is apt to create some bitter feeling, and a man, supposed to be a railroad man from the States, said at the Barker House last night, "If this thing was coming off in the south it would never finish without some shooting."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country, than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years, was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Onhio., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and the mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Telephone Cos. to Rent Clocks

Self-winding Electric Clocks That Give Absolutely Accurate Time

Telephone companies are now furnishing their subscribers at a small annual rental self-winding electric clocks that give absolutely accurate time.

The clocks can be placed anywhere in the house, says Popular Mechanics, and are connected to the telephone wires by means of concealed wires.

The telephone clock never stops, for it never runs down, and should it vary a second or two in the course of the twenty-four hours it will be correct again within a few hours, for each day till the telephone clocks in the city are synchronized or set.

This setting is done from the central office at some hour when the telephone is least likely to be in use, say 3 o'clock a.m. The setting requires only a moment and is accomplished by a separate current from the master clock.

The operation of the telephone clock is simple. The winding is done by means of dry batteries which energize the magnet and cause it to lift alternately two small round weights, each one of which in falling once will operate the clock seven and one-half minutes.

The system is said to be absolutely safe. The rental of a clock is about the same price as people pay for having clocks cleaned each year.

Spent Few Days up the Lakes

Mr. Thos. Hooper and Party Return to the City

Mr. Thomas Hooper, who purchased Mr. C. B. McAllister's motor launch has just returned from spending a few days up the lakes in company with Mr. Charles Davis of Toronto, Mr. Duncan Drummond, and Mr. W. H. Hamilton. They were at Mr. Hamilton's cottage and enjoyed themselves immensely. They sailed over the lift lock, up the canal to Lakefield and came back by the same route. Mr. Hooper is very proud of his launch, and his friends consider him a navigator of no mean ability.

EVERYTHING IS IN READINESS

For the Minstrels at the Opera House on Tuesday and Wednesday Evening

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, the Peterborough amateur minstrels will hold the boards at the Grand Opera House, and from present indications there will be two big audiences. The club has a practice last night, at which everything passed off with a great swing. The final rehearsal will be held on Monday night and those who know state that the entertainment will be one of the best of its kind ever given in Peterborough. The plan for the house opened this morning and the seats are going rapidly.

The performances are being given in aid of the local lacrosse club, an organization which is deserving of every support.

There will be a male chorus of 35 popular ballads, and songs, jokes and repartee, and 'tis said the six end men are excruciatingly funny. Numerous specialties are also on the programme, in fact, like the country auction sale, there are things too numerous to mention. The prices are 25c, 35c, and 50c, and the opera house should be packed both nights. The jokes include many real hits which will raise the roof with laughter. The best male vocalists in the city are taking part and have been specially trained. To drive away the blues go to the opera house on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Man Teaches Bear to Skate

Spessardy Does Wonders With Troop of Dumb Brutes

When bears play leapfrog it is time to sit up and take notice. That is what Spessardy's bears do. Spessardy is Europe's greatest animal trainer. He has taught bears to skate, walk a tight rope, engage in fistic bouts, and skip the rope. He has a tiger that rides on a zebra's back, and he has done many wonderful things that no one else has succeeded in doing.

Spessardy is making his first tour of America with his wonderful company of trained animals as one of the features of the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros' shows, which will exhibit in Peterborough on Tuesday, June 25.

In an arena of steel bars connecting with the menagerie by means of a metal tunnel-way will be seen several of the greatest trained animal acts ever originated. George De Voe is exhibiting a great horse act and the famous Lockhart elephants are doing new tricks. The greatest company of educated seals in the world are presenting a new act, and besides these, other trained animal groups are introduced.

Besides the animal acts the performance has novelty and excellence in its riding, trapeze and bar acts, clowning and acrobatic specialties.

Among the three hundred performers many have been engaged from the greatest European talent, and are seen for the first time this season. Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' circus has grown to the largest in the world. Its managers are determined to present only acts that are new, and in organizing for this season, they have departed so completely from old lines, as to have practically a new form of entertainment.

The first novelty to present itself is the twentieth-century parade, which is positively a new idea in the nature of circus pageantry. It is twice as long as any other, and more than that there is not an old feature in it.

The most striking novelty of all is the fire show, which introduces the regular performance. It cost one million dollars to put this idea into operation and it requires to present it, 1,200 people, 500 horses, 200 automobiles, trolley cars, cabs, delivery waggons and other vehicles, and a trainload of costumes, scenery and properties. The conquering of a big fire and the rescue of men, women and children from high windows are accomplished by a battalion of professional firemen with complete metropolitan apparatus of fire engines, hose carts, stand pipes and hook and ladder waggons.

Three Times Did Trap on Gallows Fail to Open at a Hanging

John Lees's Remarkable Experience on the Scaffold—How an Innocent Man Escaped Execution on Murder Charge—Most Thrilling Scenes.

One of the most remarkable scenes ever witnessed on the gallows took place in England in the last century, says the London Tit-Bits.

Early on the morning of February 23, 1885, a considerable crowd of people gathered before the grim front of Exeter prison. It was a silent crowd, shivering in the keen wind that blew around those frowning walls on that dull misty morning, and its eyes were all bent on a flagstaff which stood bare. They were waiting for a flag to be hoisted—the terrible black flag which should announce that justice had been done on a murderer.

Inside the prison a warder stood ready, holding in his hand the cord which would hoist the hideous black drapery, lying on the ground at his feet, but the signal did not come. Instead of it there arrived an excited prison officer.

"The flag will not be hoisted. Lee will not be hanged today," he said.

John Lee, the prisoner, whose death signal that crowd had awaited, had had one of the most remarkable escapes from capital punishment recorded in our prison history. To this day it remains somewhat of a mystery how John Lee lived so many years after the events of that terrible morning.

"I had a dream," the wretched man wrote to his sister the day after the fearful experience on the scaffold —"I had a dream on Sunday night (the night before the day fixed for the execution) that the scaffold was not ready and that they had to make another. I told the officers that were on watch over me at 6 o'clock in the morning, but I did not think it was coming true. But it did. It was the Lord's will that I should not die yesterday at the time appointed by man. I believe that what occurred was a miracle. I was on the brink of death three times. It is my wish to die. I am tired of this world, and I am waiting for the time to come, and I hope it will not be long. I have been dead to this world three times."

John Lee did not exaggerate his awful experience.

At 8 in the morning of that February day he had been led from his cell to die. In what had been the coach house of the prison the gallows had been erected. Beneath was a deep pit covered by closed doors, which, when the condemned man was placed in a proper position, should, at a signal from the executioner, fly open, a bolt being withdrawn by an assistant pulling a lever. The whole arrangement had been tested several times and had worked satisfactorily. But now, with John Lee standing there with the cap drawn over his face and the hangman's rope around his neck, the flap doors beneath his feet would not give way! Berry made the fatal signal, the assistant pulled the lever, the bolt flew back, but the doors kept their place. The warders rushed forward and stamped with their feet upon the doors. They remained firm. Lee was led aside, and carpenters were called in to saw some of the wood work away. Again all was ready. The clergyman once more came to the words, "In the midst of life we are in death." Again the signal was given, the bar was pulled, but the doors refused to part. John Lee stood there before them alive!

Three times did that happen. For no fewer than eighteen minutes Lee stood there tasting the agony of momentarily expected death.

Then the white cap was taken from his face and the rope from around his neck, and he was led back to prison, while the gaol authorities hastily conferred as to what should be done. A telegram was despatched to the Home Secretary, Sir William Harcourt, informing him of the extraordinary occurrence and requesting instructions. Later the under-sheriff proceeded to London to interview the secretary.

"I felt," said Sir William Harcourt, later in the House of Commons, "that it would shock the feelings of every one if this man were called upon again to undergo the pangs of imminent death, and I consequently signed a respite during Her Majesty's pleasure."

(Lee was condemned for what was known as the Babbacombe murder, in which his mistress, an old lady, had been killed. Lee always protested his innocence, and years afterwards a former maid of the victim confessed to the crime upon her deathbed. The failure of the gallows in such amazing way seemed like the intervention of Providence.)

Presbyterians Will Have Cosy and Comfortable Edifice

It is expected that within a few months the new house of worship will be completed. The site selected is an imposing one on the principal corner of the Smith township side of the river

Worthy Member Highly Honored

Presentation to Mrs. W. F. Boswell of Purse of Gold

The annual picnic of St. Luke's Woman's Auxiliary, was held yesterday afternoon at Mrs. L. Turner's and a most pleasant time was spent, although the proceedings were tinged with regret at the departure of Mrs. W. F. Boswell, a former president, who intends leaving the city about the middle of the month for Edmonton to join her husband, who has taken up land about six miles north of that city. The address was signed by the president and secretary and was as follows:—

Ashburnham, June 7, 1907.

Dear Mrs. Boswell.—Before you leave for the west, the members of St. Luke's W.A. desire to express to you in some measure how much they regret your leaving. Your enthusiastic assistance in the Missionary work of the church has been an inspiration to your fellow members, and, especially in your office as President, which your have held for two years, you were able to impart much interest and zeal to us. Your friendly and kind manner of dealing with your co-workers has endeared you very much to us.

To give some tangible expression of our feelings, we ask you to accept accompanying purse, with the wish that you will ever cherish, as we shall do, the pleasant associations which have aided you and us in our work.

We sincerely hope that your absence will only be temporary, and that in the near future we shall see you again in our midst. In the meanwhile we commend you to God's loving care. May He watch between you and us while we are absent one from another, and bring you safely back again.

We remain on behalf of the members of St. Luke's Woman's Auxiliary,

Your friends in Christ,
EMMA TURNER,
Secretary.
E. GASKINS,
President.

In acknowledging the gift and the expressions of appreciation embodied in the address, Mrs. Boswell briefly thanked the ladies for their kindness, and assured them that she would never forget the pleasant hours she had spent with the ladies of the Auxiliary, which organization she wished every success.

A Patriotic Offer Made To Every School in Canada

A "Victory" Shield Will be Presented to Each School—Lord Strathcona's Gift to the British and Foreign Sailors' Society.

Mr. Edward W. Matthews, secretary of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, Passmore Edwards Sailors' Palace, London, Eng., writes the Review a letter that will be read with interest, telling how each school in Canada may have a shield from Lord Nelson's famous flag ship, "The Victory," and how every boy and girl may receive a "Victory" charm made from the same copper. The letter is,—

Sir,—Having recently passed through your vast Dominion from Victoria on the Pacific to Quebec on the Atlantic, holding meetings in some of your chief cities and schools en route, it gives me the greatest pleasure to announce through your widely-read paper a patriotic offer to every school in Canada.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal is not only known as the High Commissioner in London, but as the grand old man of Canada—not old as to mental alertness and manifold activities for his beloved country, for during the historic gathering of the Premiers in London, no man was more in evidence from early morning till late at night.

Not able to attend the 89th annual meeting of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, of which Admiral H. R.H. the Prince of Wales, is Patron, held, through the kindness of the Lord Mayor of London, at the Mansion House, Lord Strathcona, sent to me this cheering letter,—

"Dear Mr. Matthews,—I am exceedingly sorry that my official duties make it impossible for me to be present at the anniversary meeting of your society this afternoon. You know I am entirely in sympathy with the work of your society, and it will afford me much pleasure to contribute £1,000 for the purpose of providing a 'Victory" shied to the schools throughout the Dominion to be distributed as you suggest.—Believe me to be, dear Mr. Matthews, yours sincerely, STRATHCONA."

The society has undertaken a big thing for a big country, but I feel confident that as heretofore, the Government will admit the shield and souvenirs duty free, and that the Ministers of Education and various Educational authorities and teachers will co-operate with us to ensure the successful carrying out of this project. The society has already spent several thousand pounds in its educational, patriotic and philanthropic work in connection with its Nelson Centenary and Anniversary celebrations. In addition to the copper given to the society by the Lords of the Admiralty, taken from Admiral Lord Nelson's famous battleship, "Victory," all the copper left from Nelson's other historic battleship, "Foudroyant," was secured to be used for the above purposes.

The sacred promise made to the Admiralty when the material was given was, that any financial outcome should go to the benefit of the seamen. In carrying out, therefore, by the kind assistance of Lord Strathcona, this great project in Canada, we are anxious that every school, however small in numbers, however far from the frontier, should have its "Victory" shief. But at the same time we would like to receive even from the smallest school not less than one dollar for the society's work among seamen. And every boy or girl, giving or collecting only 25 cents will receive a "Victory" charm made from the same copper.

HELP SAILORS' WORK IN CANADIAN PORTS.

The society, in addition to caring for seamen in many ports of the world, when away from their own countries (as Canadian seamen for instance) will also co-operate with friends in Canadian ports, east and west, by suitable institutes, Bethels, Rests of an Interdenominational character. Canada in supplying the British Isles, and British Colonies, and other portions of the world, to say nothing of its being the "All-Red Route" to New Zealand, Australia, etc., must have increased shipping and sailors.

The Shield will link the historic past with the prophetic future As Empire Day comes round, or annual examinations, the Shield will be awarded to the successful competitor on a maritime or Empire subject. Lord Strathcona's name will go to every school to remind the rich in the days to come of what the country owes to its schools, and Nelson's ship will ever point to duty and what the nation and especially the colonies beyond the seas, owe to ships and sailors. Schools can communicate with the Ministers of Education; or with me at the Passmore Edwards Sailors' Palace, Limehouse, London, England. Faithfully yours,

EDWARD W. MATTHEWS,
Secretary.

Agricultural Schools to be Established in the Province

Toronto, June 7.—At the close of this morning's conference between High school representatives of the six towns in which agricultural classes are to be established and the Ontario Government, the teachers to have charge of the six classes were announced as follows;

At Collingwood, R. E. Mortimer, of Honeywood.

Galt, F. C. Hart of Guelph.

Essex Centre, A McKenney, of Corinth.

Lindsay, Francis H. Reed, of Georgetown.

Perth, Roy S. Hamer of Bradford.

Morrisburg, W. A. Munroe of Chesterville.

These young men are graduates of the Ontario Agricultural College.

Premier Whitney made the announcement that if the grant of a thousand dollars to each class were found to be inadequate, additional allowance might be made in the future. Should the experiment prove a success, it would be extended. He hoped the project would result in Agricultural schools all over Ontario.

Hon Mr. Matheson and Dr. Seath remarked that the counties would be expected to contribute a fair share of the outlay.

Three Vagrants in Police Court

Two Men and One Woman Without Homes—Hector Baker Allowed to Go.

Three vagrants occupied the prisoners' box at the police court this morning, two men and one woman. There was no money realized from the court this morning. It was too bad that a photographer was not present to take a snap-shot of the two sons and daughter of the sons of rest.

Hector Baker was the first one to answer the roll call. He is an old-timer in police court, having appeared several times before. He was charged with vagrancy —sleeping in barns and having no visible means of support. Hector pleaded not guilty. He stated that he was going to begin working at the Normal school next Monday; that he had been drinking yesterday and went to the barn to sober up.

P. C. McDonald went into the box and swore that this morning about 1.15 he went to the Royal Hotel barns on Hunter street, and found Baker and the woman prisoner sleeping in a stall There were two other fellows there, but they were employees of the hotel. He arrested them.

The magistrate said he would allow Baker to go. "You are leading a blackguard's life, but there is work awaiting you and a wife and family to support," said His Worship. "If you ever appear again you will be sent to Central Prison.

Thos. McDonald, or better known as "Mousey" McDonald, was the next vagrant. He has been sleeping in the market building for some time He got out of gaol about two weeks ago. He is unable to work, his whole frame shaking from the effects of whiskey.

His Worship gave him three months at Castle Nesbitt.

There was also the same charge against the woman, or "the last rose of summer," as His Worship called her She never uttered a word but hung her head. The poor unfortunate comes from Norwood, and is without a home. She was given one month in the county gaol.

FARMERS IN COURT FOR SELLING LIGHT BUTTER

There were big doings on the market this morning, butter being seized in large quantities on account of short weight. Chief of Police Rozel and Constables Adams and McDonald were on hand with a pair of scales and made a tour through the marekt hall, weighing the butter that was offered for sale. And not without results either. About a dozen baskets containing from six to twelve pounds each were confiscated, and the persons who offered them for sale will have to face the police magistrate.

Complaints have been reaching the Chief lately that short weight butter was being offered for sale, so this morning it was determined to find out what truth lay behind the charges that were being made. There was consternation among the women who had butter for sale when the policemen appeared with the scales, and when a few so-called pound prints had been weighed and found to total less than sixteen ounces, it did not add to their serenity. Every basket that was found to contain short weight butter was confiscated and carried out into the outer hall where Constable Adams stood guard over it.

The butter was brought to the police station, and a special session of the court was held to deal with those who had it for sale. The court was in progress at the time of going to press.

RETURNS HOME FROM BUFFALO

Mr. John Green Was Looking After Interest of Heirs in Dr. Campbell Estate

Mr. John Green, barrister, returned from a business trip to Buffalo, last night, where he has been spending a few days on business in connection with the late Dr. Campbell estate, whose heirs reside in this district. When seen today by a Review representative, Mr. Green said that it rained incessantly, day and night during his stay in Buffalo, and with a piercing wind from off the three hundred miles stretch of a lake, he felt the cold more than any day last winter, here. He added that there will be delay in the winding up of the estate of the late Dr. Campbell as no will can be found, and none of the next of kin are minors, and besides it will take some time to get an inventory and appraisement of his assets in full. It is not even known yet whether he parted with his ranch in Nebraska.

Mr Green was asked if he had time for sight seeing,—"No I did not have time for sight seeing" he replied, "as my time was fully occupied with my business. I have been in Buffalo many times and have noticed its constant and rapid growth. It was a dirty and unattractive city when I saw it, since then its population has increased seven-fold and now it has many pretentious structures, and residential streets. The latest additions are Shea's new theatre on Court street, McKinley's monument of white marble on the intersection of Court and Niagara streets, and they claim Shea's theatre is the most modern and complete in all its appointments of any on this continent They also claim to have the greatest mileage of granolithic pavement of any city in the world. They seem to have caught the spirit of the Pan-American show, when they made the neatest display of electric lighting the world has ever seen, because of the great Niagara power. Since then many devices have been brought into requisition for the purpose of advertising, producing artistic effects.

PLAYED NATIONAL ANTHEM.

Continuing Mr. Green said; I stopped at the "Court Inn," a lofty building on Court street, opposite Shea's theatre. The proprietor, Mr. John E. Congalton, is a genial and gentlemanly fellow, and he made my stay a pleasant one. The place is new and clean, and almost modern in all its improvements. The charges are moderate. They have a fine orchestra playing in one of the large dining rooms from noon to midnight, which makes it a favorite resort for luncheon. During the evening before I left the landlord and his wife, with a small party of prominent citizens, among whom was an ex-Mayor of Buffalo, were celebrating the landlord's birthday, and, upon a cordial invitation, I joined the party In conversation I happened to mention that I would be leaving the next day. The landlord went over and whispered to the leader of the orchestra, when they at once struck up "God Save the King," whereupon every lady and gentleman in the room arose and sang "God Save the King," as heartily as if they were Canadians. This unique compliment was as surprising as it was pleasing. Any Canadian might well feel at home with such a host.

THE FIRST PAPER MADE IN AMERICA

Mr. W. R. Hartshorne, of Chemong Park, has made an interesting presentation to the Victoria Museum.

It is a piece of the first paper ever manufactured in America. It was turned out by Claus Rittenhouse, in the year 1690, in the paper mill running near German, in Pennsylvania. The paper bears the signature of N. W. Rittenhouse. It is about 2 x 6 and is evidently taken from an old ledger. The sample is quite thick, is of good quality, is ruled and somewhat resembles parchment. The gift of Mr. Hartshorne will be add to the interesting and varied collection of curios in the Victoria Museum.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

It was certainly evident, as he paused and looked about him, when he reached the topmost stair, that he had not been upon this floor and through this particular corridor before.

He pushed open the first door he reached, and found himself in a room tastefully furnished.

This, in all probability, was one of the inhabitable apartments the heir of the Towers had casually referred to. He pushed his search still further—drawing back the velvet hangings, which were closely drawn before the arched doorway of an inner apartment.

He stood quite still and motionless, gazing upon the scene from within which met his view.

Like the outer apartments, this room was also tastefully furnished. A silver-shaded lamp stood on a marble centre-table, casting a subdued, mellow light over the bright-hued velvet carpet—the easy lounging chairs, cottage piano, and general bric-a-brac.

A bouquet of wild flowers, pansies and mignonette, filled a vase on the dresser, and a bouquet of the same flowers adorned either side of the velvet-draped mantel.

It [illegible] evidently a room such as a lady would use—a lady of taste and refinement. And in the centre of the room, seated on a low rocker—her face half revealed by the silver lamp and half concealed by it's shade of crimson crystal,—sat a young and lovely girl, running her white, shapely fingers over the strings of a guitar, accompanying the music, now and then, by a few notes of a singularly sweet and bell-like compass.

This was the sound that had reached the young detective, as he sat in Waldemar Waldron's apartments below.

The detective's heart gave a great throb of exultation and triumph.

Had success crowned his valiant efforts at last?

One rapid, eager glance, as the face was turned more fully toward him in the soft glow of the lamp,—then his hopes fell with the keenest disappointment, as it flashed over him that the young girl before him was not General Hasting's daughter.

Long and earnestly he scrutinized every feature of her face. It bore not the slightest resemblance to the smiling, dimpled face of the lovely little blonde whose photograph reposed at that moment in his breast pocket. Not one feature resembled the pictured face of the general's missing daughter.

He had stumbled upon a hidden romance; but it mattered little to him since it was not the one in which he was interested.

With a keen sense of disappointment, he turned and retraced his steps to the apartment in which Waldron still sat. He had scarcely regained his seat ere the young heir opened his eyes with a start.

"Did I fall asleep?" he asked, in the utmost astonishment. "How long have we been sitting here? I must have dozed off a minute or two since, just as you were relating your very interesting story concerning General Hastings' plans. I certainly beg your pardon for being such an inattentive listener. I was quite interested, however, I assure you."

"It is my turn, I should say, to beg pardon for encroaching so long upon your hospitality. It is time I was taking my leave."

There was nothing more to be learned from the housekeeper's nephew, Waldemar Waldron told himself. Therefore he did not press him, any further than common courtesy required, to prolong his stay. And it was with a feeling of relief that he saw the heavy iron gate shut to with a bang after his retreating form.

"Can it possibly be true the old idiot intends willing every dollar of his property to that infernal Chesleigh?" he cried, grinding his fair moustache between his white teeth in impotent rage. "It must not—it shall not be. I must put a stop to that, too, at all hazards."

He walked slowly back to the Towers, meditating upon a strange problem that was in his mind.

"By George, I must put it into execution to-morrow," he mused. "I am standing upon thin ice, with the plank of safety slipping beneath my feet.

"Yes," he decided, "to-morrow this part of the country will witness one of the greatest sensations that it has known for long years. Excitement will wax hot, and I shall stand quietly by and witness it all."

Meanwhile, a new and startling thought had occurred to the young detective. He had retraced his steps hurriedly back to Waldron Towers, touching the huge brass knocker with a firm, determined hand that sent a weird, resounding peal through the house.

We will leave Waldemar Waldron to mature his plans, which were to bear strange fruit on the morrow, and the young detective to carry out the startling design which had caused him to retrace his steps toward the Towers; and you shall learn, dear reader—in the following chapter—the fate that had befallen beautiful Reine the general's lovely young daughter.

CHAPTER XII.

We must now return to the general's daughter, as she stepped out into the moonlit grounds on her bridal eve, sinking down upon the rustic bench in the shadow of the fir trees. Fifteen minutes more, and she would be Bernard Chesleigh's wedded wife—she whose every thought was with the lover who had [illegible] banished from her side.

After to-night it would be a [illegible] to give one thought to another.

"Waldemar, oh, my love!" sighed the girl, holding out her beautiful white arms, "I am bidding you a silent, eternal farewell forever."

The shadow among the trees advanced quickly forward, stopping suddenly before her, and, raising her startled glance, Reine beheld—Waldemar Waldron.

She did not cry out or faint. The shock of sudden joy was too much for that. A sharp gasp parted the crimson lips. The light that shone in the blue, up-lifted eyes was pitiful to see. She held out her tender hands, and he, rushing forward, clasped her to his heart.

"Reine," he cried, hoarsely, thrusting the beautiful bridal veil back from her face, "have I come too late? Have they wedded you to my rival?

She shook her head.

"Not yet, Waldemar," she whispered, shudderingly. "Not until eight to-night. It wants a quarter to that time now. Do not remind me of it. Let me have a few brief, fleeting moments of happiness. Life will be so cold and dark for me after we part."

"You do not love him, Reine, my darling," he said. "Why should you sacrifice yourself? You must not—you shall not! Why did you consent to anything like this?" he asked. "I thought you would be true to me, Reine," he added, reproachfully.

"I thought you had forgotten me, and I longed to die, Waldemar," she said, faintly; and in broken sobs she related to him the story Gertie Traverse had told her of the beautiful lady whom he was seen in company with, and the fear that had come over her that he had found some one else to love.

"After I heard about that, I grew desperate, Waldemar," she said. "Then I let them have their own way."

"The lady in whose company they saw me in New York was my cousin," he explained, glibly, "a true and noble young lady who has heard me speak of you a hundred times, and who takes the warmest interest in our love affair, Reine."

A triumphant smile wreathed the lips the fair moustache covered, as he saw how implicitly she trusted and believed him. He had had no intention whatever of resigning the richest prize Dame Fortune had ever placed within his reach when he went away.

Sunlight Soap is better than other soap, but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Buy Sunlight Soap and follow directions.

He had laid his plans adroitly. To throw the old general off his guard he had gone away. His absence would have another advantage. Beautiful Reine, whose heart he had so completely won, would be brought to a realization of what his absence cost her, and what life without him would be like; and the plan he had in view could be more easily accomplished.

Ah! he had guessed rightly. The sorrow of his absence had told upon her greatly. She had hungered and thirsted so for his love! Now that he was with her again, no wonder that she forgot all the world—everything save him.

The moments flew on unheeded.

He clasped the lovely form clad in her bridal robes still closer to his heart, kissing the quivering lips, and kissing the tears from her lovely blue eyes, telling her in eloquent, passionate words that it would be death to them to part from each other—that he could not do it. He could never give her up to another and live.

She clung to him with piteous sobs. His caresses were like strong wine to her and dazed her senses; her heart beat with happiness; the whole world seemed changed to her.

Let the gayety go on within the walls of Fairlawn—he had quite another plan for the bride-elect.

Married she should be that night, but not to Bernard Chesleigh. He himself should be the bridegroom, and, once married—the mischief really done—there would be no help for it but for the old general to forgive his lovely daughter and make the most of his new son-in-law.

He never for one moment believed that the fond old father would disinherit his child and refuse her pardon.

He broke his plans to her gradually; he did not startle her; he was too wary for that. Gently he painted to her in glowing, eloquent words, such as young girls love to hear, how happy their future would be if she would but consent to wed him instead of the lover who had been selected for her by others.

She must decide quickly—the moments were fleeing swift-winged by them. Was it Yes or No?

"Oh, Waldemar, think," she cried, piteously, "they are waiting for me in there! I have given my word that I would marry Mr. Chesleigh, and how dare I break it? My heart pleads for love and you, but duty points another way."

He gave a little sigh, thinking to himself that he had all the weary way of persuasion to go over again.

He pretending to look broken-hearted; then spoke of bidding her farewell forever—telling her that he would go abroad, and do his best to die there, and that he was mad to ever dream that she could care for one as poor as he was, now that a wealthier suitor was at hand; that he would go quietly away where she should never see him more. He could not blame her for choosing wealth to a poor man's love.

He knew how the words would touch her tender heart. She broke down utterly, crying out that he was her love, and she would sacrifice the whole world for him.

It was a sad, pitiful story; the fair, passionate girl, so weak, yet so strong; so fond of him, yet so anxious to do right.

Little by little—long before she knew it herself—he saw that she was giving way.

She forgot the guests gathered beneath her roof; forgot her white-haired, proud old father; forgot the handsome bridegroom who would be waiting for her at the altar; forgot the terrible disgrace she would bring upon those who loved her so well; forgot everything else save that with her whole heart she loved the man who was pleading with her to turn from all else and fly with him—to love and happiness.

He showed her the marriage license he had brought with him. He had been so sure of her, and her love for him, that every preparation had been made. A coupe stood in waiting at the fork of the roads, which should bear them to a little village a few miles distant, where a minister was in readiness to make them one.

He promised her that, if she liked, they would both return to Fairlawn on the morrow, and sue for pardon from the general on their bended knees; and he would not refuse to grant it.

She would not be the first daughter, by any means, who had fled from a man she could not love, and wedded the man she did love. Brides, and even bridegrooms, had turned from a loveless marriage at the very altar.

"But what if papa should not forgive us?" breathed Reine, faintly.

"Then I can take care of you, my darling. We would be comparatively poor, but we can be happy even in poverty if we love each other. There would be no happiness for either of us—apart. Your father can keep his money, dear; we shall do very well without it," said he, who knew no other god save money.

"But Mr. Chesleigh," sighed Reine —"ah, Waldemar, he would never forgive me for the injury you would have me do him."

He took her little ice cold hands in his.

"Ask yourself which is the greatest injury, Reine," he said, "to promise at the altar to love a man when you know you cannot, or to turn away before you have steeped your lips in a wilful and cruel perjury? It would be a sin to marry without love's sweet benediction."

He bewildered her with his love and his pleadings. What wonder is it that he convinced her of the truth of his persuasive argument?

They had been walking up and down the beech groves. He had taken off his overcoat and wrapped it about her, and adroitly he led her to the spot where his coupe stood in waiting.

He lifted her in his arms, placing her upon the cushioned seat, his strong will overpowering hers.

Half shrinking, and wholly irresolute, the general's lovely young daughter clung to him when he sprang to the seat beside her. The carriage door closed with a sharp, metallic click, and in another instant they were whirling through the solemn stillness of that Christmas night.

Weeping as though her girlish heart would break, yet smiling through her tears, Reine Hastings turned from her home and from those who would have laid down their lives to save her, and went on to her doom, trusting her young life and her future happiness to one of the most worthless of men.

She thought of the father she was leaving, and of Bernard Chesleigh, whose patient devotion to her had all been in vain; yet, clinging with tender hands to the strong arm that held her, she put the past from her, and turned her young face bravely toward the future.

"After all, to choose love was best," she told herself. And now that she had seen Waldemar again, death would have been easier to bear than to part with him.

So the carriage rolled rapidly away, bearing the general's lovely daughter farther each moment from those whose love would have shielded her, had they but known of her deadly peril.

Many a sun would rise and set, many a season bloom and fade, ere the father who loved her so well, or the noble lover who would have laid down his very life for her, would behold her again.

She was going to the most pitiful fate that could have befallen her; yet young girls will still be dazzled by the glitter of tinsel, mistaking it for pure gold, even though they read and weep over the sad experience of Reine, the general's beautiful, impulsive daughter.

CHAPTER XIII.

The carriage stopped at length before an isolated stone church; the parsonage was close by it; and here, as expeditiously as possible, Waldemar Waldron made the general's heiress his wife.

"You are mine now, darling," he said, as he placed her again in the carriage. "Nothing on earth can ever part us."

Reine shivered and clung to him, listening with all a young girl's trustfulness to the glowing pictures her young husband painted of their glorious future.

"We will go to Waldron Towers for the present," he said, "and pass the honeymoon there. Your father will come around all right in a fortnight, I'll warrant. Then, perhaps, we can make some kind of arrangement about going abroad."

The lovely, timid, golden-haired young creature, in shimmering satin robe and a bridal veil crowned with orange blossoms, clinging to their master's arm, created the greatest consternation among the old servants at Waldron Towers.

"The idea of bringing a bride there, where there wasn't a decent room in the whole house!" they said to one another. "Why, it was an unheard-of proceeding."

Waldemar Waldron strode down the long winding corridor among them, with lowering brow.

"If there is no room ready for occupancy, see that one is put in readiness at the earliest possible moment," he said, harshly. "It is past midnight already. The lady is tired out."

How gruffly her handsome Waldemar addressed the servants! And she noticed, too, how they shrank from their young master; and they certainly looked at her with something very like profoundest pity gleaming in their eyes. How lonely and cheerless the place looked on this eventful Christmas night!

"Bring us a warm supper," commanded Waldron; "and that, too, as soon as it can be got. A long ride on a cold night sharpens one's appetite," he said, turning with a smile to Reine.

He saw how pale and frightened she looked, and he crossed over quickly to her side, taking her little cold, trembling hands in his.

"This is cold comfort for you, my love," he said, bending over her with his irresistible smile. "They cannot get over the startling surprise of seeing a young and lovely girl in my bachelor abode. Your beauty quite paralyzed them."

His smile more than compensated Reine for the discomfort she was experiencing. All the gloom was forgotten as she looked into Waldemar's face.

"The supper is a long time in coming," he said, impatiently, at last, rising from his seat and starting toward the bell-cord.

Before he had time to give it the violent jerk he had intended, the door suddenly opened, and a servant, with a tray of smoking viands, entered.

"You've forgotten the principal thing," said Waldemar, glancing critically over the contents of the tray.

The old servitor started back, looking at his young master earnestly.

"I didn't know, sir, as it would be advisable to bring it on before the lady. Leastwise, I thought you mighn't like to—"

Waldemar Waldron interrupted him with a wave of his white hand.

"Bring it on at once," he commanded. "You know I never dine without it."

The servant bowed and withdrew, entering a moment later with a decanter of brandy, which he set down before his young master.

"Do you drink liquor, Waldemar?" asked the young bride, when they found themselves alone, her blue eyes opening wide in surprise and wonder.

He laughed.

"Does it seem strange to you? I should have supposed you were accustomed to seeing your father and Chesleigh indulging in exhilarating beverages at Fairlawn."

"They both abhor it," said Reine, solemnly. "We never have anything of the kind, not even at parties. I am like papa. I don't approve of it, Waldemar."

He laughed and tossed off a brimming goblet, draining it to the dregs, with a charming little compliment to his lovely young bride, ending by the laughing rejoinder, as he still saw how serious she looked:

"If you are so averse to it, my dear, you shouldn't have chosen a husband addicted to it."

Reine was so grieved and sorry that she quite lost her appetite for the broiled partridge, the dainty muffins and poached eggs lying so temptingly before her; even the cocoa grew cold untasted—as she watched her young husband raise a second and a third tiny goblet to his fair, moustached lips and drain its contents at a single draught.

She watched him as his eyes brightened and his cheeks flushed, while the white hand that toyed with his snowy napkin grew less steady.

"I have married General Hastings' heiress. Yes, heir to a whole million, and I am only celebrating the glorious event," he told himself, as he watched Reine's anxious face with amused eyes.

Yes, he felt lordly—quite a millionaire already. It was only a matter of time when he should be enjoying the old gentleman's golden wealth, for he would not hold out against his pretty daughter and her young husband very long.

If the young bride had not been so completely blinded by love she could not have forgiven so easily the odor of the kiss that was laid upon her red lips as they rose from the luncheon table.

A week slipped by. And the truth may as well be told plainly—as it would certainly become very apparent in subsequent events—in that week Waldemar Waldron began to weary of domestic bliss.

He had been a model young husband during that time.

He was so handsome, so gay, with such devotion in every look and word, that the poor child thought herself in Paradise. All that she wanted to make her the happiest of human beings was her father's forgiveness.

The next day she had written a very long letter to the general, confessing what she had done, but now that she was married, praying him to pardon her, and not refuse to love her as of yore.

She wrote also to Bernard Chesleigh, begging him to forgive the injury she had done him. It was hardly legible, it was so blotted with tears.

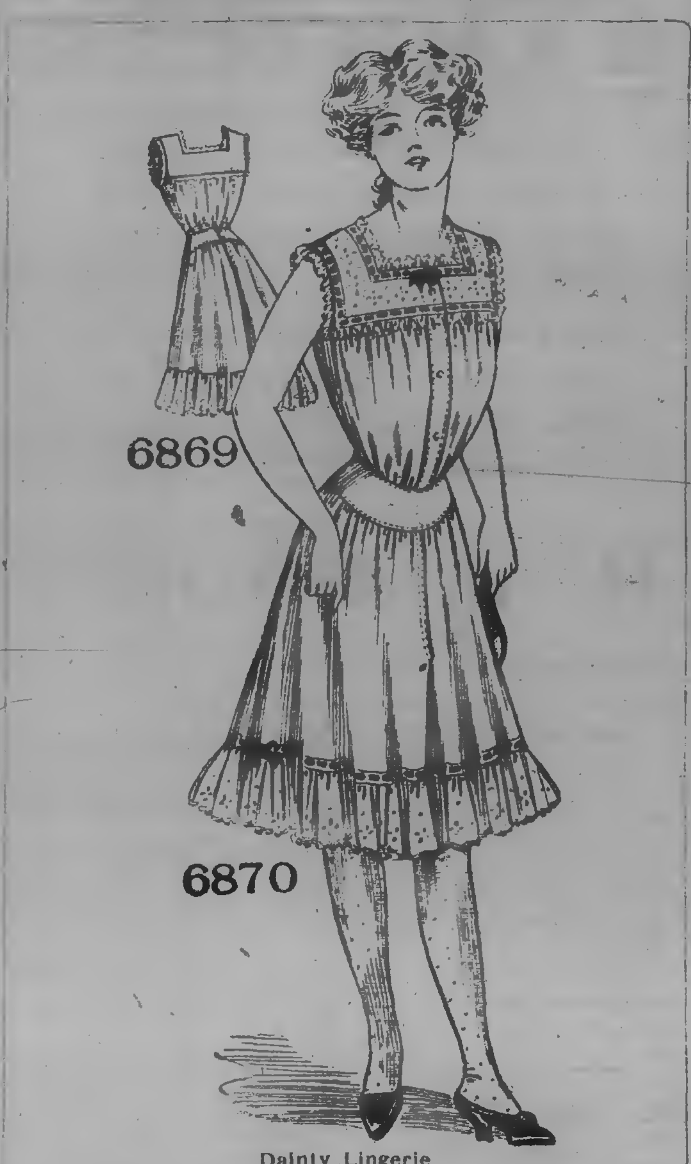
She gave them to Waldron to have them delivered.

Poor child! The hours she had passed over them was time lost.

When Waldemar Waldron found himself alone, he broke the seals without the least particle of compunction, and perused their contents at his leisure.

To be continued.

The Latest Dean Pattern



Dainty Lingerie

In the fashioning of dainty lingerie the average woman takes real delight and a suggestion for corset cover and drawers of late design is given. The corset cover is a bit unique for its yoke band which forms the shoulder straps and supports the full portion. This may be of a plain material and trimmed with lace or embroidery, or it may be of fine tucking, such as our grandmothers bridal undergarments were beautified with. The full body portion is finished at the waist with a narrow band or beading. The drawers are made on a yoke and fit the hips very smoothly. These are easily full and may be finished in regulation or gaiter length. The latter style are popular and finished with a deep ruffle as shown. 1 1-4 yards of 36 inch material are needed for the corset cover in the medium size, and 2 1-2 yards for the drawers in the regulation length.

Two Patterns—6869—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6870—Sizes 20, 24, 28, 32 inches waist.

UNKNOWN DISEASE

It is Killing Off the Cattle in Dufferin County.

Dundalk, June 8.—There is some disease that is proving fatal among the cattle in the adjoining township of Osprey and Melancthon, and the veterinaries cannot tell what it is or do anything for the stock attacked with it. Cattle in good condition as well as those who are poor, are subject to the disease which ends fatally in a few days. One farmer lost eleven head and another seven. Mr. McKenzie, the tanner here, said he never got so many hides from diseased cattle before.

The Safety of Public Schools

Recomendations Made by Building Inspector in Montreal

The following recommendations have been made to the Commissioners of the Catholic Schools in Montreal, by Mr. Alcide Chausse, city building inspector,—

"The lighting system in the class rooms of the upper stories of the schools should be changed to a system of electric lighting approved by the Underwriters.

"In each school and on each storey should be placed an Automatic extinguisher (Babcock).

"Special recommendations is made that the system of drill known as the fire drill be carefully practised by the pupils in All the schools, and it is considered advisable that the drill should be the same in all the different institutions.

The guardian of the school should never be allowed to absent himself during class hours.

"All the outside doors should open outwards and those of the class rooms should open into the corridrs.

"It would be desirable that, in all the schools where it does not exist, a communication should be made between adjacent class rooms by means of doors made for the purpose.""

After a brief survey of conditions in this respect in each of the schools under the supervision of the board, Mr. Chausse, concludes as follows,—

"Before terminating I wish to congratulate the Catholic School Commissioners on the condition of cleanliness in which all the schools are found, and after having made trials of the fire drills, I was glad to find that the pupils in all the schools we examined could be got out of their class rooms in the short time of a minute and a half. As it is the intention of the school board to build new schools in the near future, we would suggest that in each shool there should be placed a system of fire escapes of the same nature as those adopted at the different factories, consisting of a tower encased in brick, with an inside stairway, winding and built of incombustible material.

"This tower should have no direct communication with the interior of the school, but should be reached by galleries from each floor, so placed that those who were making their escape would have to go on these galleries before being able to leave this tower.

PRICE OF BREAD WILL BE RAISED

Toronto Bakers Considering an Increase of a cent a Loaf

Toronto, June 7.— The "food will cost you more" cry raised in England during the Chamberlain campaign bids fair to be realized in Toronto, in the near future.

In fact, there is a strong possibility that the price of bread will be increased. Some of the bakers have been talking of a raise for quite a while back. Whether anything will be done or not will be decided very shortly, and in the meantime the bakers are not saying anything.

The reasons given are that the manipulations of the brokers on the stock markets have tied up the wheat supply and caused a skyward tendency in the price of flour. In addition the season is so backward that the bakers see in the future no hope of a diminution in the present high price of flour. "We are paying so much now that a raise in the price of bread would be only fair," said one baker last night.

The staff of life sells for five cents a loaf in Toronto at the present time. Some bakers sell for four cents—a very few. If any increase is made it will probably be one cent in price.

Coates Company to Sue Province

British Financial Firm Empowered to Do So.

Messrs. Coates, Sons and Company, the great financial house of London England, will be permitted to sue the Province of Ontario for 3,000 pounds, says the Mail & Empire. The Provincial Government has granted a fiat, as the law requires, to Barwick, Aylesworth, Wright and Moss on behalf of the English firm.

The claim of Coates and Company is connected with the flotation of a loan of £1,200.00 sterling to meet the Treasury bills issued to pay the cost of constructing the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and payable in May, 1905. This loan it was intended to float in England but Hon. Mr. Matheson found it difficult to get suitable terms and the securities were finally floated by the Bank of Montreal. All through the negotiations, however as the Provincial Treasurer explained in the Legislature, Coates and Company alleged that they had an agreement with the Province of Ontario regarding the loan. They quoted from that extraordinary document, in the drawing of which, Mr. Richard Harcourt, M.P.P., then a member of the Government, took part, to the effect that "the sale of bonds during the currency of the bills or later, shall be entrusted to Coates, Sons and Company. Later, when the bonds had finally been disposed of, the London firm claimed the £3,000 mentioned above, as commission due on the transaction, which, it alleged it was entitled to have completed.

Chatham has endorsed a bylaw to loan $20,000 to a brass firm which will locate there.

Ottawa bakers have increased the price of bread from ten to eleven cents per loaf.

"Jasper" Was Born in Peterborough

He is Now One of the Familiar Sights in Lindsay

"Who is the man standing by the Post office steps selling papers?"

"Why, that's Jasper."

"Jasper!" What's his other name?"

"Oh, just 'Jasper', that's all I know."

Try it again!

"Who is the man selling papers over there?"

"Why, that's 'Jasper.'"

"But what's his first name?"

"Why, 'Jasper,' of course."

"Then, what's his last name?"

"Jasper."

"Hasn't he any other name?"

"I don't know!"

Try it again!

Same result.

Try it again!

Same result, ad infinitum.

Yet "Jasper" is one of the most familiar sights in Lindsay on week days. Rain and shine, fair weather, and foul, his peculiarly emphasized cry, o' "paa-purr," "paapurr," is one of the standard noises of the day, and his well known figure is as familiar to Lindsay people as the grumbling about the weather.

And he has a full and aristocratic list of names, too.

Mr Bernard Jasper Lacombe, if you please, sir!

Mr. Bernard Jasper Lacombe says he was born in Peterborough, though he admits he doesn't remember much about it, being only an infant at the time, says the Lindsay Post. the time, says the Lindsay watchman-Wander.

The accident of such an unfortunate birthplace at Peterborough, however, was partially overcome by the family bringing Jasper to Lindsay at a very early age. And Jasper seems to be proud of the fact that he was raised, as he expresses it, in Lindsay town.

Jasper has been away from here several times. The last time he returned to Lindsay was about four or five years ago, and Lindsay seems to agree with his health. He was apparently almost blind some time ago, and would have passed for what might be called an intermittent cripple. Today he can get around pretty nicely, thank you.

Jasper is 45 years old. That is, he has had 44 summers pass over him and 46 winters, counting the two this season. And during all these long summers and hard winters, Jasper has been consistently able to withstand the charms and blandishments of the fair sex, and still remains a bachelor, even though he did get born in Peterborough.

Recently, Jasper has been getting on his summer face, his winter one being a little too warm for the approaching hot weather, particularly as business is to sell daily papers Mr. B. J. Lacombe had a beautiful hirsute adornment this winter, but no doubt he felt it in constant danger of being singed by the heated headlines of our esteemed contemporary.

So, with a clean shave, a haircut, and a new and original outfit in places, Jasper is now prepared to take the best that may come.

One of the troubles of Jasper's life is the annoyance of bad boys. These bad boys are hereby requested to be good. If the bad boys will only be good they will be happy. And if they are good to him Jasper will be happy. And if Jasper's happy he'll be good. So you see the bad boys by becoming good have an excellent opportunity to make a good start towards having the whole town good and happy.

Railway Must Allow Free Access

To the Water Front at Port Hope Viaduct

Ottawa, June 6. — The Railway Commission today disposed of the G.T.R. application to fill in a large part of the long viaduct at Port Hope, which was opposed by the town on the ground that the railway's plan would shut off to a large extent the present approaches to the waterfront. The board's decision is favorable to the town. The railway will not be allowed to fill in the viaduct between the east side of Mill street and the west side of the elevator tracks. Full width openings must be left for entrance to the waterfront via King and John streets. The G.T.R. may fill in the remaining portions of the viaduct.

MASSANOGA

A lake shaped something like a pair of spectacles, rather a pair of lakes joined by a passage some feet wide. A lake immensely deep in parts, with sunny bathing beaches, perfectly safe, along its shores. Beautiful woods all round, full of life, unspoil and largely untrodden. And, beetling over the water, just at the bridge of the spectacles, is the grand old rock, the crowning glory of Lake Massanoga. "The Gibraltar of Canada," it has been called, and fitly enough. A mile and more long, hundreds of feet high, rising sheer out of the calm waters of the lake, impressively beautiful by day, positively awe-inspiring in the moonlight, is this great stone mountain. In its shadows nestles Bon Echo Inn, as nearly perfect a summer hotel as one could wish to find. Hotel seems scarcely the word for Bon Echo, so home-like is it—the hotel feeling lasts no longer than it takes our genial host to express his welcome. Canoeing, sailing, rowing, swimming, all may be enjoyed at Massanoga, and down in the depths lurk gamey salmon trout. Massanoga is a resort recently discovered, and known to comparatively few Canadians. But for people who want to get near to nature, and yet not out of touch of civilization, who want to enjoy glorious air, brilliant sunshine, cool waters, and all the fascinations of a primitive region combined with the comforts of a modern summer resort, Massanoga is the place. The nearest railway station is Kaladar, 150 miles east of Toronto, on the C. P.R. Illustrated folder and full particulars will be gladly mailed upon request by C. B. Foster, district passenger agent, C.P.R., Toronto.3d

Disappearance of An Old Smelter

The old smelter situated on Mr. F. Seymour's property has almost disappeared from the spot and has been utilized by the good roads men to meet the requirements of good road-making. This old smelter was built about the year 1834 with the intention of manufacturing pig iron from the raw material taken from the famous Seymour mine. Shortly after the building it was found by the operators of the plant, that there was a large demand for potash kettles, coolers, plows, etc. and these articles were manufactured in the ground, and agencies were established along the line from Toronto to Montreal to handle the goods. Of late years the old mill has been but a landmark, and was probably the oldest in this section of the country, but the good granite used in the building was more beneficial for the building of roads, and was purchased by the County Council for that purpose.—Madoc Review.

Two Well Known Canoeists Upset

Were Getting a Tow Through the Locks and the Canoe Went Under

A couple of young men who have enviable reputations as paddlers, one in particular, had a very exciting experience Saturday afternoon. They paddled through Little Lake to the locks and went through there with the steamer Monarch. The boys were bound for the lower end of the Otonabee, and they figured on getting a tow with the steamer. They took hold of one of the boat's fenders and started off very nicely, but the swells and suction from the wheels soon filled the canoe. The boys did all they could to get away from the steamer, but amid the excitement they failed to make any headway, and as the old-time paddler realized his position he climbed up on the boat and left his companion to sink or swim. It was only a minute or two afterward that the canoe filled and the lone paddler went overboard into the cool, refreshing Otonabee. He was unable to swim, but fortunately he got hold of the canoe and held on until a acouple of young felllows on the shore paddled out and towed him in. The canoeist on the Monarch had to go down to the street railway wharf before he could get off, and then walk back. This spoiled their trip for Saturday afternoon. They dried their clothes and outfit and Sunday morning they started off again but will never try to get a tow on a steamer any more.

Was Committed to Stand Trial

Herbert Meehan Before Magistrate on Serious Charge

Herbert Meehan, who was remanded last Thursday on a charge of having criminally assaulted May Payne on Friday, May 31st, came up this morning before His Worship Magistrate Dumble. Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the case, and Mr F. D. Kerr appeared for the prisoner.

After hearing considerable evidence His Worship committed Meehan for trial, which will be at the next assizes. The girl stated that she lived on Albert street and was 18 years of age. On the evening mentioned Meehan stepped up to her on Charlotte street. She said that she only knew him to see him, and he said that he was going home with her. Instead of taking her home the way she had come, he said they would go another way. She being a stranger in the city, knew no different. It appears they landed at Jackson Park, where, she states, she was criminally assaulted. Her evidence was so explicit as to leave no doubt as to its truthfulness.

There was no bail granted Meehan, His Worship leaving that in the hands of the County Judge.

Band at Jackson Park tonight.

Young Man Was Allowed to Go

After Being Given Some Good Advice by the Magistrate

A young man named Elliott, charged with stealing a small bank containing five dollars from the American House, a few days ago, and who pleaded guilty in the police court on Friday afternoon, was this morning allowed to go on suspended sentence. He also had to pay the costs of the court, and return the five dollars, amounting in all to eleven dollars. Before His Worship gave judgment Mr. Flynn, proprietor of the hotel, asked that the prisoner be dealt leniently with. Elliott was a young fellow and he would not care to see him punished too severely. His Worship gave the above mentioned sentence, stating that the defendant being a young man, and on account of his mother being very ill, he would allow him to go. He desired to give him another chance, but if he ever appeared again, he will not get off so easy. It was a mean thing to do to rob a little girl's savings bank, and he hoped Elliott had learned a lesson.

The money was soon paid and he was once more a free man.

The Haywood Murder Case; Further Evidence Heard

Defence Will Try to Shift Responsibility For Awful Crimes.

Orchard the Mine Owners' Hireling—Keeps Cool On Stand—Horrible Tale of Atrocities—Many Murders Yet to Be Analyzed—Planned Assassinations and Mine Explosions—Has Aided Wife In Canada.

Boise, Idaho, June 10.—The cross-examination of Harry Orchard, by his own confession the slayer of eighteen men with bullet and bomb, is likely to last through Monday and Tuesday of next week, possibly longer. Orchard has now been on the stand for 14 hours. The state had him in hand for nearly eight hours. In that time he told a horrible tale of crime during the last eleven years of his life.

Orchard spared no incident under questioning by the state, which might prove to the jury his readiness to slaughter for low pay and his utter indifference as to the number or condition of his victims.

Under cross-examination by E. F. Richardson, counsel for W. D. Haywood, Orchard has so far described the series of tragedies prior to the year 1904. Three more years and may murders are yet to be analyzed. For purposes of its own, not so far revealed, the defence is determined that Orchard shall relate in his testimony the most diabolical or the most squalid detail. Slowly but surely the defence is developing the lines by which it hopes to break down Orchard's testimony, so far as it affects Haywood. If it is possible to heap further obliquy on the witness, they have done so by proving him capable of petty crimes.

No Crime Too Low.

By his own admission, Orchard is a bigamist, a thief, a liar and an incendiary; he has been treacherous to his employers; he has deserted two wives, and his children. All of these offences he has been forced to confess, but notwithstanding a gruelling examination by Mr. Richardson he has stuck stubbornly to his story.

By its questions the defence has plainly indicated its intention of proving that Orchard was the hired agent of the mine owners, who, harrassed by the Western Federation of Miners, and determined to wipe out union labor at the Idaho and Colorado mines, planned assassinations, train wrecking and mine explosions which could be laid to the federation and thus keep militia on the ground while non-union men worked the mines.

It has been shown under cross-examination that Orchard trafficked with railroad detectives in the mining region of Cripple Creek during the great strike there, while almost at the same time he was in the confidence of the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners. Led on by Mr. Richardson, Orchard has stated that he was hired by Moyer, president of the federation, to act as his guard against alleged thugs said to have been hired by the mine owners to attack and terrorize Moyer.

Orchard the Coolest.

The coolest man in the court is Orchard. Under Mr. Richardson's grilling he has seldom changed the tone in which he first told his awful tale. His answers come without hesitation. So far he has not made any material contradictions. From time to time he has actually corrected the record itself when his answers of the day before have been read and transcription shows an error. At times his reply to an assertion made by Richardson is positive in the extreme. "I made no such statement," or "I said nothing of the kind," is a frequent answer, and when he finds some statement not to his satisfaction he will change it, always preceding the change with: "I beg you pardon, sir, out I would like to change that answer."

Another Week of It.

At the close of Orchard's cross-examination the state will take him in hand for re-direct questioning. Then will come the renewed cross-examination. It seems hardly possible that he will be dismissed before the end of next week. He may be recalled afterwards as the case develops. The warden at the penitentiary says that Orchard shows no sign of nervousness or strain. He eats well, and speaks without particular emotion of the events of the day.

One of the interesting features of yesterday's examination was that Orchard aids his first wife, whom he deserted in Canada in 1895 to run away with another man's wife. He testified that since imprisoned he sold a locket and chain and other objects for something like $115, the greater part of which he had sent to his wife. The objects, beside the locket and chain, were a fishing-rod, a gun, a revolver, and some little things. He said that the warden disposed of these for him, with the understanding that the person buying them could have them "after the trial."

Wife to Testify.

There arrived in Boise yesterday, Mrs. Ida Toney-Orchard, a widow, with three children, whom Orchard married, notwithstanding he had another wife in Canada, and known there under Orchard's true name, Horsley. Mrs. Toney will testify, it is said, that while Orchard lived at Cripple Creek he was in the employ of the mine owners. It is expected by the defence that she will be able to throw light on the motives of Orchard, and that she will strengthen the assertion of the defence, that the mine owners, and not the Western Federation of Miners, were the conspirators who employed Orchard to murder.

Some new light has been thrown on the murder of Lyte Gregory in Denver. According to statements made by the police in Denver, Orchard, or Simpkins, or whoever Orchard's accomplice was, were suspected of murder. Bloodhounds tracked the murderers to the yard behind Pettibone's store, where Orchard says he hid his guns. Other evidence was also discovered. The police were about to arrest the two men when, the story goes, orders came from some mysterious source that the men were not to be molested, and Orchard was allowed to leave town. This statement is said to have been made by Chief of Detectives Loomis of Denver, Paul Gregory, a brother of the murdered man, has made a similar statement. It is likely that both will be called as witnesses.

WIFE SUICIDES.

Could No Longer Bear Mother's Death and Husband's Disgrace.

Karlsruhe, Germany, June 10.—Karl Hau, professor of Roman law at the George Washington University, Washington, who is in prison here charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Frau Moliter, was visited by the governor of the prison Saturday and informed that his wife had committed suicide by drowning in a lake near Pfaeffiken, Switzerland.

The governor had quite a lengthy conversation with the professor, which led to a report that he had confessed that he had murdered his wife's mother, which he has strenuously denied. The state's attorney subsequently denied the report that Hau had made a confession.

Mrs. Hau came to Karlsruhe two days ago and had a long talk with her husband. She left the prison in a state of the utmost depression and went back to Pfaeffikon.

On arriving there Mrs. Hau went directly to a bathing establishment on a small lake near Pfaeffikon and requested to be given a separate dressing room. The attendants later saw her swimming out in the lake, but soon afterwards they observed that she was no longer moving.

A boatman rowed out to the spot and brought the body ashore, where a physician, who was hurriedly sent for, attempted in vain to resuscitate the unfortunate woman.

Confessed to Wife.

It has not been possible to discover the origin of the story that Hau had confessed the murder of his mother-in-law to the governor of the prison, but it is assumed here that Hau did make a confession to his wife when she last saw him.

TO DEMAND AN APOLOGY.

Japs To See If Indemnity Can Be Secured.

Washington, June 10.—That the Japanese of the Pacific coast and the Progressives, a political party of Japan, have entered into an alliance which has the earmarks of an international conspiracy, with the overthrow of the present ministry in Japan and the annulment of the clause in the immigration bill excluding Japanese coolie labor from continental United States, as the ultimate objects, was learned authoritatively here yesterday.

The preliminary steps in this scheme, it is said, will be to induce the Tokio Government to recall Viscount Aiki, the Japanese Ambassador to the United States, and to demand an apology, and, perhaps, an indemnity from the American Government for the alleged acts of violence against Japanese subjects residing in San Francisco.

FRANCE AT THE HAGUE.

Question of Limitation of Armaments Doomed to Be Shattered.

Paris, June 10.—The press in general approves of the prudent tone of the definition of France's position at the coming peace conference at The Hague, made Saturday in the Chamber of Deputies by Foreign Minister Pichon, and agrees that there is little prospect of accomplishing anything definite on the question of the limitation of armaments, which is considered illusory.

M. Honataux, former Minister of Foreign Affairs, and one of the greatest French authorities on diplomatic relations, in an article in a weekly review, says that compulsory arbitration or the limitation of armaments is a magnificent ideal doomed to be shattered.

TORNADO'S HEAVY TOLL

Havoc Wrought in Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana.

Twenty-Nine Lives Lost—Whole Village Almost Wiped Out—Houses Blown Into the Fields—Wind and Rain Does Enormous Damage—Families Carried Away While In Bed—Scores Are Injured.

Chicago, June 10.—Twenty-nine known dead and forty persons injured constitute the list of casualties resulting from storms of wind and rain which swept over Southern Illinois and Indiana and Central Kentucky Saturday night and yesterday. These fatal visitations came in the shape of cloudbursts, high winds and electrical disturbances. The property damage is many thousands of dollars. Houses were swept away, bridges demolished and thousands of acres of growing crops destroyed.

Gradyville was the worst sufferer, twenty-one persons being drowned or crushed by falling houses.

The disaster was due to the erratic behavior of Big Creek, which was already swollen by recent rains. When the cloudburst precipitated 6 inches of rain in an hour on Gradyville and vicinity, the creek took a new course, with the force of a tidal wave.

Inhabitants of Gradyville were nearly all in bed when the foaming waters struck the town carrying away six residences, a mill and a number of small houses. Nearly all the victims were drowned, but four were crushed by the collapse of dwellings.

Gradyville is a village of 175 inhabitants in Adair County, six miles from Columbia, and 187 miles from the nearest railroad station.

At New Minden, Ill., a tornado killed five persons and injured six others.

At York, Ill., three persons were killed and thirty injured by a tornado which descended on the town Friday night.

The storm broke while most York people were at supper. Entire families were buried in ruins of houses. The storm lasted less than 4 minutes. All outside communication was cut off until yesterday.

At Duquoin, Ill., many houses were blown down around the outskirts of the town, and four persons were injured.

BIG WALL COLLAPSES.

$10,000 Damage to Cockshutt Plow Co.'s Calgary Branch.

Calgary, Alta., June 10.—On Saturday the whole side of the wall of the large wholesale building of the Cockshutt Plow Co. fell with a crash, and crushed in the roof of the Alberta livery stable next to it.

It made a hole about 15 feet square through the roof of the stable, and crashed through the floor of the loft and came down in a stall in which two horses were tied. They were unhurt, but one horse that was loose in a corral at the rear of the stable was buried under the debris.

It was a new building, and an addition to the main building that faced the street, facing the lane at the rear end, and was about 50 feet long, with two storeys.

The damage will likely be about $10,000.

CAPE COLONY'S NAVY.

Government Will Be Permitted to Spend Appropriation Locally.

London, June 10.—(C.A.P.)—A Cape Town despatch states that the Admiralty has permitted Cape Colony and Natal to spend their naval contribution of £65,600 locally. It is understood the money will be devoted to the upkeep of a ship supplied by the Admiralty for the development of naval volunteers and the formation of the nucleus of a local squadron.

Tried to Wreck Train.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 10.—According to the statement of railroad officials an attempt was made Saturday to wreck the southbound Southern Pacific overland train, a short distance north of this city.

A track walker found a heavy log-chain bound across the rails at a siding switch, which, if not discovered, would have thrown the train off the track.

The scene of the attempt was three miles from the river station to Los Angeles, and a short distance from West Glendale, where a passenger train was recently thrown off a trestle through the alleged efforts of train wreckers.

A freight train passed over the track an hour before the chain was discovered.

Good Reports From West.

Winnipeg, June 10.—The C.N.R. crop bulletin bears good news. The reports from all the districts state that all the wheat is seeded, and the acreage sown is about the same as last year, though, if anything, it is a little more.

The wheat is about 3 inches high in nearly all the districts, and there has been plenty of rain all over, so that the wheat is in excellent condition.

All the coarse grains have not yet been sown, but the work is going on well.

The farmers are very optimistic about the outlook, and say that this year's crop presents a better appearance and is further advanced than the crop of last year was at this time.

Appointed Jail Governor.

Toronto, June 10.—The appointment of Rev. Dr. Chambers, pastor of the Parliament street Methodist Church, as governor of Toronto jail, was announced on Saturday.

In the order-in-council appointing Mr. Chambers his title of Rev. is omitted, the document simply reading "Andrew B. Chambers, Esq., of 5 Oak street."

Mr. Chambers will receive $2,000 per annum, a free house and lighting.

Killed by Fall of Door.

St. John, N. B., June 10.—Michael Gillen, workman on the new Royal Canadian Bank Building, was killed Saturday afternoon by a heavy vault door falling on him.

Typhoon and Tidal Wave Destroy Hundreds of Lives.

San Francisco, June 10.—The first details of the havoc wrought by a typhoon and tidal wave in the Caroline Islands in March reached here Saturday.

The Oleai group was devastated, the land being buried under sand. Fifteen hundred persons were made homeless, and 250 were drowned on one island alone.

Twenty-five persons were lost on another.

The typhoon lasted three days. Hundreds of natives saved themselves by swimming about until the tidal wave subsided.

MONTREAL WELCOMES FUSHIMI.

Addresses At City Hall and Afternoon At Races.

Montreal, June 10.—Prince Fushimi and party, who arrived here from Quebec on Saturday afternoon, received a rousing welcome. A large crowd of people had gathered at the Grand Trunk Station, and when the special bearing the prince and party arrived, shortly after 2 o'clock, he was received with rousing cheers and the playing of the Japanese National Anthem. The prince and party were escorted by a guard of honor to the city hall. Proceeding to the council chamber, an address of welcome was read by the mayor, to which the prince replied in felicitous terms.

After holding an informal reception the prince left, and afterwards attended the horse races at Blue Bonnets, in which he showed much interest. In the evening he was the guest at dinner at the Mount Royal Club. While in Montreal he is the guest of Sir Montagu Allan.

CURRY IS CANDIDATE.

Nominated By East York Liberals For Next Election.

Toronto, June 10.—East York Liberals on Saturday nominated J. Walter Curry, K.C., ex-crown attorney, to be their candidate in the next provincial election. He received 72 votes to 29.

Mr. Curry stated that his platform would be that of his leader, and the Liberal party, when he went before the electors of East York.

"I believe earnestly in public ownership of public utilities, and will work to carry out the principles to a complete extent. My idea is to take up the problems gradually one by one, the simpler ones first, of course, and then go ahead along."

Aeronaut Is Drowned.

Granite Falls, Minn., June 10.—Entangled in the ropes of a parachute, John Puepuera, an aeronaut of Utica, N. Y., met death Saturday by drowning in the Minnesota River. Puepuera ascended last evening.

The wind carried the balloon up the river half a mile before the aeronaut detached the parachute. In some manner his arms and legs became entangled in the ropes, and when the parachute struck the water he was unable to save himself.

Woman Defies Police.

Springfield, Ohio, June 10.—After firing three bullets into the body of her husband, whom she charged with infidelity, Mrs. Ritta Fillinger, Saturday night barricaded herself in the rooms of her own house, and for some time defied the attempts of the police to arrest her. Fillinger is in a critical condition. She held the police at bay until a squad entered her home by a rear door, taking her a prisoner.

Unknown Man Killed.

Galt, June 10.—On Saturday evening the 6.40 southbound train on the G. W. R. ran over a man who was walking on the track, about a mile from town. His ribs were crushed in and one arm and a foot severed. He died soon after. There was nothing found on his person to identify him.

Killed By Pitched Ball.

A FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "When Lovely Maiden Stoops to Folly," "A Cruel Revenge," "The Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Ione," "Parted at the Altar," Etc.

When he had finished them he tossed them into the glowing coals of the grate. It would never do to deliver such letters as these. She had written to her father how happy she was with the love she had chosen—that her bliss had but one drawback, which she hoped time would mend. Her dear young husband liked brandy a little, but she meant to do her best to break him of the terrible habit.

He ground his teeth with the most intense anger when his eyes fell upon that.

"The little fool!" he muttered. "If the general were to find out that—my besetting sin—it would ruin our prospects. He might not advance me a dollar."

It was then that he had tossed them into the fire.

He had meant to wait a little to see how the general would take Reine's flight before he divulged their marriage and her whereabouts.

"His anger must have a day or so to cool," he thought.

The next day he received a telegram, demanding his immediate presence in New York. He decided to take Reine with him.

"A week or so of anxiety wouldn't hurt the general," he concluded, "and it would make him all the more anxious to pardon and receive his lovely daughter."

When they returned to the Towers a few days later, the whole country was in such an uproarious commotion over Reine's mysterious disappearance that he grew frightened, and questioned the advisability of revealing the existing state of affairs until the great excitement waned a little. He was totally unprepared for the manner in which the general took the matter; and, to admit the truth, he rather feared that the old soldier, in a fit of rage, might shoot him down on the spot when he stood before him acknowledging that he had dared to brave the old gentleman's warning and anger by marrying his daughter.

No; at all hazards her whereabouts must not be revealed just now; yet, when he heard that the irate old millionaire was on the point of signing over every dollar of his worldly possessions to Bernard Chesleigh, he saw something must be done at once to prevent it.

He had had all the lordly sensations of imagining himself a millionaire; he could not endure the thought that by any freak of fate it should be wrenched from his grasp. He had married an heiress, and he must look out that he was not cheated out of his just dues.

He could make life very charming and agreeable to a wife who would soon inherit a million of money, but he was no sort of husband for a poor, dependent girl, though she loved him to distraction, and was as lovely as an houri or a poet's dream.

He was used to being idolized by lovely women but beauty and wealth he had never found together; so he passed them by gayly enough, until he came across General Hastings' daughter. Surely fate did not mean to laugh at him so tantalizingly as to turn his golden prize to dead sea fruit on his lips!

CHAPTER XIV.

Reine pondered long and earnestly as to why she received no reply to the loving letter she had written to her father the day following her wedding. Was his heart turned against her? Could he not find pardon for what she had done, that he so completely ignored it?

While in New York, Waldemar had secured a maid for her, who had accompanied them back to the Towers. During their absence a suite of rooms in the western wing had been handsomely re-furnished for her.

She might have been very happy in her new life—it was so romantically new and novel to her—if she could but have seen her father, or have received one kind line from him.

She lived on, from day to day, scarcely a mile distant from Fairlawn, little dreaming of the great excitement her disappearance had evoked, and that her fate was wrapped in the profoundest mystery, while her father was almost distracted over the matter.

The events that transpired in the outer world never penetrated the walls of the isolated Towers.

Many a time Waldemar Waldron almost cursed himself for not making his marriage known the very hour in which it was solemnized.

There was another and a strong reason why it should have been noised about that he had won the heiress of Fairlawn; he was in debt, and his creditors were pressing him hard for money, and he had not the least notion of where the money was to come from, unless the general helped him out of his scrape, for Reine's sake.

The news that the general intended to sign over his entire fortune to Bernard Chesleigh brought him to a sense of immediate action. Long after the disguised young detective left him he sat pondering the matter over.

It was just as well, perhaps, that he was so pre-occupied; he did not hear the footsteps that crept stealthily past his door, as Donald Gray, who had gained an entrance by means of the front door key which he had quietly abstracted upon leaving, pursued his way back to the suite of rooms in the western wing of the Towers.

Again the young detective paused at the same door, opening it noiselessly as before and found himself once more in the presence of the dark-haired young woman seated in the low rocker.

It was his purpose to question her as to who she was, and what she was doing there.

If he were to breathe his suspicions to her—show her Waldemar Waldron's letters, couched in the tenderest words love could frame, to another—she might through wounded love, rage or jealousy, unite her efforts with him to probe the deep mystery surrounding the disappearance of General Hastings' daughter—that is, if the master of the Towers had anything to do with it.

While he was ruminating the matter over in his own mind, a little white hand suddenly thrust the velvet curtains aside from an inner apartment, and, to the detective's intense amazement and intense joy, the original of the portrait that rested in his breast pocket—General Hastings' lovely young daughter, in the flesh, surely—stood revealed to his astonished gaze.

"Honora," she said, addressing her companion, "you may as well brush out my hair now. I shall not sit up and wait for my husband to-night. Waldemar's hours are so irregular of late that he might not come in until midnight; so I may as well retire at once."

By this the detective judged them rightly to be mistress and maid. He had also made a startling discovery. Waldemar Waldron had married the general's daughter.

"Ah, my lady, you have been crying again," said the girl, bending pitifully over the slender form buried in the cushions of the blue plush armchair. "Brides should smile, not weep. There's time enough for that in after years."

"I know it," replied Reine, thoughtfully. "I would have no cause for one heart pang if papa would only answer my letters, and say that he forgives me for eloping with Waldemar on my bridal eve. I have written him again," she continued, drawing a dainty, cream-tinted envelope from her pocket, "begging him to pardon Waldemar and me. We are so happy together."

"I hope he will, my lady," said Honora, earnestly. "It's a pitiful thing to be estranged from one's family on account of marriage. Husbands are so fickle nowadays, a girl never knows when she has to fall back on those at home for support again. There, there, now," she continued, "I knew in my blunt way I'd be sure to say something to offend you. I don't mean anything amiss, though, Mrs. Waldron. Your husband will never prove fickle and false to you. He perfectly adores you."

Reine looked up and smiled through her tears.

"Yes, Waldemar is fond of me," said Reine, thoughtfully, as though persistently assuring herself of the fact.

"Do not forget to remind me tomorrow morning to give this letter to my husband to mail to papa," she said, rising and placing the cream-tinted missive on the marble table.

"I shall not need you any more to-night, Honora. You may as well retire."

With these words she passed out of sight behind the sweeping folds of heavy velvet that shut out the interior of the inner apartment from view.

Imagining herself quite alone, the maid picked up the envelope, glancing curiously at the superscription.

"General Hastings, Fairlawn," she muttered, under her breath. "Why, I have often heard and read of him. I want to know if she really belongs to that great family. Well, her husband's as much of a scamp as her father is a gentleman. Only married a fortnight, and making eyes at respectable maids every time his bride's back is turned. If it wasn't for revealing his meanness before her, I'd tell him just what I thought of him in a few sharp, stinging words. It makes my Scotch blood boil to see such a pretty, trusting young wife made such a fool of as he's making of her. I shall always believe, after this, the stories of the ill-starred results of runaway marriages. She'd better have died than eloped with Waldemar Waldron."

She laid the letter down on the table again, took up a silver lamp, and the next moment had left the room.

It was but the work of an instant for the young detective to glide from his place of concealment, and secure the coveted letter, in Reine's own handwriting, addressed to the general.

No wonder the young detective's heart throbbed exultantly as he neared Fairlawn. His fame and success were assured things now; he had worked up successfully the great case of the day, that was agitating the public mind. He had solved the great mystery concerning the general's lovely young daughter, and had traced her whereabouts.

Bernard Chesleigh was sitting alone in the library when Gray entered unannounced. The moment their eyes met the young lawyer knew he had news for him.

"You have found her?" he asked, interrogatively, motioning Donald Gray to a seat opposite him. "Tell me all," he said, hoarsely, his handsome, noble face paling and flushing by turns. "I can bear anything but suspense."

"I have found the general's daughter, sir," said the detective. "I have been in her presence."

"Where is she?" gasped Bernard Chesleigh, in the greatest excitement. "Tell me quickly—is she alive and well?"

"She is alive and well, sir," responded the detective, "and is at this moment an inmate of Waldron Towers—the wedded wife of its master, Waldemar Waldron. It was with him she eloped on the night she was to have been wedded to you, sir."

"That has been my secret fear from the first," groaned Chesleigh. "Poor, little, tender Reine that villain's wife! No more cruel fate could have been meted out to her. Better had you found her lying cold in death in her coffin. Poor girl! she has sought death in life. I wonder how the general will bear this; she was the darling of his heart—his pride. This will be a sad blow to him."

There was no need to wonder how the news should be broken to the old soldier, for, glancing up suddenly, they saw him standing before them in the doorway like a marble statue. He had heard all that had passed between them, but neither a groan nor a sigh had escaped his ashen lips.

Married, was she! and to the man he detested! She had defied him, and fled with the lover whom he had sent away. Standing there, he remembered the vow he had made to Waldemar Waldron—"If my daughter marries you, not one dollar of my money shall she have. I'll leave it first to the paupers in the almshouse."

Bernard Chesleigh rose suddenly to his feet, advancing anxiously toward the general; but the old soldier waved him away.

"Leave me alone," he said, hoarsely. "It is the greatest kindness you can do me, to leave me by myself to fight out this fierce battle."

Not a muscle of his face moved as the detective laid the letter, in his darling's well-known, delicate chirography, before him; nor did his face soften when he had read that piteous appeal for forgiveness to the very end.

"She defied me, and chose that villain!" he said, harshly, as he locked the letter carefully out of sight in his private desk. He had loved her well, but never could he overlook this. In the future he had no daughter.

By noon the next day the romantic story of Reine Hastings' marriage was flashed broadcast over the wires. It created a profound sensation. Women, of course, took sides with the lovely young bride who had fled with the lover she loved best. They said, too, that the old millionaire would be sure to forgive her. But those who knew the stern old general well, answered, "that not even in the hour of death would he pardon her."

CHAPTER XV.

Waldemar Waldron was amazed when he heard the next morning how cleverly the young detective had gained an entrance into the Towers, and had discovered the object of his search there. Still, he comforted himself with the fact that it saved him the trouble of breaking the intelligence in person to the irate old general.

All that day he confidently expected a summons from General Hastings, bidding him bring his wife at once to Fairlawn; but no such summons came. A second and a third day passed; still Reine's father maintained the most rigid silence toward them.

Waldemar Waldron was more disturbed by this line of action than he cared to own. His funds were running low. He should certainly be stranded unless the old gentleman came to his rescue without delay.

Reine was seated in her room that afternoon, when he entered hastily and unexpectedly.

"Have you heard from your father yet, Reine?" he asked anxiously.

Her fair face flushed with pleasure to see how earnestly he desired a reconciliation with her dear father. Ah, how kind of heart her handsome Waldemar was!

"No, dear," she answered, crossing over to the divan upon which he had flung himself, and twining her white arms round his neck in a caressing, pretty fashion.

"Hadn't you better write again?" he interrogated, impatiently.

A lovely smile dimpled the crimson mouth; she was so pleased. She opened her writing-desk at once and began another letter to the father who had so idolized her in the past.

Waldemar watched the white hand gliding swiftly over the page, and the lovely golden head bent over it; but it was not of her beauty he was thinking just then.

He was wondering in what words he should broach the subject of money to her, when she gave him the very opportunity he desired.

"Shall I tell papa we are going on a bridal tour, and if he wants to see me—and you, too, dear—that he must send for us at once?"

A deep sigh broke from his lips, and he covered his face with his hands.

"I fear we shall have to postpone it, my darling," he said; and then he told the same old story that is on the generality of men's tongues' end, that he had endorsed a note for a man, and now he had it to pay, and if he could not raise the amount ruin stared him in the face. It was always a man's supposed friend who beat him.

Poor Reine's lovely face grew white as a lily leaf with fear.

"Oh, Waldemar, you are so kind-hearted; of course, you couldn't refuse your friend. But, oh, what a predicament it leaves you in!"

Suddenly her lovely face brightened.

"Don't let it worry you, Waldemar, dear," she cried, with a dazzling smile. "I know where we can get the money. I will write to papa for it. He will send us double the amount."

"Perhaps it would be the correct thing to give the old gent a pretty strong hint as to how we are situated," he answered, trying hard to subdue the ring of triumph in his voice; "but be sure to add that I am working hard," he went on, crossing his white hands indolently on his lap, "and that we are wonderfully happy."

After she had written it, he took the letter in his hands, scanning it eagerly, pretending to admire the delicately curved chirography, but in reality to see if she had put it strong enough about the money. He was satisfied on that point, and the letter was sent to Fairlawn.

Reine never doubted but that her father would respond at once with a generous check.

She wrote so pleadingly, so earnestly, that the stern old general laid down the letter, completely unnerved by the reading of it.

"I shall not send it; certainly not," he said to Bernard Chesleigh. "I foresaw all this when that scoundrel asked me for my child. I knew he only wanted her money. Scarcely married a fortnight, and calling upon me for assistance. But not a farthing of my money shall go to the spendthrift who stole my daughter from me. I have sworn it, and a soldier never breaks a vow. I shall write and tell her I am sorry for her, but I cannot and will not send her a dollar. I shall tell her plainly that all such applications to me will meet with a prompt and decided refusal."

In vain Bernard Chesleigh attempted to use his influence with him in Reine's behalf; the old gentleman kept his words, adding, as a postscript, that it would be well for Waldemar Waldron if he never crossed his path.

Reine and her husband were at luncheon when the general's letter was brought them.

"Open the letter at once, Reine," said Waldemar eagerly, pushing his food away untasted. "Let us see how large a check he has sent us."

He could scarcely restrain his intense impatience until the envelope was torn open and the letter extracted.

Lo!—no check was visible! In the greatest dismay, Reine read aloud the few stern, terse lines her father had penned.

She had scarcely finished ere it was dashed from her hand, and Waldemar Waldron was crushing it beneath his heel, with a face so pale with passionate rage it was frightful to behold.

"So that's the stand the stupid old fool intends to take, is it?" he cried. "Who dreamed that he would stick to his miserable vow when once we were married?"

In vain his young bride tried to stem the torrent of the wild imprecations that he hurled upon the head of the offending general.

"Waldemar!" she cried, in horror, "remember you are speaking of the father whom I love."

But she might as well have attempted to stay the mighty current of lava of a burning volcano.

"Waldemar!" she sobbed, kneeling at his feet and raising her little white hands in terror, "I pray you to hush if you love me! Oh, my love! my love! you are breaking my heart! Do not make me regret the sacrifices I have made for your dear sake."

He turned on her like a flash.

"Sacrifices!" he sneered. "I wish to Heaven I had been two hours later on that accursed Christmas night! I see you are destined to be a millstone around my neck."

The girl rose from her knees with the dazed light of a stricken fawn shining in her lovely, tearful blue eyes.

"Waldemar," she said, and she wondered at the strange, hollow sound of her own voice, "tell me, do you love me less because my father refuses to send us money?"

"I certainly do not love you the better for it," he returned, harshly, caring little in his reckless rage how the cruel words hurt her.

At that moment her old father's words came back to her:

"He wants your fortune, my child, not you. Such a man is incapable of the beautiful sentiment, love. Money is his god."

4163.—A PRETTY SHIRT WAIST DRESS.

Grace and simplicity are essential qualities in the frocks of the young girl and every mother who fashions her daughter's gowns appreciates how difficult the realization of this often proves. A dress which requires no great amount of skill or experience to fashion and which nevertheless appears smart and attractive is sketched. The waist has a fanciful yoke as its distinctive feature with two broad tucks at either side below. The closing if effected beneath the last tuck at the side and on the shoulder, while the sleeves are to be finished full length or shorter as desired. The skirt is a seven gored one laid in pleats and stitched in double box pleats at the front and back. Mohair is an excellent material for such a dress as it sheds dust and does not quickly show wear while Henrietta, rajah, pongee, linen, crash or madras might be used. For the medium size 5 1-8 yards of 44 inch goods are needed.

4163.—Sizes 14, 15, 16, 17 years.

4156.—A RUSSIAN BLOUSE SUIT FOR THE LAD.

Never was there a mode more becoming and practical for the small boy than the Russian suit with its long blouse loosely belted at the waist and generous knickers which give him plenty of room for sport of all sorts. The suit sketched is especially pleasing for its tucks in panel effect, front and back, and the tucks which retain the fulness of the sleeve instead of the usual cuff. A standing collar which is not too high for comfort and closes at the side finishes the neck and does away with the Eton collar of linen which needs such frequent changing. The knickerbockers are without a fly and very easily made. Serge or the usual tub fabrics may serve, the medium requiring 2 1-8 yards of 54 inch material.

WEDDING BELLS

CHOWEN—KENT

The many friends of Mr. Kenneth Chowen, formerly jeweller of this city, now of Winnipeg, will read with interest the following report of his marriage to Miss Lena Maud Kent of Winnipeg. Mr. and Mrs. Chowen will spend a few days in this city visiting at his home here. The Winnipeg Free Press says,—

"A very pretty wedding took place yesterday in Holy Trinity church when Miss Lena Maud Kent, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kent, Furby street, was married to Mr. Kenneth Chowen, manager for D. R. Dingwall. The Ven. Archdeacon Fortin tied the nuptial knot.

"Promptly at half-past three the bridal procession was formed, the two ushers, Mr. Walter Kent, and Mr. H. Clark, then the bridesmaids, Miss Bertha Kent, and Miss Nellie Soulis, and the fair young bride leaning on her father's arm. The bride was a picture in her lovely wedding gown of embroidered lace over taffeta, with ruchings of cream satin ribbon and finished with a soft girdle of cream satin. Her tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and valley lillies with streamers of white ribbon and lillies; she also wore a beautiful diamond and olivine pendant, the gift of the groom. Miss Bertha Kent wore a pretty dress of white mull with val insertions and lace and girdle of white satin; her picture hat was trimmed with white plumes and tulle and blue roses. Miss Soulis wore a pretty "jumper" suit of pale blue crepe de chine, trimmed with applique and opening over a lace blouse; she wore a white hat with plumes. Both the bridesmaids carried pink roses and wore pearl brooches, gifts from the groom. To the best man, Mr. A. D. McMillan and ushers, the groom gave pearl scarf pins.

"After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents on Furby street. Mrs. Kent received in a smart tailormade suit of pearl grey panama cloth; the Eton coat, trimmed with a black and silver trimming, and opening over a grey silk blouse, trimmed with lace and old rose applique; her hat was of white chip straw, with white plumes and pink roses. The rooms were fragrant with carnations and roses, and in one room the beautiful wedding gifts, among which was a handsome clock from D. R. Dingwall Co.

"The congratulations having been received, the bride slipped away to don her travelling costume of old rose lady's cloth with applique, the Eton coat opening over a white net waist. She wore a most becoming mushroom hat of old rose, mohair with roses and shaded plumes; she also wore a beautiful ostrich feather boa.

"Mr. and Mrs. Chowen left on the east train for Halifax, also visiting Peterborough and other eastern cities. They expect to be away a month and on their return will reside in Prince Rupert court."

ARMSTRONG—WHITEN

The Kenora Miner of last week contains the following reference to the wedding of Miss Alice M. Whiten daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Whiten, formerly of Peterborough. The family left for Kenora about two years ago. Many friends will extend congratulations;

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Whiten, on Saturday, June 1st, at one o'clock p. m., when their daughter, Alice M., was united in holy wedlock to Mr. Herson E. Armstrong, manager of the Traders Bank, Kenora.

The bride entered the drawing-room, leaning on the arm of her father, carrying a shower bouquet of roses and lillies of the valley, looking very sweet and girlish in a gown of cream silk chiffon applique; also seed pearl trimmings. Her hat was very becoming, being of cream mohair with tulle and ostrich plume falling gracefully on the hair. Her only ornament was a sun-burst pendant of pearls, the gift of the groom. Her going-away gown was of blue grey new Dune cloth, with grey broadcloth trimmings, the coat opening over a white silk embroidered mull waste. Her hat was a very neat Tuscan shade with trimmings to match. The maid of honor, Miss Eleanore Whiten, sister of the bride looked very dainty in lingerie robe of white embroidered silk mull with large white picture hat, trimmed with pale pink roses and forget-me-nots. She carried a large bouquet of pink sunset roses and maiden hair fern. The groom's gift to the maid of honor was a gold pendant cross set with pearls.

The bride's mother wore a becoming gown of black silk with cream silk applique trimmings, with hat of Copenhagen blue. The bride's gift to the groom was a tie pin of whole pearls. Only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present. The happy couple left on No. 97 for Winnipeg for a short trip, and in a month's time it is their intention to visit several eastern cities.

The bride was the recipient of a number of beautiful and valuable gifts, including a silver tea service from her parents, and a cut glass berry bowl and servers from the staff of the Traders' Bank.

Eight Women Fined $2; Selling Short Weight Butter

Chief Rozel and Constables Raided the Market and Made a Big Haul—Thirteen Women Appeared in Police Court—Only Two Had Full Weight.

The city coffers were considerably enriched on Saturday as a result of Chief Roszel's raid on the butter baskets on the market. Consternation reigned among the women with butter. The Chief with Constables McDonald and Adams went around with a pair of scales weighing the butter. Several were found short and a carter's rig was soon procured and in all thirteen baskets driven to the police station, followed by the owners. A special court was held, and a large crowd of curious people eagerly awaited the opening of the door to see what was doing. The scales were placed on the desk and every pound in each basket was weighed out separately by Chief Roszel. This was a slow job as in some baskets there were as many as 16 pounds. The shortage in weight varied. Some prints were 1-4 of an ounce short, others three quarters of an ounce and some an ounce and one was an ounce and a quarter. There were two ladies whose butter when weighed was found correct, and they were allowed to go. The butter that was short was laid aside until all was weighed. The ladies whose butter was correct weight were very indignant over being put to such an inconveniece. They in put to such inconvenience.

There were three others who were discharged as their butter was almost full weight. Two ladies when their butter was taken must have thought it was gone for good and did not come to court. His Worship fined eight people two dollars each, to be paid in ten days. Most of them paid their fine forthwith. Several of the women admitted that they did not weigh it before coming to town. It was not made the day before, but in many cases the butter had been made three weeks previous. Butter when made a long while shrinks. His Worship stated that he was sure there was no dishonesty on the part of the people and no intention to cheat their customers.

The butter of Mrs. John Hutchinson and Mrs. Henry Fee, of Cavanville, which was weighed, was found to be of full weight, as was also that of Mrs. Michaels. Mrs. Hutchinson had seventeen pound prints, and Mrs. Fee thirty-three pound prints. After the police court session they took their butter back to the market and disposed of it, but as the price had dropped somewhat and they were obliged to sell four or five cents less than the opening quotation, the city refunded the ladies the difference in price. The women, whose butter was short in weight were given their produce back, after paying their fines, but of course were not allowed to sell their goods on the market. The majority of them took their butter home.

Children's Aid Society Is Interested in Cobourg Case

Henry Waldon, Charged With Ill-treatment of Four Year-Old Girl Comes Up for Trial To-morrow.

Mr Geo. Cochrane, agent for the Children's Aid Society, went to Cobourg today, to be present at the trial of Henry Waldon of Northumberland County, who comes up before the general sessions of the peace at Cobourg tomorrow, charged with cruelty to a little girl, a ward of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society. It will be remembered that Waldon was committed for trial by the county police magistrate at Cobourg several weeks ago, the evidence being sufficient to warrant his committal for trial to a higher court. The child whom he is accused of having ill-treated is only four years old and is one of the family of a widow woman who resided in Peterborough some time ago. The children were taken charge of by the local Children's Aid Society and several months ago the four-year-old girl was given to Waldon, whose wife is a sister of the child's mother. It was thought that a good home had been secured for the child with her uncle and aunt, but apparently such was not the case. The little one had not been at the Waldon home long before complaints that she was not being used properly, reached the ears of the local Children's Aid Society officers, but the matter was out of the jurisdiction of the Society, as Waldon lives in Northumberland county. However, Crown Attorney Kerr at Cobourg, was advised to take action and he did so, with the result that Waldon comes up for trial at the general sessions of the peace at Cobourg tomorrow.

The case has attracted much attention and the outcome of the trial will be awaited with considerable interest. If the charges made against the accused are proved he will likely be severely dealt with. Mr Cochrane will represent the Children's Aid Society of Peterborough.

Do Grocers of City Sell Butter That is Light Weight?

This is the Charge Made by a Prominent Citizen Who Says Some of Them Buy by Weight and Sell it in Prints That Do Not Weigh 16 Ounces.

The swooping down of the police on the market on Saturday and the discovery that considerable short weight butter was offered for sale has caused considerable discussion in the city. A prominent citizen informed the Review on Saturday and was most emphatic in his statements that several grocers in the city were selling light weight butter, but were not getting into trouble over it. He stated that when farmers brought print butter to the grocers the man behind the counter weighs it and pays for it according to weight. He then turns around and sells it by the package, each print being disposed of as a pound. Frequently when weighed they did not contain sixteen ounces, and the consumer was suffering as a result of this practice.

The Review interviewed a leading local grocer, regarding this matter, and was informed that he had heard that some grocers in the city were in the habit of handling butter in this way, but he did not know to what extent the practice prevailed. He considered that it was a very unfair thing to do, as it was deliberately deceiving the purchaser. He would like to see all butter sold by weight as it was the only fair way of buying and selling this commodity. Unless butter is looked after very carefully in a store, there is always more or less loss of weight, from evaporation of moisture, so that the consumer who buys butter by the print is likely to often find that he is not getting as much as he supposed, or what he paid for.

Gold Brick Worth $1,100 From Star of East Mine

Many Peterborough people today had the privilege of seeing a gold brick, not the kind that are used for the purpose of separating unsophisticated rubes from their spare silver, but a real, genuine hunk of the yellow stuff, dug up from the bowels of the earth at the Star of the East mine at Kaladar.

The brick was brought to the city by Mr. J. R. Steele, of Oil City, Pa., secretary-treasurer of the Star of the East Company. Mr. Steele has been at Kaladar for several weeks, and is on his way to Oil City. The chunk of the yellow metal was about six inches in length, 2 1-2 inches wide, and an inch and a half thick. It weighed sixty-two ounces, 12 1-2 pennyweight, and is worth something over $1,100. The brick represents two weeks' milling of ore at the mine, so it will thus be seen that it is turning out well. This is the third brick that has been made this year, but the first two were not as large as the one that has just been brought up by Mr. Steele. In color it is a dark yellow and the brick is almost pure gold, there being a very small percentage of silver. It will bring about $20.00 per ounce if sold to the mint at Philadelphia, or to a wholesale jewellery concern. One of the bricks taken out this year was sold to the mint, and the other to a large jewellery manufacturing concern in the United States.

The plant and mine at Kaladar are now under the supervision of Mr Ezra T Brooks, a mining expert from Colorado. He took charge several weeks ago, and under his direction the milling has been carried on most successfully, and the mine is now paying well. A gold brick worth $1,100 in two weeks is a pretty good record and is causing considerable elation among the directors of the company.

Several improvements to the plant at Kaladar will be made shortly. At present some of the finest gold is being lost during the milling process, owing to the lack of a suitable machine to recover it, and equipment to remove this loss will soon be installed.

Found Dead on Kitchen Floor

Sudden Death of Mrs. James Taylor of Chemong Village

A very sudden death occurred at Chemong village on Thursday afternoon of last week, when Mrs. James Taylor expired. She had been over to the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Albert Brown, which is only a few yards away. She told Mrs. Brown that she would mind the baby for a while, while she (Mrs. Brown) went out. Mrs. Brown returned in about an hour, and Mrs. Taylor then left for home. Her daughter went over to her mother's place a few minutes afterwards, and to her intense surprise found her lying dead on the floor. Mrs. Taylor had just lifted a pail from off the stove when she fell over, and evidently expired in a minute or two. Heart disease was the cause. She had been in poor health for some time. The deceased was 65 years old and was highly respected. She was born in Lindsay, her maiden name being Margaret Hannivan. The late Mrs. Taylor, leaves a husband, three sons and one daughter. The sons are Messrs. George, Harry and Dow, and the daughter is Mrs. Albert Brown, all of Chemong village.

For Having Boxes in Back Yard

George Street Merchant is Charged With Violating By-law

At the police court today Mr. C. B. Routley, George street, was charged with having a number of packing boxes near a building within the fire limits, contrary to a bylaw of the city. Mr. Routley stated that in a sense he was guilty. To conduct his business it was necessary to have them there. They were some that arrived on Friday. The ones in question were against a fire-proof wall, and there could be no danger of fire.

His Worship stated that the bylaw was to prevent accumulation, but he could not see how merchants could help having more boxes. He would enlarge the case for eight days to look into the matter.

EVERYTHING FOR THE AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHER

Arrangements for the T.A.S. Picnic

Elaborate preparations are being made for the big T.A.S. picnic, which will be held in McNamara's grove, on Monday, July 1st—the national holiday of the Dominion. The grove is located on the west side of the Otonabee river about four and a half miles below the city. It is a beautiful spot and is ideal for picnic purposes. There are about ten acres of woods almost as level as a city lawn, and right adjoining the bush is a large field where the athletic sports, games, etc., can be pulled off. During the past few days Mr. P. Kane has had a gang of men at work at the grove putting it into shape for the picnic. The grass is being raked, dry brush, which was lying around, cleared up and all other necessary preparations made.

A large dancing platform is being erected for the day. It will be built of plained lumber and will be much better than the platform at the ordinary picnic. There will also be a shooting gallery, game of ten pins, doll rack, and other attractions of this kind on the ground. A splendid programme of athletic sports, baseball match, etc., is being arranged and will be announced shortly.

The steamer Monarch and barge, and the steamer Rainbow have been engaged for the day. A boat will leave the Wolfe street wharf every half hour. Further particulars regarding the boat service will appear later.

One of the features of the day will likely be the tug-of-war between the Quakers and T.A.S. teams. Arrangements for this exciting contest are now under way.
